NASHVILLE — This week the Tennessee Titans (8-6) travel to Jacksonville for a Christmas Eve showdown with the division rival Jacksonville Jaguars (2-12). Kickoff at EverBank Field (capacity 66,851) is scheduled for noon CST on Saturday, Dec. 24.

THE BROADCAST

This week's game will be televised regionally on CBS, including Nashville affiliate WTVF NewsChannel 5. Play-by-play announcer Andrew Catalon will call the action alongside analysts Steve Tasker and Steve Beuerlein. Chris Fischer will report from the sidelines.

The Titans Radio Network, including Nashville flagship 104.5 The Zone, will carry the game across the Mid-South with the "Voice of the Titans" Mike Keith, analyst Frank Wycheck, gameday host Rhett Bryan and sideline reporter Jonathan Hutton.

TITANS TRY TO MAINTAIN SHARE OF FIRST PLACE

With two games remaining in the regular season, the Titans, who have won three consecutive games and seven of their last 10 contests, enter the week tied with the 8-6 Houston Texans for first place in the AFC South. The Indianapolis Colts are 7-7, one game behind the co-leaders. This week the Colts visit the Oakland Raiders Saturday afternoon (3:05 p.m. CST), and the Texans host the Cincinnati Bengals later that evening (7:25 p.m. CST).

In Week 17, the Titans host the Texans at Nissan Stadium (Jan. 1). If the Titans defeat the Jaguars, it would guarantee a chance to win the division by defeating the Texans in the finale. Based on tiebreakers, the Titans cannot win the division with an identical record as the Texans or Colts.

DRAMATIC WIN IN KANSAS CITY KEEPS TITANS ON COURSE

The Titans were able to maintain pace with the Texans in the division race thanks to last week's dramatic 19-17 victory at Kansas City in the coldest game in franchise history (1 degree at kickoff).

Ryan Succop drilled a 53-yard field goal as time expired to give the Titans the win. The kick tied for the second-longest game-winner in franchise history, equaling Rob Bironas' 53-yard attempt at Houston on Nov. 23, 2009 and behind only Bironas' 60-yarder against Indianapolis on Dec. 3, 2006. The 53-yarder at Kansas City gave Succop six career game-winning field goals but was his first in a Titans uniform.

The Titans defense gave up 17 points in the first half but shut out the Chiefs in the second half. The effort included a sack from outside linebacker Brian Orakpo (11th of 2016), an interception in the end zone from fifth-round rookie cornerback LeShaun Sims and a key goal-line stand in the second quarter.

Quarterback Marcus Mariota was 19-of-33 passing for 241 yards in the contest. After the Titans trailed 17-7, he led the team to scores on all three drives in the fourth quarter. In doing so, he recorded his fourth career fourth-quarter comeback as well as his fourth career game-winning drive.

Tennessee's running back duo of DeMarco Murray and Derrick Henry came up big as well. Murray led the team with 89 rushing yards and 141 scrimmage yards, while Henry scored both of the team's touchdowns. The Titans offense, which ranks eighth overall in the NFL (373.5 yards per game), is ranked third in the league in rushing at 144.7 yards per game.

JAGUARS PROMOTE MARRONE TO INTERIM HEAD COACH

The Jaguars will take the field on Christmas Eve under the direction of new interim head coach Doug Marrone. Following last week's 21-20 loss at Houston, the team relieved Gus Bradley of his duties as head coach and named Marrone the interim head coach on Monday, Dec. 19. Bradley was in his fourth season on the Jacksonville sideline.

Marrone, a 24-year coaching veteran, originally joined the Jaguars as assistant head coach-offense/offensive line coach in 2015, following a two-year stint as the head coach for the Buffalo Bills (2013-14). As head coach of the Bills, Marrone's squad went 15-17 in two seasons, including a 9-7 mark in 2014.

The Jaguars have the NFL's seventh-ranked overall defense in 2016 at 321.4 yards allowed per game. Their defense is 21st against the run (110.8) and fourth against the pass (210.6).

Jaguars quarterback Blake Bortles passed for 92 yards and rushed for a touchdown against the Texans. In 2015, Bortles set a franchise record with 35 touchdown passes and became the third quarterback in NFL history to pass for 35 touchdowns and 4,000 yards (4,428) in his second season, joining Kurt Warner and Dan Marino.

A TITANS VICTORY WOULD ...

- Give the Titans a chance to play for the AFC South title against the Houston Texans at Nissan Stadium in Week 17.
- Give the Titans four consecutive wins in a season for the first time since they had a five-game win streak in Weeks 8-12 of the 2009 campaign.
- Give the Titans nine wins in a season for the first time since 2011 (9-7).
- Give the Titans three consecutive road wins in a season for the first time since 2010.
- Improve the Titans' all-time record against the Jaguars to 26-19.
- Improve QB Marcus Mariota's starting record to 12-15.
- Improve Mike Mularkey's career record as a head coach to 27-45.

WHAT TO LOOK FOR THIS WEEK

- QB Marcus Mariota can record his fourth career 300-yard passing game.
- QB Marcus Mariota (25 touchdown passes in 2016) needs two touchdown passes to tie George Blanda (27 in 1962) for the third most in a season in franchise history. If he does so, his total would trail only Blanda's 36 touchdown passes in 1961 and Warren Moon's 33 in 1990.
- WR Rishard Matthews (seven touchdown receptions) can become the first Titans player with eight touchdown catches in a season since Kenny Britt (nine) in 2010.
- OLB Derrick Morgan (nine sacks) needs one sack to give him his first career 10-sack season.
- With one sack by OLB Derrick Morgan (nine sacks), he and OLB Brian Orakpo (11 sacks) will become the first pair of teammates in the "Titans era" (1999–present) to record double-digit sacks in the same season.
- RB DeMarco Murray can record his 27th career 100-yard rushing game (including one playoff game) and his sixth with the Titans. He would be the first Titans player to rush for at least 100 yards six times in a season since Chris Johnson in 2010.
- RB DeMarco Murray (1,224 rushing yads in 2016) needs 81 rushing yards to crack the franchise's single-season top 10 in rushing yards (1,304 by Eddie George in 1999).
- OLB Brian Orakpo (11 sacks in 2016) needs a half sack to establish a new career high (11 in 2009) for sacks in a season.
- WR Tajaé Sharpe (474 receiving yards) needs 26 receiving yards to join Kenny Britt (2009), Kendall Wright (2012) and Dorial Green-Beckham (2015) as the only rookies in the "Titans era" (1999–present) with at least 500 receiving yards.
- K Ryan Succop enters the game with a streak of 34 successful field goals from inside 50 yards, dating back to 2014. Earlier in 2016, he broke Al Del Greco's franchise record of 24 consecutive made field goals from inside 50 yards, set from 1995–1996.
- K Ryan Succop (94 points in 2016) needs six points to record his fifth career season with at least 100 points.
- TE Delanie Walker (six touchdown receptions in 2016) needs one touchdown catch to set a new career high for touchdowns in a season.
- TE Delanie Walker (397 career receptions) needs three catches to reach 400 for his career.

The Titans total 494 yards on offense and convert 60 percent on third down.

TITANS-JAGUARS SERIES HISTORY

The Jaguars are the Titans' longest-standing division rival. The clubs have met at least twice each year since Jacksonville began play as an expansion franchise in 1995. For the first seven seasons of the rivalry they played in the AFC Central, and for the last 15 years they have been members of the AFC South.

The teams have met a total of 44 times, with the Titans holding a 25-19 advantage. For the last seven seasons (2009–2015), the Titans and Jaguars have split the annual series.

The majority of Titans-Jaguars contests have been highly competitive. Overall, 26 of the 44 Titans-Jaguars meetings have been decided by seven points or fewer. Four of the last seven have been decided by four points or less.

In the initial meeting of 2016, played on Thursday night, Oct. 27, the Titans used 183 combined rushing yards from DeMarco Murray (123 yards) and Derrick Henry (60) to defeat the Jaguars 38-22. Marcus Mariota passed for 270 yards and two touchdowns and posted a 148.1 passer rating.

The first Titans-Jaguars game of 2016 marked the third Thursday night matchup between the teams in a three-year span. The last time the Titans traveled to EverBank Field was on Thursday night, Nov. 19. The Titans led late in the fourth quarter, only to see their efforts thwarted by a pair of Jaguars scores, including a go-ahead, five-yard touchdown pass from Blake Bortles to Julius Thomas.

The Titans have posted two separate five-game winning streaks against the Jaguars, dating from 1998-00 and 2001-03. Jacksonville's longest winning streak in the series was a four-game run from 1996-98.

The stakes of the rivalry were never higher than in 1999, when the Titans and Jaguars met three times, including the AFC Championship Game in Jacksonville. Steve McNair rushed for two touchdowns and Derrick Mason returned a kickoff 80 yards for a touchdown as the Titans earned their first Super Bowl berth with a 33-14 win. Tennessee went on to Super Bowl XXXIV and eventually fell at the hands of the St. Louis Rams, 23-16.

The Jaguars played their first game in franchise history against the then-Houston Oilers on Sept. 3, 1995. In Jacksonville, the Oilers won the game by a 10-3 final score.

TITANS-JAGUARS: THE LAST MEETING

Titans 36, Jaguars 22

Week 8 • Thursday, Oct. 27, 2016 • 7:25 CDT • Nissan Stadium

GAME RECAP

Behind 494 total yards of offense and a first-half defensive shutout, the Titans rolled to a 36-22 victory over the Jacksonville Jaguars in a nationally-televised, prime-time game at Nissan Stadium to move to 4-4 at the halfway mark of the season.

In a game in which they never trailed, the Titans tallied more first-half yards than any other team in the 2016 campaign to this point and their most total yards in a game since 2009. Quarterback Marcus Mariota led the charge through the air going 18-of-22 for 270 yards, two touchdowns, no interceptions and a 148.1 rating. Running backs DeMarco Murray and Derrick Henry tag-teammed to give the Titans 214 yards and two scores on the ground, included a 123-yard rushing output by Murray.

After punting on their first drive, the Titans scored on their next six possessions, included two field goals by kicker Ryan Succop and four touchdowns. Wide receiver Kendall Wright hauled in the first score, a 36-yard pass from Mariota, and Henry and Murray each found the end zone on the following drives. Wide receiver Rishard Matthews added another touchdown on a four-yard dart from Mariota in the third quarter.

Early in the fourth quarter, the Titans put their final points on the board with a 33-yard field goal by Succop after the Jaguars muffed a punt in Tennessee territory and rookie LeShaun Sims recovered. On the Titans' next possession—and holding a 36-8 advantage with 8:02 remaining in the game—quarterback Matt Cassel replaced Mariota as the signal caller.

In addition to keeping the Jaguars scoreless in the first half, the Titans' defense held Jacksonville to 48 total rushing yards and put quarterback Blake Bortles on the ground twice with sacks by Derrick Morgan and Avery Williamson.

Doug Marrone was named the Jaguars interim head coach by general manager Dave Caldwell on Dec. 19, 2016, after Gus Bradley was relieved of his coaching duties the day prior.

Marrone, a 24 year coaching veteran, originally joined the Jaguars as the assistant head coach-offense/offensive line coach on Jan. 20, 2015, following a two-year stint as the head coach for the Buffalo Bills (2013-14). This season, Marrone's offensive line has allowed just 30 sacks through Week 15, which is 11 fewer than at this point last season (41 sacks allowed through Week 15 in 2015) and 32 fewer than at this juncture in 2014 (62 sacks allowed though Week 15 in 2014).

As head coach of the Bills, Marrone's squad went 15-17 in two seasons, including a 9-7 mark in 2014, the most wins for the franchise since 2004. He became only the third head coach in Bills history to win 15 games in his first two seasons (Marv Levy, 19; Wade Phillips, 21). The Bills also had six Pro Bowl selections during Marrone's two years at the helm.

Prior to joining the Bills, Marrone spent four seasons (2009-12) as the head coach of his alma mater, Syracuse, where he led the program to a 21-17 record in the last three seasons. He guided the Orange to an 8-5 record in 2010 and 2012, and both seasons culminated with a New Era Pinstripe Bowl Championship.

Marrone spent seven seasons in the NFL (2002-08) before becoming a collegiate head coach. From 2006-08, Marrone served as the offensive coordinator for the New Orleans Saints. He directed an offense that led the NFL in total offense and passing yards per game in two different seasons (2006, 08). The Saints' offensive line held their opponents to the fewest sacks allowed in the NFL in 2006 (16) and tied for the fewest sacks in the NFL from 2006-08 with 52 despite leading the NFL with 1,868 passing attempts during that span. Quarterback Drew Brees captured the NFL passing title in 2006 (4,418) and 2008 (5,069) and became just the second passer in NFL history to eclipse 5,000 passing yards in NFL history (Dan Marino, 1984).

Marrone broke into the NFL with the New York Jets, where he was the offensive line coach from 2002-05. The team made two postseason appearances (2002, 2004) during his tenure.

Before he joined the NFL coaching ranks, Marrone had stops at Tennessee (2001), Georgia (2000), Georgia Tech (1995-99), Northeastern (1994), U.S. Coast Guard Academy (1993) and Cortland (1992).

A native of Bronx, New York, Marrone was a sixth-round draft pick by the Los Angeles Raiders in 1986 and had playing stints with Miami, New Orleans, Pittsburgh, Dallas and Minnesota before closing his career with the NFL Europe's London Monarchs from 1991-92. Marrone was a three-year letterman at Syracuse. He returned to Syracuse and graduated in 1991 with a degree in liberal arts.

TITANS-JAGUARS CONNECTIONS

FORMER JAGUARS

- Titans head coach Mike Mularkey was the head coach of the Jaguars in 2012. Titans running backs coach Sylvester Croom and wide receivers coach Bob Bratkowski also served on Mularkey's staff in Jacksonville.
- Titans defensive assistant Brandon Blaney worked for the Jaguars from 2011-13.
- Titans CB Valentino Blake played for the Jaguars in 2012.

FORMER TITANS

- Jaguars defensive tackle Sen'Derrick Marks played four seasons with the Titans (see right).
- Jaguars TE Alex Ellis was originally signed by the Titans in May 2016 as an undrafted free agent out of Tennessee and spent training camp with the team.
- Jaguars OT Jeremiah Poutasi was selected by the Titans in the third round of the 2015 NFL Draft and played in 11 games with seven starts at right tackle as a rookie.

TITANS WITH JACKSONVILLE AREA/FLORIDA CONNECTIONS

- Titans head coach and Fort Lauderdale, Fla., native Mike Mularkey played quarterback at Northeast High School in Oakland Park, Fla. He went on to the University of Florida as a tight end for the Gators from 1979-82. During his time in the NFL, he has coached for all three Florida teams—Miami, Tampa Bay and Jacksonville.
- Titans DB Curtis Riley attended University (Orlando, Fla.) High School, where he played both quarterback and safety.
- Titans CB Valentino Blake was born in Jacksonville, Fla.
- Titans RB Derrick Henry attended Yulee (Fla.) High School, where he was a five-star recruit, and was listed as the nations No. 1 athlete. In 2012, Henry broke Ken Hall's 51-year-old national high school rushing record with 12,124 yards after rushing for 4,261 yards his senior year.
- Titans LB Sean Spence attended Northwestern (Miami, Fla.) High School and went on to play at the University of Miami (Fla.).
- Titans wide receivers coach Bob Bratkowski, assistant special teams coach Steve Hoffman and assistant offensive line coach Mike Sullivan all have ties to the University of Miami (Fla.). Bratkowski (1989-91) and Hoffman (1985-88) served as offensive coordinator and kicking coach, respectively, for the Hurricanes. Sullivan was a four-year starting offensive lineman (1987-90), winning two national championships during that time, and also spent one season as a graduate assistant.

On a frigid day at Arrowhead Stadium, Ryan Succop's 53-yard field goal as time expired gave the Titans an improbable 19-17 victory.

The Titans, who never led in the game until Succop's final kick went through the uprights, trailed 14-0 after the first quarter and 17-7 entering the fourth quarter. However, quarterback Marcus Mariota engineered three consecutive scoring drives to complete the comeback.

The game-winning drive began with 1:07 on the clock. Behind 17-16, the Titans had the ball at their own 25-yard line with no timeouts. Mariota quickly found wide receiver Rishard Matthews for a 19-yard pass and two plays later hit tight end Delanie Walker for six yards. With time waning, the signal caller looked again in the middle of the field to Walker, this time for a 15-yard pickup. Mariota spiked the ball at the 35-yard line to stop the clock with five seconds remaining.

Succop lined up for the game-winner, but just before the snap, Kansas City used a timeout. Succop nevertheless kicked the ball and watched it inconsequentially fall short of the crossbar. After the timeout, he tried again, and it was good.

In the victory, the Titans overcame three turnovers, thanks in large measure to a defense that got stingier as the game progressed in the bitter cold.

At kickoff, the temperature was 1 degree, making it the coldest game in the history of the Titans/Oilers franchise. The wind chill was -9.

The Chiefs initially seemed unaffected by the conditions, starting hot to take a two-touchdown lead. On their second offensive play, wide receiver Tyreek Hill took a handoff and raced 68 yards for a touchdown.

On the Titans' second drive, Matthews registered a 35-yard reception to Kansas City's five-yard line. But the ball was knocked loose by safety Eric Berry and recovered in the end zone by safety Daniel Sorensen, who returned it to the 47 of Kansas City.

On the next play, Alex Smith threw deep to wide receiver Jeremy Maclin for a 44-yard gain. Then, on third-and-goal from the 11, Smith ran for a touchdown.

The Titans put together a six-play, 87-yard drive to cut the lead in half early in the second quarter. Mathews caught a 46-yard pass, and running back Derrick Henry, who had five carries for 41 yards on the drive, crossed the goal line on a four-yard run to help make the score 14-7.

On the next Titans drive, Mariota lost a fumble, but the turnover did not lead directly to points for the Chiefs, courtesy of a goal-line stand by the Titans defense. The Titans stuffed running back Spencer Ware from the one-yard line on consecutive plays, including a fourth down.

Derrick Henry scored two touchdowns at Kansas City.

Late in the second quarter, the Chiefs took possession in Titans territory. They benefitted from a 16-yard catch by tight end Travis Kelce on fourth-and-one but were forced to settle for a 34-yard field goal by Cairo Santos. They went into halftime with a 17-7 lead.

The teams exchanged interceptions during a scoreless third stanza. Chiefs safety Ron Parker made a one-handed interception of a pass by Mariota, and it appeared his team would take advantage of the turnover. But on third-and-goal from the seven-yard line, Smith was intercepted in the end zone by rookie cornerback LeShaun Sims.

In the fourth quarter, the Titans capped an 11-play, 51-yard drive with a 39-yard field goal by Succop and followed that with a 12-play, 88-yard touchdown drive. During the latter series, Walker converted a pair of third downs with catches of 16 and 14 yards. Then, on fourth-and-five from Kansas City's 16-yard line, Mariota lofted a pass to running back DeMarco Murray, who came down with the ball at the one-yard line. Henry scored on the subsequent play.

Rather than kick an extra point to tie the game, the Titans opted to go for two. They were denied, as Mariota was pressured and threw incomplete, preserving the Chiefs' lead with 3:12 on the clock.

Needing a three-and-out, the Titans defense got it. On third-and-two, linebacker Avery Williamson took down Smith for no gain on a designed run. That set the stage for the final, clutch sequence by Mariota and Succop.

NOTES FROM LAST WEEK'S GAME

Delanie Walker had two receptions to set up the game-winning field goal.

FOURTH-QUARTER COMEBACK: The Titans trailed 17-7 going into the fourth quarter, but three consecutive scoring drives gave them a 19-17 win. Taking possession with 1:07 on the clock, Marcus Mariota led a six-play, 40-yard drive that resulted in the game-winning field goal, completing three of his four passes on the drive for 40 yards. It was his fourth career fourth-quarter comeback and his fourth career game-winning drive in 26 career starts.

MURRAY TOTALS 141 YARDS: Running back DeMarco Murray led the offense with 89 rushing yards on 18 carries and added five receptions for 52 yards. His 141 scrimmage yards in the game was his fourth-highest total of the season, and it was his eighth game of the season with at least 100 scrimmage yards. He produced one of the biggest plays of the game with a 15-yard reception on fourth-and-five in the fourth quarter.

MATTHEWS RECORDS FIFTH CAREER 100-YARD GAME: Wide receiver Rishard Matthews led the Titans with 105 yards on four receptions, including a long reception of 46 yards and a 19-yard catch on the first play of the game-winning drive. Matthews notched his fifth career 100-yard game.

MARIOTA AND MATTHEWS PRODUCE BIG PLAY: In the second quarter, Rishard Matthews and Marcus Mariota connected for a 46-yard pass on a flea flicker. It was the team's seventh offensive play of the season of at least 45 yards (fifth pass of at least 45 yards).

HENRY SCORES TWICE: Rookie running back Derrick Henry rushed for 58 yards on nine carries and scored both of the team's touchdowns, setting a new career high for touchdowns in a game. In the second quarter, he scored on a four-yard run, and in the fourth quarter, he crossed the goal line on a one-yard run. It gave the second-round pick four career touchdowns.

GAME-WINNER: Kicker Ryan Succop made the game-winning, 53-yard field goal as time expired in the fourth quarter. Succop, who played for the Chiefs from 2009-2013, became the first kicker in NFL history to defeat his former team by converting a game-winning, come-from-behind field goal of 50 or more yards as time expired. It marked the Titans' first game-winning field goal since Rob Bironas made a 40-yarder against Pittsburgh on Oct. 11, 2012. Succop's field goal tied for the second-longest game-winner in franchise history, equaling Bironas' 53-yard effort at Houston on Nov. 23, 2009 and behind only Bironas' 60-yarder against Indianapolis on Dec. 3, 2006. The 53-yarder at Kansas City gave Succop six career game-winning field goals, two of which have come in the fourth quarter and four of which have occurred in overtime.

SUCCOP EXTENDS STREAK: With a field goal of 39 yards in the fourth quarter, Ryan Succop extended his streak to 34 successful field goals from inside 50 yards, dating back to 2014. Earlier in 2016, he broke Al Del Greco's franchise record of 24 consecutive made field goals from inside 50 yards, set from 1995–1996.

SUCCOP'S OTHER STREAK: Ryan Succop extended his streak to 14 consecutive field goals made (any length), which tied for the eighth-longest such streak in franchise history.

SUCCOP MAKES 53-YARDERS IN BACK-TO-BACK GAMES: Ryan Succop's 53-yard field goal at Kansas City and a field goal of the same length Dec. 11 against Denver gave him back-to-back games with a field goal of that length, marking the first time in his career he accomplished the feat. He tied his second-longest career field goal. His career long is 54 yards, set as a member of the Chiefs against the Minnesota Vikings on Oct. 2, 2011. He had three previous 53-yarders during his career prior to making one against Denver.

GOAL-LINE STAND: In the second quarter, the Titans defense faced consecutive plays with Kansas City at the one-yard line, including a fourth-and-goal. They stopped the Chiefs for no gain on both plays to get the ball back to the offense.

ORAKPO TIES CAREER HIGH: In the third quarter, outside linebacker Brian Orakpo dropped Chiefs quarterback Alex Smith for a four-yard loss. With the sack, Orakpo tied his single-season career high with 11 sacks in 2016, matching his output from 2009 as a rookie with the Washington Redskins. Orakpo now has 58 career sacks.

FIRST CAREER INTERCEPTION BY SIMS: In the third quarter, rookie cornerback LeShaun Sims recorded his first career interception. With the Chiefs facing a third-and-goal at the seven-yard line, the fifth-round pick stepped in front of an Alex Smith pass that was intended for wide receiver Jeremy Maclin in the end zone.

DEFENSE IN THE RED ZONE: The Titans defense was on the field for four Kansas City drives into the red zone and allowed only one touchdown in those trips. The other drives resulted in a field goal, an interception and a stop on fourth down. The Chiefs' 25-percent touchdown rate was the lowest by any Titans opponent in 2016 with at least four drives inside the 20.

GOAL-TO-GO DEFENSE: In three goal-to-go situations, the Titans defense only allowed one score, a touchdown. The other two Kansas City goal-to-go drives resulted in an interception and a turnover on downs.

SECOND-HALF SHUTOUT: The Titans defense shut out the Chiefs in the second half, giving the Titans their second game in 2016 in which they held their opponents scoreless in the final two quarters. The first such effort came in a loss to Oakland on Sept. 25.

TITANS LIMIT CHIEFS TO 13 FIRST DOWNS: The Titans defense limited the Chiefs to a season-low 13 total first downs. It was the second-lowest total by a Titans opponent in 2016 (eight at Miami on Oct. 9).

COLDEST GAME IN TEAM HISTORY: The kickoff temperature at Arrowhead Stadium was 1 degree, making the contest the coldest game in the 57-year history of the franchise. The previous record was 4 degrees in a playoff game at New England on Jan. 10, 2004. The team's coldest previous kickoff temperature for a game in the regular season was 7 at Cleveland on Dec. 11, 1977.

THREE IN A ROW: The win gave the Titans three consecutive wins in a season for the first time since Weeks 2-4 of the 2011 campaign. The Titans have eight wins in a season for the first time since 2011 (9-7).

TITANS TIE SEASON LOW IN PENALTIES: The Titans tied their season low with two penalties for 25 yards against the Chiefs, matching their low of two penalties in the Sept. 11 season opener against Minnesota.

INACTIVES: The seven inactive Titans were wide receiver Tre McBride, defensive back Curtis Riley, linebacker David Bass, linebacker Sean Spence, guard Sebastian Tretola, tight end Jace Amaro and defensive end Angelo Blackson. Bass (groin) and Spence (ankle) were on the injury report leading up to the game.

DeMarco Murray produced 141 scrimmage yards against the Chiefs.

What's it like in the locker room? "It's a pretty good locker room. It's a well deserving locker room for the resiliency. This team won't quit, it never does, never has and I don't see it ever happening with these guys in that locker room. It's a good locker room."

Can you talk about how your defense was able to keep you in it? "Really good in the red zone, defense today. I think we've been pretty good all year to be honest with you. We've had turnovers at critical times in the end zone which has been great and again talk about complementing each other, needing to stop, these are things we didn't do earlier in the year, we didn't have some stops earlier in the year when we needed them, we got them and then to come back like that and get us – the whole day it was get us to the 30, got to get inside the 30 for a field goal because of the weather and for Ryan [Succop] to go out there and bang that thing in there that's complementary football: stop them, drive it, kick it, win it."

What was supposed to happen on the two-point conversion? "Man coverage, trying to get a rub play down there and they played it well, they jumped outside, number three which was well done by them."

What was the thinking on going for it? "I wanted to win, I wanted to win the game right there instead of going into overtime, instead of having to possibly do what we did there at the end. I wanted to get us up and make a statement to our team that that's why we came here. When we got the ball I went around the sidelines and talked to the guys on this team, the leaders and I said that this is my plan and they were all – let's go. They knew before the drive started that we were going for it."

You said the goal was to get inside the 30 because it is hard to kick, did you think he could get it there from that distance? "I did, I thought he could because I've seen him kick it in practice. Not in these conditions, but he has a strong leg and he has a lot of confidence, we have a lot of confidence in him and I think he knew it. The whole team was over there, all believed it was going through."

Can you talk a little bit about your resiliency, I know you turned the ball over, you trailed behind early but you had a couple of goal line stands and getting your chance at winning? "That's what you have to do in December, in big games against good football teams, you have to find a way to overcome yourself sometimes and we did that. We did enough to really be behind more than what we were and our defense did an unbelievable job of stopping them on a goal line stand and the interceptions and the third downs. Our offense, when we needed to put some things together there in the second half, put some drives together for points, big drives, those are things – again we're learning how to win some of these games which we've been talking about from the beginning, you have to learn how to win some games and this was one of them. Coming in at half time, talking about resiliency, this is what our team is, who we are and they responded like I thought they would."

What was the goal line stand for you guys at that point in the game? "It's a huge momentum for us, the tough part is again that's why you have to go for it sometimes, you know you have to pin your opponent back on the one, it's disappointing, we got it out to almost the first down, we failed on it. Typically if you don't get it out with a first down its points for the defense, which they ended up with a field goal. Obviously that's the difference, swung from a touchdown to a field goal."

Would it have been easy, after you get the two, for guys to hang their heads? "No, they looked at the clock, I knew how much time was left, it was thought out, well thought out, we were going for the win. We felt like if we could get a three-and-out we still could move the ball down and kick a field goal with the time that was left and it all played out like we talked about on the phones."

How did Marcus Mariota play today? "I thought he made some good throws. I thought he played well, made some really good decisions with some of the runs that we had, zone reads, very good decisions, I thought he played pretty well."

What was the offense's demeanor going back on the field for that last drive? "We're going to go win. We practice that every week, so it's not like we've done that in games so they have a lot of confidence in what we're doing. I thought the line at that point, now they don't have any help on the edge, those two tackles and the tackles held up in the most critical of times."

How bad were the conditions? "I don't think they were as bad with the cold. I didn't think there was a big difference in the game because of the weather to be honest with you. Other than the kicks. With kicking and punting there was a difference."

How is Jason McCourty? "He's got a shoulder deal. We'll know more about him tomorrow. [Karl] Klug is probably the most serious injury. I'm not sure if it's his Achilles again or not. [Phillip] Supernaw did not finish the game -- concussion. Da'Norris Searcy same thing – I think they held him out with a concussion."

Does getting a win like this on the road alter your own expectations in your own locker room a little bit? "No. They know the expectations. We know what the expectations are and we know what we're capable of. It just gives us more confidence in tough games in December. Maybe not this year but certainly in the future. We know we can play good football teams, division leaders and we can win at their place."

Did you second-guess any of the challenges? "No. I've never done that. I'm going to make sure there's more than one eye -- mine included when I make those decisions. I was standing there on an out-of-bounds one. The second one with the spot, it was too close of a game not to challenge it. This was one of those games that was going to come down to a field goal and it was too close of a spot to not challenge it and see if we could get them in a fourth-down situation."

Do you feel like we're starting to see the 'payoff' from a hard-fought season? "I think it gives you an edge every game. That's my personal opinion. At this time of the year, teams have played a long season and they're beat up. We're still bringing it and that's what we do. That's not just in December, that's every game that it's important."

QB MARCUS MARIOTA

Tough day offensively, but defense held you in it. Can you talk about their effort today? "They played outstanding. The last couple weeks they have done a great job of keeping us in the game. Today, for what they were able to do, holding them at no points in the second half, it was huge. It really gave us the opportunity to win the game."

When you were at your own 25, what did you have to do? "We knew we had to get down and get into the 50-yard range for Ryan [Succop]. So we knew if we could get a couple of big plays that we would have a chance at it. Delanie [Walker] and Rishard [Matthews] made great plays. They got us down there and Ryan did a great job at finishing it off at the end."

On Ryan Succop: "We have all the confidence in the world in him. He has done a great job for us all year, so we knew if we gave him an opportunity he would do his best to make the most of it."

What went through your mind during his kick? "I was kind of pacing back and forth on the sideline. I ended up towards the back half of the sideline next to Tajae [Sharpe] and Harry [Douglas] and he kicked it and I saw it go through. I might have been on the field before the refs put their arms up. All in all, it was such a great team effort. You know for us to pull that one off was huge and we just have to keep the momentum going."

Talk about the decision to go for two. "I love it. You know to have the confidence in us and have the opportunity to go and win it. I did not question that call at all. I hope Coach Mularkey continues to believe in us, but I loved it and I loved the call."

You were down 14 points and had three turnovers. Tell us what it was like to keep your mindset and stay with it. "Just stay the course. We have been in a few of these where we found an opportunity to either come back and win the game or just get back into it. The mentality on the sideline did not change. We continued to stay the course, execute the plays and get that opportunity to win."

On not protecting the ball: "You know it was one of those deals, I was tucking the ball away and he ended up swiping at it and got it. You know that is going to happen. Guys get paid a lot of money to do that. He made a great play and those are going to happen. Turnovers are going to happen, but I am proud of the way we were able to respond, especially on defense and I was happy we came up with a win."

Do you think that resilience is the primary characteristic of this team? "Absolutely, amongst other things. I think that is what defines this team and it is the culture we are building around here. Guys continue to believe in that and continue to believe in the culture Coach Mularkey is instilling. We are on the right path."

Was there a point when winning became the expectation? "You know I really think it started in camp. The mentality for us in the locker room has not changed. The guys really believed in each other and believed from the beginning what this team is capable of doing. So for us, it is just another day at work. We continue to focus on believing in each other, believing in what the coaches are doing and lead us in the right direction right now."

What is this team capable of doing? "We want to be able to make the playoffs. We want to win the division. We have an opportunity to do that. We are in the thick of it. We cannot look at the big picture. We have to focus on taking it one game at a time. Get our mind focused for Jacksonville. We will see where the cards fall and hopefully we will be where we want to be at the end of the year."

TE DELANIE WALKER

On coming up with a key catches in the final two offense drives: "In situations like that, Mike Mularkey depends on me. Marcus [Mariota] depends on me. This offense depends on me. When my name is called, I'm going to try to make the play the best I can and that's what I did."

How frustrating was it to go for two and not get in? "Mike Mularkey believed in the offense. But, most definitely, he believed in the defense. He knew, if we got it [the conversion], we could win the game with our defense going out there and stopping them. If we didn't get it, our defense was going to stop them and give our offense an opportunity to go down and put points on the board, which we did. So, I thought it was a great decision because it worked out."

On the final drive that led to the field goal: "On the sideline, we talked about it – leave it out on the field. We knew that we had to get close enough for Ryan to make the field goal and I think everybody left it on the field. We made some big plays that got us in field goal range. They froze us. He was a little short. That gave us a great opportunity for Ryan to see he needed to put some more leg into it. There you have it. We got the W. We get to go home to where it's warmer."

Succop misses the first one. You guys get lucky because Kansas City called a time out. Talk about that. "It was scary. I'm glad they called a timeout. Thank you for that Kansas City. Like I said, it gave us the opportunity for Ryan to see what he needed to do. He put some more leg into it to get it through the uprights, which he did."

DT JURRELL CASEY

On going for the two point conversion: "It's really a testament to how our coaches really believe in this team. They have a lot of faith in us to go get the job done. [Coach] Mularkey wants to go for two, knowing that our defense and special teams were going to come up with the plays they needed to make sure we gave our offense a chance to get back into the end zone. The special teams did a good job of making sure that ball went through the uprights. Ryan did a helluva job today kicking that ball."

Were you shocked he could get it there? That ball had to be like a brick. "Shocked? I wasn't really shocked. I've seen Ryan kick those kind of balls every day in practice. He constantly makes them. With the cold weather, yeah, a lot of people might be shocked. But, I had faith all the way. With the Lord on our side today, with the way they were calling the game, we still stuck in it. Ryan believed and got a second chance to go do it."

In the second half, the defense was able to shut down the Chiefs. What was the difference? "The difference is, we just settled down and played our game on defense. We know we're a top defense. We've just got to make sure that we settle down and don't let teams kill us where we know they can beat us. Once we settled down, they tried to hit us with draws again and they couldn't do it. They tried to hit us with deep balls and they couldn't do it. We know we've got a great defense. As long as we calm down, and trust one another, we can definitely make a great defensive stand."

RB DEMARCO MURRAY

On what this win means: "I think it means a lot. This organization has been through a lot during the last couple of years, but I think for this team and the guys that are a part of this group, it was a much-needed win and it was a huge win for us."

On his reception to setup the late-game touchdown: "It was a great play call by Coach [Terry] Robiskie. We ran it earlier and they played it well. I think Marcus went through his progressions and the receivers on the outside ran a great rub route. It was a huge play. Marcus threw it perfectly and I was able to make the catch."

On the sideline after Ryan Succop's first attempt of the game-winning field goal: "We knew he was going to make it. We go through these situations every day in practice. We've seen it throughout the course of the week every week leading up to this game. He's made the kick every day in practice, so we knew if we were able to give him the opportunity he would put it through the uprights and luckily they called a timeout and gave him another shot."

WR RISHARD MATTHEWS

On the comeback and QB Marcus Mariota's performance: "The comeback was big. We did a great job sticking in there and fighting until the end. Marcus did a great job of keeping everybody positive and letting us know that we're going to go out there and make plays. The defense did a great job getting us the ball back. Special teams did a great job containing their returners. They did a great job keeping De'Anthony [Thomas] and Tyreek [Hill] contained. It was an overall team win today."

On the fourth & short pass to RB DeMarco Murray: "I think it was a crossing play for us Marcus did a great job of finding DeMarco and DeMarco did a great job of getting open. I thought he scored, but he didn't. We went down there and put it in the end zone."

On the failed two-point conversion attempt: "It says a lot about Coach Mularkey. He's going to believe in us until the end. It sucks that we couldn't go out there and get his back. It is what it is. He definitely displayed a lot of belief in us and ultimately it worked out. Everyone did a great job of contributing."

T TAYLOR LEWAN

On overcoming three turnovers today: "When those things started happening, we just needed to cool down. The offensive line was pissed and we just had to take a deep breath and do our job and get things cleared up. We did the best we could and once we really got into a groove that's when good things started happening for us and the outcome was exactly what we wanted."

On the frigid weather conditions: "It was cool, but I wasn't cold at all. But in the second half, when it was cloudy, when the sun was gone three or four plays into it, I have never been colder longer into a drive. I've never been colder as a drive kept going."

What does this win mean for the remainder of the season? "It's right where we want to be. We want to play meaningful football in the month of December and that's what we're doing. So we want to keep playing ball and keep playing as hard as we can and stack two more wins together and go to the playoffs."

K RYAN SUCCOP

You've been in those situations before where the other team calls a timeout to try and ice you – what is your mental approach to that? "Today, it was a little bit different to be honest with you. The first ball, I thought, I hit really well, and I don't know what it was, but when it's like 10 degrees outside – whatever it was – the ball obviously doesn't travel the way that it normally would. You don't get compression. I felt like I hit the first one good and when it came up short, there was a second in my mind where I wasn't sure if I could even reach from there. So, on the second one, I kind of just had to throw technique out the window a little bit and really go after it and hit it as hard as I could. I told some of the guys this earlier, you could give me 10 kicks from there, and I don't know if I can make one. Honestly, in today's weather, the cold and just kicking a frozen football. There's one explanation of why that ball went in and it was because it was the Lord's will for it to go in today, and I know that's the case. Glory to God, man. What a day."

What was it like for you to kick that winning goal against your former team? "To be honest with you, it's more about our team. It's not really about me kicking a game winning field goal against my former team or anything like that. It's about the men in our locker room, it's about our team and what we have going forward. It was a huge win for our team, so very grateful that we were able to be able to come out on top."

What was your number? "You know, we were kind of looking around 47, 48 yards is what we kind of had during the game. That was obviously a very unique situation, and sometimes, you just have to throw those numbers out the window. When it's a last second play like that, that's kind of what you do. Like I said, there's one reason that ball went in and I know why."

After the Bears take a 7-0 lead, the Titans score 27 unanswered points and hold off a late rally ... Chicago quarterback Matt Barkley makes his first career start and passes for 316 yards ... Marcus Mariota throws two touchdown passes ... With less than a minute to play, the Titans defense stops the Bears seven yards from the end zone on four consecutive incompletions ... Wesley Woodyard and Da'Norris Searcy record interceptions inside their own 20-yard line.

Week 14 • Dec. 11, 2016 • Broncos 10 at TITANS 13 • 7-6

The Titans rush for 180 yards on 42 carries, including a one-yard touchdown run by DeMarco Murray on the Titans' first drive ... The Broncos score 10 points in the fourth quarter after the Titans build a 13-0 lead in the first half ... The Titans recover two fumbles on defense, including a game-clinching recovery by Daimion Stafford in the final minute (forced by Avery Williamson) ... Trevor Siemian passes for 334 yards for Denver, but the Broncos are limited to 18 rushing yards on nine carries.

Week 15 • Dec. 18, 2016 • TITANS 19 at Chiefs 17 • 8-6

Ryan Succop boots a game-winning, 53-yard field goal as time expires ... The kickoff temperature of 1 degree makes it the coldest game in franchise history ... Marcus Mariota engineers three consecutive scoring drives to end the game after the Titans trailed 17-7 entering the fourth quarter ... The Titans overcome three turnovers ... Derrick Henry scores both Tennessee touchdowns ... Tyreek Hill scores on a 68-yard run for the Chiefs early in the first quarter ... The Titans defense shuts out the Chiefs in the second half.

GENERAL MANAGER JON ROBINSON

Jon Robinson was hired as Titans general manager on Jan. 14, 2016 after spending two years as director of player personnel for the Tampa Bay Buccaneers.

"As we visited with Jon and researched his career, his proven track record for scouting talent, leadership skills, and ability to build relationships make him an ideal candidate to lead our football operation," said Amy Adams Strunk, Titans controlling owner and co-chairman of the board of directors. "Jon is a proud Tennessean who is excited to be coming home, and we look forward to the future of our football team under his leadership."

Within his first four months on the job, Robinson made several key personnel decisions. On March 9, Robinson made his first major acquisition, trading for Philadelphia Eagles running back DeMarco Murray. A two-time Pro Bowl selection, Murray was the NFL Offensive Player of the Year with the Dallas Cowboys in 2014, when he rushed for more than 1,800 yards. Around the same time, Robinson began to work the free agent market. Cornerbacks Brice McCain and Valentino Blake, center Ben Jones, quarterback Matt Cassel, wide receiver Rishard Matthews, linebacker Sean Spence and safety Rashad Johnson were part of the haul.

On April 14, two weeks before the NFL Draft, Robinson and the Titans dealt the first overall pick to the Los Angeles Rams in one of the biggest trades in recent NFL history. The Titans gave up the No. 1 pick and a fourth-rounder in order to receive the 15th overall pick, two second-rounders and a third-rounder in 2016, plus the Rams' first- and third-round picks in 2017. From 1990–2015, there were seven trades involving the No. 1 overall pick, but this was the first since 2004, when the San Diego Chargers selected Eli Manning with the first pick and dealt his rights to the New York Giants.

The Titans had their hands at one point or another on 17 selections in the 2016 draft due to five different trades (including one trade in 2015), and in the end, they ended up with a class of 10 players, including four of the top 45 picks. Robinson swung a draft-day trade with the Cleveland Browns to move back up to the eighth slot to choose Michigan State tackle Jack Conklin. The second round yielded Clemson outside linebacker Kevin Dodd (33rd overall), Penn State defensive lineman Austin Johnson (43rd) and Alabama running back Derrick Henry (45th).

Robinson arrived in Tennessee with a wide range of experience from working his way up on the personnel side of the NFL. From 2014–2015, he served as director of player personnel for the Buccaneers and oversaw both college and pro departments as the team rebuilt its roster. The 2015 Buccaneers draft class made a significant impact, including four rookie starters: quarterback Jameis Winston, tackle Donovan Smith, guard Ali Marpet and linebacker Kwon Alexander.

"Our goal here is to win, bottom line," Robinson said upon accepting the new job. "That is a measuring stick that all franchises are measured by. Mike (Mularkey) and I have an aligned vision of what we want this team to look like. We want tough players, we want coachable players, we want smart players and most importantly we want players with a team-first attitude. My role here is to insure we find those players. I will coach the personnel staff on the type of players that we want and identify the guys that are true fits of what we are looking for in a Titan."

Prior to joining Tampa Bay, Robinson spent 12 years with the New England Patriots, including his last five years (2009-13) as the director of college scouting. In the five years heading up their college scouting, the Patriots added a number of key components to their roster that won the Super Bowl in 2014, including wide receiver Julian Edelman, defensive back Devin McCourty, tight end Rob Gronkowski, tackle Nate Solder and defensive end Chandler Jones. He joined the Patriots as an area scout in 2002, a role he served for four seasons. Robinson then spent two years (2006-07) as a regional scout, before being promoted to assistant director of college scouting in 2008 and then director of college scouting in 2009. In his time scouting for the Patriots the team won 10 division titles, four conference titles and two Super Bowls (2003, 2004).

"I was really most specifically on the college side as the college director (in New England). So my duties there were to organize all of the scouting of the college players in preparation for the draft and rookie free agency. When I got to Tampa, I was really exposed to everything as it relates to the day-to-day operations of running the football team, to the Monday meetings with the trainer and (general manager) Jason (Licht), working through the emergency list, the practice squad list, preparing for free agency, along with overseeing the college draft. It really opened my eyes to everything that goes on on a day-to-day basis, on a weekly basis, on a monthly basis that an NFL team has to prep for."

Robinson played three years at Southeast Missouri State as a defensive lineman after starting his college career at the Air Force Academy. Following his college career as a player, he spent one season (1998) coaching at his alma mater and three years (1999-2001) coaching at Nicholls State.

A native of Union City, Tenn., Robinson and his wife, Jaimie, have two daughters, Taylor and Bailey.

WHAT THEY'RE SAYING ABOUT ROBINSON

Steve Underwood, Titans president/CEO (press conference Jan. 18, 2016): "Jon Robinson is the product of the most extensive search for a general manager in our club's history. We are so impressed with Jon's experience, his vision and his focus on restoring our franchise to greatness. We are persuaded fully that he will work with our staff and our coaches to restore our franchise on and off the field and Amy (Adams Strunk) believes that his talents and attitude are just what we need at this moment in time."

Mike Mularkey, Titans head coach (press conference Jan. 18, 2016): "We have had really good discussions for the vision we have for this football team. For our fans, we believe we can bring a championship to this city with the same vision. We have talked about it from day one of what it is going to take and it is very similar to what Jon just said. You heard me say that the first time I got in front of you when the coaching change took place. We want smart, tough, physical players, coachable and accountable, and that is what Jon and I will do. We will work together to find those players."

Floyd Reese, former Titans general manager and former New England Patriots executive (to TitansOnline.com Jan. 14, 2016): "You hear coaches talk all the time about when you get down to the fourth down play, there are certain guys that want the ball and other guys who might prefer it go to someone else. Jon wanted the ball, and I always thought that was something special about him.

"One of the biggest concerns I always had coming out of New England, because Bill (Belichick) runs everything, is there's not a lot of guys that have a chance to make decisions, and when you get thrown into a GM situation like this, making a decision is the hardest thing to do. … If you've never done it, it is tough.

"One of the things I always liked about Jon is he was one of those guys that wanted to tell you, he wanted to give you his opinion. He had an opinion, and had reason and logic and something behind it. And I'm telling you, the guy is smart.

"I think Amy (Adams Strunk) and Kenneth (Adams IV) and Steve (Underwood), and the people involved, they hit a home run with this one. Jon is prepared, and is in the right spot. If you look at the things that are really important for success, then you would say this is a great match.

"He's an outstanding guy. When he got the job, the first thing he said was 'I'm coming home.' He is a Tennessee boy. He loves Tennessee. And anybody that gets a chance to go back home and work a job of this caliber back home, it's a daily incentive. Every morning you're thinking my mom and dad are go-

"Jon will be outgoing. Coming back here and getting back in this environment, he'll be more accessible and visible. And I think the people here are going to love him."

Shelton Quarles, Tampa Bay Buccaneers director of football operations (to TitansOnline.com Jan. 14, 2016): "I think he has an overall great grasp of the league itself, from the guys coming in from college, to the guys that are already here on the pro side. And he has a great understanding of what it takes to set up a good roster and have a good team. He has a great ability to prioritize and make sure everyone is on task to get things done in a timely fashion. He works great with all the guys here, I've never heard any complaints. He is very organized and detail-oriented. He has been around some great coaches in (Bill) Belichick and was with Lovie (Smith). He's done a great job over the last few drafts here, with Jameis (Winston) and all our young guys from the draft who've kind of helped put us on the right track. I am pretty sure he'll be able to do the same thing with the Titans."

Jerry Reese, New York Giants general manager (statement Jan. 14, 2016): "I'm proud of Jon and happy for him. He's worked hard to earn his stripes in this business. I wish him good luck!"

Jason Licht, Tampa Bay Buccaneers general manager (to TitansOnline.com Jan. 14, 2016): "I first met Jon while I was a scout with the New England Patriots and he was a young position coach at Nicholls State University. After spending a day with him, I knew that he had a bright future in this business because he possessed the type of personnel and talent evaluation skills that NFL teams highly covet. A couple of seasons later, he was working with us at the Patriots and it became very clear that he would one day rise up the ranks to run his own team. During our 14 years together, Jon has been a valued co-worker and trusted advisor, but more importantly, a great friend. He was the first person I attempted to hire when I was named general manager of the Buccaneers and I was fortunate to have him by my side these past two years. Based on all that I know about Jon, I am certain he will enjoy great success with the Tennessee Titans. They could not have hired a better person to lead their football operations."

Daniel Jeremiah, former NFL scout and current NFL Network analyst (to TitansOnline.com Jan. 15, 2016): "Sometimes you see guys get these jobs and they are people you have been on the road with, and you've see them cut corners and you've seen them not deal well with people, and you are almost disappointed when some of these guys get hired. And then there's guys like J-Rob and you've been with them on the road and you know how hard they've worked, and you know they are come early, stay late guys. You know that they know how to cultivate sources at schools and develop relationships, and he's always been one of those guys. He is somebody who has a lot of respect in the scouting community. He is a scout's scout, and someone who is highly regarded in that community. He's a good guy. I am happy for him and I know a lot of people are, too."

Bill Belichick, New England Patriots head coach (to TitansOnline.com Feb. 22, 2016): "Jon is smart, works hard, and is team oriented. He showed a strong commitment to finding the players and specific types of players we needed, digging out information on their individual personal characteristics, and understanding the projection of how each player would contribute and fit into our program. He did many 'extras' that went beyond the normal duties in his job. Jon patiently worked his way up through the Patriots organization and was unselfish in his team-first attitude to do whatever he could to help us win ... Jon educated me on the changes in the landscape of scouting and we made adjustments in our process as a result of his perceptive comments."

NEW FACES

Additions to the Titans roster, coaching staff and football administration/player personnel leadership roles since the conclusion of the 2015 season:

Mike Mularkey was named head coach of the Titans on Jan. 16, 2016. He served as the interim head coach for the final nine games of the 2015 season.

"The vision Mike presented for our football team during this search as well as the character, integrity, and leadership skills he displayed during the last two months of the (2015) season makes him the right coach for the Tennessee Titans," controlling owner and co-chairman of the board of directors Amy Adams Strunk said upon appointing Mularkey head coach on a full-time basis. "Mike is a quality coach and an outstanding person who will help us build this team the right way. He has experience as a head coach and a track record for developing young quarterbacks and dynamic offenses, and he also brings continuity for our franchise quarterback. We understand this may take time as we rebuild the roster and bring in new coaches for Mike's staff, but we believe he has the experience and expertise to build a consistent winner."

Mularkey has 21 years of NFL coaching experience, including three seasons as a head coach and eight as an offensive coordinator, with coaching stops in Jacksonville, Atlanta, Miami, Buffalo, Pittsburgh and Tampa Bay. In five of the eight seasons he was a coordinator Mularkey's team went to the playoffs. He joined the Titans in 2014 as tight ends coach and was elevated to assistant head coach prior to the start of the 2015 season.

As a former NFL tight end, Mularkey played a total of 114 games in nine seasons with the Minnesota Vikings and Pittsburgh Steelers. His experience as a player has molded his style as a position coach. Including his rookie preseason with the 49ers, Mularkey spent his career playing for three of the NFL's legendary coaches in Bill Walsh, Bud Grant and Chuck Noll. As an assistant coach Mularkey has served on the staffs of Sam Wyche, Bill Cowher, Nick Saban, Cam Cameron, Mike Smith and Ken Whisenhunt.

Mularkey joined the Titans after one season (2012) with the Jacksonville Jaguars as the franchise's fourth head coach, and four seasons (2008-11) with the Atlanta Falcons as offensive coordinator. Over the four-year time span with the Falcons, the team advanced to the postseason three times, ranked ninth in the NFL in total yards (354.8 per game), seventh in points (24.5), eighth in rushing yards (125.7), third in fewest turnovers (84), fourth in fewest sacks allowed (93), and sixth in third down conversions (44.2).

In three of the four years with the Falcons, Mularkey's offense produced a 3,000-yard passer, a 1,000-yard receiver and a 1,000-yard rusher in the same season. His guidance saw the rise of QB Matt Ryan, WR Roddy White, RB Michael Turner; and the continued growth of TE Tony Gonzalez, who totaled 233 receptions and 19 touchdowns in their three years together. In 2010, Sporting News named Mularkey "Coordinator of the Year."

Prior to his time with the Falcons, Mularkey spent two seasons (2006-07) with the Miami Dolphins as the offensive coordinator in 2006, and tight ends coach in 2007. He joined the Dolphins after serving as head coach for the Buffalo Bills for two seasons (2004-05). In his first season with the team, the Bills finished 9-7, marking their only winning season over the last decade.

Eight seasons (1996-2003) with the Pittsburgh Steelers preceded Mularkey's time with the Bills. Mularkey served as the tight ends coach in his first five seasons. He molded Mark Bruener into an outstanding run-blocking tight end, while Jerome Bettis eclipsed the 1,000-yard rushing mark for five straight years. His final three seasons were spent as offensive coordinator, during which time he directed two top five offenses (3rd, 2001 and 5th, 2002) and earned Assistant Coach of the Year in 2001 from the Pro Football Writers of America.

Mularkey entered the coaching ranks in 1993, overseeing the offensive line at Concordia College. He transitioned into the NFL in 1994, where he began as a quality control coach for the Tampa Bay Buccaneers before being promoted to tight ends coach the following season (1995).

Selected in the ninth round by the San Francisco 49ers in 1983, Mularkey was waived following his first training camp. He was signed by the Vikings, where he played for six seasons, before finishing his career with three years at Pittsburgh. He totaled 102 receptions and 1,222 career yards.

A graduate of Northeast High School in Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., Mularkey played quarterback and earned a scholarship to the University of Florida. He was a three-year letterman at tight end for the Gators from 1979-82. He and his wife, Betsy, have two sons -- Patrick and Shane.

2016 TITANS DRAFT REVIEW

2016 Titans Draft Pick Capsules (Height, Weight, College, Draft Round, Overall Pick):

- T JACK CONKLIN (6-6, 308, Michigan State, 1st round, 8th overall)
  College: Conklin became the first Michigan State offensive lineman to be selected in the first round since 1989 (Tony Mandarich, No. 2 overall by Green Bay) and also the highest drafted Spartan since wide receiver Charles Rogers (No. 2) in 2003. He was a three-year starter at left tackle for the Spartans, starting 38 of his 39 career games (35 at left tackle, three at right tackle). In his final season, he was named second-team All-American by The Associated Press and was on numerous All-Big Ten teams.

- OLB KEVIN DODD (6-5, 277, Clemson, 2nd round, 33rd overall)
  College: As a defensive end at Clemson, he played parts of four seasons and notched 107 tackles, 26.5 tackles for loss and 12 sacks over 39 career games. In his final collegiate campaign, he started all 15 games and tallied 12 sacks and 23.5 stops for loss. In the National Championship Game against Alabama he produced a career-high five tackles for loss and three sacks, both of which set Clemson single-game postseason records.

- DL AUSTIN JOHNSON (6-4, 314, Penn State, 2nd round, 43rd overall)
  College: At Penn State, Johnson appeared in 38 games with 28 starts over three seasons, including starts in every game during his final two campaigns. He totaled 154 tackles, 8.5 sacks, 24 tackles for loss, eight passes defensed, one forced fumble and four fumble recoveries, including a fumble recovery for a touchdown. His 78 tackles as a junior in 2015 ranked second among defensive linemen in FBS and were the most by a Penn State defensive lineman since Jimmy Kennedy (87) in 2002, earning Johnson Associated Press first-team All-Big Ten honors.

- RB DERRICK HENRY (6-3, 237, Alabama, 2nd round, 45th overall)
  College: In three seasons at Alabama, Henry set numerous school and SEC records while leading his team to a National Championship in 2015. He played in 39 career games and totaled 602 carries for a school-record 3,591 yards and 42 rushing touchdowns and added 285 yards on 17 career receptions with three receiving scores. As a junior, he rushed for an SEC record with 2,219 yards and won the Heisman Trophy, among many other honors, as college football's best player.

88 JACE AMARO – TIGHT END
Previous Team: New York Jets
6-5 • 265 • Texas Tech • 2 Previous NFL Seasons

Jace Amaro was claimed off waivers from the New York Jets on Sept. 4, 2016. He spent his first two NFL seasons with the New York Jets, playing in 14 games with four starts.

Amaro was the second-leading receiver on the Jets as a rookie in 2014, with 38 receptions for 345 yards and two touchdowns. His 35 receptions and 345 yards led all NFL rookie tight ends. He also became just one of four franchise tight ends to record 10 receptions in a game, as he notched 10 grabs against Denver on Oct. 12, 2014.

In 2015, he was placed on injured reserve with a shoulder injury during the preseason.

The Plano, Texas, native was a second-round selection (49th overall) by the Jets in the 2014 NFL Draft from Texas Tech. For the Red Raiders, he played in 32 games and totaled 136 receptions for 1,818 yards and 13 touchdowns. In his final season, as a junior, he earned All-America honors after setting an NCAA record for receptions in a season by a tight end with 106.

47 VALENTINO BLAKE – CORNERBACK
Previous Team: Pittsburgh Steelers
5-9 • 198 • Texas El-Paso • 4 Previous NFL Seasons

Valentino Blake was signed by the Titans following four total seasons and 62 games with the Jaguars (2012) and Steelers (2013-15). His career totals include 17 starts, 109 tackles, three interceptions, 18 passes defensed, one sack, two forced fumbles, one fumble recovery and 34 special teams tackles.

In 2015, Blake was a full-time starter for the first time in his career. In addition to notching 16 starts, he set personal bests with 74 tackles, two interceptions and 11 passes defensed in the regular season. He also started both of Pittsburgh's postseason games, registering two tackles and an interception.

A native of Houston, Texas, Blake played four seasons and was a two-year starter at cornerback at the University of Texas at El Paso. He then entered the NFL as an undrafted free agent with the Jaguars in 2012.

16 MATT CASSEL – QUARTERBACK
Previous Team: Dallas Cowboys
6-4 • 228 • Southern California • 11 Previous NFL Seasons

Matt Cassel was signed by the Titans after 11 previous seasons with the New England Patriots, Kansas City Chiefs, Minnesota Vikings, Buffalo Bills and Dallas Cowboys. His career totals prior to arriving in Tennessee included 17,003 passing yards, 101 touchdown passes, 77 interceptions and a passer rating of 79.3.

In 2015, Cassell played for the Bills and the Cowboys. With the Cowboys, he started seven games and completed 19 of 204 passes for 1,276 yards, five touchdowns and seven interceptions.

A native of Northridge, Calif., Cassel attended the University of Southern California and then entered the NFL as a seventh-round pick of the Patriots in 2005.

25 RASHAD JOHNSON – SAFETY
Previous Team: Arizona Cardinals
5-11 • 204 • Alabama • 7 Previous NFL Seasons

Prior to joining the Titans, Rashad Johnson spent his first seven NFL seasons with the Arizona Cardinals. In 100 career games (51 starts) with the Cardinals, he collected 330 tackles and 15 interceptions, three of which he returned for touchdowns. From 2012-15, he tied for sixth in the NFL with 14 interceptions.

In 2015, Johnson played in 14 games (all starts) and tied for the team lead with a career-high five interceptions, a total that also tied for sixth place in the NFL. He added 59 tackles, eight passes defensed, two tackles for loss, one fumble recovery and five special teams stops. In the playoffs, he started both of the team's games and recorded eight tackles and his first career postseason interception.

Johnson was selected in the third round of the 2009 NFL Draft following a career at the University of Alabama. The Sulligent, Ala., native was a walk-on running back with the Tide who went on to become a two-time team captain as a free safety.

60 BEN JONES – CENTER

Previous Team: Houston Texans

6-3 • 308 • Georgia • 4 Previous NFL Seasons

Ben Jones was signed by the Titans after four seasons and 64 games (43 starts) with the Houston Texans. During his time in Houston, he registered 16 starts at center, 16 starts at left guard and 11 starts at right guard. From 2014-15, Houston ranked seventh in sacks allowed (62) and ninth in rushing yards (3,892).

In 2015, Jones started all 16 games at center for the Texans. In 2014, he started 16 games at left guard.

Jones became the first center selected in the 2012 NFL Draft, as the Texans drafted him in the fourth round. A native of Centreville, Ala., he was a four-year starter at center at the University of Georgia and a two-time All-SEC selection.

71 DENNIS KELLY – GUARD/TACKLE

Previous Team: Philadelphia Eagles

6-8 • 321 • Purdue • 4 Previous NFL Seasons

Dennis Kelly was acquired in a trade with the Philadelphia Eagles on Aug. 16, 2016. The Titans dealt wide receiver Dorial Green-Beckham to the Eagles in exchange for the versatile offensive lineman.

Kelly (6-8, 321) arrived with four years of previous NFL experience, including 15 starts and 30 games played. During his time with the Eagles, he played at right tackle (nine starts) right guard (four starts) and left guard (two starts).

The Chicago Heights, Ill., native entered the NFL as a fifth-round selection by the Eagles in the 2012 NFL Draft. At Purdue, he was a team captain and a two-time offensive MVP, while starting his final three seasons at left tackle.

64 JOSH KLINE – GUARD

Previous Team: New England

6-3 • 300 • Kent State • 3 Previous NFL Seasons

Josh Kline was acquired off waivers from the New England Patriots on on Sept. 8, 2016. He spent the first three seasons of his NFL career in New England and won a Super Bowl as a member of their 2014 team.

With the Patriots, Kline recorded 18 regular season starts and three postseason starts. He started games at both right (10) and left guard (11).

In 2015, he set career highs by playing in 14 games and recording 13 starts (seven at right guard and two at left guard). He also started twice at left guard in the 2015 playoffs.

Kline entered the NFL as an undrafted college free agent in 2013 following a four-year playing career at Kent State. He played right guard and right tackle during his stay there.

87 MARC MARIANI – KICK RETURNER/WIDE RECEIVER

Previous Team: Chicago Bears

6-1 • 190 • Montana • 6 Previous NFL Seasons

Marc Mariani rejoined the Titans as a free agent on Sept. 5, 2016, returning to the team that drafted him in 2010. He spent the previous two campaigns with the Chicago Bears.

As a rookie, Mariani earned a Pro Bowl selection and All-Rookie honors as kick returner with an average of 12.2 yards per punt return and 25.5 yards per kickoff return.

Through the 2015 campaign, Mariani totaled three career return touchdowns (two punt returns and one kickoff return), while averaging 9.5 yards on punt returns and 25.0 yards on kickoffs.

As a receiver, Mariani produced 27 receptions for 324 yards during his first six years in the NFL, with 22 of the grabs coming last year as a member of the Chicago Bears.

During his first four seasons with the Titans, two of the years were spent on injured reserve with two different injuries. The Titans originally selected him in the seventh round of the 2010 NFL Draft from Montana.

18 RISHARD MATTHEWS – WIDE RECEIVER

Previous Team: Miami Dolphins

6-0 • 217 • Nevada • 4 Previous NFL Seasons

Rishard Matthews joined the Titans after spending his first four NFL seasons with the Miami Dolphins. His career totals in Miami included 107 catches for 1,396 yards and eight touchdowns in 49 games (17 starts).

In 2015, his first year as a full-time starter, Matthews had a career-high 43 catches for 662 yards and four touchdowns in 10 games, before suffering a season-ending rib injury in the 11th game.

A native of Santa Ana, Calif., Matthews was a seventh-round pick in 2012 out of Nevada. In his final season with the Wolf Pack, he led the team with a career-high 91 receptions, and his 1,364 receiving yards made up the sixth-best season total in school history.

23 BRICE McCAIN – CORNERBACK

Previous Team: Miami Dolphins

5-9 • 190 • Utah • 7 Previous NFL Seasons

Brice McCain signed with the Titans as an unrestricted free agent following seven total seasons and 100 games with Houston (2009-13), Pittsburgh (2014) and Miami (2015).

In 2015, McCain played in 14 games with 11 starts for the Dolphins. He totaled 39 tackles, eight passes defensed and one interception. During the prior season, he played in coordinator Dick LeBeau's defense at Pittsburgh, producing three interceptions and 25 tackles.

A native of Terrell, Texas, McCain was drafted by the Texans in the sixth round of the 2009 NFL Draft. He was a three-year starter at the University of Utah.

29 DeMARCO MURRAY – RUNNING BACK

Previous Team: Philadelphia Eagles

6-0 • 217 • Oklahoma • 5 Previous NFL Seasons

A veteran of five previous NFL seasons and two Pro Bowl campaigns (2013 & 14), DeMarco Murray arrived in Tennessee with 5,228 career rushing yards in 68 games. From 2011 through 2015, he ranked among the top rushers in the NFL – sixth in rushing yards, fifth in avg./rush (4.6), sixth in scrimmage yards (6,750) and seventh in rushing touchdowns (34). As a pass receiver, he registered 215 receptions and 1,522 yards during that time period.

In 2015, Murray played in 15 games and totaled 702 rushing yards and six touchdowns during his only season in Philadelphia. He signed there on the heels of winning the NFL rushing title and the NFL Offensive Player of the Year Award with the Cowboys in 2014, when he rushed for 1,845 yards.

A native of Las Vegas, Nev., Murray was drafted by Dallas in the third round of the 2011 NFL Draft. He completed his four years at Oklahoma as the school's all-time leader in all-purpose yardage (6,718) and career touchdowns (65).

50 NATE PALMER – LINEBACKER

Previous Team: Green Bay

6-2 • 248 • Illinois State • 3 Previous NFL Seasons

Nate Palmer was claimed off waivers on April 11, 2016. He spent his first three NFL seasons with the Green Bay Packers, playing in 24 games (12 starts) at both inside and outside linebacker. He missed the entirety of his second season with an injury. Palmer has played both inside and outside linebacker during his NFL career and brings great flexibility to the linebacker corps.

In 2015, he played in a career-best 16 games with 10 starts and collected career-highs with 80 tackles, a sack, two quarterback pressures and three passes defensed.

The Chicago, Ill., native was originally selected by the Packers in the sixth round (193rd overall) of the 2013 NFL Draft.

Palmer spent two seasons at Illinois State (2011-12), where he started 24 games after playing his first two collegiate seasons at the University of Illinois (2009-10). He earned second-team All-Missouri Valley Football Conference honors at defensive end following his junior and senior seasons.

55 SEAN SPENCE – LINEBACKER

Previous Team: Pittsburgh Steelers

5-11 • 231 • Miami (Fla.) • 4 Previous NFL Seasons

Sean Spence arrived in Tennessee with 31 games of NFL experience, including 13 starts with the Steelers. His career totals included 86 tackles, two sacks and a fumble recovery.

In 2015, Spence totaled 34 tackles, one sack and two special teams stops in 15 games.

As a rookie in 2012, he suffered a devastating knee injury, which caused him to miss his first two seasons. He bounced back in 2014 to win the team's Ed Block Courage Award.

Spence was a third-round pick by the Steelers in the 2012 NFL Draft from the University of Miami. With the Hurricanes, he was a four-year starter and tallied 318 career tackles and 10.5 sacks.

NISSAN STADIUM

In 2015, the Titans and Nissan North America announced the formation of a 20-year, exclusive naming-rights partnership that rebranded Nashville's downtown stadium as Nissan Stadium.

Nissan Stadium hosts all Titans home football games, Tennessee State University football games, the Music City Bowl, the CMA Music Festival and numerous other events.

The procurement of naming rights to Nissan Stadium fit the automotive company's 'Fewer, Bigger, Better' marketing strategy, which has included ongoing sponsorships of NBC's 'The Voice,' the Heisman House college football program and a major advertising presence in this year's Super Bowl. Nissan is also now the official automotive partner of the Tennessee Titans.

Nissan's ever-growing footprint in Tennessee includes vehicle and powertrain manufacturing facilities in Smyrna and Decherd respectively, along with its North American headquarters in Franklin.

The Nissan Smyrna Plant began operations in 1983 and employs more than 8,400 people. In 2014, the Smyrna plant assembled more than 648,000 vehicles, making it the highest volume automotive assembly plant in North America. Nissan also has a major manufacturing presence in Canton, Mississippi, along with research and development groups in California, Arizona and Michigan. In total, the company employs more than 22,000 employees in the U.S.

One component of the Titans-Nissan partnership is assisting charitable organizations throughout Middle Tennessee in an array of community outreach programs. A centerpiece of this is the annual "Taste of Titans" charitable event, for which Nissan serves as presenting sponsor. During the course of a 20-year relationship, a total of more than $1 million resulting from these annual events is anticipated to be distributed to local non-profit organizations.

Nissan Stadium is a city-owned venue that has housed the Titans since 1999. The naming rights agreement includes the opportunity for Nissan branding on the exterior of the stadium, as well as stadium signage and other unique displays inside the stadium. LP Building Products has held the naming rights to the stadium since 2006 and that exclusivity now shifts to Nissan.

NISSAN STADIUM BAG POLICY

To provide a safer environment for the public and significantly expedite fan entry into Nissan Stadium, the Tennessee Titans enacted a league-wide NFL policy that limits the size and type of bags that may be brought into the stadium, regardless of the type of event.

This policy includes all Titans games, college football games, concerts and additional sporting events at Nissan Stadium.

The team strongly encourages fans to not bring any type of bags, but outlined what is permissible. Fans will be able to carry the following style and size bag, package, or container at stadium plaza areas, stadium gates, or when approaching queue lines of fans awaiting entry into the stadium:

- Bags that are clear plastic, vinyl or PVC and do not exceed 12" x 6" x 12." (Official Titans logo clear plastic tote bags are available online at www.TitansLockerRoom.com or at Titans Locker Room locations at Nissan Stadium.)
- One-gallon clear plastic freezer bag (Ziploc bag or similar)
- Small clutch bags, approximately the size of a hand, with or without a handle or strap, may be carried into the stadium along with one of the clear bag options
- An exception will be made for medically necessary items after proper inspection. Guests with medical items must enter through designated entry points at Gate 1, Gate 5 or Gate 7.

Prohibited items include, but are not limited to: purses larger than a clutch bag, coolers, briefcases, backpacks, fanny packs, cinch bags, luggage of any kind, seat cushions, computer bags and camera bags or any bag larger than the permissible size.

For additional information, including visuals of allowed and prohibited items, visit www.NFL.com/allclear.

ROSTER TURNOVER

From their 2015 season finale on Dec. 28 to the start of the regular season on Sept. 11, the Titans added 23 new players to the 53-man roster, including nine draft picks, nine free agents, three waiver claims and two players acquired via trade.

The list of 2016 additions to the Titans include the following players (roster as of Sept. 11):

Free agents (9): CB Brice McCain, C Ben Jones, QB Matt Cassel, WR Rishard Matthews, LB Sean Spence, CB Valentino Blake, S Rashad Johnson, WR Andre Johnson, WR Marc Mariani

Draft picks (9): T Jack Conklin, OLB Kevin Dodd, DL Austin Johnson, RB Derrick Henry, S Kevin Byard, WR Tajaé Sharpe, CB LeShaun Sims, G Sebastian Tretola, OLB Aaron Wallace

Waiver acquisitions (3): LB Nate Palmer, TE Jace Amaro, G Josh Kline

Acquired via trade (2): RB DeMarco Murray, G/T Dennis Kelly

In Week 1, the Titans had 23 new players on the roster from 2015. The 43.4 percent roster turnover from the 2015 to the 2016 ranks first in the franchise's "Titans era" (1999–present). Previously, the 2013 squad had the most turnover by adding 20 new players during the offseason (37.7 percent).

Number of new players* in Week 1 on the Titans' 53-man roster:

The Titans selected quarterback Marcus Mariota (6-4, 222) with the second overall selection in the 2015 NFL Draft.

During his rookie season, Mariota played and started in 12 games, missing four total contests due to injuries. He completed 230 of his 370 passes for 2,818 yards, 19 touchdowns—all franchise rookie records—while throwing only 10 interceptions. His 91.5 passer rating ranks third in franchise history behind only Steve McNair's 2003 MVP season (100.4) and Pro Football Hall of Famer Warren Moon's 1990 campaign (96.8).

Mariota also set a franchise rookie record by completing 62.2 percent of his passes. That is the fifth-highest percentage by a rookie quarterback in NFL history and the eighth-highest completion percentage in a season by any quarterback in Titans/Oilers history.

On the ground, Mariota accounted for 252 yards and a pair of touchdowns on 34 carries. He finished second in franchise history in rushing yards by a rookie quarterback, trailing only Vince Young's 2006 total of 552 rushing yards. Mariota's total included an 87-yard touchdown run against Jacksonville (Dec. 6), which was the fifth-longest rushing play in franchise history.

Mariota joined Peyton Manning (1998) as the only rookie quarterbacks in NFL history to complete three touchdown passes in four different games, and he became the lone NFL rookie to ever record two games with four touchdown passes and no interceptions (Sept. 13 at Tampa Bay and Nov. 8 at New Orleans).

The rookie signal caller entered the NFL following a historic career at the University of Oregon. He concluded his three seasons as the school's starting quarterback by winning the Heisman Trophy and leading his team to the College Football Playoff Championship Game.

Mariota broke nearly every major passing record at Oregon, totaling 10,796 career passing yards and 105 touchdown passes. The three-time All-Pac-12 selection started every game over his three seasons, earning a 36-5 record, and he completed at least one touchdown pass in every contest. He is one of four players in FBS history to pass for 10,000 yards and rush for 2,000 yards (2,237) in a career, joining Dan LeFevour, Robert Griffin III and Colin Kaepernick.

During his Heisman season in 2014, Mariota directed the Ducks to a Rose Bowl victory over Florida State. His totals for the year included 4,454 passing yards, 42 touchdown passes and only four interceptions. He also rushed for 770 yards and 15 touchdowns and even caught a touchdown pass. His 58 total touchdowns in a season (passing, rushing and receiving) shattered Matt Barkley's (2011) previous Pac-12 record of 41 touchdowns.

The 6-foot-4-inch, 222-pound signal caller became the fifth Heisman Trophy winner to be drafted by the Oilers/Titans, joining Billy Cannon, Earl Campbell, Mike Rozier and Eddie George.

At the 2015 NFL Scouting Combine, he finished among the top three quarterbacks in the 40-yard dash, vertical jump, broad jump, three-cone drill and 20-yard shuttle. His 4.52-second 40-yard dash gave him the fastest quarterback time at the Combine since Robert Griffin III's 4.41 in 2012.

2016 Highlights:

➢ Against Minnesota (9/11), completed 25 of his 41 attempts with two touchdown passes and one interception (86.5 passer rating). He became the 17th player in franchise history to reach 3,000 career passing yards. Mariota completed a six-yard touchdown pass in the second quarter to DeMarco Murray to reach 20 touchdown passes for his career. He added a second touchdown pass to Murray (four yards) in the fourth quarter.

➢ At Detroit (9/18), completed 25 of 33 passes for 238 yards with one interception and two fourth-quarter touchdown passes. He threw a 30-yard touchdown pass to Delanie Walker on the first play of the fourth quarter. With less than two minutes remaining in regulation, he completed a nine-yard touchdown pass to Andre Johnson on fourth-and-four. His passer rating for the game was 102.8, marking the fourth time in his career with a passer rating of 100 or above. In the fourth quarter, he was 11-of-13 for 107 yards, two touchdowns and a 140.5 passer rating, including the game-winning drive, during which he completed all nine of his attempts for 74 yards and a touchdown. The win marked the third time in 14 career starts in which he led a game-winning drive in the fourth quarter or overtime. His 75.8 percent completion rate was the second-highest of his career and his highest since an 86.7-percent performance (13 of 15) at Tampa Bay on Sept. 13, 2015. For his performance at Detroit, Mariota was named Castrol EDGE Clutch Performer of the Week.

➢ Against Oakland (9/25), completed 17 of 33 passes for 214 yards with two interceptions. He added three rushing attempts for 22 yards.

➢ At Houston (10/2), completed 13 of 29 passes for 202 yards with one interception. He added four rushing attempts for 20 yards. In the second quarter, he connected on the second-longest pass of his career, a 60-yard strike to Rishard Matthews. In his 16th career start, moved his career total to 3,743 passing yards to rank first in franchise history in a player's first 16 starts with the team. To achieve the record, he passed George Blanda, who compiled 3,732 passing yards in his first 16 starts with the club from 1960-1961.

➢ At Miami (10/9), completed 20 of 29 passes for 163 yards with two touchdowns and no interceptions. He added seven rushing attempts for 60 yards and a touchdown. He finished with a passer rating of 117.5, the fourth-best of his career. For the second time in his career, he had one rushing touchdown and three passing touchdowns in the same game. He ran for a five-yard score and completed touchdown passes of five yards to Andre Johnson, 20 yards to Delanie Walker and four yards to Rishard Matthews. It marked the fourth time in 17 career starts he accounted for four total touchdowns, and it was his fifth career game with three or more touchdown passes in a game (first of 2016).

➢ Against Indianapolis (10/23), completed 22 of 37 passes for 232 yards with two touchdowns and no interceptions. He posted a passer rating of 95.8, marking the eighth time in 19 career starts he posted a passer rating of at least 95.0. He completed a 10-yard touchdown pass to Taylor Lewan in the first quarter and a seven-yard touchdown pass to Delanie Walker in the fourth quarter, giving him five games in 2016 and 11 games in his career with two or more touchdown passes.

➢ Against Jacksonville (10/27), completed 18 of 22 passes for 270 yards with two touchdowns and no interceptions in a Thursday night game. His 148.1 passer rating was the second-highest number of his career and his highest since the 2015 season opener (158.3 at Tampa Bay on Sept. 13). Mariota recorded his fourth consecutive game with a passer rating of 95 or greater and at least two touchdown passes. He hit wide receiver Kendall Wright for a 36-yard touchdown and wide receiver Rishard Matthews for a four-yard scoring strike. His 81.8 completion percentage was the sixth-best percentage in franchise history among qualifying performances (minimum 20 attempts). Mariota's completion percentage against Jacksonville was the highest among qualifiers with the team since 2002, when Steve McNair completed 82.6 percent of his throws (19 of 23) against the Indianapolis Colts. Mariota's 219 passing yards in the first half (16-of-19, 1 TD, 0 INT, 132.2 passer rating) were the most of any half in his career. It was the first time he hit 200 passing yards in any half.

➢ At San Diego (11/6), completed 27 of 43 passes for 313 yards with three touchdowns and two interceptions, giving him his third career 300-yard passing game and his first in 2016. For the third time in his career, he had one rushing touchdown and three passing touchdowns in the same game. He completed touchdown passes of 16 yards and seven yards to Rishard Matthews and eight yards to Delanie Walker. His 14-yard rushing touchdown was the fourth of his career. It marked the fifth time in 21 career starts he accounted for four total touchdowns, and it was his seventh career game with three or more touchdown passes (third of 2016). Mariota recorded his fifth consecutive contest with at least two touchdown passes.

➢ Against Green Bay (11/13), completed 19 of 26 passes (73.1 percent) for 295 yards with four touchdowns and no interceptions. His 149.8 passer rating qualified as the second best in franchise history (minimum 20 attempts). He accounted for four touchdowns (rushing and/or passing) for the sixth time, the most in NFL history in a player's first 22 career NFL games. All of Mariota's touchdowns against the Packers were through the air, marking his third career game with four touchdown passes (first since Nov. 8, 2015 at New Orleans). He threw touchdown passes of nine yards to tight end Anthony Fasano, 32 yards to wide receiver Rishard Matthews, six yards to wide receiver Kendall Wright and 33 yards to wide receiver Tajaé Sharpe. Mariota became the first quarterback in NFL history to have three games with a 70.0-plus completion percentage, at least four touchdown passes and no interceptions in his first two seasons. He became the first Titans quarterback to have 20 or more touchdown passes in a season since Steve McNair (24) in 2003. For his performance against the Packers, he was named the AFC Offensive Player of the Week for the third time in his career and was voted the FedEx Air Player of the Week.

➢ At Indianapolis (11/20), completed 25 of 38 passes for 290 yards with two touchdowns and no interceptions, amounting to a passer rating of 106.2. His passer rating was above 100 for the sixth time in 2016 and the ninth time in 23 career starts. With a three-yard touchdown pass to DeMarco Murray in the second quarter and a 34-yard touchdown strike to Tajaé Sharpe in the third quarter (42nd career touchdown pass and 23rd of 2016), Mariota set a new franchise record with his seventh consecutive game with multiple touchdown passes, a streak that began on Oct. 9 at Miami. Warren Moon set the previous record of six straight games with two or more touchdown tosses in 1987.

➢ At Chicago (11/27), completed 15 of 23 passes for 226 yards and two touchdowns without throwing an interception. He added four rushing attempts for 46 yards, including a 29-yard run in the third quarter. His passer rating for the game was 126.4, giving him 10 career games with two or more touchdown passes and a passer rating of at least 100. He became the fourth NFL player to record 10 games with multiple touchdown passes and a 100 passer rating in his first two NFL seasons, joining Dan Marino (14), Russell Wilson (12) and Kurt Warner (11). Mariota completed touchdown passes of four yards to Delanie Walker and 29 yards to Rishard Matthews, both in the second quarter. He extended his streak to eight consecutive games with at least two touchdown passes, which improved upon his franchise record (previously six by Warren Moon in 1987). Mariota became the second NFL quarterback in his first or second year to record a streak of eight or more games in a season with two or more touchdown passes. The only previous player to accomplish the feat was Marino (10) in 1984. On his second touchdown pass of the game, Marcus Mariota became the third quarterback in franchise history to throw at least 25 touchdown passes in a season. George Blanda accomplished the feat twice (36 in 1961 and 27 in 1962), and Warren Moon reached the mark once (33 in 1990) with the club.

➢ Named AFC Offensive Player of the Month for November. In November he was 86-of-130 passing for 1,124 yards with 11 touchdowns, two interceptions and a 115.0 passer rating in four games. He also rushed for 89 yards and a touchdown. During November, he ranked first in passer rating, passing yards, touchdown passes and yards per attempt (8.65). His 115.0 passer rating in November was the fourth best in franchise history by a player in any calendar month, trailing only Dan Pastorini's 120.8 in November 1979, Warren Moon's 119.1 in November 1990 and Steve McNair's 115.3 in December 2001.

➢ Against Denver (12/11), completed six of 20 passes for 88 yards. He added eight rushing attempts for 38 yards and three rushes for first downs. On a 23-yard completion to Delanie Walker in the first quarter, he reached the 3,000-yard passing mark for the first time in his career. It marked the franchise's 17th all-time 3,000-yard season and its first since Matt Hasselbeck reached the milestone in 2011.

➢ At Kansas City (12/18), completed 19 of 33 passes for 241 yards with one interception. The Titans trailed 17-7 going into the fourth quarter before he engineered three scoring drives for the comeback win. Taking possession with 1:07 on the clock, he led a six-play, 40-yard drive that resulted in the game-winning field goal, completing three of his four passes on the drive for 40 yards. It was his fourth career fourth-quarter comeback and his fourth career game-winning drive in 26 career starts.

PASSING LEADERS, WEEKS 5-15

Over the last 11 weeks, Marcus Mariota has been among the NFL's top passers. In that time period, which began with a road game against the Miami Dolphins (Oct. 9), he has completed 188 of 295 passes for 2,402 yards with 21 touchdowns and four interceptions.

Mariota's 107.2 passer rating during that time ranks behind only Matt Ryan (109.8) and Tom Brady (109.7).

CONSECUTIVE GAMES W/ TWO TD PASSES

Over an eight-game stretch in 2016, Marcus Mariota completed at least two touchdown passes. In doing so, he broke Pro Football Hall of Famer Warren Moon's franchise record for the most consecutive games with multiple touchdown passes. Moon set the record in 1987.

Mariota became the second NFL quarterback in his first or second year to record a streak of eight or more games in a season with two or more touchdown passes. The only previous player to accomplish the feat was Dan Marino (10) in 1984. Among all NFL players, Mariota's streak of games with multiple touchdown passes was the longest such streak since a nine-game run by Tom Brady to start the 2015 campaign.

Besides Mariota and Moon, only one other signal caller for the franchise, Billy Volek in 2004, had as many as five consecutive games with multiple touchdown passes with the team.

FRANCHISE SINGLE-GAME PASSER RATINGS

Against the Packers on Nov. 13, 2016, Marcus Mariota completed 19 of 26 passes for 295 yards with four touchdowns and no interceptions. His passer rating for the game was 149.8.

Among all games in franchise history, Mariota's passer rating against the Packers ranks second. The only one that tops it is a perfect 158.3 by Chris Chandler against the Cincinnati Bengals on Sept. 24, 1995.

Mariota already owns two of the franchise's three best single-game passer ratings and 25 percent of the team's 16 best performances. His 148.1 passer rating against the Jacksonville Jaguars on Oct. 27 is third on the list. Additionally, his 135.7 passer rating at the New Orleans Saints as a rookie (Nov. 8) is 12th, and his 132.6 passer rating against the Cleveland Browns on Oct. 16, 2016 is 16th on the list.

In his NFL debut at Tampa Bay on Sept. 13, 2015, Mariota had a perfect 158.3 passer rating. However, his 15 attempts fell short of the 20 attempts required to qualify in the NFL's official record books.

RUSH TO THE RECORD BOOKS

On Dec. 6 against Jacksonville, Marcus Mariota rushed for an 87-yard touchdown against Jacksonville and finished the game with 112 rushing yards on nine attempts.

The 87-yard run was the longest run in franchise history by a quarterback and the fifth-longest run overall for the team, behind three rushes by running back Chris Johnson (94, 91 and 89 yards) and one rush by running back Sid Blanks (91).

Steve McNair previously recorded the longest run in franchise history by a quarterback with a 71-yard attempt in 1998 (Nov. 8 at Tampa Bay).

Longest rushing attempts in franchise history:

	Player	Date	Opp	Rush
1.	Chris Johnson	12/17/12	New York Jets	94t

TITANS TIDBITS: MARCUS MARIOTA

- Mariota's touchdown "celebrations" are usually limited to a simple series of gestures: three taps on his chest and pointing to the sky as a way to show appreciation for his mother, father and younger brother.
- He is the oldest son of Toa and Alana Mariota. His younger brother, Matthew, is a sophomore linebacker at Oregon.
- Mariota credits much of his athletic success to playing soccer in his youth. By the time he was eight years old, he was wearing a soccer jersey with the number 8, and he has kept the jersey number ever since then.
- During his time in Eugene, Ore., Mariota became a fixture at the Boys and Girls Club of Emerald Valley, spending time on a weekly basis with kids at the center. For his efforts in the community, he was awarded with the inaugural Play It Forward Award at the 63rd Annual Oregon Sports Awards in June 2015.
- Mariota recently launched his Motiv8 foundation, which will serve the communities of Middle Tennessee, Eugene and Honolulu.

2015 FIRST-DOWN PERCENTAGE LEADERS

Marcus Mariota attempted 370 passes as a rookie in 2015, and 142 of his attempts resulted in Titans first downs. His first-down rate of 38.4 percent ranked fourth in the NFL behind only Carson Palmer (43.0), Cam Newton (39.4) and Russell Wilson (38.7).

Quarterback Matt Cassel (6-4, 228) was signed during the 2016 offseason, giving the team an experienced, veteran leader to back up starting quarterback Marcus Mariota.

Cassel spent 11 previous seasons with the New England Patriots, Kansas City Chiefs, Minnesota Vikings, Buffalo Bills and Dallas Cowboys. His career totals prior to arriving in Tennessee included 17,003 passing yards, 101 touchdown passes, 77 interceptions and a passer rating of 79.3.

In 2015, Cassell played for the Buffalo Bills and the Dallas Cowboys. With the Cowboys, he started seven games and completed 119 of 204 passes for 1,276 yards, five touchdowns and seven interceptions.

Cassel began his NFL career in 2005 as a seventh-round draft pick of the Patriots. He spent four seasons there, including 2008, when he went 10-5 as a starter after Tom Brady suffered a season-ending knee injury in the opener. He passed for 3,693 yards and 21 touchdowns.

In 2009, he was traded to Kansas City, where he would spent the next four seasons. In 2010, he was named to the Pro Bowl after setting career highs with 27 touchdown passes and a 93.0 passer rating as the starting quarterback for the Chiefs. He helped guide the Chiefs to the AFC West title.

Cassel went to Minnesota in 2013 and started a total of nine contests with the Vikings over two years. The Vikings traded him to Buffalo in March 2015, and then the Bills dealt him to the Cowboys in September.

A native of Northridge, Calif., Cassel played in 25 career games at Southern Cal as a backup to Heisman Trophy winners Carson Palmer and Matt Leinart. While he was there, the Trojans won back-to-back national titles in 2003 and 2004.

2016 Highlights:

- At Detroit (9/18), took the final kneel-down in his 100th career game.
- Against Jacksonville (10/27), played in the fourth quarter and completed his only attempt for 10 yards.

Running back Antonio Andrews (5-10, 225) is in his third NFL season. He was signed by the Titans as an undrafted free agent in 2014.

In 2015, Andrews appeared in 14 games and started 10 times at running back. He was the team's leading rusher with 143 carries for 520 yards and three touchdowns. Adding 21 receptions for 174 yards, he ranked second on the team with 694 scrimmage yards, trailing only Delanie Walker (1,124).

In his rookie campaign, Andrews spent the first seven weeks on the team's practice squad before being elevated to the 53-man roster on Oct. 21, 2014. In four appearances as a reserve running back and kickoff returner, he caught two passes for 11 yards and returned five kickoffs for 110 yards.

During his four-year career at Western Kentucky, Andrews appeared in 42 games, including 24 consecutive starts to end his career. He notched 3,674 yards with 29 touchdowns on 618 carries (5.9 avg.), and he scored 198 points on 33 total touchdowns. His 6,799 all-purpose yards gave him an average of 161.9 yards per game.

As a senior (2013), Andrews rushed for 1,730 yards to break his own school record by two yards. He rushed for a career-high 16 touchdowns on 267 carries and was named Sun Belt Conference Most Valuable Player and Offensive Player of the Year by The NFL Draft Report.

Andrews attended Fort Campbell (Ky.) High School, which is approximately 60 miles northwest of Nashville. As a high school senior, he was named the state of Kentucky's "Mr. Football" as a dual-threat quarterback.

2016 Highlights:

- At Detroit (9/18), returned a kickoff 15 yards.
- At Houston (10/2), returned a kickoff 17 yards.

- At San Diego (11/6), rushed twice for 15 yards.

The Titans selected running back Derrick Henry with the 45th overall pick in the second round of the 2016 NFL Draft.

The 6-foot-3-inch, 247-pound Heisman Trophy winner played three seasons (2013–2015) at the University of Alabama, where he set numerous school and SEC records while leading his team to a National Championship in 2015.

Henry played in 39 games and totaled 602 carries for 3,591 yards and 42 rushing touchdowns and added 285 yards on 17 career receptions with three receiving scores. During Alabama's victory over Clemson in the 2016 College Football Playoff National Championship, he broke Shaun Alexander's record for most career rushing yards in Alabama history.

In his final collegiate season, Henry rushed for an Alabama and Southeastern Conference record 2,219 yards, which led the nation and ranked fifth in FBS history. He recorded 100-yard rushing games 10 times and had four 200-yard games during the season. His 28 rushing touchdowns were a national best and an SEC record, snapping Tim Tebow and Tre Mason's old mark of 23. In addition to the Heisman, he also won the Doak Walker Award, Walter Camp Award and Maxwell Award, among a multitude of other honors.

Henry is a native of Yulee, Fla.

Running back DeMarco Murray (6-1, 220) is in his sixth NFL season and his first campaign with the Titans. He was acquired in a trade with the Philadelphia Eagles on March 9, 2016.

A former third-round draft choice of Dallas in 2011, Murray spent his first four seasons with the Cowboys before joining the Philadelphia Eagles for the 2015 campaign. He totaled 5,228 rushing yards in 68 career games prior to his arrival in Tennessee. From entering the league in 2011 through the 2015 campaign, he ranked among the top rushers in the NFL: sixth in rushing yards, fifth in rushing average (4.6), sixth in scrimmage yards (6,750) and seventh in rushing touchdowns (34).

In his only season with the Eagles, Murray played in 15 games and totaled 702 rushing yards and six touchdowns.

During his four years in Dallas, he rushed for 4,526 yards in 53 games in the regular season. He was named to the Pro Bowl following the 2013 and 2014 campaigns.

In 2014, Murray earned NFL Offensive Player of the Year honors after leading the league and setting Cowboys franchise records with 1,845 rushing yards and 2,261 scrimmage yards. His 1,845 yards were 484 more than the next closest rusher, Pittsburgh's Le'Veon Bell.

Additionally, he set several other franchise records, besting marks set by Emmitt Smith or Tony Dorsett, including highest rushing total in a game (253 vs. St. Louis in 2011), most 100-yard games in a season (12 in 2014) and most consecutive 100-yard games (8 in 2014).

A native of Las Vegas, Nev., Murray finished his University of Oklahoma career as the school's career all-purpose yardage leader (6,718) and also set the Sooners records for career touchdowns (65) and career receiving yards by a running back (1,571).

2016 Highlights:

➢ Against Minnesota (9/11), in his first regular season game with the Titans, rushed for a team-high 42 yards on 13 carries. He added five receptions for 35 yards, including two touchdown receptions to set a new career high. In the final minute of the first half, he dove across the goal line on a six-yard touchdown reception to mark his first touchdown as a member of the Titans. He added a four-yard touchdown reception late in the fourth quarter to double his previous six-year career total of two touchdown receptions.
➢ At Detroit (9/18), led the Titans with 89 rushing yards on 12 attempts (7.4 avg.). He added a team-high seven receptions for 56 yards, including a critical 22-yard catch during the game-winning drive in the fourth quarter. His 145 scrimmage yards were the most by a Titans running back since Chris Johnson totaled 170 scrimmage yards (150 rushing, 20 receiving) at St. Louis on Nov. 3, 2013. In the second quarter, he recorded the second-longest run of his career, taking a handoff and racing 67 yards. It was his longest run since a 91-yarder against the Rams on Oct. 23, 1011. The run was the Titans' second-longest run since the beginning of the 2013 season, trailing only Marcus Mariota's 87-yard touchdown run last year (vs. Jacksonville on Dec. 6, 2015).

➢ Against Oakland (9/25), recorded his 22nd career 100-yard rushing game (including playoffs) and his first with the Titans. He totaled 114 yards on 16 carries for an average of 7.1 yards per attempt. In the third quarter, he scored his first rushing touchdown of the season on a five-yard run. With 41 additional yards on a team-high five receptions, he topped 100 scrimmage yards for the second consecutive week, recording a team-high 155 yards. In the third quarter, he gained 36 yards on a run.

➢ At Houston (10/2), led the team with 95 rushing yards on 24 carries, including a pair of touchdown runs. He added two receptions for 24 yards, giving him 119 scrimmage yards in the game and three consecutive games with at least 100 scrimmage yards. He scored twice in the second quarter (two-yard and one-yard runs), becoming the first Titans player to rush for two touchdowns in a game since Shonn Greene at Denver on Dec. 8, 2013. It marked the fourth time in Murray's career he posted two or more rushing touchdowns and the seventh time in his career with two or more total touchdowns in a game (rushing and receiving).

➢ Against Cleveland (10/16), led the team with 65 rushing yards and a touchdown on 21 carries. He scored his sixth touchdown of the season (fourth rushing touchdown) on a three-yard carry in the third quarter.

➢ Against Indianapolis (10/23), led the team with 25 carries for 107 yards and a touchdown and added three receptions for 20 yards. On an 11-yard run in the third quarter, he went over the 100-yard rushing mark for the third time in 2016. Murray became the first Titans player since Chris Johnson in 2012 to record three or more 100-yard rushing games in a single season. Late in the first half, he scored his fifth rushing touchdown of the season on a one-yard carry.

➢ Against Jacksonville (10/27), rushed for 123 yards and a touchdown on 21 carries in a Thursday night game. He notched his 25th career 100-yard rushing game (including playoffs) and his fourth with the Titans. He became the first Titans player to rush for at least 100 yards four times in the team's first eight games of a season since Chris Johnson in 2010. He scored on a 14-yard run in the second quarter. It was his third consecutive game with a rushing touchdown.

➢ At San Diego (11/6), rushed for a team-high 51 yards on 14 carries and added a team-high seven receptions (tied for third-highest total of his career) for 29 yards. In the fourth quarter, he registered a one-yard touchdown run. He recorded his fourth consecutive game with a rushing touchdown, marking only the seventh time in franchise history a player accomplished the feat. He joined Earl Campbell (five games in 1979 and four games in 1981), Alonzo Highsmith (four games in 1989), Gary Brown (four games in 1993), Eddie George (four games in 2000) and LenDale White (four games in 2008). Against the Chargers, Murray reached 1,000 scrimmage yards on the season and 6,000 rushing yards in his career, becoming the ninth active player to accomplish the latter feat.

➢ Against Green Bay (11/13), recorded 17 carries for 123 yards and a touchdown, notching his fifth 100-yard rushing game of the season. He became the first Titans player to rush for at least 100 yards five times in a season since Chris Johnson in 2012. On the Titans' first play from scrimmage, he ran 75 yards for a touchdown, recording the second-longest run of his career, (91 vs. St. Louis on Oct. 23, 2011). With the touchdown, he tied Earl Campbell's franchise record, set in 1979, of five consecutive games with a rushing touchdown. Murray also became the sixth player in franchise history to score a touchdown of any variety in five consecutive games, joining wide receiver Bill Groman (eight straight games with a touchdown in 1961), running back Hoyle Granger (five in 1967), Campbell (five in 1979), wide receiver Chris Sanders (five in 1995) and wide receiver Kenny Britt (five in 2010). Also in the first quarter, Murray completed his first career touchdown pass, a 10-yarder to tight end Delanie Walker. He became the first Titans non-quarterback since Earl Campbell in 1980 (Sept. 7 at Pittsburgh) to rush for a touchdown and pass for a touchdown in the same game. The only other time it happened in franchise history was 1962, when Billy Cannon accomplished the feat (Sept. 9 at Buffalo). Murray became the first non-quarterback with a touchdown run of 75 or more yards and a touchdown pass in a single game since Pittsburgh's John Henry Johnson on Dec. 11, 1960 (vs. Philadelphia). Murray was the first NFL non-quarterback to complete a touchdown pass in 2016 and the first since fellow Titans running back Antonio Andrews at the New York Jets on Dec. 13, 2015. Murray was the first player to record a touchdown run of at least 75 yards and a touchdown pass in the first quarter of the same game since Jim Thorpe accomplished the feat for the Cleveland Indians in 1921 against the Columbus Panhandles. Murray also posted posted two receptions for 33 yards against the Packers, including a key 35-yard catch on third down that qualified as the second-longest reception of his career. For his performance against the Packers, Murray was voted the FedEx Ground Player of the Week for the eighth time in his career.

➢ Against Indianapolis (11/20), rushed for 70 yards on 21 carries. He reached the 1,000-yard rushing mark for the third time in his six-year career and for the first time as a member of the Titans. He also posted three receptions for nine yards, including a three-yard touchdown catch in the second quarter. With the score, he became the second player in franchise history to record at least one touchdown in six consecutive games, joining Bill Groman, who had eight straight games with a touchdown in 1961.

➢ Against Denver (12/11), led the Titans with 92 yards on 21 carries. In the first quarter, he scored his 12th touchdown of the season (ninth rushing touchdown) on a one-yard run.

➢ At Kansas City (12/18), led the offense with 89 rushing yards on 18 carries and added five receptions for 52 yards. His 141 scrimmage yards in the game made up his fourth-highest total of the season, and it was his eighth game of the season with at least 100 scrimmage yards. He produced one of the biggest plays of the game with a 15-yard reception on fourth-and-five in the fourth quarter.

RUSHING, PASSING, RECEIVING TOUCHDOWNS

Titans running back DeMarco Murray completed his first career touchdown pass on Nov. 13, 2016 against Green Bay on his first career attempt.

Having already rushed for multiple touchdowns and caught multiple touchdown passes, Murray became one of only six players with at least one touchdown rushing, passing and receiving in a single season. The most recent Titans player to accomplish the feat prior to Murray was Marcus Mariota in 2015.

Before Mariota, the Titans/Oilers players with a rushing, passing and receiving touchdown in a season were running backs Dave Smith (1960), Billy Cannon (1962), Sid Blanks (1964) and Ronnie Coleman (1977).

Players in Titans/Oilers history with a rushing touchdown, passing touchdown and receiving touchdown in the same season:

Tight end Jace Amaro (6-5, 265) is in his third NFL season and his first campaign with the Titans. He was claimed by the Titans off waivers from the New York Jets on Sept. 4, 2016.

Amaro spent his first two NFL seasons with the Jets. He played in 14 games with four starts as a rookie but spent his entire second season on injured reserve with a shoulder injury.

As a rookie in 2014, he was the second-leading receiver on the Jets with 38 receptions for 345 yards and two touchdowns. His 38 receptions and 345 yards led all NFL rookie tight ends. He also became just one of four franchise tight ends to record 10 receptions in a game, notching 10 grabs against Denver on Oct. 12, 2014.

The Plano, Texas, native was a second-round selection (49th overall) by the Jets in the 2014 NFL Draft from Texas Tech. For the Red Raiders, he played in 32 games and totaled 136 receptions for 1,818 yards and 13 touchdowns. In his final season, as a junior, he earned All-America honors after setting an NCAA record for receptions in a season by a tight end with 106.

2016 Highlights:

➢ Against Oakland (9/25), made his debut with the Titans and totaled three receptions for a team-high 59 yards. His receiving yardage total ranked second in his career (68 vs. Denver on Oct. 12, 2014). He keyed a third-quarter touchdown drive by converting a third-and-three with a 26-yard catch, tallying the second-longest reception of his career (43 vs. Chicago on Sept. 22, 2014).

#80 • TE ANTHONY FASANO

Tight end Anthony Fasano (6-4, 255) is in his 11th NFL season and his second campaign with the Titans. He was signed by the Titans as an unrestricted free agent on March 24, 2015.

Fasano played in all 16 games in 2015 and started 11 times. He caught 26 passes for 289 yards and a pair of touchdowns.

In 2014, Fasano appeared in 15 games (13 starts) for the Kansas City Chiefs. He tallied 25 receptions for 226 yards and four touchdowns.

Originally a second-round draft choice by the Dallas Cowboys in 2006, Fasano spent two seasons in Dallas before he was traded to the Miami Dolphins. In 2013, he left the Dolphins to join the Chiefs.

The veteran tight end has long been considered one of the NFL's top blockers at his position. But he also poses a threat to defenses as a receiver, as evidenced by his 253 career catches for 2,799 yards in his first nine seasons in the league, including 31 touchdown grabs.

Fasano has helped block for four different 1,000-yard rushers during his career: Julius Jones (Dallas, 2006), Ricky Williams (Miami, 2009), Reggie Bush (Miami, 2011) and Jamaal Charles (Kansas City, 2013-14).

After a five-year career with the Dolphins, Fasano ranked third among tight ends in team history in receptions (177) and receiving yards (2,104). He tied for second in franchise annals in touchdown receptions by a tight end (23).

Fasano played three seasons (2003–2005) at Notre Dame, where he registered 34 games played and 24 starts. He posted 92 career receptions for 1,112 yards (12.9 avg.) and eight touchdowns, and at the time of his departure, he ranked second among tight ends on the school's all-time list for both receptions and receiving yards.

2016 Highlights:

➢ At Detroit (9/18), started and caught one pass for one yard in his 150th career game.
➢ At Miami (10/9), started and caught one pass for 10 yards.
➢ Against Cleveland (10/16), recorded what would prove to be the game-winning touchdown in the fourth quarter. He scored on a 15-yard pass from Marcus Mariota to notch his 34th career touchdown catch and his first of 2016.
➢ Against Indianapolis (10/23), posted one reception for 10 yards and drew two defensive pass interference penalties during a touchdown drive in the second half.
➢ At San Diego (11/6), started and caught one pass for nine yards.
➢ Against Green Bay (11/13), started and caught one pass for a nine-yard touchdown. He scored on a pass from Marcus Mariota, registering his second touchdown catch of the season and the 35th of his career.
➢ Against Denver (12/11), caught a 17-yard pass to convert a third down during a second-quarter scoring drive.

#82 • TE DELANIE WALKER

Tight end Delanie Walker (6-0, 248) is in his 11th NFL season and his fourth campaign with the Titans in 2015. He was signed as an unrestricted free agent on March 14, 2013 after spending the first seven years of his career with the San Francisco 49ers.

In Walker's time with the Titans, he arguably put together the best three-year stretch in franchise history by a tight end. From 2013–2015, he totaled 217 receptions for 2,549 yards and 16 touchdowns. His reception and yardage totals are a franchise high for a tight end in any consecutive three-year period.

In 2015, Walker set new team records among tight ends with 94 receptions and 1,088 receiving yards, and he caught six touchdown passes for the second time in three years (2013). He broke his own receiving yardage record (890 in 2014) and Frank Wycheck's reception record (70 in 1998 and 2000) for franchise tight ends. On the team's all-time single-season receptions list, regardless of position, Walker tied wide receiver Kendall Wright (94 receptions in 2013) for the fifth-highest total. Walker's 94 receptions tied Jason Witten (94 catches in 2009 and 2010) for the 10th–highest total in NFL history by a tight end.

In 2014, Walker's team-leading 890 receiving yards set a then-career high and set a new standard among Titans/Oilers tight ends, eclipsing Wycheck's 768 receiving yards in 1998. Walker's 63 receptions in 2014 at the time also led the team, set a career high, and tied for fourth in team annals.

Appearing in 15 games with 11 starts in 2013, he totaled 60 receptions for 571 yards and six touchdowns. He set then-career highs in all three categories. Also, he became the only tight end in franchise history other than Wycheck to reach 60 receptions in a single season. Wycheck accomplished the feat five times from 1997 through 2001, including 70 receptions in both 1998 and 2000 to establish the record for Titans/Oilers tight ends. Walker's six touchdown receptions tied for fourth place in franchise history among tight ends and were the most since Wycheck's six in 1996.

Prior to his arrival in Tennessee, the former sixth-round pick appeared in 99 career regular-season games with the 49ers (40 starts) and totaled 123 receptions for 1,465 yards (11.9 avg.) and eight touchdowns. A regular contributor on special teams, Walker posted 61 special teams tackles as well as 31 kickoff returns for 528 yards during his time in San Francisco.

In 2012, Walker played an integral role in the 49ers' second consecutive playoff season, as he teamed with Vernon Davis to form one of the NFL's top tight-end duos. He saw action in all 16 regular-season games (four starts) and set a career high with 344 yards and three touchdowns (matched career high) on 21 receptions. His average of 16.4 yards per catch was the highest among all NFL tight ends with 20 or more catches.

During the 2012 playoffs, he appeared in all three games and started in Super Bowl XLVII. In the Super Bowl, he recorded three receptions for 48 yards.

Walker was a sixth-round pick in the 2006 NFL Draft. As a rookie, he appeared in only seven games with one start. Then, in 2007, he played in all 16 contests and set a career high with 10 starts. It began a string of six seasons (2007-12) during which he missed a total of four games. In 2010, he set his career high with 29 receptions.

A native of Pamona, Calif., Walker spent two seasons (2002-03) at Mt. San Antonio (Calif.) Community College before joining the University of Central Missouri Mules for his final two collegiate campaigns (2004-05). As a wide receiver at Central Missouri, he caught 113 passes for 1,347 yards in 20 games. The 49ers selected him with the 175th overall pick in the 2006 NFL Draft.

2016 Highlights:

- Against Minnesota (9/11), caught three passes for 42 yards, including a 26-yard catch.
- At Detroit (9/18), reached the end zone on a 30-yard pass from Marcus Mariota. It was Walker's 25th career touchdown reception (first of 2016) and his 17th as a member of the Titans. He tied Dave Casper for fourth place on franchise's touchdown receptions list among tight ends.
- Against Oakland (9/25), he was inactive with a hamstring injury.
- At Houston (10/2), posted two receptions for 34 yards. With a 24-yard reception in the first quarter, he recorded the 350th reception of his career. He became the 10th active NFL tight end to reach the mark.
- At Miami (10/9), led the Titans with five receptions for 66 yards. He caught a 29-yard pass in the first quarter and added a 20-yard touchdown reception in the second quarter. It marked his 18th touchdown in a Titans uniform, which moved him past Dave Casper (17) for fourth in franchise history among tight ends.
- Against Cleveland (10/16), recorded a 21-yard reception to kickstart a touchdown drive in the fourth quarter.
- Against Indianapolis (10/23), led the team with seven receptions for 84 yards and a touchdown in his 150th career regular season game. He scored on a seven-yard pass from Marcus Mariota. The touchdown was Walker's 19th touchdown reception as a member of the Titans, which put him in a tie with Willard Dewveall and Bob McLeod for second place in franchise history among all tight ends.
- Against Jacksonville (10/27), tied for the team lead with four receptions for 75 yards. In the third quarter, he recorded a 47-yard catch to help set up a touchdown.
- At San Diego (11/6), posted five receptions for 42 yards and a touchdown. His eight-yard touchdown reception in the fourth quarter was his fourth of the season and the 28th of his career, including 20 touchdown catches in a Titans uniform. He broke a tie with Willard Dewveall and Bob McLeod (19) for the second-highest touchdown reception total in franchise history among tight ends, trailing only Frank Wycheck (27).
- Against Green Bay (11/13), led the team with nine receptions and 124 receiving yards. His yardage total, which was the third-best of his career, gave him his fourth career 100-yard receiving game and his first of 2016. His reception total against Green Bay ranked second in his career. In the first quarter, he scored on a 10-yard pass from running back DeMarco Murray. On his second reception of the game, he passed Bo Scaife (251 career receptions) for second place on the franchise's all-time tight ends receptions list. Also in the first quarter, he recorded a 41-yard catch.

- At Indianapolis (11/20), posted four receptions for 36 yards.
- At Chicago (11/27), totaled 50 yards and a touchdown on three catches. With a four-yard touchdown reception in the second quarter, he reached 30 career touchdown receptions. He also tied his career high with six touchdown receptions in a season, originally set in 2013 and matched in 2015.
- Against Denver (12/11), led the team with two receptions and 30 yards. On his first reception of the game, which went for 23 yards, he became the seventh player in franchise history to notch four seasons with at least 50 catches, joining Ernest Givins (eight seasons), Drew Hill (six), Haywood Jeffires (six), Frank Wycheck (six), Charlie Hennigan (five) and Derrick Mason (five).
- At Kansas City (12/18), led the team with six receptions for 55 yards, including catches of six yards and 15 yards in the final minute to set up the game-winning field goal.

SINGLE-SEASON RECEPTIONS BY NFL TEs

In 2015, Titans tight end Delanie Walker set a new standard for franchise tight ends, accumulating 94 receptions.

Additionally, Walker became the ninth tight end in NFL history to reach 90 catches in a season. Previously, eight tight ends in history produced 16 total 90-catch seasons. Tony Gonzalez (five), Jason Witten (four) and Todd Christensen (two) all have multiple 90-reception campaigns. Dallas Clark, Jimmy Graham, Ben Coates, Martellus Bennett and Rob Gronkowski are the others to reach the mark.

Walker's 94 catches in a season put him in a tie for the 10th-most in NFL history, equaling Witten's 2009 and 2010 numbers.

Harry Douglas (6-0, 183) is in his ninth NFL season and his second campaign with the Titans in 2016. The veteran wide receiver was signed as an unrestricted free agent on March 12, 2015.

Douglas appeared in 14 games with 12 starts in his first season in Tennessee. He tied for second on the team with 36 receptions and ranked third on the squad with 411 receiving yards. He posted two touchdown receptions for the third consecutive year.

Douglas spent the first seven seasons (2008–2014) of his career as a member of the Atlanta Falcons after being selected in the third round of the 2008 NFL Draft. During his time in Atlanta, he amassed 258 receptions for 3,130 yards with eight touchdowns as a key member of a passing attack that also featured wide receivers Julio Jones and Roddy White.

In 2014, Douglas appeared in 12 games (six starts) and notched 51 catches for 556 yards and a pair of touchdowns.

Douglas enjoyed his greatest statistical success in 2013 while starting in place of an injured Jones. In 16 games, he posted career highs with 85 receptions for 1,067 yards and two touchdowns.

A native of Jonesboro, Ga., Douglas graduated from the University of Louisville. At the time of his departure, he ranked second in team annals with 2,924 receiving yards, while his 173 receptions ranked fifth on the school's all-time record list.

2016 Highlights:

➢ Against Minnesota (9/11), recorded two catches for 21 yards.

➢ Against Oakland (9/25), recorded two catches for 20 yards.

➢ At San Diego (11/6), recorded two catches for 48 yards, including a 27-yard reception in the fourth quarter. Both of his receptions helped set up touchdowns. On his second catch, he reached 300 career receptions.

➢ At Indianapolis (11/20), converted a fourth-and-one with a three-yard catch in the fourth quarter.

➢ At Chicago (11/27), recorded two catches for 60 yards, including a 25-yarder in the second quarter and a 35-yarder in the third quarter. Both of his receptions led to scores.

Wide receiver Rishard Matthews (6-0, 217) is in his fifth NFL season and his first campaign with the Titans. He was signed by the Titans as an unrestricted free agent on March 11, 2016.

Matthews spent his first four NFL campaigns with the Miami Dolphins after being drafted by the team in the seventh round of the 2012 NFL Draft. With the Dolphins, he totaled 107 receptions for 1,396 yards and eight touchdowns in 49 games (17 starts).

In 2015, Matthews established career highs with 43 catches, 662 receiving yards and four touchdown receptions despite playing in just 11 games. His career-best campaign was cut short due to a rib injury. Through the first 11 weeks of the NFL season, his 15.4-yard receiving average ranked seventh in the league.

A native of Santa Ana, Calif., Matthews was a two-year starter at the University of Nevada, where he totaled 147 receptions for 2,243 yards and 13 touchdowns. He also returned 48 punts for 551 yards and two scores.

2016 Highlights:

➢ Against Minnesota (9/11), in his regular season Titans debut, posted three receptions for 26 yards.
➢ At Detroit (9/18), posted four receptions for 40 yards, including a 20-yard catch.
➢ At Houston (10/2), led the team with 82 receiving yards on two receptions. In the second quarter, he recorded a 60-yard reception on a pass from Marcus Mariota, marking the longest catch of his career (53 vs. Houston on Oct. 25, 2015).
➢ At Miami (10/9), notched four receptions for 32 yards in the win, including a four-yard touchdown catch in the fourth quarter. The touchdown was the ninth of his career and his first as a member of the Titans.
➢ Against Cleveland (10/16), finished the game with three receptions for 70 yards. In the first quarter, he scored on an 11-yard pass from Marcus Mariota. It marked Matthews' second touchdown in as many weeks. In the third quarter, he dove to snag a 43-yard pass from Mariota, recording his sixth career reception of at least 40 yards and his second in a three-game span.
➢ Against Indianapolis (10/23), posted four receptions for 37 yards, including a 20-yard catch in the fourth quarter to convert a third-and-19.
➢ Against Jacksonville (10/27), posted four receptions for 38 yards. In the third quarter, he caught a four-yard touchdown pass from Marcus Mariota, notching his 11th career touchdown reception.
➢ At San Diego (11/6), finished second on the team with six receptions for 63 yards, and he matched his career high with two touchdown receptions—both in the second quarter on passes from Marcus Mariota. The first came on a 16-yard pass, and he followed with a seven-yard touchdown catch with 14 seconds remaining in the half. With the scores, which were Matthews' fourth and fifth touchdowns of the season, he set a new career high, topping the four touchdown receptions he registered with the Miami Dolphins in 2015.
➢ Against Green Bay (11/13), caught three passes for 63 yards and scored on a 32-yard reception in the second quarter. It increased his career high to six touchdown catches on the season, all six of which have come in a six-week span. His streak of three consecutive games with a touchdown reception set a career high.
➢ At Indianapolis (11/20), led the team with nine receptions and 122 receiving yards. He recorded his fourth career 100-yard game and his first as a member of the Titans. He also set a single-game career high in receiving yards, topping his previous high of 120 at Tampa Bay on Nov. 11, 2013. Matthews' nine receptions were the most by a Titans wide receiver since Kendall Wright's 12 receptions against Arizona on Dec. 15, 2013. He also surpassed his previous career high of 43 receptions in a season (2015).
➢ At Chicago (11/27), caught three passes for 64 yards and a touchdown. On an 11-yard catch in the third quarter, he set a new career high for receiving yards a season, passing his previous high of 662 yards as a member of the Miami Dolphins in 2015. With a diving catch in the end zone of a 29-yard pass by Marcus Mariota, he became the first Titans player to record at least seven touchdown catches in a season since Kenny Britt in 2010 (nine).
➢ Against Denver (12/11), posted one reception for 26 yards and a key first down during a fourth-quarter drive.
➢ At Kansas City (12/18), led the Titans with 105 yards on four receptions, including a 19-yard catch on the first play of the game-winning drive. It was his fifth career 100-yard game. In the second quarter, he and Marcus Mariota connected for a 46-yard pass on a flea flicker.

2016 Highlights:

➢ Against Minnesota (9/11), totaled seven receptions for 76 yards in his regular season debut. In franchise history, only one rookie—Sid Blanks in 1964—had more receptions in a season opener. On Sept. 12, 1964, Blanks totaled 13 receptions for 131 yards in the season opener at San Diego. Sharpe's 76 receiving yards rank fifth among all franchise rookies in Week 1 debuts, trailing only Blanks, Bill Groman (115 in 1960), Kenny Britt (85 in 2009) and Charlie Hennigan (85 in 1960).
➢ At Detroit (9/18), caught four passes for 33 yards.
➢ Against Oakland (9/25), caught three passes for 48 yards.
➢ At Houston (10/2), posted two receptions for 15 yards.
➢ At Miami (10/9), caught two passes for 17 yards.
➢ Against Cleveland (10/16), had one rushing attempt for one yard.
➢ Against Indianapolis (10/23), posted four receptions for 59 yards.
➢ Against Jacksonville (10/27), recorded one reception for 11 yards.
➢ At San Diego (11/6), totaled 58 yards on four receptions. The fifth-round

pick's 29-yard reception in the second quarter was the longest catch of his career and helped set up a touchdown on the next play.

➢ Against Green Bay (11/13), finished second on the team with 68 yards on three receptions. In the third quarter, he scored his first career touchdown, crossing the goal line on a 33-yard reception, which also was the longest catch of his career.

➢ At Indianapolis (11/20), scored a touchdown for the second consecutive week, grabbing a 34-yard pass from Marcus Mariota in the end zone during the third quarter. He finished the contest with four receptions for 68 yards. It was the fourth time in a five-game span he had at least 50 receiving yards.

➢ At Kansas City (12/18), caught two passes for 10 yards.

SHARPE'S WEEK 1 DEBUT

Titans rookie wide receiver Tajaé Sharpe debuted in Week 1 and became the first rookie for the franchise since the 1970 AFL-NFL merger to post seven or more receptions in a Week 1 game. Sharpe, a fifth-round draft pick (140th overall) out of the University of Massachusetts, totaled seven catches for 76 yards against the Vikings.

Among all players selected in the fourth round or later since the 1970 merger, including undrafted players, Sharpe is only the 11th NFL rookie to have five or more receptions in Week 1 of his rookie season. Of the 11 players, the only one with more catches than Sharpe was Bobby Johnson, an undrafted wide receiver with the New York Giants who had eight receptions in the 1984 season opener.

Additionally, Sharpe's 76 receiving yards last week rank 10th since 1970 for fourth-round-or-later rookies in Week 1.

#13 • WR KENDALL WRIGHT

Wide receiver Kendall Wright (5-10, 191) is in his fifth NFL season. He was selected by the Titans with the 20th overall pick in the first round of the 2012 NFL Draft.

For his first four seasons, Wright's reception total set a new benchmark for the franchise. His 251 receptions from 2012–2015 are more than any other player in his first four seasons with the team, topping the previous record holder, Drew Hill, who had 250 catches from 1985–1987.

Injuries limited Wright to 10 games and nine starts in 2015. He was inactive for six out of the last nine contests, dealing with knee and rib injuries. His statistics for the season included 36 receptions for 408 yards and three touchdowns.

Wright's 57 receptions and 715 receiving yards ranked second on the team in 2014, and his six touchdown catches led the squad and set a new career high.

In 2013, Wright had 94 catches and 1,079 receiving yards and scored a pair of touchdowns. He ranked fifth in the AFC and seventh in the NFL in receptions, and he became the first player in franchise history to lead the team in receptions in each of his first two NFL campaigns.

His 2013 reception total also ranked fifth in franchise history for a single season, behind only Charlie Hennigan's 101 receptions in 1964, Haywood Jeffires' 100 receptions in 1991, Derrick Mason's 96 receptions in 2004 and Mason's 95 catches in 2003. Wright's 1,079 receiving yards were the most by a Titans player since 2004, when Drew Bennett (1,247) and Mason (1,168) each finished with more than 1,100

In his first NFL season, he saw action in 15 games (five starts) and made a significant impact. His 64 receptions led the Titans and tied Jacksonville receiver Justin Blackmon's total for the high among NFL rookies. Wright's 626 receiving yards ranked second on the team and fifth among all rookies, and his four receiving touchdowns tied for first on the team. He posted at least one reception in every game he played and recorded two or more receptions 13 times.

Wright became the first Titans/Oilers rookie to lead the team in receptions since Bill Groman during the franchise's inaugural season of 1960. Only Groman, who posted 72 receptions in his first pro season, has recorded more receptions as a rookie in club annals.

Wright concluded his career at Baylor University as the most decorated and accomplished receiver in school history. He owns virtually every significant receiving record for the program, totaling 302 receptions for 4,004 yards and 30 touchdowns. He never missed a game in his four years with the Bears and recorded at least one reception in every contest.

As a senior in 2011, Wright set Baylor single-season records in receptions (108), receiving yards (1,663), receiving touchdowns (14), 100-yard games (nine), all-purpose yards (1,772) and consecutive games with a reception (tied own record with 13). He landed on numerous All-American lists and was a Biletnikoff Award semi-finalist. Additionally, he was the primary target for Robert Griffin III, who won the Heisman Trophy.

2016 Highlights:

➢ Against Minnesota (9/11), at Detroit (9/18) and against Oakland (9/25), did not play due to a hamstring injury he suffered during training camp.

➢ At Houston (10/2), returned from a hamstring injury to play for the first time in 2016. He caught two passes for 14 yards in his return at Houston, and with a three-yard catch in the second quarter, he passed former tight end Bo Scaife (251 career receptions) for 13th place on the team's all-time receptions list.

➢ At Miami (10/9), caught one pass for nine yards.

➢ Against Cleveland (10/16), led the Titans with eight receptions for 133 yards, reaching the 100-yard mark for the fifth time in his career. His yardage total ranked second in his career (150 vs. Arizona on Dec. 15, 2013), and the game marked the fifth time in his career he posted eight or more receptions. In the first half alone, Wright had five receptions for 105 yards and a touchdown, recording 100 or more yards in the first half for the first time in his career. In the second quarter, he caught a 48-yard touchdown pass from Marcus Mariota. The reception tied for the second-longest catch of Wright's career and was his longest since a 52-yard touchdown at Tampa bay on Sept. 13, 2015. During the game, he passed former running back

- Against Indianapolis (10/23), recorded a pair of catches for 12 yards.
- Against Jacksonville (10/27), tied for the team lead with four receptions and led the squad with 84 receiving yards. He scored his second touchdown of the season on a 36-yard reception in the second quarter. On the catch, he went past the 3,000-yard receiving mark for his career, becoming the 14th player in team history to reach the mark.
- At San Diego (11/6), caught two passes for a team-high 64 yards, including a 48-yard reception in the fourth quarter to help set up a touchdown. The reception tied for the second-longest catch of Wright's career. During the game he moved past Tim Smith (3,107) for 12th place on the franchise's all-time receiving yards list.
- Against Green Bay (11/13), recorded two receptions for eight yards and a touchdown. He tied former Titans running back Chris Johnson (272 receptions with the Titans) for 11th place on the team's all-time receptions list. In the second quarter, he scored his third touchdown of the season and the 18th touchdown of his career on a six-yard pass from Marcus Mariota. It was his third touchdown catch in a five-game span.
- At Indianapolis (11/20), posted four receptions for 52 yards. With his first two receptions of the game, which were the 273rd and 274th catches of his career, he passed Chris Johnson (11th place at 272 career receptions) and Drew Bennett (10th place at 273) for 10th place on the team's all-time receptions list.
- At Kansas City (12/18), caught two passes for 19 yards.

Tackle Byron Bell (6-5, 340) is in his sixth NFL season and his second campaign with the Titans. He was signed as an unrestricted free agent on April 22, 2015.

Bell will miss the 2016 season due to injury. He suffered an ankle injury during OTAs on May 24 and was subsequently placed on injured reserve.

In his first season in Tennessee, Bell started all 16 games for the first time in his career. He was one of four Titans players to accomplish the feat in 2015. The team took advantage of his versatility, starting him eight times at right tackle, seven times at left guard and once at left tackle.

Bell joined the Titans after spending his first four NFL seasons with the Carolina Panthers, who originally signed him as an undrafted free agent in 2011.

During his Carolina career, he missed only two games—one in 2012 and one in 2014—and totaled 56 starts. He spent most of his time as the starter at right tackle from 2011 through 2013 and then moved to the left side in 2014.

He started at left tackle for 15 games during the 2014 regular season and both contests during the playoffs.

The Greneville, Texas, native attended the University of New Mexico, where he played in 37 career games and notched 36 starts. He started 24 games at left tackle over his final two seasons after making 12 starts at right tackle as a sophomore. As a senior in 2010, he earned honorable mention All-Mountain West Conference honors.

#78 • T JACK CONKLIN

Jack Conklin is in his rookie NFL season. The 6-foot-6, 308-pound tackle was selected by the Titans with the eighth pick in the first round of the NFL Draft.

Conklin became the first draft pick by new general manager Jon Robinson. The Titans, who initially had the first pick in the draft but traded with the Los Angeles Rams back to the 15th spot, made a deal with the Cleveland Browns to jump up to the eighth spot to select Conklin. The Titans gave up a third-round pick and a second-rounder in 2017 in the trade and also got back a sixth-rounder.

The Michigan State product was a walk-on for the Spartans but went on to become the first Michigan State offensive lineman to be selected in the first round since 1989 (Tony Mandarich) and also the highest drafted Spartan since wide receiver Charles Rogers (No. 2) in 2003.

In his final season on campus, Conklin was named second-team All-American by The Associated Press and was on numerous All-Big Ten teams.

Right guard Chance Warmack (6-2, 323) is in his fourth NFL season. He was selected with the 10th overall selection in the 2013 NFL Draft from the University of Alabama.

Warmack was placed on injured reserve on Sept. 22 after injuring a finger in the second game of the 2016 season. He started each of the first two games at right guard, bringing his four-year totals to 48 starts.

Warmack, who started every game in his first two seasons at right guard, became the fourth rookie in the "Titans era" (1999–present) to start all 32 games for the team in his first two NFL seasons, joining Jevon Kearse (1999–00), Tank Williams (2002–03) and Michael Roos (2005–06).

With starts in all 16 games at right guard in 2013, he became the first Titans rookie since Roos in 2005 to start every game as a rookie offensive lineman.

Warmack was the first offensive lineman selected by the Titans/Oilers in the first round since tackle Brad Hopkins (13th overall) in 1993 and the first guard selected by the club in the first round since Bruce Matthews (ninth overall) in 1983.

During Warmack's four-year career at Alabama, the Crimson Tide won three BCS National Championships, taking the title during his freshman (2009), junior (2011) and senior (2012) seasons. He started the final 40 games of his college career at left guard, including all 14 contests as a senior in 2012. That season, he was a unanimous first-team All-American selection.

Warmack is a native of Atlanta, Ga.

Defensive lineman Jurrell Casey (6-1, 305) completed is in his sixth NFL season. He was selected by the Titans in the third round (77th overall) of the 2011 NFL Draft, and in 2014, he was rewarded for his play with a multi-year contract extension.

In 2015, the two-time defensive captain started all 16 games for the second consecutive season and for the third time in his career. He led the team's defensive linemen with 86 tackles and tied Brian Orakpo for the team lead with seven sacks, the second-best total in Casey's career. Casey also set a career high and finished second on the team behind Orakpo with 28 quarterback pressures. He was named to the Pro Bowl for the first time in his career.

Casey was named one of five permanent team captains by his teammates in 2014 for the first time in his career. While remaining a key cog in the defense's switch from a 4-3 to a 3-4 scheme, he started all 16 games and led the team's defensive linemen (fourth on the team) with 86 tackles. His 27 quarterback pressures and 13 tackles for loss tied for the team lead and set new career highs. With five sacks, he ranked second on the squad.

In 2013, Casey was named Associated Press second-team All-Pro after putting together one of the best seasons by a defensive tackle in franchise history. His 10.5 sacks set a career high and made up the second-highest total by a franchise defensive tackle since sacks became an official statistic in 1982, finishing behind only Ray Childress' 13 sacks in 1992. In 2013, only Jason Hatcher of the Dallas Cowboys (11) finished with more sacks than Casey among defensive tackles.

Casey's 2013 season totals also included a career-high 90 tackles, a career- and team-high 10 quarterback pressures, three tackles for loss, three passes defensed, one forced fumble and one fumble recovery. He played in 15 games with 14 starts, missing only the season finale due to a knee injury.

Casey started 31 out of 32 games in his first two seasons, and in each campaign he led the team's defensive linemen in tackles. As a rookie, he notched 74 tackles and 2.5 sacks, and he followed with 80 tackles and three sacks in 2012.

A native of Long Beach, Calif., Casey played in 38 games (26 starts) on the defensive line (24 at right defensive tackle and two at nose tackle) at the University of Southern California. He recorded 138 tackles, nine sacks, 22 tackles for loss, three quarterback pressures, four fumble recoveries, three forced fumbles, an interception and three passes defensed.

In his final season with the Trojans (2010), he started all 13 games for the second consecutive season and had 67 tackles, a team-best 11 tackles for loss, a team-leading 4.5 sacks, one interception, one fumble recovery and two passes defensed. He was named first-team All-Pac 10.

2016 Highlights:

- Against Minnesota (9/11), led the team and tied his career high with four quarterback pressures. He added six tackles, including two tackles for loss, helping the defense limit Adrian Peterson to 31 yards on 19 carries.

- At Detroit (9/18), posted two tackles and two quarterback pressures.
- Against Oakland (9/25), totaled three tackles and a quarterback pressure.
- At Houston (10/2), posted three tackles, two quarterback pressures and one pass defensed.
- At Miami (10/9), registered three tackles, including a pair of sacks. Late in the second quarter, he recorded his first sack of the season, dropping Ryan Tannehill for a nine-yard loss. In the fourth quarter, he helped end a Miami drive with a five-yard sack on third down. It was his sixth career game with two sacks. His performance gave him 30 career sacks.
- Against Cleveland (10/16), recorded three tackles, a sack, three quarterback pressures and a pass defensed. Early in the second quarter, he ended a Browns drive by sacking Cody Kessler for a 10-yard loss on third down. The sack gave him 31 career sacks and put him in a tie with Curley Culp for 10th place on the franchise's all-time sack list.
- Against Indianapolis (10/23), posted two tackles and a quarterback pressure.
- Against Jacksonville (10/27), registered two tackles and set a career high with six quarterback pressures.
- At San Diego (11/6), notched eight tackles and a quarterback pressure.

SACKS BY TITANS/OILERS DTs

Since individual sacks became an official NFL statistic in 1982, Jurrell Casey and Ray Childress are the only Titans/Oilers defensive tackles to produce double-digit sacks in a single season.

Most sacks in a season by Oilers/Titans defensive tackles, 1982–present:

Defensive Tackle	Season	Sacks
1. Ray Childress	1992	13.0
2. Jurrell Casey	2013	10.5
3. Ray Childress	1993	9.0
4. Albert Haynesworth	2008	8.5
Ray Childress	1989	8.5
Ray Childress	1988	8.5
Ray Childress	1990	8.0
8. Jurrell Casey	2015	7.0
Karl Klug	2011	7.0
Gary Walker	1997	7.0
Ray Childress	1991	7.0

Note: In 1992, Lee Williams recorded 11 total sacks while playing both defensive end and defensive tackle for the Oilers. He is excluded from this list.

Kevin Dodd was selected by the Titans with the 33rd overall draft choice in the second round of the 2016 NFL Draft.

The 6-foot-5-inch, 277-pounder transitioned to a 3-4 outside linebacker with the Titans after playing defensive end at Clemson.

After appearing in nine games with one start, Dodd was placed on injured reserve on Dec. 6, ending his rookie campaign due to a foot injury. His totals for the season included nine tackles, one sack, four quarterback pressures and one tackle for loss.

With the Tigers, Dodd served as a reserve in his first three seasons before bursting on the scene as one of the country's top pass rushers during his redshirt junior campaign. His career totals included 107 tackles, 26.5 tackles for loss and 12 sacks over 39 career games.

In his final collegiate campaign, the Greenville, S.C., native started all 15 games and tallied 12 sacks, 23.5 stops for loss, 86 total tackles and 13 quarterback pressures. He ranked in the national top 10 in sacks, and only teammate Shaq Lawson ranked ahead of him nationally in tackles for loss. He was named honorable mention All-ACC by the media after starting all 15 games and registering 86 tackles, 23.5 for loss and 12 sacks.

In the National Championship Game against Alabama, he produced a career-high five tackles for loss and three sacks, both of which set Clemson single-game postseason records.

He is a native of Greenville, S.C.

2016 Highlights:

- Against Minnesota (9/11), made his NFL regular season debut.
- At Detroit (9/18), recorded his first NFL start and tallied six tackles, one sack, one tackle for loss and four quarterback pressures. On the final play of the first half, he tallied his first career sack, taking down Matthew Stafford for a six-yard loss.

#91 • OLB DERRICK MORGAN

Derrick Morgan (6-3, 261) is in his seventh NFL season. He was selected by the Titans with the 16th overall draft choice in the 2010 NFL Draft, and in March 2015, he was re-signed as an unrestricted free agent.

Morgan's 2015 campaign came to an end when he was placed on injured reserve on Dec. 17 with a shoulder injury. Prior to the injury, he appeared in 10 games and registered 34 tackles, 4.5 sacks, 13 quarterback pressures, six tackles for loss, two passes defensed and a forced fumble.

In 2014, Morgan produced the biggest numbers of his career after switching from a 4-3 defensive end to a 3-4 outside linebacker. He started all 16 games for the second time in his career and led the squad with 6.5 sacks. His 27 quarterback pressures and 13 tackles for loss tied for the team lead and set career highs. Also, his nine passes defensed and two forced fumbles set career highs.

In 2013, Morgan played in 15 games with 14 starts at defensive end and ranked second on the team with six sacks, eight quarterback pressures and three tackles for loss (tied). His totals also included 54 tackles, one pass defensed, one forced fumble and one fumble recovery.

In 2012, Morgan started all 16 games for the first time in his career and led the Titans with 6.5 sacks and 19 quarterback pressures. He also set a career high with 68 tackles and added five tackles for loss, five passes defensed, a forced fumble and a fumble recovery.

Morgan played in 15 games in 2011 and led the Titans with 20 quarterback pressures. He added 47 tackles, 2.5 sacks, three tackles for loss and two passes defensed.

As a rookie, an ACL tear ended his rookie campaign after only four games.

In three seasons at Georgia Tech, the Coatesville, Pa., native totaled 115 tackles, 19.5 sacks, 29.5 tackles for loss, five passes defensed, six fumble recoveries and two forced fumbles in 39 games. He started the final 27 consecutive games of his college career at left defensive end. Prior to entering the NFL after his junior season, he was named the ACC Defensive Player of the Year with an ACC-high 12.5 sacks.

2016 Highlights:

- Against Minnesota (9/11), recorded four tackles before leaving the contest in the third quarter with a left hamstring injury. He helped limit Adrian Peterson to 31 yards on 19 carries.

SACKS BY TITANS/OILERS LINEBACKERS

In 2016, outside linebackers Brian Orakpo and Derrick Morgan have turned in two of the top sack totals in franchise history among linebackers. Orakpo's current sack total is the highest by a Titans/Oilers linebacker since sacks became an official statistic in 1982. Morgan is not far from Orakpo's pace and is second in team annals among linebackers.

Prior to the 2014 season, Morgan switched from a 4-3 defensive end to a 3-4 outside linebacker, and in his first season in the new position, he led the team with 6.5 sacks.

In 2015, Orakpo arrived in Tennessee and registered seven sacks.

Outside linebacker Brian Orakpo (6-4, 257) is in his eighth NFL season and his second campaign with the Titans. He was signed as an unrestricted free agent on March 13, 2015.

In 2015, Orakpo was voted by his teammates as a defensive captain. He started all 16 games for the third time in his career and for the first time since 2011. His seven sacks tied for the team lead, and he led the squad with 37 quarterback pressures and 12 tackles for loss. He added 64 tackles, five passes defensed and a forced fumble.

Orakpo spent the previous six years as a member of the Washington Redskins, who selected him in the first round (13th overall) of the 2009 NFL Draft. During his time in Washington, Orakpo was named to the Pro Bowl three times (2009, 2010 and 2013). His career totals in Washington included 40 sacks, 255 tackles, one interception, 17 passes defensed, six forced fumbles and three fumble recoveries in 71 starts. He recorded eight multi-sack games.

As a rookie in 2009, he earned Pro Bowl honors and set a Redskins rookie record with 11 sacks, which also led all NFL rookies.

For each of his first three seasons in Washington, Orakpo led or tied for the team lead in sacks, but he missed most of the 2012 and 2014 seasons with pectoral injuries.

In 2013, he earned his third Pro Bowl selection, as he registered 10 sacks, 60 tackles, one interception return for touchdown, 18 quarterback hits, 16 tackles for loss and two fumble recoveries.

A native of Houston, Texas, Orakpo was drafted by the Redskins out of the University of Texas, where he finished his college career with 22 sacks. He was as a multiple award winner in college, including the Nagurski (nation's top defensive player), Lombardi (nation's top lineman) and the Hendricks (nation's top defensive end). He was a part of the Texas team that won the National Title at the conclusion of the 2005 season.

2016 Highlights:

- Against Minnesota (9/11), he was part of a defense that held Adrian Peterson to 31 yards on 19 carries.
- At Detroit (9/18), led the defense with two sacks and two tackles for loss, tied for the team lead with four quarterback pressures and totaled five tackles. In the third quarter, he took Matthew Stafford down for a one-yard loss, and late in the fourth quarter, he added a nine-yard sack. It was his 10th career game with two or more sacks.
- Against Oakland (9/25), totaled two tackles, a team-high three quarterback pressures and a sack. He ended an Oakland drive in the third quarter by dropping Derek Carr for a four-yard loss on third down. The sack was the 50th of his career.
- At Houston (10/2), posted four tackles, a sack, a team-high four quarterback pressures and one pass defensed. Late in the first quarter, he recorded his fourth sack of the season (51st of his career), dropping Brock Osweiler for a 10-yard loss. It marked the first occasion in his eight-year career to reach four sacks in the first four games of a season.
- At Miami (10/9), tied for the team lead and tied his career high with eight tackles, including two sacks. He added a tackle for loss and three quarterback pressures. He recorded his fourth consecutive game with at least one sack, producing a pair of sacks in a three-play span in the fourth quarter. He dropped Ryan Tannehill for a nine-yard loss on first down and posted a 10-yard sack on third down to end the series. Orakpo's six sacks on the season set a personal best for the first five games of a season, and he became the third player for the franchise to record six or more sacks in the first five games of a season since individual sacks became an official statistic in 1982, joining Kyle Vanden Bosch (6.5 in 2005) and William Fuller (6.0 in 1991).
- Against Cleveland (10/16), finished the game with four tackles, one sack and three quarterback pressures. In the third quarter, he recorded a nine-yard sack, taking down Browns quarterback Cody Kessler. The play gave Orakpo five consecutive games with at least one sack, marking the eighth time in franchise history a player accomplished the feat and the first time since Jevon Kearse had six consecutive games with a sack in 2003. He also became the first Titans player since Kearse (1999–2001) to record at least seven sacks in consecutive seasons.
- Against Indianapolis (10/23), posted a pair of tackles.
- Against Jacksonville (10/27), tallied three quarterback pressures.
- At San Diego (11/6), registered three tackles and three quarterback pressures.
- Against Green Bay (11/13), led the team with two sacks and tied for the team lead with four quarterback pressures. He totaled four tackles. In the third quarter, he dropped Aaron Rogers for an 11-yard loss, and he added an eight-yard sack in the fourth quarter. It was his 12th career game with two or more sacks. His three such games in 2016 set a new career high.
- At Indianapolis (11/20), recorded five tackles, five quarterback pressures and one pass defensed.
- At Chicago (11/27), posted three tackles and two quarterback pressures.
- Against Denver (12/11), registered four tackles, one sack and a team-high six quarterback pressures in his 100th career game and 100th career start. With a five-yard sack in the third quarter, he became the first Titans player with double-digit sacks in a season since Jurrell Casey (10.5) in 2013. He also helped limit the Broncos to 18 rushing yards.
- At Kansas City (12/18), totaled five tackles, one sack, a team-high four quarterback pressures and a pass defensed. He dropped Chiefs quarterback Alex Smith for a four-yard loss in the third quarter. With the sack, Orakpo tied his single-season career high with 11 sacks in 2016, matching his output from 2009 as a rookie with the Washington Redskins.

Linebacker Sean Spence (5-11, 231) is in his fifth NFL season and his first campaign with the Titans. He was signed by the Titans as an unrestricted free agent on March 16, 2016.

Spence was originally selected by the Pittsburgh Steelers in the third round (86th overall) of the 2012 NFL Draft. He spent his first four NFL seasons with the Steelers, including his initial three campaigns working with current Titans defensive coordinator Dick LeBeau.

He missed the entirety of his first two pro seasons due to a knee injury but bounced back to play in 31 regular season games in his next two campaigns (2014–2015). His totals in Pittsburgh included 86 tackles, two sacks, a fumble recovery and six special teams stops.

In 2015, Spence appeared in 15 games with four starts and posted 34 tackles, a sack and three special teams stops.

Spence was the recipient of the Steelers' Ed Block Courage Award in 2014, due to his efforts to come back from the knee injury he endured during his rookie preseason.

The Miami, Fla., native started 40 of his 47 games at the University of Miami (Fla.). He finished his career with the Hurricanes ranked 11th in school history with 318 tackles that included 10.5 sacks and 47 stops for losses. He became the first Hurricane to record 100 tackles in consecutive seasons since Jonathan Vilma in 2003.

2016 Highlights:

- Against Minnesota (9/11), posted four tackles, one quarterback pressure and one pass defensed.
- At Detroit (9/18), started in the nickel defense and tied his career high with eight tackles.
- Against Oakland (9/25), started in the nickel defense and registered five tackles on defense and a team-high four stops on special teams.
- At Houston (10/2), collected four tackles and added two quarterback pressures.
- At Miami (10/9), tied for the team lead and matched his career high with eight tackles.
- Against Cleveland (10/16), registered five tackles, a sack and two quarterback pressures. In the fourth quarter, he recorded his first sack in a Titans uniform and the third sack of his career, dropping Cody Kessler for a two-yard loss.
- Against Indianapolis (10/23), notched four tackles.
- Against Jacksonville (10/27), posted six tackles, one quarterback pressures and one pass defensed.

#54 • ILB AVERY WILLIAMSON

Linebacker Avery Williamson (6-1, 246) is in his third NFL season. He was selected by the Titans in the fifth round (151st overall) of the 2014 NFL Draft.

Williamson started 15 games in 2015 and led the team with 137 tackles, recording the highest tackle total by a Titans linebacker since Stephen Tulloch's 169 stops in 2010. Williamson became the first defender in the "Titans era" (1999–present) to begin his career with two consecutive 100-tackle seasons. His 2015 statistics also included 3.5 sacks, 13 quarterback pressures and an interception.

In 2014, Williamson had one of the most productive seasons of any Titans defensive rookie in recent memory. Even though he did not record his first start until Week 5, he produced 107 tackles to rank third on the team in 2014 and record the highest tackle total by a rookie in the "Titans era" (1999–present). He added three sacks, eight quarterback pressures, eight tackles for loss, four passes defensed, two fumble recoveries and seven stops on special teams.

During a four-year career at Kentucky, Williamson played in 49 games with 21 starts. He finished his career with 296 total tackles, including double-digit tackles in 12 career contests. After primarily serving on special teams in his first two years, he went over the 100-tackle mark as a junior and senior.

As a senior in 2013, he was a team captain and led the squad in tackles for the second consecutive season. His 102 tackles tied for fourth place in the SEC, and he was named All-SEC second team by Associated Press.

The Milan, Tenn., native grew up as a Titans fan.

2016 Highlights:

➢ Against Minnesota (9/11), led the team with 10 tackles, including a tackle for loss, and added a quarterback pressure. He was a member of a defense that limited Adrian Peterson to 31 yards on 19 carries.

➢ At Detroit (9/18), led the Titans with 11 tackles.

➢ Against Oakland (9/25), led the team with 13 tackles and added a quarterback pressure and his second career interception. In the fourth quarter, he picked off a pass from Derek Carr after it was initially tipped by cornerback Jason McCourty.

➢ At Houston (10/2), led the team with 15 tackles, including a tackle for loss. It was his third career game with at least 15 tackles.

➢ At Miami (10/9), tied for the team lead with eight tackles.

➢ Against Cleveland (10/16), led the team with 10 tackles, including a sack, and added two quarterback pressures. In the fourth quarter, he recorded his first sack of the season, taking Cody Kessler down for a five-yard loss.

➢ Against Jacksonville (10/27), tied for the club lead with eight tackles and added a sack and a quarterback pressure. In the second quarter, he recorded his second sack of the season, dropping Blake Bortles for a nine-yard loss.

➢ At Indianapolis (11/20), led the squad with 10 tackles and added a quarterback pressure. He reached the 100-tackle milestone for the third consecutive season, becoming the first Titans defender in the "Titans era" (1999–present) to begin his career with three consecutive 100-tackle seasons.

➢ Against Denver (12/11), tied for the team lead with seven tackles and added a tackle for loss and a forced fumble. He also helped limit the Broncos to 18 rushing yards. He helped clinch the victory with a forced fumble in the final minute of the fourth quarter, knocking the ball out of the hands of tight end A.J. Derby. Daimion Stafford recovered for the Titans to seal the win.

➢ At Kansas City (12/18), posted seven tackles, a tackle for loss and a quarterback pressure. Late in the fourth quarter, he made a critical tackle on third down, stopping quarterback Alex Smith for no gain to help force a punt.

#59 • ILB WESLEY WOODYARD

Linebacker Wesley Woodyard (6-0, 233) is in his ninth NFL season and his third campaign with the Titans. He was signed as an unrestricted free agent on March 14, 2014.

Woodyard was named a team captains by his teammates in 2015 for the second time as a member of the Titans and for the eighth time (every season) in his career.

Woodyard played in all 32 games during his first two seasons with the club. In 2015, he recorded 12 starts, finished second on the team with 110 tackles and ranked third on the squad with five sacks. He added nine quarterback pressures, seven tackles for loss, three passes defensed, a forced fumble, a fumble recovery and six special teams tackles.

In 2014, Woodyard's totals in his first season with the Titans included 16 starts and a career-high 134 tackles, which led the team. He added 2.5 sacks, nine quarterback pressures, eight tackles for loss, two interceptions and four passes defensed.

Woodyard joined the Titans after spending the first six years of his career with the Denver Broncos. He appeared in 87 regular-season games with 40 starts. For his Broncos career, he totaled 396 tackles, eight sacks, five interceptions, six forced fumbles and one fumble recovery.

As the middle linebacker from 2012-13, Woodyard started 24 total games and registered 197 tackles, seven sacks, four interceptions and three forced fumbles.

In 2012, Woodyard led the Broncos with a career-high 114 tackles. He ranked second on the squad in both 2013 (83) and 2011 (87).

Also in 2012, he was the only NFL player to record at least 100 tackles, five sacks and three interceptions. He was only the 12th NFL player to accomplish the feat over a 30-year span.

The LaGrange, Ga., native entered the NFL as an undrafted free agent out of the University of Kentucky. He earned first-team All-SEC honors during each of his final two seasons with the Wildcats.

#30 • CB JASON McCOURTY

Cornerback Jason McCourty (6-0, 193) completed his seventh NFL season in 2015. He was selected by the Titans in the sixth round (203rd overall) of the 2009 NFL Draft, and in 2012, he was rewarded for his play with a multi-year contract extension that keeps him under contract through 2017.

McCourty's 2015 season came to an end when he was placed on injured reserve on Nov. 17 due to a groin injury, which affected him as early as training camp. He was limited to four games, in which he totaled 16 tackles and a pass defensed.

In 2014, McCourty marked his third consecutive season to start all 16 games. He led the team with three interceptions and 13 passes defensed and added 85 tackles, a tackle for loss, two forced fumbles and a fumble recovery for a touchdown.

From the time he became a full-time starter in 2011 through 2014, McCourty led the Titans in passes defensed (59) and tied for first in interceptions (nine).

In 2012, the cornerback was named by his peers as a team captain for the first time. He responded by starting all 16 games for the first time in his career and tying for the team lead with four interceptions. He also led the squad and set a career high with 17 passes defensed. His 93 tackles finished tied for third on the defense, and he added four tackles for loss, a forced fumble and a fumble recovery.

In 2011, McCourty recorded 15 starts and a career-high 107 tackles. His tackle total ranked second on the team. He also led the squad with 13 passes defensed and tied for the lead with two interceptions. He also recovered a blocked punt for a touchdown.

In 2010, he grabbed a starting spot out of training camp before suffering an injury early in the season and missing four games. McCourty returned to the lineup and started three of the team's final four games and finished his second pro campaign with two interceptions and 13 passes defensed.

As a rookie in 2009, McCourty gained three games of starting experience in the first half of the season due to multiple injuries in the secondary. He also finished third on the team with 12 special teams tackles during his rookie campaign.

In a four-year career at Rutgers, McCourty totaled 150 tackles, 7.5 tackles for loss, two interceptions, 20 passes defensed and two fumble recoveries in 47 games. He also had a 25.8-yard average on 17 kickoff returns.

The Nyack, N.Y., native has an identical twin brother, Devin, who plays cornerback for the New England Patriots.

2016 Highlights:

- Against Minnesota (9/11), posted three tackles and added a team-high two passes defensed.
- At Detroit (9/18), registered five tackles and a pass defensed.
- Against Oakland (9/25), registered seven tackles and a team-high three passes defensed. In the fourth quarter, he defended a Derek Carr pass that was intended for Michael Crabtree. After the ball was tipped, linebacker Avery Williamson caught it to record an interception.
- At Houston (10/2), recorded four tackles and an interception. In the second quarter, he fought off intended receiver DeAndre Hopkins to pick off a pass by Brock Osweiler. It was McCourty's 12th career interception and his first since Nov. 17, 2014 against the Pittsburgh Steelers. The Titans scored a touchdown on the subsequent drive. He was part of a unit that helped limit Hopkins to one reception for four yards.
- At Miami (10/9), posted three tackles and an interception. Early in the third quarter, he recorded his second interception in as many weeks, taking the ball away from intended receiver DeVante Parker on a Ryan Tannehill pass.
- Against Cleveland (10/16), notched four tackles and tied his career high with a team-leading four passes defensed. He appeared in his 100th career game, becoming the 14th player for the franchise to appear in 100 or more regular season games since the franchise became the Titans in 1999. McCourty became the first cornerback to join the group.
- Against Indianapolis (10/23), recorded three tackles.
- Against Jacksonville (10/27), tied for the team lead with eight tackles and added two passes defensed.
- At San Diego (11/6), recorded eight tackles and one pass defensed.
- Against Green Bay (11/13), posted six tackles and two passes defensed.
- At Chicago (11/27), registered five tackles and one pass defensed before leaving the game in the second half with a knee injury.
- Against Denver (12/11), tied for the team lead with seven tackles and added a fumble recovery. In the first quarter, he recovered a fumble by Justin Forsett to notch his fifth career fumble recovery.
- At Kansas City (12/18), left the game with shoulder and chest injuries suffered on Kansas City's first offensive snap.

#25 • S RASHAD JOHNSON

Safety Rashad Johnson (5-11, 204) is in his eighth NFL season and his first campaign with the Titans. He was signed by the Titans as an unrestricted free agent on March 30, 2016.

Johnson spent his first seven NFL seasons with the Arizona Cardinals after being selected in the third round of the 2009 NFL Draft. He saw action at both free and strong safety during his time with the Cardinals. In 100 career games (51 starts), he collected 330 tackles, 15 interceptions, 26 passes defensed, one sack, four fumble recoveries, one forced fumble and 49 special teams tackles. He returned three interceptions for touchdowns.

In 2015, Johnson played in 14 games (all starts) and tied for the team lead with a career-high five interceptions, a total that also tied for sixth place in the NFL. He added 59 tackles, eight passes defensed, two tackles for loss, one fumble recovery and five special teams stops. In the playoffs, he started both of the team's games and recorded eight tackles and his first career postseason interception.

Johnson famously lost the tip of his left middle finger in a game against the New Orleans Saints on Sept. 22, 2013. He returned to action three weeks later, and from that time through the end of the 2015 season, his 12 interceptions tied for second in the NFL among all players, trailing only Reggie Nelson's 13 thefts.

A native of Sulligent, Ala., Johnson was a walk-on running back at the University of Alabama who went on to become a two-time team captain as a free safety. Only seven previous Crimson Tide players were elected captain for two seasons. He was a unanimous All-SEC first-team selection as a senior in 2008.

2016 Highlights:
- Against Minnesota (9/11), posted four tackles in his regular season Titans debut.
- At Detroit (9/18), notched a pair of tackles, including a tackle for loss.
- Against Oakland (9/25), registered five tackles.
- At Houston (10/2), recorded seven tackles and a pass defensed.
- Against Cleveland (10/16), posted a pair of tackles.
- Against Indianapolis (10/23), registered two tackles.
- Against Jacksonville (10/27) and at San Diego (11/6), he was inactive with a neck injury.
- Against Green Bay (11/13), registered four tackles.
- At Indianapolis (11/20), notched three tackles.
- At Chicago (11/27), recorded four tackles.
- Against Denver (12/11), posted three tackles and a forced fumble. In the first quarter, he forced a fumble against Justin Forsett, and Jason McCourty recovered for the Titans.
- At Kansas City (12/18), registered four tackles.

#24 • S DAIMION STAFFORD

Safety Daimion Stafford (6-1, 218) is in his fourth NFL season. He was selected by the Titans in the seventh round (248th overall) of the 2013 NFL Draft.

During his first three seasons (2013–2015), Stafford appeared in all but one game as a key member of the special teams corps and as a reserve safety. His 34 special teams tackles during that time led the Titans.

In 2015, he played in all 16 games with two starts. He totaled 20 tackles, one sack, one quarterback pressure, one tackle for loss and five passes defensed. He also ranked fourth on the team with nine special teams tackles.

In 2014, he played in 15 games and led the team with 13 special teams tackles. He also tallied 33 tackles, a sack, two quarterback pressures, two tackles for loss, three passes defensed and an interception as a reserve on defense.

As a rookie in 2013, Stafford played in all 16 games, primarily in a special teams role. He finished fourth on the team with 12 special teams tackles and added a forced fumble on special teams and a tackle on defense.

The Riverside, Calif., native played two seasons at Nebraska (2011-12) after spending a pair of seasons (2009-10) at Chaffey College in Rancho Cucamonga, Calif. At Nebraska, he started 26 of 27 games and totaled 176 tackles, 1.5 sacks, a quarterback pressure, seven tackles for loss, four interceptions, 17 passes defensed, three forced fumbles and two fumble recoveries. As a senior, he earned first-team All-Big Ten honors after leading the team with four interceptions and ranking second on the squad with 96 tackles.

2016 Highlights:
- Against Minnesota (9/11), registered three tackles.
- At Detroit (9/18), recorded four tackles, one tackle for loss and one pass defensed.
- Against Oakland (9/25), tallied three tackles.
- At Houston (10/2), started at safety and set a career high with seven tackles.

#6 • P BRETT KERN

Punter Brett Kern (6-2, 214) is in his ninth NFL season and his seventh full campaign with the Titans. He was claimed off waivers by the Titans in 2009.

During his time in Tennessee, Kern has placed his name at the top of most of the franchise's leaderboards at his position. At the end of the 2015 campaign, he ranked as the team's all-time career leader in both gross punting average (45.3 yards) and net punting average (40.1). He punted 535 times in a Titans uniform from 2009–2015, second all-time for the franchise behind Craig Hentrich's 861 punts.

In 2015, Kern continued his assault on the team's all-time punting records and accomplished a first-of-its-kind NFL feat, becoming the first punter in league history to record 80 or more punts, a net average of 40 yards, and one or zero touchbacks in a single season. His season totals included 88 punts (tied for fifth place in franchise history), a 47.4-yard gross average (second in franchise history), a 40.3 net average (third in franchise history), a career-high 34 punts inside the 20 (third in franchise history) and only one touchback (career low).

In 2014, Kern launched a career-high 88 total punts for a gross average of 46.8 yards and a net average of 40.8 yards, which broke his own single-season team record (40.4-yard net average in 2012). He owns the top five net punting seasons in franchise history and six of the team's top eight net punting seasons.

Kern produced one of the best punting seasons in team history in 2012. He set franchise records with a gross punting average of 47.6 yards and a net punting average of 40.4 yards (he broke the mark in 2014). Thirty of his 81 punts were placed inside the opponent's 20-yard line (37.0 percent).

Kern's 2011 statistics included 86 punts for a gross average of 43.6 yards. His net average of 39.4 yards set a then-career high and then-franchise record, narrowly beating out Craig Hentrich's previous franchise record of 39.2 net yards per punt in 1998.

Kern was claimed by the Titans off waivers from the Denver Broncos on Oct. 27, 2009. He spent the entire 2008 season and the first six games of 2009 campaign in Denver, totaling 73 punts and a 46.5-yard average in 22 games with the Broncos.

In 2008, Kern ranked fifth in the league with a 46.7-yard punting average that marked the third-best season total by a Bronco in club history. At the time, his punting average was the best in NFL history by a rookie. He was named to the All-Rookie team by Pro Football Weekly/PFWA and The Sporting News.

The Grand Island, N.Y., native was originally signed by the Broncos as a rookie free agent on April 28, 2008, following four seasons at the Universitiy of Toledo.

2016 Highlights:

- Against Minnesota (9/11), averaged 46.2 yards on five punts (38.4 net) with one touchback and one punt placed inside the 20. He booted a 64-yard punt in the fourth quarter, his longest since Dec. 28, 2014.
- At Detroit (9/18), averaged 47.3 yards on three punts (39.7 net) with one punt placed inside the 20. In the second quarter, he pinned the Lions deep in their own territory when Cody Riggs caught his 37-yard punt at the one-yard line.
- Against Oakland (9/25), averaged 51.8 gross yards and 45.5 net yards on six punts with three punts inside the 20. In the third quarter, he pinned the Raiders at their own 10-yard line with a 62-yard punt that went out of bounds.
- At Houston (10/2), averaged 51.4 gross yards and 30.6 net yards on five punts with one punt inside the 20. In the first quarter, he booted a 71-yard punt, marking his fourth career punt of at least 70 yards. It was his longest punt since a career-long 79-yarder against Indianapolis on Dec. 28, 2014.
- At Miami (10/9), averaged 35.0 gross yards and 17.8 net yards on five punts with three punts inside the 20.
- Against Cleveland (10/16), averaged 45.0 gross yards and 43.8 net yards on five punts with three punts inside the 20.
- Against Indianapolis (10/23), averaged 47.0 gross yards and 42.5 net yards on four punts with three punts placed inside the 20.
- Against Jacksonville (10/27), averaged 38.8 gross yards and 38.8 net yards on four punts with two punts placed inside the 20.
- At San Diego (11/6), averaged 45.5 gross yards and 44.8 net yards on four punts with one punt placed inside the 20.
- Against Green Bay (11/13), averaged 41.5 gross yards and 38.0 net yards on four punts. His knuckleball punt in the second quarter was muffed and recovered by Leshaun Sims on the coverage team.
- At Indianapolis (11/20), averaged 43.8 gross yards and 37.4 net yards on five punts with one punt placed inside the 20.
- At Chicago (11/27), averaged 44.8 gross yards and 43.3 net yards on four punts with two punts placed inside the 20.
- Against Denver (12/11), averaged 44.0 gross yards and 38.1 net yards on seven punts with three punts placed inside the 20. With less than three minutes remaining in the fourth quarter, he pinned the Broncos with a 47-yard punt to the two-yard line. Earlier in the fourth quarter, he delivered a 61-yard punt from his own end zone.
- At Kansas City (12/18), averaged 35.8 gross yards and 35.0 net yards on four punts. He served as the holder for Ryan Succop's game-winning 53-yard field goal as time expired. He also helped limit Tyreek Hill to three total yards on three punt returns.

#87 • WR/KR/PR MARC MARIANI

Wide receiver/returner Marc Mariani (6-1, 190) is in his seventh NFL season and his fifth campaign with the Titans. He rejoined the team as a free agent on Sept. 5, 2016, returning to where he spent his first four seasons.

During his first six NFL seasons, two of which were spent on injured reserve, Mariani averaged 9.5 yards per punt return and 25.0 yards per kickoff return. He recorded three career return touchdowns—two on punt returns and one on a kickoff return.

Mariani spent the previous two campaigns with the Chicago Bears. He played in 22 total games with the Bears, including five starts at wide receiver. His totals with the Bears included 22 receptions for 300 yards (all in 2015), 36 punt returns for 221 yards (6.1 avg.) and 36 kickoff returns for 928 yards (25.8 avg.).

During his first two NFL seasons, Mariani emerged as one of the NFL's top return men and one of the best at his job in franchise history.

In 2011, Mariani returned 46 punts (third in franchise history) for an average of 10.7 yards per return, which ranked sixth in the AFC and eighth in Titans/Oilers history. He also averaged 23.4 yards on 32 kickoff returns.

After winning a roster spot as a rookie in 2010, Mariani embarked on arguably one of the best seasons by a returner in franchise history and earned a Pro Bowl berth at the conclusion of his rookie year. He ranked fourth in the NFL and first among all rookies with a 12.2-yard punt return average, which also ranked sixth in franchise history. On kickoff returns, he was ninth in the NFL and second among rookies with a 25.5-yard average.

With a league-leading combined total of 1,859 yards on kickoff and punt returns in 2010, Mariani broke Derrick Mason's single-season franchise record, set in 2000, of 1,794 yards on returns. Mariani also broke a 47-year old franchise record by surpassing Bobby Jancik's 1963 total of 1,317 kickoff return yards.

Mariani was selected by the Titans in the seventh round of the 2010 NFL Draft as the 222nd overall player chosen in the draft.

A native of Havre, Mont., Mariani became the most prolific wide receiver in Montana Grizzlies history, setting records for career receiving yards (3,018), receiving touchdowns (29) and career all-purpose yards (5,441). He also averaged 15.1 yards per career punt return and 27.6 yards per kickoff return. En route to being named an Associated Press All-American as a senior, he set a school record with 1,479 yards on 80 receptions. He scored 15 total touchdowns in his final season, scoring 13 times on receptions and twice on returns.

2016 Highlights:

- Against Minnesota (9/11), totaled five kickoff returns for 118 yards (23.6 avg.) and added a 14-yard punt return. It marked his first time to return five kickoffs in a single game since he was a member of the Chicago Bears against the New Orleans Saints on Dec. 15, 2014.
- Against Oakland (9/25), returned a punt 10 yards.
- At Houston (10/2), totaled 27 yards on three punt returns (long of 17) and 99 yards on four kickoff returns (long of 33). On his second kickoff return, he became the sixth player in franchise history to reach 100 career kickoff returns.
- At Miami (10/9), totaled 20 yards on four punt returns and 20 yards on one kickoff return.
- Against Cleveland (10/16), returned five punts for 30 total yards.
- Against Indianapolis (10/23), returned a punt seven yards and returned a kickoff 19 yards. He also saw action on offense but did not record a catch.
- Against Jacksonville (10/27), returned a punt nine yards.
- At San Diego (11/6), recorded 52 yards on two kickoff returns, including a 37-yarder. He passed Mel Gray (2,592) for the fifth-highest kickoff return yardage total in franchise history.
- Against Green Bay (11/13), recorded 23 yards on two punt returns and 28 yards on one kickoff return.
- At Indianapolis (11/20), returned five kickoffs for an average of 17.2 yards per return.
- At Chicago (11/27), returned a punt eight yards.
- Against Denver (12/11), totaled 37 yards on two kickoff returns and 17 yards on one punt return.
- At Kansas City (12/18), returned two punts for 22 yards and three kickoffs for 63 yards.

Kicker Ryan Succop (6-2, 218) is in his eighth NFL season and his third campaign with the Titans. He was signed by the Titans as a free agent on Sept. 1, 2014.

During his second season in Tennessee, Succop connected on 14 of his 16 field goal attempts and 29 of his 31 extra point attempts to total 71 points. His 87.5 percent success rate on field goals set a personal best and ranked as the sixth-highest figure in franchise history.

In 2014, he set a then-career high by making 86.4 percent of his field goal attempts. He was 19-of-22 and also connected on all 27 of his extra point attempts.

Succop's previous five seasons were spent with the Kansas City Chiefs, who chose him with the last pick of the 2009 NFL Draft (256th overall).

In his career with the Chiefs, he posted four 100-point seasons and made 81.0 percent (119-147) of his field goal attempts. Over his final three years there (2011-13), 52 percent of his kickoffs resulted in touchbacks, a number that ranked 11th in the NFL during that span.

In 2013, he tallied career highs for points (118) and touchbacks (47). He also posted the second-best percentage of his career for field goals made inside of 50 yards, connecting on 87.5 percent (21-24) of those attempts. During his Chiefs career, he produced five game-winning kicks.

A native of Hickory, N.C., Succop played in 50 games for the University of South Carolina Gamecocks, hitting 49 of 69 field goals (71.0%) and converting 104 of 106 PATs. His 251 points made up the second-highest total in school history.

2016 Highlights:

➢ Against Minnesota (9/11), made his only field goal attempt from 28 yards as well as his only extra point attempt.
➢ At Detroit (9/18), made a 46-yard field goal and missed a 51-yarder.
➢ Against Oakland (9/25), made a 34-yard field goal and an extra point. He extended his streak to 20 consecutive successful field goals from inside 50 yards. Succop became the second player in Titans/Oilers history to accomplish the feat, joining Al Del Greco.
➢ At Houston (10/2), made both of his field goal attempts (48 and 26 yards) and both of his extra point attempts.
➢ At Miami (10/9), made his only field goal attempt (40 yards) and three of his four extra point attempts.
➢ Against Cleveland (10/16), missed a 58-yard field goal and made all four extra point attempts.
➢ Against Indianapolis (10/23), made his only field goal attempts of the game from 48 and 44 yards. The two scores extended his career-best streak to 25 consecutive made field goals on attempts inside 50 yards, which broke Al Del Greco's franchise record of 24 straight that was set from 1995–1996.
➢ Against Jacksonville (10/27), made all three field goal attempts and three of four extra point attempts. He extended his streak to 28 successful field goals from inside 50 yards. Against the Jaguars, he made a 32-yarder in the first quarter, a 22-yarder in the second quarter and a 33-yarder in the fourth quarter.
➢ At San Diego (11/6), made all five extra point attempts.
➢ Against Green Bay (11/13), made all five extra point attempts and both field goal attempts. Against the Packers, he made a 23-yard attempt in the fourth quarter in addition to his 51-yarder earlier in the quarter. His 51-yard field goal was his longest successful field goal since a 51-yarder at New Orleans on Nov. 8, 2015. It was his 13th career field goal of 50 yards or longer.
➢ At Indianapolis (11/20), made both extra point attempts and his only field goal attempt, a 47-yarder in the fourth quarter.
➢ At Chicago (11/27), made both field goal attempts (19 yards in the third quarter and 31 yards in the fourth quarter) and all three extra point attempts.
➢ Against Denver (12/11), made both field goal attempts (53 and 41 yards) and his only extra point attempt. In the first quarter, he made a 53-yard field goal, which tied for the second-longest field goal of his career. It was the Titans' longest field goal since a 53-yarder by Rob Bironas against the Miami Dolphins on Nov. 11, 2012.
➢ At Kansas City (12/18), made his only extra point attempt and both field goal attempts, including the game-winning, 53-yard field goal as time expired in the fourth quarter. He became the first kicker in NFL history to defeat his former team by converting a game-winning, come-from-behind field goal of 50 or more yards as time expired. It marked the Titans' first game-winning field goal since 2012, and the kick tied for the second-longest game-winner in franchise history, equaling Rob Bironas' 53-yard effort at Houston on Nov. 23, 2009 and behind only Bironas' 60-yarder against Indianapolis on Dec. 3, 2006. The 53-yarder at Kansas City gave Succop six career game-winning field goals (two in the fourth quarter and four in overtime). He recorded his second consecutive game with a 53-yarder, marking the first time in his career he kicked a field goal of at least that length in back-to-back games. With a field goal of 39 yards in the fourth quarter, he extended his streak to 34 successful field goals from inside 50 yards, dating back to 2014. Earlier in 2016, he broke Al Del Greco's franchise record of 24 consecutive made field goals from inside 50 yards, set from 1995–1996. Succop extended his streak to 14 consecutive field goals made (any length), which tied for the eighth-longest such streak in franchise history.

MORE TITANS SPECIALISTS

48 - LS BEAU BRINKLEY

➢ Long snapper Beau Brinkley (6-4, 248) is in his fifth NFL season in 2016. He was signed as an undrafted free agent in 2012 and re-signed to a multi-year contract in 2015.

➢ In 2015, he played in all 16 games for the fourth consecutive season. He helped Brett Kern become the first punter in league history to record 80 or more punts, a net average of 40 yards, and one or zero touchbacks in a single season. He also served as the long snapper for kicker Ryan Succop, who went 14-of-16 and whose 87.5 percent success rate on field goals was the sixth-best in franchise history.

➢ In 2014, he played in all 16 games for the third consecutive year and tied for third on the team with a career-high 10 special teams tackles. He helped Brett Kern set a new team record for single-season net punting average.

➢ In 2012, his consistency helped Brett Kern set the franchise records for both gross and net punting average in 2012.

➢ The Kearney, Mo., native spent four seasons as Missouri's long snapper after joining the team as a preferred walk-on. Appeared in 50 career games during his time at Missouri.

TITANS TIDBITS: OFF-THE-FIELD HIGHLIGHTS

TE JACE AMARO

➢ Amaro was a standout track & field athlete at Douglas MacArthur High School in San Antonio. He broke a 23-year-old District 26-5A shot put record with a throw of 18.88 meters (61 feet, 10 inches).

RB ANTONIO ANDREWS

➢ Andrews attended Fort Campbell (Ky.) High School, which is approximately 60 miles northwest of Nashville. As a high school senior, he was named the state of Kentucky's "Mr. Football" as a dual-threat quarterback.

➢ Antonio's father, Olan Andrews II, serves in the U.S. Army and was invited by the team to present the 12th Titan Sword of Honor prior to a Titans home game in 2015 (Nov. 15 vs. Carolina) as part of a Salute to Service celebration.

LB DAVID BASS

➢ He and his wife, Jahnene, were high school sweethearts. They were married during the 2016 offseason.

T BYRON BELL

➢ During the 2016 offseason, Bell volunteered as a teacher in numerous Middle Tennessee schools to prepare himself for a potential career in education following his football days.

➢ Bell is proud to be a native of Greenville, Texas, and the city reciprocates the feelings. The town of 25,557 named the street he grew up on "Byron Bell Street" and the mayor gave him a key to the city as a rookie.

DE ANGELO BLACKSON

➢ Blackson's legal guardian as a youth was his sister, Dalila Newman. She raised Angelo since he was six years old and he says he learned everything from her.

CB VALENTINO BLAKE

➢ Blake has stated that the adversity of losing his grandmother at a young age has made him a better person and a better player. He knows his beginnings and wants to honor his grandmother while making her proud in the process.

➢ Blake's college recruiting experience was an unusual one. His journey was quite simple; he went to one football camp at UTEP. They offered him a scholarship, and that is where he decided to go.

LS BEAU BRINKLEY

➢ Brinkley's father, Mike, was an All-American defensive end and long snapper at Missouri Valley College. Beau learned to long snap when he was just seven years old.

➢ Brinkley raced four-wheelers in the Extreme Dirt Track Racing Series while growing up in Missouri. He traveled the country competing in both motor cross and flat track competitions and won a flat track regional title in 2005.

➢ Byard credits his mother, Artina Stanley, for much of his success. Following a divorce when Byard was in ninth grade, his mother moved with the children from Philadelphia to Atlanta. Although it was a financial struggle, Stanley worked long hours to make sure her children received what they needed. Byard claims he and his older brother "had to grow up really fast" as they helped their mother with taking care of the younger kids in the family.

DT JURRELL CASEY

➢ Casey has a strong partnership with Project Return Tennessee.

➢ Family members, friends and teammates call him "Tut-Tut," a nickname he earned from his aunt as a small child because she said he walked like a turtle.

➢ He has nine brothers and sisters.

➢ When he was in high school, his older brother, Jurray, was convicted of first-degree murder. Despite the turmoil it caused, Jurrell credits his brother for helping him re-focus on becoming a better football player and student.

➢ Casey calls his mother, Collette Burns, a cafeteria worker in the Long Beach Unified School District, "the inspiration in my life" for how hard she worked to provide for Jurrell and his siblings.

QB MATT CASSEL

- Cassel's older brother, Jack, pitched for the Houston Astros, Cleveland Indians and San Diego Padres. His younger brother, Justin, was a pitcher in the Chicago White Sox organization.

T JACK CONKLIN
- After not receiving a single Division I scholarship offer, Conklin began his time at Michigan State as a preferred walk-on in 2012. He impressed enough in his redshirt season to earn a scholarship in the spring of 2013.
- At Plainwell (Mich.) High School, Conklin's head coach was his father, Darren Conklin, who once was a walk-on at Michigan under Wolverines head coach Bo Schembechler.
- His mother, Jennifer Jackson, was an All-American swimmer at the University of Michigan.
- Conklin's grandfather, Ron Jackson, was a professional baseball player. He played first base for the Chicago White Sox and Boston Red Sox.
- He hopes to one day own his own farm.

OLB KEVIN DODD
- Dodd says that his grandmother Mamae Charles served as an inspiration in his life and her guidance in the early years helped him reach his football dreams. She passed away when he was in sixth grade and to this day he plays to honor her life.

WR HARRY DOUGLAS
- Douglas' brother, Toney, is a seven-year NBA veteran who currently plays for the New Orleans Pelicans. Toney was originally drafted by the L.A. Lakers as the 29th overall pick in the 2009 NBA Draft and has played for New York, Houston, Miami, Golden State, Sacramento and New Orleans. Harry tries to attend as many of Toney's games as possible.
- In his spare time, he enjoys date nights with his wife, Kierra; bowling; traveling; discovering new restaurants; watching movies; playing cards; and keeping his niece, nephew and godchildren.

TE ANTHONY FASANO
- Fasano is the founder of Next Chapter Addiction Treatment, which exists to "provide state of the art clinical and 12-step immersion services for patients so they rediscover themselves, learn to build healthy relationships, embrace recovery and live a life free from addiction." Fasano's family was impacted by addiction, and watching the recovery process inspired Fasano to launch the venture. The facility in Delray Beach, Fla., which opened in December 2015, currently can treat up to 35 total inpatients and outpatients at a time. More information is available at nextchapteraddiction.com.
- He established the Anthony Fasano Foundation in 2008 to serve underprivileged youth and military families in New Jersey.
- Fasano speaks Italian and Spanish fluently.

FB JALSTON FOWLER
- Fowler lists his mother, Dana, as the person that inspires him the most. When his brother, Joe, was accidentally shot and killed at a friend's house in 2007, she stayed strong and kept the family together.
- Fowler's nickname is "Nudie." His father gave it to him as a baby becuase he was always running around the house naked. Fowler has nicknamed his son, Jalston Jr., "Toodie."

RB DERRICK HENRY
- In high school, Henry broke the 51-year-old national high school rushing record with 12,124 yards after compiling 4,261 rushing yards as a senior.
- Henry says his grandmother Gladys Henry has served as a key inspirational piece during his career. He has a portrait tattoo of her on his chest.
- Henry has been growing out his hair since he was in elementary school.

DL AUSTIN JOHNSON
- When Johnson was drafted by the Titans, he became a teammate once again of DaQuan Jones, a former Penn State defensive lineman who was drafted by the Titans in 2014. The two remained close, and Jones was among Johnson's family and friends surrounding him on draft night.
- Johnson was a broadcast journalism major at Penn State.
- The son of Austin and Tammy Johnson, he has two older sisters, Brandi and Erika, and one younger sister, Kennedy. Kennedy is a forward on the Michigan State women's basketball team.

S RASHAD JOHNSON
- Johnson attended the 2016 NFL Broadcast Bootcamp during the offseason and would like to get into sports media following his playing career.
- After redshirting in his first season at Alabama, Johnson made the switch to defense in 2005 and went on to become just the eighth player in Alabama's storied history to serve as team captain twice (as a junior and senior).
- Johnson lost the end of his left middle finger while he attempted a tackle on special teams in the second quarter of the Cardinals Week 3 matchup in New Orleans in 2013. He returned to action three games later.
- Johnson's foundation is called The Walk-on to Champions Foundation. During the 2016 offseason, he held the sixth annual Walk-on to Champions weekend at Sulligent High School in support of his Walk-on to Champions Foundation. During the weekend, Rashad hosted a high intensity high school skills camp, his annual Celebrity Basketball game featuring his NFL colleagues and former Alabama players and his annual Youth Football Skills camp for kids in first through eighth grade.

C BEN JONES
- Jones switched from jersey #61 to #60 prior to his senior season at Georgia, to honor his father, Steve, a former collegiate star, who was killed in a helicopter crash when he was 10 years old.
- Jones' pregame ritual consists of walking barefoot on the field "to get a feel for the turf." The routine began before one game with his brother in high school and after enjoying success that night, it has continued ever since.

DL DaQUAN JONES
- Jones majored in Criminology at Penn State and spent a portion of his 2013 summer as an intern observing the Spring Township Police Department near State College.
- Jones entered the Penn State program after being rated the second-best offensive lineman in the nation.
- He lists his father, Steve, as the most inspirational person in his life. Steve raised DaQuan as a single father and one of his father's greatest traits is that he works extremely hard in everything he does. Steve works as an executive chef at Cornell University.

G/T DENNIS KELLY
- Kelly's brother, Tim, played football at Eastern Illinois and is currently an offensive quality control coach for the Houston Texans.
- Kelly's favorite football player growing up was former Titans great Jevon Kearse.
- He is an avid professional wrestling fan that does not let the opportunity pass him by whenever a live WWE show is in town. He lists the Undertaker as the one person in the world he would like to have dinner with.

P BRETT KERN
- Kern's father, Cal, is a former professional soccer goalie.
- Kern is an avid golfer that sports a +1 handicap. He picked the game up late in his high school years and caddied for three summers at Inverness Golf Club while in college. The course is located in Toledo, Ohio, and has hosted PGA and NCAA Championships. In 2011, Kern competed in The Vinny, a local golf fundraising tournament hosted by singers Vince Gill and Amy Grant, and finished fourth in the event.

G JOSH KLINE
- Kline was a standout wrestler in high school, winning the state title as a senior and finishing with a 45-1 record that year.

DL KARL KLUG
- Klug has an identical twin brother, Kevin, who played linebacker at Minnesota State University, Mankato. As high school teammates, Kevin played fullback, opening holes for Karl, the team's running back. Kevin now owns and operates Klug Fitness, a mobile fitness business in Nashville. He also has toured with with Lady Antebellum and Sam Hunt as a personal trainer. Karl and Kevin have an older sister, Kelsey.
- Klug's small hometown of Caledonia calls itself the "Wild Turkey Capital of Minnesota" and "The Heart of Quilt Country."
- Klug arrived on Iowa's campus as an undersized defender who weighed only 207 pounds at the time.

T TAYLOR LEWAN
- Lewan chose to wear jersey number 77 at Michigan and then at the pro level because of the legacy of Wolverine tackles who have donned the number, including Jake Long and Jon Jansen.
- His father, Dave, was a defensive lineman at the University of Minnesota.
- Lewan has a mustache tattooed on his right index finger and a stick figure tattooed on the outside edge of his right hand that he calls his "right-hand man."
- One of Lewan's close friends is Carolina Panthers defensive end Craig Roh. The two played together as high school seniors and then went to Michigan at the same time.

WR/KR MARC MARIANI
- Mariani overcame a great deal of adversity to make it to the NFL. He was a non-preferred walk-on at Division I-AA Montana before working his way up the Grizzlies' depth chart and finally earning a scholarship as a junior.

➢ Mariani thought he was the victim of a practical joke when the Titans called to inform him that he was drafted. The former Montana teammate of then-Titans Coach Jeff Fisher's son, Brandon, had been on the phone back and forth with his buddy all day. Just before the Titans were scheduled to pick in the seventh round, Mariani got another call from Brandon, who informed him that he was now a Titan.

QB MARCUS MARIOTA

➢ Mariota's touchdown "celebrations" are usually limited to a simple series of gestures: three taps on his chest and pointing to the sky as a way to show appreciation for his mother, father and younger brother.
➢ He is the oldest son of Toa and Alana Mariota. His younger brother, Matthew, is a sophomore linebacker at Oregon.
➢ Mariota credits much of his athletic success to playing soccer in his youth. By the time he was eight years old, he was wearing a soccer jersey with the number 8, and he has kept the jersey number ever since then.
➢ Mariota's "bucket list" includes boogie boarding in Bali and traveling to Europe and South America.

G/C JOSUE MATIAS

➢ Matias was born in the Dominican Republic and moved to Union City, N.J., with his family when he was six. He is the first ever NFL player born in the Dominican Republic.
➢ Matias won the 2014 BCS National Championship after starting all 14 games with the Florida State Seminoles during his junior season.

WR RISHARD MATTHEWS

➢ In October 2015, Matthews' half-brother Christopher Ruiz was killed while serving as a retired Marine working as a private defense contractor in Afghanistan. Ruiz served in the Marines for 10 years, and served overseas in Operation Iraqi Freedom. He was in Afghanistan training locals to fight for their country, when he was killed. Ruiz was one of six U.S. Airmen and five other civilian contractors killed in the crash of an Air Force C-130 as it tried to put down at the Jalalabad Airfield on Oct. 2.
➢ Matthews wears a bracelet with the words "Forever by my side." It has his fallen brother's name on it, along with the Marines logo. He wears the bracelet every day.

WR TRE McBRIDE

➢ McBride's father, Douglas, is a U.S. Army Colonel currently stationed at Fort Lee, Va., and has had two tours in Iraq and one tour in Afghanistan.
➢ McBride has played the trumpet since sixth grade and started playing the harmonica in college.
➢ McBride is the creator and administrator of a lifestyle website called Fresh Life Only (freshlifeonly.com), or Flo. He and his co-creators blog on topics related to the mind, body, soul and finances.

CB BRICE McCAIN

CB JASON McCOURTY

➢ During the 2013 offseason, Jason and Devin spearheaded "Tackle Sickle Cell," a campaign that aimed to educate the public, increase blood donations, and raise money and awareness for the fight against sickle cell disease. The duo partners with the Embrace Kids Foundation to host three major events: McCourty Twins 5K Run/Walk, Tackle SC Casino Night and Tackle Sickle Cell Blood Drive. More information is available online at www.tacklesicklecell.org.
➢ In 2014, Jason and Devin McCourty won their respective team's Walter Payton Man of the Year Award. Then, in 2015, each of the twins were nominated for the Byron "Whizzer" White Award for their commitment to their respective NFL cities. During the 2016 offseason, Rutgers University welcomed Jason and Devin McCourty into their Hall of Distinguished Alumni.
➢ McCourty excelled off the field at Rutgers, as he was a semifinalist for the prestigious Vincent dePaul Draddy Trophy given to the college football player with the best combination of academics, community service and on-field performance. He was also named an ESPN The Magazine Academic All-District first-team member.

OLB DERRICK MORGAN

➢ Morgan is a 2016 graduate of the University of Miami's Executive MBA for Artists and Athletes program.
➢ Morgan helped deliver his daughter at home in April 2015.
➢ Morgan credits his mother, Pamela Sweigart, as his primary role model in life. He also says that she should be credited with his football success, since, even as a single parent, she managed to take him to every practice and every game during his youth.

RB DeMARCO MURRAY

➢ He started the DeMarco Murray Foundation with the mission to provide families with seriously and chronically ill children with daily encouragement and life changing experiences. More information is available at DeMarcoMurray.com.

OLB BRIAN ORAKPO

➢ Orakpo annually hosts The Brian Orakpo Leukemia Golf Classic to raise money for the National Capital Area Chapter of the Leukemia and Lymphoma Society.
➢ Orakpo is a good friend with former Titans safety Michael Griffin. The two played together for three seasons at the University of Texas and Griffin was an integral part in helping recruit Orakpo to Nashville.

LB NATE PALMER

➢ Palmer was the high school basketball teammate of current N.Y. Knicks point guard Derrick Rose for two seasons.
➢ Palmer names his father, Nathan Sr., as the biggest influence on him as he never made excuses and successfully started his own trucking business in Chicago.

CB KALAN REED

➢ The Titans selected Reed with the 253rd pick in the draft making him "Mr. Irrelevant," an unofficial title bestowed upon the last person selected in the NFL Draft.
➢ Reed lived in Nashville from the time he was two-years old until he was six. He started playing football in Antioch, Tenn., with the Flatrock Vols pee-wee team and played during halftime of a Titans game when he was five-years old.
➢ Reed's cousin, Maurice Kelly, played safety with the Seattle Seahawks and is currently the VP of Player Development for the organization. Reed's mother, Keyaschei, once worked in the Memphis Grizzlies ticket office.

DB CURTIS RILEY

➢ While out of college in 2011, Riley worked at Family Dollar in Orlando to help his mother pay the bills.

C BRIAN SCHWENKE

➢ Schwenke was an avid surfer during the time he spent living in Hawaii as a result of his father's job in the Navy.
➢ His father, Brian Sr., was a SERE (Survival, Evasion, Resistance and Escape) trainer in the Navy from 1990–2002.
➢ Schwenke enjoyed swimming with whale sharks on his honeymoon in Cabo in 2014. He also has enjoyed traveling to Europe, including visits to Ireland, Amsterdam, Brussels, Prague, Vienna and Budapest.
➢ He owns three dogs: an English bulldog named Vinny, a Dogo Argentino named Nala, and a golden doodle named Calli.

S DA'NORRIS SEARCY

➢ Searcy wore No. 21 at North Carolina because his grandmother was born in 1921.
➢ Searcy has tattoos of a cross and angel wings to represent his grandmother and great grandmother.

WR TAJAÉ SHARPE

➢ Sharpe's grandmother, Cozy Little, is a breast cancer survivor having beat the disease in 2013.
➢ Sharpe was so excited to get into football mode that he brought his own football to the first day of the Titans rookie minicamp. He says he usually goes to sleep with it and carries one around as much as he can, just because.
➢ Sharpe's family members nicknamed him "Show," which is short for "Showtime."

CB LeSHAUN SIMS

➢ He was commonly referred to as "Swis" in college because for his first college game the name on the back of his jersey was upside down. The nickname stuck.
➢ Prior to Sims, no prior student-athlete from Andre Agassi Prep in Las Vegas, Nev., had ever earned an athletic scholarship. When he was a high school freshman, the Stars played eight-man football in the public charter school's first year with a football team. They moved to 11-man football during his sophomore year, and by his senior season, the team won a league title.
➢ Sims is a movie buff who lists "Training Day" among his all-time favorites.

G/T QUINTON SPAIN
- Spain hosted his first NFL Skills Camp in Nashville in June 2016.

LB SEAN SPENCE
- Spence was the recipient of the Pittsburgh Steelers' Ed Block Courage Award in 2014 for his efforts in overcoming a serious knee injury.

S DAIMION STAFFORD
- At Norco (Calif.) High School, his coach was Todd Gerhart, the father of NFL running back Toby Gerhart.
- Navigating through his youth was not always an easy process for Stafford and his two sisters. But thanks to the efforts of many, he persevered. Those that inspired and helped him included his mother, LaTanya Henderson; Norco High School guidance counselor Kristine McCollough; Norco football coach Todd Gerhart; and Daniel Kelley, the head of his "second family." Stafford spent time living with the Gerhart and Kelley families during high school.

LB JUSTIN STAPLES
- Staples is related to Roebuck "Pops" Staples of the famed soul/R&B group The Staples Singers.
- He is the oldest of eight siblings and grew up in Berea, Ohio, down the street from the Cleveland Browns' practice facility.

K RYAN SUCCOP
- Succop was given the title "Mr. Irrelevant" after being selected with the final pick (256th overall) of the 2009 NFL Draft.
- At Hickory (N.C.) High School, he was a three-time All-State selection in soccer with 104 career goals.
- Succop caddied for his friend, Wesley Bryan, at the 2016 Nashville Golf Open, a Web.com event at Nashville Golf & Athletic Club. Succop and Bryan went to school together at the University of South Carolina,

TE PHILLIP SUPERNAW
- Supernaw's father is country music singer Doug Supernaw.
- Supernaw was actually born in Nashville, but moved to the Houston area at an early age and attended high school in Katy, Texas.
- A member at Vanderbilt Legends Club in Franklin, Tenn., the golf enthusiast plays whenever he can during the offseason and is a 4.5 handicap.

QB ALEX TANNEY
- Tanney started at shooting guard as a freshman and sophomore at Monmouth. He stopped playing the sport collegiately to concentrate more on his football career.
- Tanney was a long distance runner at high school and ran a 4:20 mile.
- Tanney posted a Trick Shot Quarterback video on YouTube that went viral in 2011 when he was at Monmouth. The video has been viewed more than four million times and features Tanney making incredible throws in a variety of off-the-field situations.
- Tanney's two older brothers are in the sports industry. Matt is the Athletics Director at Western Illinois University and Mitch is the Director of Analytics for the Denver Broncos.

G SEBASIAN TRETOLA
- In 2014, Tretola and the University of Arkansas launched his own Heisman Trophy campaign after he threw a touchdown pass to his long snapper on a fake field goal. The Razorbacks athletic department produced a video highlighting the guard's offensive prowess that got more than 82,000 views on YouTube.
- Tretola states the reason he loves football is because it literally saved his life. Without the game, he says he would have gone down a "real, real, real bad path." He says he is going to pay the sport back by giving it everything he's got.
- Tretola is a self-proclaimed world-renowned beatboxer.

TE DELANIE WALKER
- Walker was named the Tennessee Titans Community Man of the Year in 2013 and 2015, due in large part to his tireless work with Mothers Against Drunk Driving. He teamed with MADD to help raise awareness of the dangers of drinking and driving after losing his aunt and uncle in a horrific accident near New Orleans after Super Bowl XLVII. The morning after San Francisco's loss to Baltimore at the Superdome, an alleged drunk driver killed Alice and Bryan Young only hours after Walker hugged Alice and Bryan at the team's postgame party. In addition to his work with MADD, Walker is an ambassador with the Tennessee Governor's Highway Safety Office's "Booze It and Lose It" campaign.
- During the 2016 offseason, Walker spearheaded a benefit dinner and auction for his foundation called "Carving It Up with Delanie Walker." He also launched "Delanie Walker's Imagination Station" at Fall-Hamilton Elementary School in collaboration with Scholastic Book Fairs to provide a new fully-furnished reading room for students.
- During the 2015 and 2016 offseasons, the Delanie Walker Gives Back Foundation (delaniewalker.org) hosted a Celebrity Go-Karting Challenge, raising more than $75,000 to benefit the foundation. Walker's offseason also includes hosting a youth football camp.
- Over the years, Walker has owned quite a selection of cars, ranging from classics to newer models. His collection has included a 1964 Chevy Impala, 1972 Buick Skylark, 1989 Camaro IROC-Z28, 2008 Mercedes-Benz CL63 AMG and 2010 F250 truck. Walker's passion for cars can be traced back to his childhood, where he would spend countless hours refurbishing old autos with the help of his friend's father, who was a mechanic.
- His speed on the field can be linked to his success on the track as a high school senior. Despite lettering only one year, he won the Division III 100m (10.6) and long jump (21-5) titles, while also serving as a member of the winning 4x100m relay team at the 2002 Miramonte League Meet. Delanie's younger brother, Anthony, competed in the 400m and 4x400m at the collegiate level, and has his hopes set on making the Olympic team one day.
- On Feb. 14, 2015, Walker was inducted into the Central Missouri Athletic Hall of Fame.

OLB AARON WALLACE
- Wallace is one-quarter Chinese on his mother's side of the family. One of his "bucket list" items is to walk on the Great Wall of China.
- His father, Aaron Wallace Sr., was a three-time All-Southwest Conference selection at linebacker for Texas A&M (1986-89) and was selected in the second round of the 1990 NFL Draft by the Oakland Raiders. Aaron Sr. went on to play eight seasons in the NFL, collecting 21 sacks in 102 career games.
- His mother, Sandra Broussard, is on the board of a foundation in San Diego called the Berry Good Food Foundation, which promotes nutritional education and organic food.
- He aspires to be a strength and conditioning coach following his playing career.

G CHANCE WARMACK
- At Alabama, Warmack developed the custom of rolling up his jersey to just under the numbers as a way to stay cooler. Soon, the fad became known as "Warmacking," and fans began posting photos on social media of their exposed bellies. He highlights the best fan photos on social media with what he calls "Warmackin Wednesdays."
- Warmack attended Westlake High School in Atlanta, Ga., where he was a teammate during his freshman and sophomore years with current Carolina Panthers quarterback Cam Newton.
- His brother, Dallas, is a sophomore offensive line prospect that is following in Chance's footsteps at the University of Alabama.

ILB AVERY WILLIAMSON
- Williamson grew up in the West Tennessee town of Milan, which is approximately a two-hour drive from Nashville. He lists Eddie George, Steve McNair and Jevon Kearse as his favorite Titans as a child.
- One of Williamson's "bucket list" items is to see the pyramids in Egypt.
- In 2013, he was chosen to represent the Kentucky football program on a one-week educational/service trip in Ethiopia.

DL AL WOODS
- Woods likes to fish and hunt deer and owns a farm with about 300 head of cattle and 90 horses in Elton, La.

ILB WESLEY WOODYARD
- Woodyard has been a captain in his first two seasons with the Titans. He joined Hall of Fame running back Floyd Little as the only players in Broncos franchise history to serve as a captain in each of their first five years with the club. In 2004, Woodyard also became the first-ever Kentucky freshman to serve as a team captain.
- Woodyard is the co-founder of The 16Ways Foundation which recognizes an emotional need for at-risk youth. The Foundation works on a national level to develop and implement workshops, seminars, camps, and other activities. These events are designed to build self-esteem, promote responsibility for one's own actions and overcoming obstacles, and demonstrate the importance of academics, knowledge of career options, professional development, community involvement, and mental and physical fitness among youth of all socio-economic backgrounds. The Foundation's primary focus is to work with at-risk youth between the ages of 8 and 18 and a secondary focus on adults in employment transition.
- Woodyard was a three-time nominee for the Walter Payton NFL Man of the Year while with the Broncos in 2010-11 and 2013.

WR KENDALL WRIGHT
- During the 2013 offseason, Wright went back to Baylor to train for his second NFL campaign. He worked out with Dallas Cowboys receiver Terrance Williams and lost close to 15 pounds.
- As a freshman at Baylor, Wright played on the basketball team. He appeared in 13 games as a reserve guard and scored 10 points.
- Wright was a three-sport star at Pittsburg (Texas) High School, where he earned All-State honors in football, basketball and track. He captured the state 3A titles in the long jump (24-0 3/4) and triple jump (48-5 1/4).

DIRECTIONS TO NISSAN STADIUM

FROM AIRPORT TO NISSAN STADIUM (APPROXIMATELY 15 MINUTES): Take I-40 West toward Nashville/Memphis to I-24 West (before downtown). Exit at James Robertson Parkway (Exit 48). Turn left at first light (Interstate Drive). Turn right on Woodland Street. Nissan Stadium will be on the left. Follow signs to parking lot ("M" lot on northwest corner/river side of stadium).

NISSAN STADIUM MEDIA WILL CALL/MEDIA ENTRANCE

The media will call window and media entrance are located in the northwest corner of Nissan Stadium near Gate 6. The media will call window opens three hours prior to kickoff.

FIELD MEDIA VESTS

All members of the media with field access during the game must wear a media vest. Still and video photographers will be issued tan vests, while team-affiliated video photographers (coaches' shows, etc.) will be issued green vests. All vests must be obtained prior to each game at the vest check-in table in the field level concourse. All vests must be returned at the conclusion of the game to Titans personnel or a designated vest receptacle.

NISSAN STADIUM PRESS BOX INTERNET ACCESS

Wireless internet access is available free of charge in the Nissan Stadium press box. The login information will be available upon arrival in the press box. A limited number of ethernet lines and pool phone lines also are available. Accessing the wireless network works the same in the Nissan Stadium press box as it does in most areas with free connectivity. Titans staff may be able to assist in a limited manner, but you should first contact your company's I.T. department with any questions.

FROM NISSAN STADIUM PRESS BOX TO LOCKER ROOMS

Take the press box elevator (Level 3) to field level (Level 1). The Titans interview room is immediately on the right, and the Titans locker room (blue line) is straight ahead. Turn left and continue straight along the concourse to reach the visiting team's locker room and interview room (white line).

POSTGAME POLICIES

Reporters with press box credentials will be allowed on the field during pre-game activities but not during the game itself. Press box credentials do NOT provide access to the field at the two-minute warning in the fourth quarter. Media will be allowed to gather in the Titans interview room to watch the end of the game or remain in the press box to make the short walk down to the field level at the conclusion of the game. All media members will have field access once all of the players and coaches have exited the field. Interviews with Titans players are not permitted on the field following the game. Ken Whisenhunt's press conference will begin approximately 10 minutes following the conclusion of the game and will be held in the interview room across from the Titans locker room. Key players also will be brought to the interview room. The press conference audio will be played live over the press box speakers.

POSTGAME QUOTES

Quotes from each team's head coach and key players will be transcribed and distributed throughout the Nissan Stadium press box following the game. The quotes also will be available at www.TitansOnline.com.

POOL REPORTS

Pool reporters are assigned by the Pro Footbal Writers of America. They are the only reporters allowed in the officials' locker room. Requests for pool reports must be made in advance. Pool reports will be recorded, transcribed and then distributed in the press box.

EXITING NISSAN STADIUM

FROM NISSAN STADIUM PRESS BOX TO STADIUM EXIT: Cross the press box catwalk to the third floor lobby. Take the stairs or elevator one floor down to Level 2. Exit through the doors and walk right to get to the "M" lot.

FROM NISSAN STADIUM TO AIRPORT (APPROXIMATELY 15 MINUTES): Take I-24 East toward Chattanooga to I-40 East toward Knoxville. The airport is at Exit 216A.

NISSAN STADIUM PARKING AND MEDIA ENTRANCE

The media will call window and media entrance are located in the northwest corner of Nissan Stadium near Gate 6. The media will call window opens three hours prior to kickoff.

TITANS ALL ACCESS

The Titans' 30-minute, official magazine-style TV show returns for its 14th season in 2016. Mike Keith and Amie Wells co-host the show, joined by new Titans general manager Jon Robinson.

Titans All Access features a variety of long-form stories every week. The show always reviews and previews Titans games, but also shares on- and off-field stories about the players, coaches and their families. Other Titans All Access staples include one-on-one chats with players and exclusive insight from Robinson, plus Titans news from www.titansonline.com senior writer/editor Jim Wyatt.

Titans All Access is shown locally on Nashville's FOX 17 Saturdays at 11:30 a.m. and Sundays at 10:30 a.m. It also airs in Nashville on CW 58 Fridays at 9 p.m. and on MyTV 30 Saturdays right after SEC Football (approximately 2:30 p.m. CT).

Titans All Access has also been picked up again by affiliates in Memphis, Knoxville, Chattanooga, Jackson, Tri-Cities, Huntsville, Ala., and Paducah, Ky. Check local listings for dates and times.

TITANS ONLINE COVERAGE

Titans Online offers comprehensive written and video content on the Titans. Senior writer and editor Jim Wyatt enters his second season covering the Titans for the team's website. The Nashville native began covering the Titans as a writer for The Tennessean in 1999 and became the full-time beat writer in 2001. He has been named Tennessee Sportswriter of the Year six times by the National Sportscasters and Sportswriters Association and twice has been named as one of the top beat writers in the country by the Associated Press Sports Editors.

Additionally, Titans Online and its accompanying mobile app deliver daily videos to keep fans up to date on the team. Wyatt, the "Voice of the Titans" Mike Keith and broadcast coordinator Amie Wells provide daily coverage from Saint Thomas Sports Park and Nissan Stadium.

Fans can follow the Titans throughout the season on the club's social media platforms, including Facebook (facebook.com/titans), Twitter (@Titans), Instagram (@Titans) and Snapchat (nfltitans).

MIKE MULARKEY TRANSCRIPT

TITANS HEAD COACH MIKE MULARKEY PRESS CONFERENCE TRANSCRIPT

Dec. 19, 2016

(opening statement)

We'll start off with injuries. I know you guys are curious about some of these guys. (Phillip) Supernaw and (Da'Norris) Searcy are in the concussion protocol right now. Once they get through a practice and get tested, we'll know more about them. Jason McCourty—chest contusion, shoulder sprain. He'll be probably out, I know, the early part of this week in practice. We'll just watch how it goes with that injury. Sean Spence should be back this week, and then Karl Klug probably had the most serious injury with the Achilles. He did tear that and he'll have surgery on that, so he will be out and we'll put him on IR, which is a big loss for our team.

(on what the team will miss in Karl Klug's absence)

Relentless play, a guy that's where he's supposed to be on all downs—just a tough, physical, dependable player, team-first, a guy we really like.

(on if Karl Klug was close to not being able to play against Kansas City)

No, and I watched him Friday. He had a really good Friday practice. He was full-go. I don't know if he would have let me not let him play. I mean, he wanted to play. It's disappointing. It happened, but I don't think we put him back there too early. I saw him Friday do a lot of things.

(on LeShaun Sims' progression in recent weeks)

Well, I think the more he's playing, the more confident he's getting in his game if you watch him. This is not too big for him right now. I think you've seen him make really big plays in the red zone the last two weeks against really—especially with Denver—a really good receiver to make that play that he made, but I think he's just feeling more confident in his play. One thing he's doing that doesn't get talked a lot about is his run support. He is a physical player. He's not afraid to stick his nose in there, and that's nice to have a corner that will also do that in support.

(on LeShaun Sims' awareness as a rookie to go to the ground following his end zone interception)

Smart player. He understood the situation, the circumstances of where we were. (He) also saw a number of Chiefs coming at him and thought that was the best decision to go down. No, that was good decision on his part. That was a big play.

(on the contributions from the rookie class)

I mean, you're talking about some big games with these guys. Yesterday, at one point, we had five rookies on defense playing against the Chiefs, four of them in a number of snaps together. Obviously, (Jack) Conklin and Tajae (Sharpe) and Derrick (Henry) on offense—I mean, you're talking about seven guys, eight guys that played extensively yesterday in a very big game in a tough environment.

(on the primary target on the two-point conversion play)

Harry (Douglas) is the initial, but the other receivers are also part of the option to throw it. It wasn't very well executed in our standards. It could have been executed much better at the point.

(on if he wanted Marcus Mariota to get the ball to Harry Douglas directly out of the snap)

Yeah, I would have liked to have seen what would have happened if he'd have put it on Harry (Douglas). I think the throw was there. It's not as clean as you'd like. We thought we could a cleaner lane. Again, that's part of the execution of the play, but even with that being said, I still would have liked to have seen what would have happened if he'd have thrown it.

(on if he intends to be as aggressive as he was calling the two-point conversation in all situations)

No, those are pretty well thought out. I can tell you time had a big factor in it in whether we'd get the ball back, which I thought there was plenty of time. There's a number of things that go into it. It's the momentum of the game, how are we playing, how are they playing. I've also been in games that I've never seen the ball again after we've tied it. The game's been over without having a chance to win it. It's well thought out, talking through on the headsets, talked through it with players on the sideline that I have a lot of respect for. It's the mindset we want to win the game then and there.

(on having faith in the defense to get a stop if the two-point conversion failed)

It's hard when you're sitting there and in my position, in this business, the belief and the trust in the players and the coaches in how much that plays into it. This is a different business than most that you have to have that, especially in very critical situations. You have to have a trust and a belief.

(on if you risk not seeing the ball again on offense if a two-point conversion fails)

Yeah, you are.

(on if Ryan Succop's range in the cold weather was around 48 yards)

We had talked earlier when the game started where we needed to be to be comfortable and confident was the 30-yard line. Again, I've seen him bang some long ones out here, longer than 53. We really didn't have a choice. That's where we were going—the 35—and, like I said yesterday and I'll say it again, I think that whole sideline believed he was going to make that kick.

(on if he would have attempted a field goal had the offense not gotten to the 35-yard line)

No, it would have probably been then you're in a Hail Mary type of situation.

(on what yard line he needed to reach to call for a field goal)

Probably the 36 (yard line). Yeah, that's every game. It's that much difference in winning and losing is a yard.

(on Delanie Walker's 15-yard catch that set up the field goal)

I give Delanie (Walker) a lot of credit. If Delanie turns and goes the other way, he gets tackled on the 40. Delanie just made a great play on the throw by Marcus (Mariota) and got us where we needed to be. That's what big-time playmakers do.

(on Marcus Mariota's game-winning drive)

I like how he's handled it pretty much every time we've been in that situation, including out here on the practice fields, which we practice that. We've been doing that, really, since the OTAs a number of times, and he's been very good. Our offense has been very good in that situation.

(on if he reconsidered the field goal when Ryan Succop's first attempt was short but nullified by a Chiefs' timeout)

No. You had to be there in the moment with that sideline and our belief that he was going to make that kick. Whatever it was—you can call it divine intervention or whatever it was—it was a belief that he was going to make it.

(on if the Chiefs' timeout gave Ryan Succop an opportunity to determine how hard to kick)

I'm sure he's thinking that, but he felt like he kicked the first one as well as he could. It's funny how things work out. I mean, I don't know why it went probably four or five yards longer than it did, but it did.

(on if he spoke with Andy Reid after the game about his timeout call before the field goal)

Not really, no. There wasn't a whole lot of conversation at the end of the game. I understand how Andy (Reid) feels. That's every week. I've felt that way many a time myself where we had a chance to win and didn't. That's part of it.

(on why games have been going in the Titans' favor recently)

I think we're learning how to win some of these games. I mean, we've lost some of these games earlier in the year where we couldn't defensively stop a team, where we thought if we get a stop here, we felt confident that were were going to take it down and score with our two-minute offense and we didn't. Again, I'm using that as one example because our defense played outstanding yesterday. But I think we're learning a lot about ourselves, what we're capable of doing, what we can and cannot do. That's going to be a weekly thing for this team until we get where we want to go.

(on what it means to the team to be in control of its playoff destiny)

I like it. I mean, I think these guys have earned it. They have. They have worked very hard for this. They've stuck together when (we had) a slow start to the season—again, resilient. It didn't slow them down, didn't change their hearts or theirs minds or their work ethic. Just like a game—slow start in a game—it didn't change anything, and this is not the only game. They've earned it. They've earned the right to be here right now. We'll see where it goes from here.

(on if certain wins or situations, such as the Detroit game, has helped change the team's mindset)

Well, I think that certainly helped. There were a number of games that we were down, we got down early, and we came back to take the leads in some of these games. I mean, if I go back and look at every game, I could tell you certain things that we've grown from. I think yesterday was another that we did. When that kick went through, that was big for this team to know we can do something like that in a tough environment.

(on if Andy Reid's timeout call before the field goal changes his own opinion on icing the kicker)

I have my thoughts on that, I do. Obviously, I'm not going to tell you, but yeah.

(on if the timeout had an effect on the field goal)

No, it did not. It did not have an effect. Did that answer your question?

(on if the defensive improvement throughout the game was attributed to better execution of the game plan or alterations in the plan)

No, I think we had to execute better. Again, the first play they ran for the touchdown, I'm surprised they didn't run that two or three more times to see if they could split it because that's a tough play to defend. They tried a couple shots over our heads. We had good coverage. One we gave up with Brice (McCain) that got them down there to get in position to score again. We did some things better in the second half, especially even stopping the run.

(on the importance of Derrick Henry in the game)

I think both backs ran very well yesterday. They did a lot of good things for us. Derrick (Henry) has run well every opportunity he's had. DeMarco (Murray), as the game went on, he became much more physical. He was getting more into the groove as the game went on. Again, that catch to get us down there was a huge play on fourth down—a huge play for us.

(on the trust in DeMarco Murray to throw to him on fourth-and-five in the fourth quarter)

Well, he's done that in earlier games. I think even in Detroit we had that same type of route. He's part of that read. We ran the play a couple of third downs earlier and just trusted the play because we got some options on it and they're all good options with the people we have running those routes. That's a hard throw—a back-shoulder throw to a back along the sideline—a hard catch, but again, we're on the phone. We're saying, 'What's the next first down? When we get this first'—I mean, we just believe we were going to get the first. I mean, that's kind of where we're at right now.

(on if they knew they had a favorable matchup on the fourth-down play to DeMarco Murray)

Yes.

(on if Derrick Henry is benefiting from having fresh legs late in the season)

I think they're both benefiting off of each other, I really do. In the last few weeks, he's gotten, obviously, more carries. We've done some things with personnel groups, but I think both of them are benefiting with the rotation that we have.

(on what this win means for the fans)

That was big because, at least for the time I've been here, we haven't had a lot of those games where we've won at the end like that. I think our fans know that they're going to get a team that comes out to compete every game. We've had a chance to win every game, and that's all you want is a team that wants to come out and compete and give yourself a chance to win. That's what they're seeing and they're seeing the results in our favor more as of late.

(on Marcus Mariota's decreased numbers in the last two games)

I don't think it's been a struggle. It's been a different way to attack. I look at it as a positive that we can score and find ways to win without having to throw two touchdown passes every game. I find it more that our offensive staff has found ways to attack different defenses, very good defenses, and found ways to win.

(on if he has seen Marcus Mariota slip in any way in the last two games)

No.

(on if he will warn the team about the possible effects Jacksonville's coaching change could have on the team and how they play)

Yeah, I was going to tell them before there was a change that this team's playing at a high-level effort. I know offensively, this defense that we're about to face is one of the top-10 defenses. I think they're eight right now. They're playing good. I mean, most of the games that they have lost—I know seven or eight games have been one score games. We will not let our guard down. We will not have a letdown for any reason. They all know when a coaching change comes up, things are going to change. Players change, coaches change, things change, and so they're going to play, they're going to give every ounce of effort that they have when they line up on Sunday, and we know that.

(on if playing on Saturday makes this week challenging)

It's challenging because today is Monday and Tuesday. We've lost some time here. We're right in the middle of game planning right now as I'm speaking to you. Yeah, it's a challenge. We've got to get right back into the next game. The players will be in here tomorrow on a short week, and we'll adjust some things to make up for it.

(on if the they will add another defensive lineman to replace Karl Klug)

We're talking about that right now. We've got a day, really, to look at that. We brought up Mehdi (Abdesmad) last week, so we actually added an additional defensive lineman last week. We've got some options we're looking at.

(on concern about the team's tendency to fall behind early in road games)

There's things that when the season is over with—because there's a lot of things we've done that we've got to get better at. That's one of them, for whatever reason that is, but there are things that we are looking at as we go that we need to improve on if we can as we're going. This game coming up, our last one for the regular season (on the road), yeah, we can't get behind like that.

(on if he can attribute the early deficits on the road to anything specific)

No, again, that's why you spend some of that time studying yourself. We do an in-depth study of everything when the season is over with.

(on if he has concern about Phillip Supernaw's second concussion this season)

You know, I don't think so. To me, today he's better than he was the last time he had a concussion. He's much better today than that time. I don't know if that's any difference. Each of them is it's own injury.

(on if the warm weather in Jacksonville is a concern coming off a cold game)

No, I'm not worried about that. You know, it's really interesting. Our equipment guys did a fabulous job yesterday for our team. A lot of guys didn't wear a lot, but I know for us on the sideline, I was nice and toasty. That's a credit to those guys.

(on if he saw Ben Jones' and Jack Conklin's feet after they took their pregame barefoot walk in Kansas City)

No, I saw them go out and come in real quick. I did see that.

2016 TITANS GAME-BY-GAME SUMMARIES

Titans 16, Vikings 25

Week 1 • Sunday, Sept. 11, 2016 • 12:00 CDT • Nissan Stadium

GAME RECAP

In what became a tale of two halves, the Tennessee Titans dropped a 25-16 decision to the Minnesota Vikings in the season opener at Nissan Stadium. Despite holding a 10-0 halftime lead, three second-half turnovers by the Titans, two of which were returned for scores, allowed the Vikings to take control late in the game.

Tennessee took an early lead in the first quarter on a 28-yard Ryan Succop field goal and then constructed a 13-play, 73-yard drive late in the second quarter, capped by a six-yard touchdown pass from quarterback Marcus Mariota to running back DeMarco Murray.

However, Minnesota began to shift momentum in the second half, opening with a 61-yard kickoff return which led to a 50-yard Blair Walsh field goal. Walsh added two more field goals in the second half, but it was Tennessee's miscues—an interception by Mariota, returned 77 yards by Eric Kendricks, a 24-yard scoop-and-score by Danielle Hunter on a fumbled handoff between Mariota and Murray and another fumble by Murray—which ultimately sealed the Titans' fate. Mariota led a touchdown drive in the final three minutes of the game, finding Murray again in the end zone, but a failed two-point conversion attempt ended Tennessee's comeback.

The Titans defense remained stout throughout the game, never allowing an offensive touchdown and holding Vikings All-Pro running back Adrian Peterson to 31 yards and an average of 1.6 yards per carry. The Titans offense also showed promise as rookie wide receiver Tajaé Sharpe paced the team with seven catches for 76 yards and became the first rookie in the Titans era to start a season opener at his position.

Titans 16, Lions 15
Week 2 • Sunday, Sept. 18, 2016 • 12:00 CDT • Ford Field

GAME RECAP

Behind the arm of quarterback Marcus Mariota, the Tennessee Titans overcame a double-digit deficit in the fourth quarter for just the fourth time in the Titans era—and first time since 2006—to defeat the Detroit Lions 16-15 at Ford Field and move to 1-1 on the season.

The Detroit defense controlled the game from early in the first quarter, when Lions defensive end Devin Taylor tackled running back DeMarco Murray in the end zone for a safety. Mariota was also intercepted by Lions safety Glover Quin on a long pass in the third quarter to thwart another scoring attempt by the Titans. In the first three stanzas, Tennessee's lone points came on a 46-yard field goal by Ryan Succop.

Both sides were heavily penalized—29 flags between the teams—and the Lions offense saw three of its touchdowns nullified by offensive infractions. Despite those setbacks, Lions quarterback Matthew Stafford directed his team down the field for points four times, including a 24-yard touchdown to wide receiver Anquan Boldin in the first quarter.

However, Detroit began to see its lead slip when Mariota found tight end Delanie Walker for a 30-yard strike on the first play of the fourth quarter. After forcing the Lions to punt on back-to-back drives, the Titans regained posession trailing 15-10 with 7:04 to play. Mariota then orchestrated a 13-play, 83-yard drive, targeting wide receiver Andre Johnson in the end zone on fourth-and-four for the nine-yard, game-winning score.

With 1:13 remaining, the Lions were not finished yet. As Stafford set out to negate the Titans' comeback drive, cornerback Perrish Cox jumped the route of a Lions receiver, intercepting the ball and sealing the first Titans win of the 2016 season.

2016 TITANS GAME-BY-GAME SUMMARIES

Titans 10, Raiders 17

Week 3 • Sunday, Sept. 25, 2016 • 12:00 CDT • Nissan Stadium

GAME RECAP

Despite efforts for a second-consecutive, fourth-quarter comeback win in the final two minutes of the game, the Tennessee Titans fell short to the Oakland Raiders in a 17-10 loss at Nissan Stadium.

The Titans struggled offensively most of the afternoon, punting away six of their 11 drives and losing three others on turnovers. However, the defense contained the high-powered Raiders' offense to a season-low 17 points, including a second-half shutout, giving the offense a chance at a late comeback.

In the third quarter, the Titans constructed their lone touchdown drive of the day on big plays from running back DeMarco Murray—a 36-yard sprint up the left side—and tight end Jace Amaro in his Titans debut—a 26-yard catch from quarterback Marcus Mariota. Murray capped the drive with a five-yard scoring run, marking the first Tennessee rushing touchdown of the season.

At the start of the fourth quarter, Mariota was intercepted by Raiders cornerback Sean Smith at midfield, but linebacker Avery Williamson intercepted Raiders quarterback Derek Carr three plays later to keep Tennessee within one score.

With 1:51 remaining, the Titans' offense returned to the field at their own 20-yard-line and drove down to the Raiders' three-yard-line on clutch receptions by receivers Rishard Matthews, Harry Douglas and Tajaé Sharpe. However, an unessary roughness penalty on tackle Taylor Lewan pushed the Titans back to the 18-yard-line and an offensive pass interference call negated a touchdown pass to receiver Andre Johnson.

Murray paced the offense in the loss with his team-best 155 yards from scrimmage, including 114 rushing yards, as he recorded his 22nd career 100-yard rushing game.

2016 TITANS GAME-BY-GAME SUMMARIES

Titans 20, Texans 27
Week 4 • Sunday, Oct. 2, 2016 • 12:00 CDT • NRG Stadium

GAME RECAP

In their first AFC South division matchup of 2016, the Titans rallied from a double-digit deficit to draw even with the Texans in the third quarter but were unable to finish the comeback, taking a 27-20 loss to Houston at NRG Stadium.

Running back DeMarco Murray led the offense once again, recording 119 all-purpose yards and two rushing scores—Tennessee's only touchdowns of the day—to mark his third-consecutive game with over 100 yards from scrimmage. However, after Texans receiver Will Fuller returned a punt 67 yards for a touchdown in the third quarter, the Titans' offense could not find an answer in the final stanza of the game.

The Texans jumped ahead fast, scoring on their first three possessions to take a 17-3 lead early in the second quarter. The Titans began to click offensively when quarterback Marcus Mariota found receiver Rishard Matthews for a 60-yard gain, and Murray capped the drive with a two-yard push into the endzone.

On Tennessee's next drive, Mariota was intercepted by Texans safety Quintin Demps at the Houston 35-yard-line, but on the very next play, cornerback Jason McCourty snagged a pass away from Texans receiver DeAndre Hopkins. The Titans turned the takeaway into points on a one-yard leap over the goal-line pile by Murray.

After a Houston field goal in the closing seconds of the first half, kicker Ryan Succop tied the game on a 26-yard field goal in the third quarter. Those would prove to be the Titans' final points of the day. They punted their next drive, which Fuller returned for the game-winning score, and could not find the end zone again, despite keeping the Houston offense scoreless in the second half.

Former Texan Andre Johnson had a team-best three receptions for 33 yards.

Titans 30, Dolphins 17

Week 5 • Sunday, Oct. 9, 2016 • 1:00 EDT • Hard Rock Stadium

GAME RECAP

Behind 398 total yards of offense and six sacks from the defense, the Titans engineered a 30-17 win over the Miami Dolphins at Hard Rock Stadium to improve to 2-3 on the season and 2-1 on the road.

Quarterback Marcus Mariota completed 20-of-29 passes for 163 yards, three touchdowns and no interceptions for a 117.5 rating on the day. He also added 60 yards on the ground and a rushing score—the Titans' first of the day—with 0:23 left to play in the first quarter.

The teams went score-for-score in the second quarter, first as Dolphins receiver Jakeem Grant returned a punt 74 yards for a touchdown. The Titans responded with a 12-play, 76-yard drive, finished by a five-yard touchdown pass from Mariota to receiver Andre Johnson. Miami answered on its ensuing drive as running back Jay Ajayi punched in a four-yard run to draw even at 14-14.

With two minutes remaining in the first half, Mariota, with help from receivers Tajaé Sharpe and Rishard Matthews, marched the offense 75 yards and hit tight end Delanie Walker for a 20-yard, go-ahead touchdown.

The Titans' defense shut down Miami in the second half, as cornerback Jason McCourty and safety Daimion Stafford each recorded interceptions and four of Tennessee's six sacks leveled Dolphins quarterback Ryan Tannehill in the final two stanzas.

Although Miami added one touchdown in the third quarter, kicker Ryan Succop's 40-yard field goal and a four-yard touchdown from Mariota to Matthews kept Tennessee in control. Running back DeMarco Murray contributed 121 yards on the ground as the Titans out-gained the Dolphins 398-to-200 yards on offense.

Titans 28, Browns 26

Week 6 • Sunday, Oct. 16, 2016 • 12:00 CDT • Nissan Stadium

GAME RECAP

For the first time since 2013, the Titans posted back-to-back victories and matched their 2015 win total, holding off a late rally to topple the winless Cleveland Browns 28-26 at Nissan Stadium and move to 3-3 on the season.

The Titans hit the ground running on the opening drive, as quarterback Marcus Mariota sprinted 41 yards downfield on the first play of the game, and capped the drive with an 11-yard touchdown pass to wide receiver Rishard Matthews.

The Tennessee defense, which tallied six sacks for the second-straight game, limited the Browns to two field goals in the first quarter. The Titans capitlizated on the momentum early in the second stanza when Mariota connected with wide receiver Kendall Wright, who made a diving catch at the goal line, for a 48-yard touchdown.

Cleveland answered in the closing minute of the half, as quarterback Cody Kessler found receiver Terrelle Pryor, Sr. for a seven-yard score to close the gap to 14-13.

Mariota and Matthews connected again in the Titans' first drive of the third quarter, this time for a 43-yard grab to set up a three-yard touchdown run by DeMarco Murray. The Titans furthered their lead early in the fourth quarter, constructing a 12-play, 80-yard drive—including three third-down catches by Wright to move the chains—and closing with a 15-yard touchdown from Mariota to tight end Anthony Fasano.

Despite trailing 28-13 with 6:43 to play, the Browns would not be deterred. Kessler directed Cleveland 75 yards for a score, finding Pryor again, but the two-point conversion attempt came up short. After recovering an onside kick, the Browns scored again with 27 seconds remaining. Their next onside kick attempt rolled out of bounds, however, effectively sealing the Titans' win.

2016 TITANS GAME-BY-GAME SUMMARIES

Titans 26, Colts 34

Week 7 • Sunday, Oct. 23, 2016 • 12:00 CDT • Nissan Stadium

GAME RECAP

Despite holding a three-point advantage deep into the fourth quarter, the Titans could not withstand a late scoring surge from the Colts, dropping a 34-26 decision to AFC South-rival Indianapolis at Nissan Stadium.

After trailing by a two-score deficit in the first half, the Titans battled back to take a 23-20 lead on a 48-yard Ryan Succop field goal with 6:02 remaining in the game. In response, Colts quarterback Andrew Luck directed his team 70 yards, finding tight end Jack Doyle for the go-ahead touchdown with 2:00 to play. On the next play from scrimmage, Colts defensive tackle T.Y. McGill strip-sacked Titans quarterback Marcus Mariota and linebacker Robert Mathis recovered, returning the fumble 14 yards for a touchdown and sealing the Colts' 10th-straight victory over the Titans.

The Titans started the game with a 78-yard drive on their opening possession and surprised the Colts when Mariota connected with tackle Taylor Lewan for a 10-yard touchdown pass. However, the Titans botched the extra point and the Colts countered with their own touchdown drive. The visitors added another score in the second quarter, followed by a 28-yard field goal by Adam Vinatieri after recovering an onside kick.

Titans running back DeMarco Murray, who tallied 107 yards on 25 attempts, punched in a one-yard touchdown run just before haltime to narrow the gap to 17-13.

Early in the fourth quarter, Mariota finished a 13-play, 75-yard drive by finding tight end Delanie Walker for a seven-yard score to tie the game at 20-20. Although not enough to oust the Colts, Succops' two field goals in the fourth quarter from 48 and 44 yards, respectively, set a new franchise record with 25 consecutive field goals made within 50 yards.

Titans 36, Jaguars 22
Week 8 • Thursday, Oct. 27, 2016 • 7:25 CDT • Nissan Stadium

GAME RECAP

Behind 494 total yards of offense and a first-half defensive shutout, the Titans rolled to a 36-22 victory over the Jacksonville Jaguars in a nationally-televised, prime-time game at Nissan Stadium to move to 4-4 at the halfway mark of the season.

In a game in which they never trailed, the Titans tallied more first-half yards than any other team in the 2016 campaign to this point and their most total yards in a game since 2009. Quarterback Marcus Mariota led the charge through the air going 18-of-22 for 270 yards, two touchdowns, no interceptions and a 148.1 rating. Running backs DeMarco Murray and Derrick Henry tag-teammed to give the Titans 214 yards and two scores on the ground, included a 123-yard rushing output by Murray.

After punting on their first drive, the Titans scored on their next six possessions, included two field goals by kicker Ryan Succop and four touchdowns. Wide receiver Kendall Wright hauled in the first score, a 36-yard pass from Mariota, and Henry and Murray each found the end zone on the following drives. Wide receiver Rishard Matthews added another touchdown on a four-yard dart from Mariota in the third quarter.

Early in the fourth quarter, the Titans put their final points on the board with a 33-yard field goal by Succop after the Jaguars muffed a punt in Tennessee territory and rookie LeShaun Sims recovered. On the Titans' next possession—and holding a 36-8 advantage with 8:02 remaining in the game—quarterback Matt Cassel replaced Mariota as the signal caller.

In addition to keeping the Jaguars scoreless in the first half, the Titans' defense held Jacksonville to 48 total rushing yards and put quarterback Blake Bortles on the ground twice with sacks by Derrick Morgan and Avery Williamson.

2016 TITANS GAME-BY-GAME SUMMARIES

Titans 35, Chargers 43

Week 9 • Sunday, Nov. 6, 2016 • 1:25 PST • Qualcomm Stadium

GAME RECAP

The Titans, who put up 35 points in consecutive weeks for the first time since the 2004 season, could not overcome their three turnovers, including two returned for scores, and fell to the San Diego Chargers, 43-35, at Qualcomm Stadium.

The Chargers jumped out to an early 16-0 lead, as quarterback Philip Rivers directed two touchdown drives, finding Antonio Gates for a 13-yard score and receiver Tyrell Williams for a six-yard strike. Kicker Josh Lambo also added a 32-yard field goal, while the San Diego defense forced consecutive Titans three-and-outs.

The Titans were undeterred, however, as quarterback Marcus Mariota directed an eight-play, 75-yard drive and connected with receiver Rishard Matthews for a 16-yard score. Although Lambo drilled a 23-yard field goal for the Chargers, the Titans responded with another touchdown drive in the final 1:23 of the first half, with Mariota finding Matthews again for a seven-yard strike in the corner of the end zone.

Entering the second half with the momentum, Mariota used his receiving core to reach the red zone on the opening drive and then scrambled on second-and-10 at the 14-yard line, diving for the pylon and giving Tennessee its first lead of the day, 21-19.

The Chargers regained the lead on a one-yard touchdown run by running back Melvin Gordon, who totaled 196 yards on the ground on the day. As the Titans were looking for an answer, Chargers safety Dwight Lowery recovered a Mariota fumble, forced by linebacker Melvin Ingram, and returned the ball 36 yards for a score.

Although tight end Delanie Walker hauled in an eight-yard touchdown pass from Mariota with 9:55 remaining in the game, Lambo's third field goal from 36 yards out and another Tennessee turnover for points—a 33-yard interception return by cornerback Brandon Flowers with five minutes on the clock—sealed the win for San Diego.

Titans 47, Packers 25

Week 10 • Sunday, Nov. 13, 2016 • 12:00 CST • Nissan Stadium

GAME RECAP

Titans quarterback Marcus Mariota made NFL history by becoming the first player to record four-plus touchdowns in six of his first 22 games as he led Tennessee to a 47-25 win over the Green Bay Packers at Nissan Stadium.

In route to tying their highest scoring output in Nissan Stadium history, the Titans engineered a six-touchdown, 446-yard performance on offense, while the defense recorded five sacks and limited the Packers to 69 yards on the ground. Mariota went 19-of-26 for 295 yards with four touchdowns, no interceptions and a 149.8 passer rating.

On Tennessee's first play from scrimmage, running back DeMarco Murray took the the ball 75 yards for a touchdown, and the Titans never looked back. Murray contributed a second touchdown minutes later, this time as the passer, finding tight end Delanie Walker in the end zone. Tight end Anthony Fasano hauled in a touchdown pass from Mariota as the Titans took a 21-0 lead in the waning seconds of the first quarter.

Packers quarterback Aaron Rodgers put Green Bay on the board in the second quarter with touchdowns to wide receiver Jordy Nelson and running back James Starks but was unable to narrow the gap to a one-score game. Mariota found wide receiver Rishard Matthews for a 32-yard score and cornerback LeShaun Sims recovered a Packers' muffed punt at the Green Bay 24-yard line to set up a touchdown pass from Mariota to wide receiver Kendall Wright.

Rodgers scrambled for a 20-yard touchdown in the third quarter, but Mariota fired a 33-yard touchdown to rookie receiver Tajaé Sharpe, the first of his NFL career.

With 9:06 remaining in the game and the Packers trailing 44-25, cornerback Perrish Cox intercepted Rodgers at midfield. Kicker Ryan Succop added a 23-yard field goal to seal with win for Tennessee.

2016 TITANS GAME-BY-GAME SUMMARIES

Titans 17, Colts 24

Week 11 • Sunday, Nov. 20, 2016 • 1:00 EST • Lucas Oil Stadium

GAME RECAP

Although the Titans overcame a 21-0 first-half deficit to rally within one-score of the Colts, it was not enough to steal a win, as Tennessee fell 24-17 to Indianapolis at Lucas Oil Stadium and dropped to 5-6 on the season.

Trailing by seven with 7:53 remaining in the game, cornerback Brice McCain intercepted quarterback Andrew Luck to give the Titans possession at their own 38-yard-line. After converting a fourth-and-one play to keep the drive alive, the Titans found themselves in the same situation at the Colts' 19-yard-line with 2:45 on the clock. This time, however, running back DeMarco Murray was stonewalled for no gain by the Indianapolis defense, ending the Titans' hopes of a comeback.

In the first quarter, the Titans went three-and-out on consecutive drives while the Colts jumped out to a 14-0 lead. Colts running back Robert Turbin scored first on a one-yard run and Luck connected with receiver Donte Moncrief for a two-yard touchdown on the next drive.

After a 50-yard play from Luck to receiver Phillip Dorsett, the Colts extended their lead when receiver T.Y. Hilton snagged a pass out of cornerback Perrish Cox's hands for a touchdown on fourth-and-one. Late in the second quarter, Colts kicker Adam Vinatieri missed a 42-yard field goal, and the Titans took advantage by scoring on their next drive when quarterback Marcus Mariota found Murray in the end zone for a score.

The Titans surged back in the second half, as Mariota connected with receiver Tajaé Sharpe for a 34-yard touchdown strike and kicker Ryan Succop then added a 47-yard field goal. But the late rally was halted by the Colts' defensive stop in the fourth quarter, and the Titans were forced to take their 11th-striaght loss to Indianapolis.

Titans 27, Bears 21

Week 12 • Sunday, Nov. 27, 2016 • 12:00 CST • Soldier Field

GAME RECAP

On a chilly day in Chicago, the Titans held off a fourth-quarter resurgence by the Bears to clinch a 27-21 win at Soldier Field, improving to 6-6 on the season.

Quarterback Marcus Mariota turned in another masterful performance, going 15-of-23 for 226 yards, two touchdowns and a 126.4 rating. Mariota also extended his streak to eight consecutive games with at least two touchdowns, joining Dan Marino (10 in 1984) in becoming the second NFL quarterback in his first or second year to record a streak of eight or more games in a season with at least two touchdown passes.

The Bears struck first with a seven-yard pass from quarterback Matt Barkley, making his first career start in the place of an injured Jay Cutler, to tight end Daniel Brown,. The Titans responded when running back Derrick Henry darted around the left side for an 11-yard touchdown on the following possession.

The Titans found their rhythm in the second quarter, as Mariota connected with tight end Delanie Walker for a four-yard score and then found receiver Rishard Matthews on a diving, 29-yard catch in the back of the end zone. The Titans' defense also forced Chicago to punt three times in the second quarter and forced a turnover when linebacker Wesley Woodyard intercepted Barkley in the red zone.

The Bears recovered an onside kick to open the second half, but safety Da'Norris Searcy intercepted Barkley in the end zone to thwart a touchdown. However, after Titans kicker Ryan Succop drilled two field goals, the Bears scored 14 points in the fourth quarter to draw within one score. With less than a minute to play and the Bears with a fresh set of downs on the Tennessee seven-yard line, Barkley saw four passes fall incomplete, and the Titans escaped with a win to remain in playoff contention.

Titans 13, Broncos 10

Week 14 • Sunday, Dec. 11, 2016 • 12:00 CST • Nissan Stadium

GAME RECAP

For the first time since the 2009 season, the Titans won their third-consecutive home game with a 13-10 victory over the defending Super Bowl Champion Denver Broncos at Nissan Stadium.

The run game for both teams proved to be the difference, as the Titans accumulated 180 yards on the ground and the Tennessee defense contained Denver to just 18 rushing yards—the fifth-lowest rushing yardage total allowed by the defense in franchise history. Running back DeMarco Murray led the team with 92 yards on 21 carries. He also gave the Titans their lone touchdown of the day with a one-yard run to cap Tennessee's first offensive drive of the game with 7:29 remaining in the first quarter.

On the very next drive, Titans safety Rashad Johnson forced Broncos running back Justin Forsett to fumble and cornerback Jason McCourty recovered the ball, setting up a 53-yard field goal by kicker Ryan Succop. The defensive takeaway marked the Titans' first forced fumble of the 2016 season.

Succop added another field goal, this time from 41 yards out, to give the Titans a 13-0 halftime lead at the end of a season-best, 19-play, 74-yard drive spanning 8:04.

Although the Broncos made a second-half rally with a three-yard touchdown from quarterback Trevor Siemian to receiver Emmanuel Sanders and a 34-yard field goal from Brandon McManus in the fourth quarter, the Tennessee defense held up to preserve the Titans' lead. With 1:04 remaining in the game and the Broncos driving, linebacker Avery Williamson forced an A.J. Derby fumble that was recovered by safety Daimion Stafford to ice the game and keep Tennessee in a tie for first place in the AFC South.

Titans 19, Chiefs 17

Week 15 • Sunday, Dec. 18, 2016 • 12:00 CST • Arrowhead Stadium

GAME RECAP

In the coldest game in franchise history, the Tennessee Titans orchestrated a comeback victory over the Kansas City Chiefs, winning as time expired on a 53-yard field goal from Ryan Succop to improve to 8-6 on the season.

The Chiefs jumped out to a 14-0, first-quarter lead but would not find the end zone again thanks to a staunch Titans' defense, which twice stopped Kansas City in the red zone and forced five punts in the final three stanzas. Tennessee's red zone stops came on a goal-line stand on fourth-and-goal from the one-yard-line in the second quarter and a third-quarter interception by rookie cornerback LeShaun Sims in the end zone—the first of his NFL career.

Running back Derrick Henry put the Titans on the board with a four-yard touchdown plunge early in the second quarter and Chiefs kicker Cairo Santos converted on a 34-yard field goal attempt, giving the Chiefs a 17-7 lead at the break.

Following a scoreless third quarter, Succop drilled his first field goal of the day through the uprights from 39 yards out. On Tennessee's next possession, quarterback Marcus Mariota twice found tight end Delanie Walker on key third down plays, and running back DeMarco Murray added a pivotal 15-yard catch on fourth-and-five to set up Henry for a one-yard touchdown. The Titans elected to go for two but came up short and trailed 17-16 with 3:12 remaining in the game.

However, after the Titans' defense forced a Kansas City three-and-out, Mariota completed three of four passes for 40 yards on a six-play drive that resulted in Succop's game-winning field goal. It marked Mariota's fourth career fourth-quarter comeback and his fourth career game-winning drive in 26 career starts.

51 DAVID BASS

OUTSIDE LINEBACKER • 6'4" • 256 LBS
COLLEGE: MISSOURI WESTERN STATE • NFL EXPERIENCE (NFL/TITANS): 4/2
ACQUIRED: WAIVERS (CHI) - 2015 • HOMETOWN: ST. LOUIS, MO.
GAMES PLAYED/GAMES STARTED: 49/9 (PLAYOFFS: 0/0)

PRO: The Titans claimed outside linebacker David Bass off waivers prior to the start of the 2015 regular season. In his first season with the club, he set career highs by playing in 16 games and recording seven starts. The 6-foot-4-inch, 256-pounder adds size and speed to the Titans outside linebacker unit. The Missouri Western State product was originally a seventh-round pick of the Oakland Raiders in 2013 and spent his previous two seasons as a member of the Chicago Bears.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS:

• As a rookie in 2013, Bass saw action in 12 games and recorded 23 tackles, a sack and an interception.
• In 2014, Bass played in eight games and tallied nine tackles, three sacks and a forced fumble.
• In 2015, Bass played in all 16 games for the first time in his career and recorded career highs with seven starts and 42 tackles.

TITANS TIDBITS:

• Bass became only the fifth player from Missouri Western State to reach the NFL.
• He is interested in a career as a detective once his playing days are over.
• Bass took a memorable week-long trip to Costa Rica in 2015. During the 2016 offseason, he traveled to the Pro Athletes Outreach (PAO) conference in Colorado.
• He and his wife, Jahnene, were high school sweethearts. They were married during the 2016 offseason.

CAREER TRANSACTIONS:

• The St. Louis, Mo., native was originally selected by the Oakland Raiders in the seventh round (233rd overall) of the 2013 NFL Draft.
• Released by the Raiders on Aug. 31, 2013.
• Claimed by the Chicago Bears off waivers from the Raiders on Sept. 1, 2013.
• Released by the Bears on Oct. 7, 2014 and signed to the team's practice squad a day later.
• Signed by the Bears to their active roster from their practice squad on Nov. 3, 2014.
• Released by the Bears on Sept. 5, 2015.
• Claimed by the Titans off waivers from the Bears on Sept. 6, 2015.

SEASON RECAPS:

2016 (13/0 - Tennessee): Has tied for the team lead in special teams tackles three times in 2016 (at MIA, vs. IND, vs. JAX).
• Against Minnesota (9/11), played as a reserve outside linebacker and on special teams.
• At Detroit (9/18), saw significant action as a reserve at outside linebacker and posted a tackle and a quarterback pressure.
• Against Oakland (9/25), played as a reserve at outside linebacker and tallied a tackle. Notched a special teams tackle on coverage units.
• At Houston (10/2), saw action as a reserve at outside linebacker and recorded two tackles. Ended a Texans' drive and gave the Titans' offense the ball back by stuffing Jay Prosch for no gain on a fourth-and-one rush up the middle in the fourth quarter.
• At Miami (10/9), played as a reserve at outside linebacker and registered three tackles. Tied for the team lead with one special teams tackle on coverage units.
• Against Cleveland (10/16), saw action as a reserve at outside linebacker and notched two tackles.
• Against Indianapolis (10/23), played as a reserve at outside linebacker and collected two tackles. Notched a special teams tackle on coverage units. Teamed with DaQuan Jones to stuff Frank Gore for no gain on a rush off right guard in the fourth quarter.
• Against Jacksonville (10/27), saw action as a reserve at outside linebacker and posted three tackles, including a stop for loss and a quarterback pressure. Tied for the team lead with a special teams tackle. Stuffed Blake Bortles for no gain on a rush off right end in the second quarter.
• At San Diego (11/6), played as a reserve at outside linebacker and on special teams.
• Against Green Bay (11/13), saw action as a reserve at outside linebacker and on special teams. Registered a special teams stop on coverage units.
• At Indianapolis (11/20), played limited snaps as a reserve at outside linebacker.
• At Chicago (11/27), played as a reserve at outside linebacker and registered a quarterback pressure. Collected a special teams tackle on coverage units.

95 ANGELO BLACKSON

DEFENSIVE END • 6'4" • 318 LBS • COLLEGE: AUBURN
ACQUIRED: 4TH ROUND - 2015 • NFL EXPERIENCE (NFL/TITANS): 2/2
HOMETOWN: WILMINGTON, DEL.
GAMES PLAYED/GAMES STARTED: 28/1 (PLAYOFFS: 0/0)

PRO: The Titans selected Angelo Blackson in the fourth round of the 2015 NFL Draft. The 6-foot-4-inch, 318-pounder is a good athlete that displays the power and quickness to get upfield and disrupt the passer. The Auburn product also plays with strength at the point of attack and is able to withstand and occupy double teams against the run. Blackson competes for playing time on the defensive front with the Titans.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS:

• As a rookie in 2015, Blackson played in all 16 games and registered 2.5 sacks.
• Blackson notched 4.5 sacks, 17 tackles for loss and 13 quarterback hurries during his four-year career at Auburn. He also excelled on special teams and posted four blocked kicks during his career with the Tigers.

TITANS TIDBITS:

• Blackson's legal guardian is his sister, Dalila Newman. She raised Angelo since he was six years old and he says he learned everything from her.

CAREER TRANSACTIONS:

• The Wilmington, Del., native was selected by the Titans in the fourth round (100th overall) the 2015 NFL Draft.

SEASON RECAPS:

2016 (12/1): Made his first NFL start at Indianapolis (11/20/16).
• Against Minnesota (9/11), saw action as a reserve on the defensive front and collected two tackles, including a stop for loss. Stuffed Adrian Peterson for a one-yard loss on a rush up the middle in the third quarter.
• At Detroit (9/18), played as a reserve at defensive end and posted two tackles, including a stop for loss. Teamed with Wesley Woodyard to stuff Theo Riddick for a one-yard loss on a rush off left tackle in the second quarter.
• Against Oakland (9/25), saw action as a reserve on the defensive line.
• At Houston (10/2), played as a reserve at nose tackle and recorded two tackles.
• At Miami (10/9), played as a reserve on the defensive front and registered a quarterback pressure.

47 VALENTINO BLAKE

CORNERBACK • 5'9" • 198 LBS • COLLEGE: TEXAS EL PASO
ACQUIRED: UNRESTRICTED FREE AGENT - 2016 (PIT)
NFL EXPERIENCE (NFL/TITANS): 5/1 • HOMETOWN: MISSOURI CITY, TEXAS
GAMES PLAYED/GAMES STARTED: 76/17 (PLAYOFFS: 3/2)

PRO: The Titans signed Valentino Blake as an unresticted free agent during the 2016 offseason to add competition and experience to the cornerback position. The 5-foot-9-inch, 198-pounder is a veteran defensive back that has also excelled on special teams coverage units during his four NFL seasons. Prior to arriving in Tennessee, the Texas El Paso product was orginally signed by the Jacksonville Jaguars as a rookie free agent in 2012 and spent the previous three seasons (2013-15) with the Pittsburgh Steelers.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS:

• In 2015, Blake started all 16 games for the Steelers and set career-highs with 74 tackles, three interceptions (one in postseason) and 11 passes defensed.

TITANS TIDBITS:

• Blake has stated that the adversity of losing his grandmother at a young age has made him a better person and a better player. He knows his beginnings and wants to honor his grandmother while making her proud in the process.
• Blake's recruiting experience was a very unusual one. When it came to the whole process, he really didn't know how to handle things. His journey was quite simple; he went to one football camp which was at UTEP. They offered him a scholarship, and that is where he decided to go.

CAREER TRANSACTIONS:

• The Jacksonville, Fla., native was originally signed by the Jacksonville Jaguars as an undrafted rookie free agent on April 30, 2012.
• Released by the Jaguars on Sept. 1, 2013.
• Claimed by the Pittsburgh Steelers off waivers from the Jaguars on Sept. 2, 2013.
• Signed by the Titans as an unrestricted free agent on March 18, 2016.

SEASON RECAPS:

2016 (14/0 - Tennessee): Ranks third on the team with eight special teams tackles. Has tied for the team lead in passes defensed once in 2016 (vs. JAX). Has tied for the team lead in special teams tackles five times in 2016 (vs. MIN, at HOU, at MIA, vs. CLE, at SD).
• Against Minnesota (9/11), made his Titans debut as a reserve on special teams and collected a tackle on coverage units.
• At Detroit (9/18), played as a reserve on special teams and posted a tackle on coverage units.
• Against Oakland (9/25), saw action as a reserve on special teams and notched a tackle on coverage units.
• At Houston (10/2), recorded a special teams tackle on coverage units.
• At Miami (10/9), tied for the team lead with one special teams tackle on coverage units.
• Against Cleveland (10/16), played as a reserve on special teams and tied for the team lead with a solo stop on coverage units.
• Against Indianapolis (10/23), played as a reserve at cornerback and collected three tackles.
• Against Jacksonville (10/27), saw significant action as a reserve as the team's nickelback and posted five tackles and a career-high tying two passes defensed. Deflected a deep pass intended for Arrelious Benn in the end zone late in the fourth quarter.
• At San Diego (11/6), tied for the team lead with a special teams tackle on coverage units.
• Against Green Bay (11/13), played as a reserve at cornerback and notched a tackle and a pass defensed. Registered a special teams stop on coverage units. Broke up a deep pass intended for Jordy Nelson in the third quarter.
• At Indianapolis (11/20), played as a reserve at cornerback and on special teams. Recorded two tackles on defense. Returned one punt for one yard and carried the ball once for minus-two yards on a fake punt.
• At Chicago (11/27), saw action as a reserve at cornerback and registered a tackle and a pass defensed.
• Against Denver (12/11), saw significant action as a reserve at cornerback and collected four tackles and a pass defensed. Stonewalled Emmanuel Sanders for no gain on a short pass in the right flat in the third quarter. Broke up a pass intended for Sanders in the third stanza.
• At Kansas City (12/18), played significant snaps as a reserve at cornerback and tallied five tackles, a stop for loss and a pass defensed. Stuffed Charcandrick West for no gain on a rush off right end late in the third quarter.

2015 (16/16, 2/2 - Pittsburgh): Started all 16 regular season contests for the first time of his career. Set single-season career-highs with 74 tackles, two interceptions, 11 pass breakups, a sack and a forced fumble. Recorded three special teams tackles. Made his first career two postseason starts and collected two tackles and an interception.
• At New England (9/10), started his first career season opener at cornerback and registered three tackles.
• At San Diego (10/12), picked off Philip Rivers and returned it 70 yards for a touchdown, his first career score.
• Against Arizona (10/18), led the team with a career-high 12 tackles.
• Against Cincinnati (11/1), picked off Andy Dalton for his second interception of the season, and returned it 42 yards.
• At Cleveland (1/3), registered his first career sack, taking down Austin Davis for a 10-yard loss.
• At Cincinnati (1/9), recorded his first career postseason interception and returned it 35 yards in the AFC Wild Card Game.

2014 (16/1, 1/0 - Pittsburgh): Saw action in all 16 regular season games with one start. Posted 36 tackles, an interception, seven passes defensed, a forced fumble and a fumble recovery. Recorded seven special teams tackles. Also saw action in the lone postseason game.
• Against Cleveland (9/7), caught a 25-yard pass on a fake punt from teammate Robert Golden. The catch marked his first career reception.
• At Carolina (9/21), saw action in the secondary after Ike Taylor suffered a right forearm injury. Recorded his first career tackle and first career pass breakup on defense.
• Against Indianapolis (10/26), saw action as a reserve and recorded his first career interception late in the fourth quarter off Andrew Luck.
• At N.Y. Jets (11/9), made his first career start.
• Against Cincinnati (12/28), tied his then career-high with seven tackles. Forced a fumble on A.J. Green late in the fourth quarter and recovered the loose football. Marked his first forced fumble and first fumble recovery of his career.

2013 (14/0 - Pittsburgh): Saw action on special teams in 14 games in his first season with the Steelers. Registered 11 special teams tackles. Was inactive for two games.
• At New England (11/3), posted three special teams tackles on coverage units.

2012 (16/0 - Jacksonville): Was one of four Jaguars rookies to play in all 16 games. Saw action mainly on special teams, where he led the team with 13 special teams stops, including five in his first three games.
• At Buffalo (12/2), recorded his first career special teams fumble recovery on a muffed punt.

COLLEGE:

• Was a four-year letterman and two year starter at cornerback at the University of Texas at El-Paso. Saw action in 42 career games with 25 starts and recorded 137 tackles and 22 pass breakups.
• In 2011, started all 12 games and recorded 46 tackles, seven pass breakups and two blocked kicks.
• In 2010, started all 12 games and finished with a career-high 60 tackles, two forced fumbles, two tackles for loss and a team-high 11 pass breakups.
• In 2009, played in eight games with one start, missing four due to an ankle injury. Recorded 20 tackles, one sack and one pass breakup.
• In 2008, saw action in 10 games and recorded 11 tackles and three pass breakups.
• Majored in multidisciplinary studies at Texas El Paso.

PERSONAL:

• Attended Thurgood Marshall (Missouri City, Texas) High School and totaled 53 tackles, four interceptions and two fumble recoveries as a senior.
• Was a three-year letterman in track and field and competed in the 100, 200 and 400-meter races and was a member of the 4x100 relay team.
• Has two children, daughter Aeryn and son Astin.
• Follow Blake on Twitter at @ZILLAMANE41.
• Born Antwon Valentino Blake on Aug. 9, 1990 in Jacksonville, Fla.

48 BEAU BRINKLEY

LONG SNAPPER • 6'4" • 248 LBS • COLLEGE: MISSOURI
ACQUIRED: FREE AGENT - 2012 • NFL EXPERIENCE (NFL/TITANS): 5/5
HOMETOWN: KEARNEY, MO.
GAMES PLAYED/GAMES STARTED: 78/0 (PLAYOFFS: 0/0)

PRO: Beau Brinkley was signed by the Titans as an undrafted free agent following the 2012 NFL Draft and has handled all of the team's long snapping duties in every game since then. His consistency helped Brett Kern set the franchise records for both gross and net punting average and helped Titans kickers Rob Bironas (2012-13) and Ryan Succop (2014-15) combine to make 84.7 percent of their field goals in Brinkley's first four campaigns.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS:

• In 2015, Brinkley was the team's long snapper for every punt, field goal and extra point attempt for his fourth consecutive season.
• In 2014, he set a career high and tied for third on the squad with 10 special teams stops.
• As a rookie in 2012, Brinkley played in every game and contributed six special teams tackles.

TITANS TIDBITS:

• Brinkley's father, Mike, was an All-American defensive end and long snapper at Missouri Valley College. He taught Beau the skill of long snapping when he was just seven years old. Beau's football idol growing up was Kansas City Chiefs long snapper Kendall Gammon.
• Brinkley raced four-wheelers in the Extreme Dirt Track Racing Series while growing up in Missouri. He traveled the country competing in both motor cross and flat track competitions and won a flat track regional title in 2005.

CAREER TRANSACTIONS:

• The Kearney, Mo., native was signed by the Titans as an undrafted free agent on May 4, 2012.

SEASON RECAPS:

2016 (14/0): Has tied for the team lead in special teams tackles twice in 2016 (at MIA, vs. IND).
• Against Minnesota (9/11), served as the team's long snapper.
• At Detroit (9/18), saw action at long snapper and collected a special teams tackle.
• Against Oakland (9/25), played as the team's long snapper.
• At Houston (10/2), served as the team's long snapper.
• At Miami (10/9), played as a reserve at long snapper and tied for the team lead with one special teams tackle on coverage units.
• Against Cleveland (10/16), served as the team's long snapper.
• Against Indianapolis (10/23), played as a reserve at long snapper.
• Against Jacksonville (10/27), saw action as the team's long snapper.
• At San Diego (11/6), served as the team's long snapper.
• Against Green Bay (11/13), played as a reserve at long snapper and registered a special teams stop on coverage units.
• At Indianapolis (11/20), served as the team's long snapper.
• At Chicago (11/27), played as a reserve as the long snapper.
• Against Denver (12/11), saw action as the team's long snapper.
• At Kansas City (12/18), served as the team's long snapper.

2015 (16/0): Played in all 16 games as the long snapper for the fourth consecutive campaign and registered seven special teams tackles. Tied for the team lead in special teams tackles three times in 2015 (at CLE, vs. BUF, vs. CAR).
• At Cleveland (9/20), collected a special teams stop.
• Against Buffalo (10/11), collected a special teams stop.
• At Houston (11/1), posted a special teams stop.
• Against Carolina (11/15), posted a special teams tackle on coverage units.
• Against Oakland (11/29), recorded a special teams tackle.
• Against Jacksonville (12/6), collected a special teams stop.
• At Indianapolis (1/3), recorded a special teams tackle.

2014 (16/0): Played in all 16 games for the third consecutive season. Tied for third on the team with a career-high 10 special teams tackles.
• At Kansas City (9/7), collected two solo special teams tackles.
• At Philadelphia (11/23), collected two special teams tackles as the long snapper.
• At Jacksonville (12/18), notched a special teams stop.

2013 (16/0): Played in all 16 games as a reserve long snapper and collected six special teams tackles. Tied for the team lead in special teams tackles twice in 2013 (vs. SD, vs. KC).
• Against San Diego (9/22), notched a special teams tackle.
• Against N.Y. Jets (9/29), posted a special teams tackle on coverage units.
• Against Kansas City (10/6), tied for the team lead with two special teams tackles.
• Against San Francisco (10/20), posted a special teams tackle on coverage units.
• At St. Louis (11/3), collected a solo tackle on coverage units.

2012 (16/0): Appeared in all 16 games as a rookie long snapper and posted six special teams tackles. Helped Brett Kern set franchise records in both gross (47.6 yards) and net (40.4) punting average. Led or tied for the team lead in special teams tackles twice (vs. PIT, at IND). Played in his first career NFL game against New England (9/9/12).
• Against New England (9/9), made his NFL debut as a reserve long snapper.
• Against Detroit (9/23), snapped for Rob Bironas' game-winning field goal in overtime.
• Against Pittsburgh (10/11), led the team with three special teams tackles and snapped for Rob Bironas' game-winning field goal.
• At Miami (11/11), snapped for Brett Kern's career-long 71-yard punt.
• Against Houston (12/2), posted a special teams tackle.
• At Indianapolis (12/9), tied for the team lead with a special teams tackle.
• Against Jacksonville (12/30), posted a solo special teams tackle.

COLLEGE:

• Spent four seasons as Missouri's long snapper after joining the team as a preferred walk-on. Appeared in 50 career games during his time at Missouri and helped field goal kickers make a combined 79-of-98 field goal attempts (80.6 pct.) and 210-of-212 on extra point attempts (99.1 pct.).
• As a senior (2011), played in all 13 games as the team's long snapper and also registered five tackles on special teams. Named the Tigers' 2011 Co-Special Teams Player of the Year. Helped Tigers kickers make a combined 16-of-25 field goal attempts and 53-of-53 PATs.
• As a junior (2010), played in 11 games as the long snapper and helped the Tigers rank 14th in the NCAA in net punting. Snapped for placekicker Grant Ressel, who was 17-of-19 on field goal attempts and 45-of-47 on PATs. Posted one special teams stop.
• As a sophomore (2009), played in all 13 games as the team's long snapper and was named the Tigers' Special Teams Player of the Year. Helped Ressel set an NCAA single-season kicking accuracy record for combined kicks (26-of-27 on field goals and 39-of-39 extra points). Also helped MU rank fourth in the NCAA in team net punting (40.48 avg.).

• As a freshman (2008), joined the team as a walk-on and won the long-snapping job for placekicks and punts. Appeared in all 13 games and was named the Tigers' Walk-On Player of the Year. Helped Jeff Wolfert to a perfect 73-for-73 mark on extra point attempts and a 20-for-27 mark on field goals. Posted three tackles as part of the punt coverage team.
• Graduated in May 2012 with a major in general studies at Missouri.

31 KEVIN BYARD

SAFETY • 5'11" • 212 LBS • COLLEGE: MIDDLE TENNESSEE STATE
ACQUIRED: 3RD ROUND - 2016 • NFL EXPERIENCE (NFL/TITANS): ROOKIE HOMETOWN: LITHONIA, GA.
GAMES PLAYED/GAMES STARTED: 14/5 (PLAYOFFS: 0/0)

PRO: The Titans selected Kevin Byard with the first pick of the third round in the 2016 NFL Draft. The 5-foot-11-inch, 212-pound defender earned a reputation in college as a sideline-to-sideline, ball-hawking safety who plays with tremendous intelligence and effort. In four seasons at Middle Tennessee State, he set the school's all-time career interceptions record with a total of 19. He started 46 of his 49 career games with the Blue Raiders.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS:

• In 2015, Byard appeared in 12 games (limited to nine starts due to injuries) and posted 66 tackles and a team-high four interceptions. He was named first-team All-Conference USA for the second consecutive season.
• Against North Texas on Nov. 21, 2015, he set the Middle Tennessee State record with his 18th career interception. He picked off another pass the following week to finish his career with 19 interceptions.
• Against Troy on Nov. 24, 2012, he forced three total turnovers (two interceptions and a forced fumble), including a 77-yard, game-winning interception return for a touchdown late in the fourth quarter.

TITANS TIDBITS:

• Byard says his football role models are Ed Reed, Brian Dawkins and Troy Polamalu.
• He has aspirations to travel the world, and his bucket list includes setting foot on every continent.
• He has three brothers and three sisters and is the second oldest of the group.
• Byard credits his mother, Artina Stanley, for much of his success. Following a divorce when Byard was in ninth grade, his mother moved with the children from Philadelphia to Atlanta. Although it was a financial struggle, Stanley worked long hours to make sure her children received what they needed. Byard claims he and his older brother "had to grow up really fast" as they helped their mother with taking care of the younger kids in the family.

DEFENSIVE TACKLE • 6'1" • 305 LBS • COLLEGE: SOUTHERN CAL
ACQUIRED: 3RD ROUND - 2011 • NFL EXPERIENCE (NFL/TITANS): 6/6
HOMETOWN: LONG BEACH, CALIF.

Captain: 2014, 2015, 2016 Pro Bowl: 2015

PRO: The Titans used their third-round pick in the 2011 NFL Draft on University of Southern California defensive tackle Jurrell Casey. In his first five pro seasons, Casey quickly developed as one of the top interior defensive linemen in the NFL, a force against both the run and pass. During that timespan, he played in all but one game and ranked fifth among all defensive tackles with 28 total sacks (Geno Atkins, Marcell Dareus, Ndamukong Suh and Gerald McCoy). In 2013, he tied for second among NFL defensive tackles with a career-high 10.5 sacks and set a career high with 90 tackles.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS:

• In 2015, Casey was named to the Pro Bowl after tying for the team lead with seven sacks. He finished second on the team with 11 tackles for loss and a career-high 28 quarterback pressures.
• Following the 2014 season, Casey was voted the 96th-best player in the NFL by his peers on the NFL Network's "Top 100 Players of 2015."
• In 2013, Casey was named Associated Press second-team All-Pro after putting together one of the best seasons by a defensive tackle in franchise history. His 10.5 sacks set a career high and made up the second-highest total by a franchise defensive tackle since sacks became an official statistic in 1982, finishing behind only Ray Childress' 13 sacks in 1992. Only Jason Hatcher of the Dallas Cowboys (11) finished with more sacks than Casey among defensive tackles in 2013. Casey's season totals also included a career-high 90 tackles and a career- and team-high 10 quarterback pressures.
• In 2012, he notched 80 tackles to lead the defensive line and added three sacks.
• As a rookie in 2011, Casey recorded 74 tackles, which led the team's defensive linemen, and tied for second on the defense with five tackles for loss.
• Casey totaled nine sacks and 22 tackles for loss during his three seasons at Southern California. In 2010, Casey's junior year, he was named first-team All-Pac-10.

TITANS TIDBITS:

• Casey and his wife Ryann set up the Casey Fund to help people in need, including people who have been incarcerated.
• Casey has a strong partnership with Project Return Tennessee.
• Family members, friends and teammates call him "Tut-Tut," a nickname he earned from his aunt as a small child because she said he walked like a turtle.
• Casey has nine brothers and sisters.
• When he was in high school, his older brother, Jurray, was convicted of first-degree murder. Despite the turmoil it caused, Jurrell credits his brother for helping him re-focus on becoming a better football player and student.
• Casey calls his mother, Collette Burns, a cafeteria worker in the Long Beach Unified School District, "the inspiration in my life" for how hard she worked to provide for Jurrell and his siblings.

CAREER TRANSACTIONS:

• The Long Beach, Calif., native was selected by the Titans in the third round (77th overall) of the 2011 NFL Draft.

• At Tampa Bay (11/15), he was 19-of-29 for 186 yards with no touchdowns and an interception.
• Against Carolina (11/26), entered the game for an injured Romo (clavicle) in the fourth quarter and completed 13 of 19 attempts for 93 yards and a touchdown. His attempts in the game allowed him to reach 2,500 for his career.
• At Washington (12/7), won his first game as the starting quarterback for the Cowboys while completing 16 of 29 passes for 222 yards with no touchdowns and no interceptions. His 16 completions gave him 1,500 for his career.
• At Green Bay (12/13), passed for 114 yards on 13-of-29 attempts with one interception.
• Against N.Y. Jets (12/19), was three-of-eight for 37 yards and an interception.

2014 (3/3 - Minnesota): Appeared in three games, all of which he started for the Vikings. For the season he completed 41 of his 71 passes for 425 yards, three touchdowns, four interceptions and a 65.8 passer rating.
• At St. Louis (9/7), led the Vikings to a season-opening win, completing 17 of 25 passes for 170 yards and two touchdowns.

2013 (9/6 - Minnesota): Appeared in nine games, including all five Vikings wins, starting six. Connected on the team's four longest pass plays of the season (79t, 70t, 57t and 51). Threw seven of the eight touchdowns that Greg Jennings and Cordarrelle Patterson caught during the 2013 season.
• Against Pittsburgh (9/29), started the NFL International Series game in London, the Vikings' first win of the season and the Vikings' first regular season game outside of the United States. Posted 248 yards, two touchdowns and zero interceptions on 16-of-25 passing for a team season-high 123.4 passer rating.
• Against Philadelphia (12/15), started and threw for 382 yards, the most by a Viking in 2013, two touchdowns and one interception in the 48-30 upset victory over the playoff bound Eagles. Named the FedEx Air Player of the Week for his performance against Philadelphia.

2012 (9/8 - Kansas City): Started eight of the nine games he played, completing 161 of 277 passes for 1,796 yards, six touchdowns and 12 interceptions.

• Against Atlanta (9/9), had a five-yard touchdown run in the season opener.
• At Buffalo (9/16), threw for a season-high 301 yards and two touchdowns.
• Against San Diego (9/30), had two touchdown passes.
• Against Tampa Bay (10/14), inactive after suffering head injury the previous week vs. Baltimore (10/7).
• Against Oakland (10/28), notched a season-high 85.1 passer rating coming off the bench.

2011 (9/9 - Kansas City): Started the opening nine games of season, finishing with a 4-5 record. Finished the season on injured reserve (hand). Completed 160 of 269 passes for 1,713 yards, 10 touchdowns and nine interceptions.
• At Indianapolis (10/9), posted career-best 138.9 passer rating and tied career high with four touchdown passes.
• Against San Diego (10/31), led Chiefs to their fourth consecutive win while passing for season-high 261 yards.
• Against Denver (11/13), suffered a hand injury, leading him to be placed on injured reserve on Nov. 21.

2010 (15/15, 1/1 - Kansas City): Named to his first Pro Bowl after setting career highs with 27 touchdown passes, 93.0 passer rating, a plus-20 touchdown-to-interception ratio (27-7), career-low 1.6 interception percent (seven interceptions/450 attempts). Guided Chiefs to 10-5 record as the starter. Helped win the AFC West with 10-6 overall mark and host Baltimore in AFC Wild Card playoff round. Keyed Chiefs turnaround from 4-12 mark in 2009 and last-place finish in AFC West to winning Division in 2010. AFC West title was Chiefs' first since 2003. Won career-best five consecutive starts (Nov. 21 vs. Arizona through Dec. 26 vs. Tennessee). Had streak of 162 passes without an interception during the season, his career-long and the third-longest in Chiefs history. Ended season with six games of 60.0% and seven games with passer rating of 100+.
• At Denver (11/14), threw for a career-best 469 yards, the second-highest total in team history, going 33-for-53 on the day for a pair of career highs. His 53 attempts without an interception set a Chiefs team record. Passed for four touchdowns.
• At Seattle (11/23), passed for four touchdowns and rushed for another en route to being named FedEx Air Player of the Week for his efforts.
• Named AFC Offensive Player of the Month for November, when he went 90-for-144 (62.5%) for 1,111 yards and 12 touchdowns with 1 interception and a 111.2 passer rating.
• At San Diego (12/12), missed lone game of season with appendectomy.

2009 (15/15 - Kansas City): Started 15 games in his first season with Chiefs. Led NFL with 10 touchdown passes in fourth-quarter action. Took over reins of a team that went 2-14 in 2008 and led club to 4-11 mark as the starter. Had six multi-touchdown games.
• At Philadelphia (9/27), posted season-high 124.5 passer rating.
• Against Cleveland (12/20), threw for a season-high 331 yards.

2008 (16/15 - New England): Pressed into starting duty for final 15 games and led the Patriots to a 10-5 mark with club going 11-5 but missing the AFC playoff field. Posted career-highs with 3,693 yards and 63.4 percent completions. Replaced Tom Brady in the lineup during season opener vs. Kansas City (9/7) when he went down with a knee injury. His 63.4 percent completion rate ranked third in New England team history and his yardage mark ranked eighth in club records. Won final four games of the season. Had five games with a passer rating of at least 100.
• At N.Y. Jets (9/14), recorded his first career start and notched a 19-10 win. Passed for 165 yards while completing 16 of 23 passes.
• Against N.Y. Jets (11/13), was 30-of-51 for 400 yards with three touchdowns and no interceptions (103.4 passer rating).

TACKLE • 6'6" • 308 LBS • COLLEGE: MICHIGAN STATE
ACQUIRED: 1ST ROUND - 2016 • NFL EXPERIENCE (NFL/TITANS): ROOKIE
HOMETOWN: PLAINWELL, MICH.
GAMES PLAYED/GAMES STARTED: 14/14 (PLAYOFFS: 0/0)

PRO: With the eighth overall selection in the 2016 NFL Draft, the Titans selected former Michigan State tackle Jack Conklin. The 6-foot-6-inch, 308-pounder played primarily on the left side in college but possesses the versatility and physical prowess to play right tackle at the pro level. He was the first draft pick by a general manager (Jon Robinson) and head coach (Mike Mularkey) who vowed to acquire "tough, physical, smart and accountable" players. After choosing to forgo his senior season, Conklin became the third offensive lineman drafted by the Titans in the first round in a four-year span, joining Chance Warmack (2013) and Taylor Lewan (2014). He became the first Michigan State offensive lineman to be selected in the first round since 1989 (Tony Mandarich, No. 2 overall by Green Bay) and also the highest drafted Spartan since wide receiver Charles Rogers (No. 2) in 2003. Despite his impressive size, Conklin managed to place fourth among all offensive linemen at the 2016 NFL Scouting Combine by running the 40-yard dash in 5.0 seconds.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS:

• In his final season at Michigan State, Conklin was named second-team All-American by The Associated Press and was on numerous All-Big Ten teams.
• At Michigan on Oct. 17, 2015, he returned to action after missing two games with an injury and took part in a miraculous win by the Spartans. They won the contest on the final play, when a mishandled punt attempt by Michigan resulted in a fumble and a touchdown return for Michigan State.

TITANS TIDBITS:

• After not receiving a single Division I scholarship offer, Conklin began his time at Michigan State as a preferred walk-on in 2012. He impressed enough in his redshirt season to earn a scholarship in the spring of 2013.
• At Plainwell (Mich.) High School, Conklin's head coach was his father, Darren Conklin, who once was a walk-on at Michigan under Wolverines head coach Bo Schembechler.
• His mother, Jennifer Jackson, was an All-American swimmer at the University of Michigan.
• Conklin's grandfather, Ron Jackson, was a professional baseball player. He played first base for the Chicago White Sox and Boston Red Sox.
• He is involved with a pediatric cancer organization called DC Strong, founded by his childhood friend Dustin Colyer, who overcame Wilms' tumor kidney cancer.
• He traveled to Australia in 2015 to participate in Michigan State's study abroad International Summer Sports Program.
• He hopes to one day own his own farm.

CAREER TRANSACTIONS:

• The Plainwell, Mich., native was selected by the Titans in the first round (eighth overall) of the 2016 NFL Draft.

• Against Denver (12/11), started at right tackle and was a part of an offensive line that opened holes for Titans' rushers to amass 180 rushing yards on 42 carries in a 13-10 victory over the Broncos.
• At Kansas City (12/18), started at right tackle and helped pave the way for Titans' ball carriers to gain 148 yards on the ground. Member of an offensive front that allowed just one sack for zero yards on 33 pass attempts.

COLLEGE:

AS A JUNIOR (2015), started 12 games at left tackle. Named All-American by numerous outlets, including Sporting News (first team), USA Today (first team), Associated Press (second team), CBS Sports (second team), Football Writers Association of America (second team), Walter Camp Football Foundation (second team), Phil Steele (third team) and SI.com (honorable mention). Became the first Spartan offensive tackle to be named a first-team All-American since Flozell Adams in 1997. Named first-team All-Big Ten by the coaches and media, as well as Associated Press, Athlon Sports, BTN.com, ESPN.com and Phil Steele. Missed two contests (Purdue and Rutgers) with a leg injury. Had 65.5 knockdowns during the regular season and graded out as a winner in eight of his 10 regular-season games.
• Against Oregon (9/12), led team with 9.5 knockdowns and posted a winning grade in the win over No. 7 Ducks.
• Against Purdue (10/3), saw his streak of 27 consecutive starts at left tackle end due to a leg injury.
• At Michigan (10/17), returned to action after missing two games and was named the Spartan Offensive Lineman of the Week after recording 7.5 knockdowns. The Spartans won the game on the final play, a mishandled punt attempt by Michigan and subsequent fumble return for a touchdown by Michigan State.
• At Ohio State (11/21), helped the Spartans rush for 203 yards and end the Buckeyes' 23-game winning streak.
• Against Penn State (11/28), had 8.5 knockdowns as the Nittany Lions were held without a sack for the first time all season.
• Against Iowa (12/5), helped anchor a Spartan offensive line that rushed for 174 yards on the nation's No. 4 team and college football's sixth-ranked rushing defense in the Big Ten Championship Game.

AS A SOPHOMORE (2014), started 13 games at left tackle and was named a second-team All-Big Ten selection by coaches and media. WIDE RECEIVER • 6'0" • 183 LBS • COLLEGE: LOUISVILLE
ACQUIRED: FREE AGENT - 2015 • NFL EXPERIENCE (NFL/TITANS): 9/2
HOMETOWN: JONESBORO, GA.
GAMES PLAYED/GAMES STARTED: 114/38 (PLAYOFFS: 5/2)

PRO: The Titans signed Harry Douglas during the 2015 offseason to bolster the wide receiving corps and provide depth both outside and in the slot. The 6-foot, 183-pounder spent the first seven seasons of his career as a member of the Atlanta Falcons after being drafted in the third round of the 2008 NFL Draft. The University of Louisville product amassed 258 receptions for 3,130 yards with eight touchdowns from 2008-2014 in Atlanta. Douglas enjoyed his greatest statistical success in 2013 while starting in place of an injured Julio Jones, when he posted career highs with 85 receptions for 1,067 yards and two touchdowns.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS:

• In 2014, Douglas appeared in 12 games with six starts and posted 51 catches for 556 yards and two touchdowns.
• In 2013, Douglas enjoyed a stellar campaign registering career-highs with 85 receptions and 1,067 receiving yards, while starting a career-best 11 games.

TITANS TIDBITS:

• Douglas' brother, Toney, is a seven-year NBA veteran. Toney was originally drafted by the L.A. Lakers as the 29th overall pick in the 2009 NBA Draft and has played for New York, Houston, Miami, Golden State, Sacramento and New Orleans. Harry tries to attend as many of Toney's games as possible.
• In his spare time, he enjoys date nights with his wife, Kierra; bowling; traveling; discovering new restaurants; watching movies; playing cards; and keeping his niece, nephew and godchildren.

CAREER TRANSACTIONS:

• The Jonesboro, Ga., native was originally selected by the Atlanta Falcons in the third round (84th overall) of the 2008 NFL Draft.
• Re-signed by the Falcons as an unrestricted free agent on March 13, 2012.
• Released by the Falcons on Feb. 27, 2015.
• Signed by the Titans as a free agent on March 12, 2015.

80 ANTHONY FASANO

TIGHT END • 6'4" • 255 LBS • COLLEGE: NOTRE DAME
ACQUIRED: FREE AGENT - 2015 • NFL EXPERIENCE (NFL/TITANS): 11/2
HOMETOWN: VERONA, N.J.
GAMES PLAYED/GAMES STARTED: 162/129 (PLAYOFFS: 4/3)

PRO: The Titans signed Anthony Fasano as a free agent during the 2015 offseason to provide depth and experience to the tight end corps. In his first year with the club, he delivered 26 receptions for 289 yards and two touchdowns while appearing in all 16 games. The 6-foot-4-inch, 255-pounder is in his 11th NFL season and is considered one of the league's better blocking tight ends. The Notre Dame product has a knack for finding the end zone having registered 33 touchdown receptions during his career.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS:

• Entering the 2016 season, Fasano has played in 148 games with 120 starts, posting 279 receptions for 3,088 yards with 33 touchdowns.
• Fasano plays an integral role in run blocking as well, helping block for four separate 1,000-yard rushers in his career - Julius Jones (Dallas, 2006), Ricky Williams (Miami, 2009), Reggie Bush (Miami, 2011) and Jamaal Charles (Kansas City, 2013-14).
• After a five-year career with the Dolphins, Fasano ranked third among tight ends in team history in receptions (177), receiving yards (2,104), and tied for second in touchdown receptions (23).
• In 2012, started all 16 games and registered a career-high 41 receptions for 332 yards with five touchdowns.
• In 2008, notched 34 catches for 454 yards with a career-high and team-high seven touchdown receptions.

TITANS TIDBITS:

• Fasano is the founder of Next Chapter Addiction Treatment, which exists to "provide state of the art clinical and 12-step immersion services for patients so they rediscover themselves, learn to build healthy relationships, embrace recovery and live a life free from addiction." Fasano's family was impacted by addiction, and watching the recovery process inspired Fasano to launch the venture. The facility in Delray Beach, Fla., which opened in December 2015, currently can treat up to 35 total inpatients and outpatients at a time. More information is available at nextchapteraddiction.com.
• He established the Anthony Fasano Foundation in 2008 to serve underprivileged youth and military families in New Jersey.
• Fasano speaks Italian and Spanish fluently.

CAREER TRANSACTIONS:

• The Verona, N.J., native was originally selected by the Dallas Cowboys in the second round (53rd overall) of the 2006 NFL Draft.
• Traded by the Cowboys to the Miami Dolphins along with linebacker Akin Ayodele in exchange for a 2008 fourth-round draft choice (100th overall) on April 26, 2008.
• Signed by the Kansas City Chiefs as an unrestricted free agent on March 13, 2013.
• Released by the Chiefs on Feb. 26, 2015.
• Signed by the Titans as a free agent on March 24, 2015.

45 JALSTON FOWLER

FULLBACK • 5'11" • 254 LBS • COLLEGE: ALABAMA
ACQUIRED: 4TH ROUND - 2015 • NFL EXPERIENCE (NFL/TITANS): 2/2
HOMETOWN: MOBILE, ALA.
GAMES PLAYED/GAMES STARTED: 30/6 (PLAYOFFS: 0/0)

PRO: The Titans selected Jalston Fowler in the fourth round of the 2015 NFL Draft, and as a rookie, the fullback played in all 16 games as the team's fullback. The 5-foot-11-inch, 254-pounder possesses a big, athletic frame and low center of gravity as a runner, and is a threat out of the backfield as a receiver. He adds an element of versatility to the Titans squad having served as a fullback, running back, H-back, tight end and on special teams during his time with the Alabama Crimson Tide.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS:

• As a rookie in 2015, he played in all 16 games and scored a rushing touchdown and a receiving touchdown. Eight of his 12 touches resulted in first downs.
• Fowler won two national championships (2011, 2012) as a member of the Alabama football team.
• In 2014, Fowler's final year at Alabama, he helped open holes for a pair of Crimson Tide running backs to each amass more than 900 rushing yards. Derrick Henry collected 990 yards on 172 carries with 11 touchdowns and T.J. Yeldon posted 979 yards on 194 rushes with 11 scores.

TITANS TIDBITS:

• Fowler lists his mother, Dana, as the person that inspires him the most. When his brother, Joe, was accidentally shot and killed at a friend's house in 2007, she stayed strong and kept the family together.
• Fowler's nickname is "Nudie." His father gave it to him as a baby becuase he was always running around the house naked. Fowler has nicknamed his son, Jalston Jr., "Toodie."

CAREER TRANSACTIONS:

• The Mobile, Ala., native was selected by the Titans in the fourth round (108th overall) the 2015 NFL Draft.

SEASON RECAPS:

2016 (14/6): Registered his first career NFL start at fullback against Minnesota (9/11/16). Has tied for the team lead in special teams tackles three times in 2016 (vs. CLE, at SD, at IND).
• Against Minnesota (9/11), made his first career start at fullback and saw action on special teams.
• At Detroit (9/18), started at fullback.
• Against Oakland (9/25), started at fullback and snared one reception for 14 yards during the Titans' touchdown drive.
• At Houston (10/2), played as a reserve at fullback.
• At Miami (10/9), saw action as a reserve at fullback and helped open holes for Titans' rushers to gain 235 yards on the ground.
• Against Cleveland (10/16), played as a reserve at fullback and on special teams. Tied for the team lead with one stop on coverage units.
• Against Indianapolis (10/23), saw action as a reserve at fullback and on special teams.
• Against Jacksonville (10/27), played as a reserve at fullback and helped open holes for Titans' ball carriers to accumulate 214 yards on the ground.
• At San Diego (11/6), saw limited action as a reserve at fullback. Tied for the team lead with a special teams tackle on coverage units.
• Against Green Bay (11/13), started at fullback and helped block for Titans' ball carriers who collected 162 yards on the ground.
• At Indianapolis (11/20), played as a reserve at fullback. Tied for the team lead with a special teams tackle on coverage units.
• At Chicago (11/27), played as a reserve at fullback and helped block for Titans' ball carriers to gain 149 yards on the ground.
• Against Denver (12/11), started at fullback and helped block for Titans' rushers to amass 180 rushing yards on 42 carries in a 13-10 victory over the Broncos.
• At Kansas City (12/18), started at fullback and helped pave the way for Titans' ball carriers to gain 148 yards on the ground. Registered his first carry of the season for three yards.

2015 (16/0): Appeared in all 16 games at fullback as a rookie. Carried the ball seven times for 13 yards with a touchdown. Caught five passes for 44 yards with a touchdown. Eight of his 12 touches resulted in first downs. Registered five special teams tackles and a forced fumble on coverage units. Played in his first career NFL game at Tampa Bay (9/13/15). Tied for the team lead in special teams tackles twice in 2015 (at CLE, vs. BUF).
• At Tampa Bay (9/13), saw action as a reserve at fullback and on special teams in his Titans debut. Helped open holes for Titans rushers to gain 124 yards on the ground. Notched a special teams tackle on coverage units. Extended a scoring drive by recovering a Bishop Sankey fumble in the third quarter.
• At Cleveland (9/20), carried the ball once for three yards with a first down while hauling in a 19-yard reception. Collected a special teams tackle on coverage units. Set up the Titans' first touchdown with a 19-yard reception on a screen pass in the third stanza.
• Against Indianapolis (9/27), carried the ball four times for nine yards with his first career touchdown. Kept the Titans' scoring drive alive with a three-yard plunge on fourth-and-one in the third quarter. Got the Titans to within two points with a one-yard touchdown plunge with 47 seconds left to play in the fourth quarter.
• Against Buffalo (10/11), collected a special teams tackle and forced fumble on coverage units. Stripped Denarius Moore on a punt return, and the fumble was recovered by Steve Johnson at the Bills' 39-yard line in the third quarter.
• Against Oakland (11/29), gave the Titans a 21-17 lead with a one-yard touchdown catch with less than five minutes to play in the fourth quarter.

COLLEGE:

• Played in 53 career games at Alabama serving as a fullback, running back, H-back, tight end and on special teams. Carried the ball 113 times for 755 yards and five touchdowns. Also caught 19 career passes with seven receiving touchdowns. Was a member of two national championship teams.
• As a senior (2014), selected to the Senior Bowl and played in all 14 games with five starts. Notched 11 receptions for 129 yards and two touchdowns and had 12 rushes on the season for 69 yards. Had six first-down rushes and six first-down receptions, gaining a first down on 12 of his 23 touches. Was named Offensive Player of the Week three times (against Arkansas, Mississippi State and Auburn).
• As a junior (2013), played in all 13 games, after losing most of his sophomore season to an injured knee. Registered seven receptions for 15 yards with five going for touchdowns. His five receiving touchdowns were the second-highest total on the team. Rushed for 88 yards on 20 carries.
• As a redshirt junior (2012), played in two games and filled a myriad of roles in the Alabama offense before suffering a knee injury in the second half of the Western Kentucky game that ended his season. Had 85 rushing yards on 11 carries for a 7.7 yards per carry average. Also had one reception for six yards.
• As a sophomore (2011), played in 13 games as a reserve and gave Alabama a reliable option off the bench at running back. Backed up Trent Richardson and Eddie Lacy and finished with 385 yards on 56 carries, with four touchdowns. Averaged 6.9 yards per carry and converted 16 first downs rushing the football.

• As a freshman (2010), played in 11 games, earning time on special teams and at running back. Totaled two tackles and rushed the ball 14 times for 111 yards with a 36-yard touchdown.
• Graduated with a degree in human environmental science from Alabama in 2013. Received his master's degree in sport managament from Alabama in 2015.

PERSONAL:
• Splits time between Nashville and Mobile, Ala., with his two sons, Jalston Jr. and Jayce.
• Was a four-star running back out of Vigor High School. Was listed as the No. 2 fullback nationally by Scout.com and SuperPrep All-American. Was rated as the No. 9 player in Alabama by SuperPrep, the No. 10 prospect on The Mobile Press-Register's Elite 18 and the No. 3 player in the Birmingham News Super Senior postseason rankings.

22 DERRICK HENRY

RUNNING BACK • 6'3" • 247 LBS • COLLEGE: ALABAMA
ACQUIRED: 2ND ROUND - 2016 • NFL EXPERIENCE (NFL/TITANS): ROOKIE
HOMETOWN: YULEE, FLA.
GAMES PLAYED/GAMES STARTED: 13/2 (PLAYOFFS: 0/0)

PRO: The Titans selected Heisman Trophy winner Derrick Henry in the second round of the 2016 NFL Draft out of the University of Alabama. The 6-foot-3-inch, 247-pounder is a powerful, downhill runner who displays tremendous speed and balance. He has the uncanny ability to find the end zone having scored 45 combined touchdowns in three seasons with the Crimson Tide. At Alabama, he set numerous school and SEC records while leading his team to a National Championship in 2015.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS:

• Despite playing just three seasons and not seeing extensive action in his first campaign at Alabama, Henry finished his career as the school's all-time rushing leader with 3,591 yards.
• As a senior in 2015, Henry claimed the Heisman Trophy and led his team to the College Football Playoff National Championship. He also won the Doak Walker and Maxwell Award and was selected as the Walter Camp Player of the Year after rushing for an Alabama and Southeastern Conference record 2,219 yards.
• Henry's career high in rushing at Alabama was 271 yards at Auburn on Nov. 28, 2015.

TITANS TIDBITS:

• In high school, Henry broke the 51-year-old national high school rushing record with 12,124 yards after compiling 4,261 rushing yards as a senior.
• Henry sealed an Iron Bowl victory with an epic, career-best 271 rushing yards against the Tigers. He put the Crimson Tide on his back by carrying the ball a school-record 46 times. His 271 rushing yards were 11 more yards than Auburn had in total offense (260). He ended the game with 14 consecutive rushes to run out the clock.
• Henry says his grandmother Gladys Henry has served as a key inspirational piece during his career. He has a portrait tattoo of her on his chest.
• Henry has been growing out his hair since he was in elementary school.

CAREER TRANSACTIONS:

• The Yulee, Fla., native was selected by the Titans in the second round (45th overall) the 2016 NFL Draft.

SEASON RECAPS:

2016 (13/2): Ranks second on the team with 412 rushing yards. Appeared in his first career NFL game and started at running back against Minnesota (9/11/16). Posted his first career touchdown against Jacksonville (10/27/16). Has led the team in rushing yards once in 2016 (at CHI). Has tied for the team lead in receptions once in 2016 (vs. JAX).
• Against Minnesota (9/11), made his NFL debut and started in a two-running back set. Carried the ball five times for three yards and caught two passes for 41 yards. Set up the Titans' opening field goal by hauling in his first career reception and reversing field for a 29-yard gain in the first quarter.
• At Detroit (9/18), played as a reserve at running back and rushed nine times for 40 yards. Caught one pass for nine yards. Extended the Titans' first scoring drive with a five-yard jaunt on third-and-one late in the opening stanza.
• Against Oakland (9/25), saw action as a reserve at running back and rushed 10 times for 45 yards.
• At Houston (10/2), played limited snaps as a reserve at running back and carried the ball three times for nine yards.
• At Miami (10/9), started at running back as the team opened the game in a two-running back set. Rushed seven times for 54 yards with a long rush of 22 yards. Set up the Titans' second touchdown with a 22-yard dash up the middle in the second quarter.
• Against Cleveland (10/16), played as a reserve at running back and rushed twice for seven yards. Grabbed two receptions for 20 yards.
• Against Indianapolis (10/23), saw limited action as a reserve at running back and carried the ball once for three yards.
• Against Jacksonville (10/27), played significant snaps as a reserve at running back and rushed 16 times for 60 yards with his first career touchdown. Tied for the team lead with four receptions for 37 yards. Increased the Titans lead to 17-0 with his first career rushing touchdown on a six-yard run off right end in the second quarter. Kept the Titans' final scoring drive alive with a two-yard rumble on third-and-one on the first play of the fourth quarter.
• At San Diego (11/6), did not play after being injured in pregame warmups.
• Against Green Bay (11/13), saw action as a reserve at running back and carried the ball nine times for 31 yards.
• At Indianapolis (11/20), saw limited snaps as a reserve at running back.
• At Chicago (11/27), played as a reserve at running back and led the team with 60 rushing yards on eight carries with a touchdown. Evened the score at 7-7 with an 11-yard touchdown run off left tackle with four seconds left to play in the first quarter.
• Against Denver (12/11), saw action as a reserve at running back and carried the ball 12 times for 42 yards. Hauled in one reception for five yards.
• At Kansas City (12/18), played as a reserve at running back and carried the ball nine times for 58 yards with two touchdowns. Carried the ball five times for 41 yards during the Titans' initial touchdown drive that was punctuated by his four-yard touchdown run with 11:58 left to play in the second quarter. Cut the Chiefs' lead to 17-16 with his second touchdown of the afternoon, a one-yard jaunt, with 3:12 left to play in the fourth quarter.

COLLEGE:

• In three seasons at Alabama (2013-15), Henry played in 39 games and totaled 602 carries for a school-record 3,591 yards and 42 rushing touchdowns and added 285 yards on 17 career receptions with three receiving scores. Henry won numerous awards including the Heisman Trophy, the Doak Walker Award, Walter Camp Award, and Maxwell Award. During Alabama's victory over Clemson in the 2016 College Football Playoff National Championship, he broke Shaun Alexander's record for most career rushing yards in Alabama history.

AS A JUNIOR (2015), claimed the Crimson Tide's second Heisman Trophy and led his team to the College Football Playoff National Championship. Also won the Doak Walker and Maxwell Award and was selected as the Walter Camp Player of the Year. Named a unanimous first team All-American and first team All-SEC by the league's coaches and the Associated Press. Selected as the SEC Offensive Player of the Year by both outlets. Rushed for a school- and Southeastern Conference record 2,219 yards, which led the nation and was the fifth most in a single-season by an FBS player in college football history. Averaged 147.9 yards per game, which was second in the country. His 28 rushing touchdowns were a national best and an SEC record, snapping Tim Tebow and Tre Mason's old mark of 23. Led the SEC in rushing in conference games with a 179.2 yards per game average, including 13 touchdowns. Had multiple rushing touchdowns in nine games and set the Alabama single-season record with 10 100-yard rushing games and four 200-yard games, which broke Bobby Humphrey's school record (3) set in 1986. Only the third running back in SEC history (Herschel Walker and Bo Jackson) to have four 200-yard games in a single season. Set the school record with 11 consecutive games with a rushing touchdown and finished his career 20 straight, which was the most in the SEC history. Caught 11 passes for 91 yards. Accounted for a team-high 109 first down rushes on a school-record 395 carries. Was a five-time SEC Offensive Player of the Week (Wisconsin, Georgia, Texas A&M, Mississippi State and Auburn).

• Against Wisconsin (9/5), rushed for a then-career-high 147 yards and three touchdowns on just 13 carries in the season opener. The scoring plays came on runs of 37, 56 and two yards.

• At Texas A&M (10/17), had a new career high for rushing yards by the end of the first quarter on his way to 236 yards on 32 carries. Added two touchdowns and caught one pass for 18 yards.

• Against Louisiana State (11/7), gashed the Tigers' defense for 210 yards on the ground on a then career-best 38 carries and three rushing touchdowns. Carried 10 times (13-play drive) on the Tide's final drive to run out the final 9:18 on the clock, accounting for 78 yards.

• At Mississippi State (11/14), cracked the 200-yard barrier for the second straight week and the third time this season with 204 yards on 22 carries and two touchdowns. Averaged 9.3 yards per carry and caught one pass. Had three explosive plays, including touchdown runs of 74 and 65 yards.

• At Auburn (11/28), produced another Heisman-worthy performance as he rushed his way past the Tigers on the Plains to the tune of 271 yards on the ground on a school-record 46 carries. Scored a touchdown on his 46th and final carry on a 25-yard jaunt that capped 14 straight rushes to end the game. Earned Walter Camp National Player of the Week honors and SEC Player of the Week accolades.

• Against Florida (12/5), named MVP of the SEC Championship Game as the Crimson Tide won its 25th SEC Championship. Rushed for 189 yards and one touchdown in a 29-15 win over the Gators. Had 10 first down rushes and three explosive plays of 12 yards or more. The game marked his school-record ninth 100-yard rushing game of the season.

• Against Clemson (1/11), rushed for 158 yards and three touchdowns as the Crimson Tide claimed a 45-40 victory to win the national championship. Carried 36 times, including a 50-yard touchdown scamper in the first quarter and then sealed the win with a one-yard plunge with 1:07 remaining in the game.

AS A SOPHOMORE (2014), finished the year with 990 rushing yards on 172 carries with 11 rushing touchdowns. Had five receptions for 133 yards and two receiving touchdowns. Played in all 14 games with two starts and had 21 explosive rushes of 12 yards or more while converting 47 first downs, including four on third down. Three of his five receptions were explosive, taking screen passes 29, 41 and 52 yards.

• Against West Virginia (8/30), recorded his second straight 100-yard rushing performance and third of his career with 113 yards on 17 carries against the Mountaineers.

• Against Florida (9/20), notched his second 100-yard rushing effort of the season going for 111 yards on 20 carries against the Gators. Added one rushing touchdown and caught one screen pass and turned it into a 29-yard gain.

• Against Texas A&M (10/18), rushed 10 times for 70 yards and scored one touchdown on the ground and one in the air. Turned his only reception into a 43-yard touchdown and finished with 111 all-purpose yards.

• Against Western Carolina (11/22), made his first career start and gained 92 yards rushing and scored three touchdowns with two rushing and one receiving on a nine-yard catch.

• Against Missouri (12/6), ran for a then career-high 141 yards while matching his then career-high with 20 carries and scoring twice.

• Against Ohio State (1/1), rushed 13 times for 95 yards and one touchdown. Added two receptions for 54 yards, including a 52-yarder. Accounted for 149 all-purpose yards on 15 touches.

AS A FRESHMAN (2013), as a true freshman saw action in 12 games and totaled 382 rushing yards on 35 carries for a 10.9 yards per carry average. Rushed 10 times (28.6 percent) for 12 yards or more while converting 17 first downs. Took his one pass reception to the end zone for a 61-yard catch and run in the Sugar Bowl. Contributed three tackles on special teams. Registered two 100-yard game (111 vs. Arkansas and 100 vs. Oklahoma).

• Against Arkansas (10/19), registered his first 100-yard rushing game, going for 111 yards on six carries against the Razorbacks. Broke loose for a season-long, 80-yard touchdown run. Converted two first downs and also forced a fumble of the opening kickoff of the second half, as the Tide recovered and turned the possession into a touchdown.

• Against Chattanooga (11/23), averaged 11 yards per carry, going for 66 yards on six totes. Scored one touchdown on a five-yard run in the second quarter.

• Against Oklahoma (1/2), rushed for a game-high 100 yards on eight carries in the Sugar Bowl. Rushed for one touchdown on a 43-yard burst and turned the first reception of his career into a 61-yard touchdown. Totaled 161 all-purpose yards against the Sooners and also made a tackle on special teams.

DEFENSIVE LINEMAN • 6'4" • 314 LBS • COLLEGE: PENN STATE
ACQUIRED: 2ND ROUND - 2016 • NFL EXPERIENCE (NFL/TITANS): ROOKIE
HOMETOWN: GALLOWAY, N.J.
GAMES PLAYED/GAMES STARTED: 8/0 (PLAYOFFS: 0/0)

PRO: The Titans selected Austin Johnson in the second round of the 2016 NFL Draft. The 6-foot-4-inch, 314-pound defensive lineman has the bulk and power to secure the middle of the defense as a nose tackle but also the versatility and movement skills to play other positions along the front. At Penn State, he appeared in 38 games with 28 starts over three seasons, including starts in every game during his final two campaigns. He gained the reputation there as a tenacious and relentless fighter in the trenches.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS:

• Johnson's 78 tackles as a junior in 2015 ranked second among defensive linemen in FBS and were the most by a Penn State defensive lineman since Jimmy Kennedy (87) in 2002.
• Against San Diego State on Sept. 26, 2015, he returned a fumble 71 yards for his first career touchdown (high school or college).
• Against Michigan on Oct. 12, 2013, he helped the Nittany Lions win in four overtimes against the Wolverines.

TITANS TIDBITS:

• When Johnson was drafted by the Titans, he became a teammate once again of DaQuan Jones, a former Penn State defensive lineman who was drafted by the Titans in 2014. The two remained close, and Jones was among Johnson's family and friends surrounding him on draft night.
• Johnson was a broadcast journalism major at Penn State.
• The son of Austin and Tammy Johnson, he has two older sisters, Brandi and Erika, and one younger sister, Kennedy. Kennedy is a forward on the Michigan State women's basketball team.

CAREER TRANSACTIONS:

• The Galloway, N.J., native was selected by the Titans in the second round (43rd overall) of the 2016 NFL Draft.

SEASON RECAPS:

2016 (8/0): Appeared in his first career NFL game against Minnesota (9/11/16). Has tied for the team lead in passes defensed once in 2016 (at MIA).
• Against Minnesota (9/11), made his NFL debut as a reserve on the defensive front and collected a solo tackle.
• At Detroit (9/18), was inactive.
• Against Oakland (9/25), was inactive.
• At Houston (10/2), was inactive.
• At Miami (10/9), saw limited action as a reserve on the defensive front and registered a tackle for loss and a pass defensed. 25 RASHAD JOHNSON

SAFETY • 5'11" • 204 LBS • COLLEGE: ALABAMA
ACQUIRED: UNRESTRICTED FREE AGENT - 2016 (ARI)
NFL EXPERIENCE (NFL/TITANS): 8/1 • HOMETOWN: SULLIGENT, ALA.
GAMES PLAYED/GAMES STARTED: 112/58 (PLAYOFFS: 3/3)

PRO: Safety Rashad Johnson joined the Titans as a free agent during the 2016 offseason. The 5-foot-11-inch, 204-pounder brings a wealth of experience and playmaking ability to the Titans secondary. Throughout his career, the 2009 third-round pick has shown an uncanny knack for being around the football and making big plays on defense. Johnson's 12 interceptions from 2013 through 2015 rank seventh in the NFL during that timespan, including three picks that he returned for touchdowns. The Alabama native comes to Tennessee after spending the first seven seasons of his career as a member of the Arizona Cardinals.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS:

• Johnson collected 12 interceptions from 2013-15. He was one of just seven players in the NFL with at least 12 interceptions over that timespan.
• Johnson has returned three interceptions for touchdowns during his career - 88-yard return against Atlanta (11/30/14), 28-yard return against Washington (10/12/14) and 53-yard return against Detroit (12/16).
• In 2015, Johnson started 14 games and tied for the team lead with a career-best five interceptions.
• In 2014, Johnson had one of his better seasons, starting all 16 games and recording a career-high 92 tackles, a team-high four interceptions (two returned for touchdowns) and six passes defensed.

TITANS TIDBITS:

• Johnson established The Walk-on to Champions Foundation to provide courage, strength, and support to encourage youth to chase their dreams. His goal is to show children that the road to being a champion can start anywhere. He is dedicated to the mission that success will occur for youth that have positive role models, a commitment to their dreams and perseverance to make it happen.
• During the 2016 offseason, Johnson held the sixth annual Walk-on to Champions weekend at Sulligent High School in support of his Walk-on to Champions Foundation. During the weekend, Rashad hosted a high intensity high school skills camp, his annual Celebrity Basketball game featuring his NFL colleagues and former Alabama players and his annual Youth Football Skills camp for kids in first through eighth grade.
• Johnson attended the 2016 NFL Broadcast Bootcamp during the offseason and would like to get into sports media following his playing career.
• After redshirting in his first season at Alabama, Johnson made the switch to defense in 2005 and went on to become just the eighth player in Alabama's storied history to serve as team captain twice (as a junior and senior).

CAREER TRANSACTIONS:

• The Sulligent, Ala., native was originally selected by the Arizona Cardinals in the third round (95th overall) of the 2009 NFL Draft.
• Signed by the Titans as an unrestricted free agent on March 30, 2016.

60 BEN JONES

ACQUIRED: UNRESTRICTED FREE AGENT (HOU) - 2013
NFL EXPERIENCE (NFL/TITANS): 5/1 • HOMETOWN: BRENT, ALA.
GAMES PLAYED/GAMES STARTED: 78/57 (PLAYOFFS: 3/3)

PRO: The Titans signed Ben Jones early in the 2016 free agency period to bring veteran leadership and experience to the center position. The 6-foot-3-inch, 308-pounder was originally selected by the Houston Texans in the fourth round (99th overall) of the 2012 NFL Draft. The University of Georgia product is a versatile player, having started contests at center and both guard spots in his first four seasons with the Texans.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS:

• Jones has started games at center, left guard and right guard during his NFL career and has opened holes for two 1,000-yard rushers.
• In 2015, Jones transitioned to his natural position of center and started all 16 games and the playoff contest for the Texans.
• In 2014, Jones started all 16 contests at left guard.
• As a rookie in 2012, Jones started the final 10 games of the season at right guard and was named the Texans Rookie of the Year.

TITANS TIDBITS:

• Jones switched from jersey #61 to #60 prior to his senior season at Georgia, to honor his father, Steve, a former collegiate star, who was killed in a helicopter crash when he was 10 years old.
• Jones' pregame ritual consists of walking barefoot on the field "to get a feel for the turf." The routine began before one game with his brother in high school and after enjoying success that night, it has continued ever since.

CAREER TRANSACTIONS:

• A native of Brent, Ala., Jones was originally selected by the Houston Texans in the fourth round (99th overall) of the 2012 NFL Draft.

SEASON RECAPS:

2016 (14/14 - Tennessee):
• Against Minnesota (9/11), made his Titans debut as the starting center.
• At Detroit (9/18), started at center and blocked for an offense that amassed 363 total yards in a 16-15 comeback win.
• Against Oakland (9/25), started at center and was a part of an offensive line that helped produce 393 total yards and allow just one sack on 33 pass attempts.
• At Houston (10/2), started at center.
• At Miami (10/9), started at center and was a member of an offensive front that opened holes for Titans' rushers to gain 235 yards on the ground and did not allow a sack on 29 pass atttempts.
• Against Cleveland (10/16), started at center and blocked for an offense that compiled a season-high 407 total yards, including 137 rushing yards.
• Against Indianapolis (10/23), started at center.
• Against Jacksonville (10/27), started at center and opened holes for Titans' ball carriers to accumulate 214 yards on the ground. Was a part of an offensive front that did not allow a sack in 23 pass attempts.
• At San Diego (11/6), started at center and was a part of an offensive line that did not allow a sack on 43 pass attempts.
• Against Green Bay (11/13), started at center and blocked for an offense that amassed 446 total yards and six touchdowns in a 47-25 victory against the Packers.
• At Indianapolis (11/20), started at center.
• At Chicago (11/27), started at center and was a member of an offensive front that did not allow a sack on 23 pass attempts. Blocked for Titans' ball carriers to gain 149 yards on the ground.
• Against Denver (12/11), started at center and was a part of an offensive line that opened holes for Titans' rushers to amass 180 rushing yards on 42 carries in a 13-10 victory over the Broncos.
• At Kansas City (12/18), started at center and helped pave the way for Titans' ball carriers to gain 148 yards on the ground. Member of an offensive front that allowed just one sack for zero yards on 33 pass attempts.

2015 (16/16, 1/1 - Houston): Started all 16 games at center and in Wild Card Game against Kansas City (1/9). Extended his streak of consecutive regular season games played to 64, which is the second-longest active streak among NFL centers.

2014 (16/16 - Houston): Started all 16 games at left guard in his third season with the Texans.

2013 (16/1 - Houston): Played in all 16 games with one start for the Texans.
• At San Francisco (10/6), started at right guard and blocked for a ground game that produced 131 yards.

2012 (16/10, 2/2 - Houston): Appeared in all 16 games with 10 starts as a rookie. Was originally drafted as a center, but worked his way into a starting role at right guard. Was a part of seven 100-yard rushing performances by Arian Foster for the NFL's seventh-ranked offense.
• Against Miami (9/9), made his Texans and NFL debut on special teams in the season opener.
• At Jacksonville (9/17), saw action at right guard and was part of an offensive line that cleared the way for Texans running backs to rush for 216 yards and three touchdowns while not allowing Matt Schaub to be sacked.
• At Denver (9/23), helped provide protection for Matt Schaub, enabling him to tie a career-high with four touchdown passes.
• At N.Y. Jets (10/8), helped Arian Foster rush for a season-high 157 yards and a touchdown.

COLLEGE:

90 DaQUAN JONES

DEFENSIVE LINEMAN • 6'4" • 322 LBS • COLLEGE: PENN STATE
ACQUIRED: 4TH ROUND - 2014 • NFL EXPERIENCE (NFL/TITANS): 3/3
HOMETOWN: JOHNSON CITY, N.Y.
GAMES PLAYED/GAMES STARTED: 37/31 (PLAYOFFS: 0/0)

PRO: Seeking a big, physical and versatile defensive lineman, the Titans selected Penn State's DaQuan Jones in the fourth round of the 2014 NFL Draft. The 6-foot-4-inch, 322-pounder played as a reserve as a rookie but earned a full-time starting role as a 3-4 defensive end in his second season. Jones offers an impressive combination of size, athleticism, intelligence and power. He was also a leader at State College, as one of the senior players to stay with the program during a time of turmoil.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS:

• In 2015, Jones was one of four members of the team to start all 16 games, holding down a spot at defensive end for the duration of the campaign. He totaled 67 tackles, 15 quarterback pressures, two tackles for loss and a fumble recovery.
• As a rookie in 2014, Jones played in seven games with one start. He posted his first career sack against Indianapolis on Dec. 28.
• As a senior at Penn State, Jones was named first-team All-Big Ten Conference after finishing fifth on the team with a career-high 56 tackles and a career-best three sacks.
• Jones was named Penn State's Outstanding Senior Player and the recipient of the team's Reid-Robinson Award.

TITANS TIDBITS:

• Jones majored in criminal justice at Penn State and spent a portion of his 2013 summer as an intern observing the Spring Township Police Department near State College.
• Jones entered the Penn State program after being rated the second-best offensive lineman in the nation during his playing days at Johnson City High School. He switched to the other side of the ball and made an immediate impact as a true freshman.
• Jones lists his father, Steve, as the most inspirational person in his life. Steve raised DaQuan as a single father and one of his father's greatest traits is that he works extremely hard in everything he does. Steve works as an executive chef at Cornell University.
• Jones is in the process of launching his own non-profit organization called "Create Your Legacy."

CAREER TRANSACTIONS:

• The Johnson City, N.Y., native was selected by the Titans in the fourth round (112th overall) of the 2014 NFL Draft.

71 DENNIS KELLY

GUARD/TACKLE • 6'8" • 321 LBS • COLLEGE: PURDUE
ACQUIRED: TRADE (PHI) - 2016 • NFL EXPERIENCE (NFL/TITANS): 5/1
HOMETOWN: CHICAGO HEIGHTS, ILL.
GAMES PLAYED/GAMES STARTED: 44/20 (PLAYOFFS: 0/0)

PRO: The Titans acquired Dennis Kelly in a trade with the Philadelphia Eagles during the 2016 training camp. The 6-foot-8-inch, 321-pounder provides quality depth along the offensive front, having logged starts at right tackle, right guard and left guard during his NFL career. The 2012 fifth-round pick spent his first four NFL campaigns as a member of the Philadelphia Eagles and appeared in 30 games with 15 starts from 2012-15.

TITANS TIDBITS:

• Kelly's brother, Tim, played football at Eastern Illinois and is currently an offensive quality control coach for the Houston Texans.
• Kelly's favorite football player growing up was former Titans great Jevon Kearse.
• Kelly claims that the biggest influence on his life and career has been his entire family. "We're a Southside [Chicago] Irish family, so we share a really tight bond and they've inspired me to get to where I am today."
• Kelly went back to school during the 2014 offseason to earn his degree in organizational leadership from Purdue.
• Kelly is an avid professional wrestling fan that does not let the opportunity pass him by whenever a live WWE show is in town. He lists the Undertaker as the one person in the world he would like to have dinner with.

CAREER TRANSACTIONS:

• A native of Chicago Heights, Ill., Kelly was originally selected by the Philadelphia Eagles in the fifth round (153rd overall) of the 2012 NFL Draft.
• Traded by the Eagles to the Titans in exchange for wide receiver Dorial Green-Beckham on Aug. 16, 2016.

SEASON RECAPS:

2016 (14/5 - Tennessee):
• Against Minnesota (9/11), saw limited action as an extra tackle and on special teams.
• At Detroit (9/18), played as a reserve on special teams.
• Against Oakland (9/25), saw limited action as an extra tackle and on special teams.

• Against Indianapolis (10/23), started as an extra tight end and saw 11 snaps in that role.
• Against Jacksonville (10/27), played as a reserve as an extra tackle and helped open holes for Titans' ball carriers to accumulate 214 yards on the ground.
• At San Diego (11/6), started as an extra tight end.
• Against Green Bay (11/13), entered the game at left tackle early in the first quarter after Taylor Lewan was disqualified for contacting an official. Blocked for an offense that amassed 446 total yards and six touchdowns in a 47-25 victory against the Packers.
• At Indianapolis (11/20), started as an extra tight end. Played left tackle in the fourth quarter after Taylor Lewan left the game with an injury.
• At Chicago (11/27), started as an extra tight end and helped block for Titans' ball carriers to gain 149 yards on the ground.
• Against Denver (12/11), saw action as a reserve as an extra tight end and helped open holes for Titans' rushers to amass 180 rushing yards on 42 carries in a 13-10 victory over the Broncos.
• At Kansas City (12/18), played as a reserve as an extra tight end and helped pave the way for Titans' ball carriers to gain 148 yards on the ground.

2015 (14/2 - Philadelphia): Appeared in a career-high 14 games with two starts at right tackle.

2014 (3/3 - Philadelphia): Started three games for the Eagles, two at left guard and one at right guard. Was inactive for 13 contests.
• At Indianapolis (9/15), started at left guard for the first time in his career, filling in for an injured Evan Mathis

2013 (0/0 - Philadelphia): Was inactive for all 16 contests.

2012 (13/10 - Philadelphia): Played in 13 games with 10 starts as a rookie. Made three starts at right guard and seven starts at right tackle. Did not play in three contests.
• Against Atlanta (10/28), made his first-career start at right guard.
• At Washington (11/18), started at right tackle for the first time in his career.

COLLEGE:

• Spent four seasons (2008-11) at Purdue and appeared in 42 career games, including starts in 37 consecutive games.
• Named the team's Bob Griese Offensive Most Valuable Player in both 2010 and 2011.
• Was a team co-captain and offensive MVP as a senior in 2011. Selected an All-Big Ten honorable mention choice by the conference's coaches and media. With Kelly anchoring the left tackle spot, the 2011 Boilermaker line cleared the way for a running game that produced 11 100-yard rushing games in 13 contests, including 393 yards against Southeast Missouri and 265 yards against Western Michigan in the Little Caesars Pizza Bowl.
• Named the team MVP on offense as a junior in 2010. Started in all 12 games and helped anchor an offensive line that blocked for a school-record five consecutive games with 200-plus rushing yards. Earned All-Big Ten honorable mention and Academic All-Big Ten accolades as a junior.
• Started at left tackle in all 12 games as a sophomore in 2009 and garnered Academic All-Big Ten honors.
• Appeared in five games as a reserve during his freshman campaign in 2008.
• Graduated with a degree in organizational leadership and supervision from Purdue.

PERSONAL:

• Married to Jerianna, and the couple gave birth to their first child, Eden Caroline, in July 2015. They own two dogs, Harley and Sanford.
• Attended Marian Catholic (Chicago Heights, Ill.) High School, where he was a three-year starter at tight end. Named All-area and team captain as senior and honorable mention all-area his junior year.

PRO: Brett Kern is a strong-legged punter that has shown a keen ability to down his kicks inside the opponents' 20-yard line. He was rewarded during the 2015 offseason with a new multi-year contract with the Titans. The ninth-year pro enters 2016 as the franchise's all-time leader in gross punting average and net punting average and ranks second in career punts, trailing only Craig Hentrich (861). He is coming off arguably his two best seasons with the Titans. In 2015, the 6-foot-2-inch, 214-pounder totaled a 47.4-yard gross average (second in franchise history), a 40.3 net average (third in franchise history), a career-high 34 punts inside the 20 (third in franchise history) and only one touchback (career low). In 2014, he broke his own franchise record for single-season net punting, averaging 40.8 net yards per attempt. He initially set the record in 2012 (40.4), the same year he set the club's single-season gross punting mark (47.6). Kern joined the Titans franchise during the 2009 season when he was claimed off waivers from the Denver Broncos.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS:

• In 2015, Kern continued his assault on the team's all-time punting records. He launched a career-high tying 88 punts becoming the second-leading punter in franchise history, placed a career-high 34 punts inside the 20 (third in franchise history) and only one touchback (career low). He also accomplished a first-of-its-kind feat, becoming the first punter in NFL history to record 80 or more punts, a net average of 40 yards, and one or zero touchbacks in a single season. He owns the top five net punting seasons in franchise history and six of the team's top eight net punting seasons.
• In 2014, Kern booted 88 total punts for a gross average of 46.8 yards and a net average of 40.8 yards, which broke his own single-season team record (40.4-yard net average in 2012).
• In 2013, Kern punted 78 times for 3,386 yards (43.4 avg.). He placed a career-best 32 punts inside the 20-yard line with a career-low two kicks as touchbacks.
• Kern arguably had his most productive season in 2012 when he ranked fifth in the AFC with a franchise record and career-best 47.6 gross punt average. He also finished ninth in the AFC with a then-franchise record and career-high 40.4 net punting average.
• In 2009, Kern's combined average of 45.5 yards per punt with the Titans and Broncos ranked eighth in the NFL. He also downed a combined 27 punts inside the opponents' 20-yard line.
• In 2008, Kern ranked fifth in the league with a 46.7-yard punting average and was named to the All-Rookie team by Pro Football Weekly/PFWA and the Sporting News.

• Kern's father, Cal, is a former professional soccer goalie.
• Kern is an avid golfer that sports a +1 handicap. He picked the game up late in his high school years and caddied for three summers at Inverness Golf Club while in college. The course is located in Toledo, Ohio, and has hosted PGA and NCAA Championships. In 2011, Kern competed in The Vinny, a local golf fundraising tournament hosted by singers Vince Gill and Amy Grant, and finished fourth in the event.

CAREER TRANSACTIONS:

• The Grand Island, N.Y., native was originally signed by the Denver Broncos as a rookie free agent on April 28, 2008.
• Claimed by the Titans off waivers from the Broncos on Oct. 27, 2009.

DEFENSIVE LINE • 6'3" • 278 LBS • COLLEGE: IOWA
ACQUIRED: 5TH ROUND - 2011 • NFL EXPERIENCE (NFL/TITANS): 6/6
HOMETOWN: CALEDONIA, MINN.
GAMES PLAYED/GAMES STARTED: 94/8 (PLAYOFFS: 0/0)

PRO: The Titans used their fifth-round pick in the 2011 NFL Draft on Iowa's Karl Klug (pronounced KLOOG). A largely unheralded selection at the time, Klug proceeded to assemble one of the top seasons in franchise history by a rookie defensive lineman and followed that with four more seasons as one of the team's most consistent contributors on the defensive line. He never missed a game in his first five seasons. A blue-collar athlete who plays with tremendous effort and quickness, he led the Titans in 2011 with seven sacks, which also tied for sixth among all NFL rookies and tied for fourth among all NFL defensive tackles. His 3.5 sacks during his second season gave him more total sacks (10.5) than any other Titans defender during that time period. He followed with a pair of two-sack seasons in 2013 and 2014 and four sacks in 2015.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS:

• In 2015, Klug set a career high with 19 quarterback pressures and recorded four sacks, which was the second-highest total of his career.
• Against the N.Y. Jets on Sept. 29, 2013, he strip-sacked Geno Smith for a 16-yard loss and recovered the loose ball in the end zone for his first career touchdown.
• In 2012, Klug played in all 16 games for a second consecutive season. His 3.5 sacks gave him a team-high 10.5 total sacks from 2011–2012.
• As a rookie in 2011, Klug compiled a team-high seven sacks. The total tied for sixth place in sacks among all NFL rookies, tied for fourth among all NFL defensive tackles, and led all NFL rookie defensive tackles.
• During his four-year career at Iowa, Klug appeared in 40 games with 26 consecutive starts to end his career. Tallied 140 tackles, including 31 stops for loss, 9.5 sacks, eight quarterback pressures, eight passes defensed, four forced fumbles and a fumble recovery.

TITANS TIDBITS:

• Klug has an identical twin brother, Kevin, who played linebacker at Minnesota State University, Mankato. As high school teammates, Kevin played fullback, opening holes for Karl, the team's running back. Kevin now owns and operates Klug Fitness, a mobile fitness business in Nashville. He also has toured with with Lady Antebellum and Sam Hunt as a personal trainer. Karl and Kevin have an older sister, Kelsey.
• Klug's small hometown of Caledonia calls itself the "Wild Turkey Capital of Minnesota" and "The Heart of Quilt Country."
• Klug arrived on Iowa's campus as an undersized defender who weighed only 207 pounds at the time.

CAREER TRANSACTIONS:

• The Caledonia, Minn., native was selected by the Titans in the fifth round (142nd overall) of the 2011 NFL Draft.

77 TAYLOR LEWAN

TACKLE • 6'7" • 309 LBS • COLLEGE: MICHIGAN
ACQUIRED: 1ST ROUND - 2014 • NFL EXPERIENCE (NFL/TITANS): 3/3
HOMETOWN: CAVE CREEK, ARIZ.
GAMES PLAYED/GAMES STARTED: 40/35 (PLAYOFFS: 0/0)

PRO: With the 11th overall selection in the 2014 NFL Draft, the Titans selected former Michigan left tackle Taylor Lewan (pronounced leh-WAHN). The 6-foot-7-inch, 309-pound lineman possesses the measurables, athleticism and commitment to be a mainstay in the lineup for years to come. An outgoing personality off the field, he is tenacious and aggressive on it. At Michigan, he was a four-year starter, anchoring the line at left tackle for 48 career starts. Lewan became the first offensive tackle selected by the Titans/Oilers in the first round since tackle Brad Hopkins (13th overall) in 1993. Paired with right guard Chance Warmack, who was the 10th overall pick in 2013, the duo became the first offensive linemen to be selected by the franchise in back-to-back first rounds since Mike Munchak (1982) and Bruce Matthews (1983).

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS:

• In 2015, Lewan started 15 games at left tackle in his second NFL campaign.
• Lewan was named the Big Ten Conference Offensive Lineman of the Year in 2012 and 2013.
• At the conclusion of the 2011 season, during which Lewan helped pave the way for a pair of 1,000-yard rushers (Denard Robinson and Fitzgerald Toussaint), the Wolverines scored an overtime victory over Virginia Tech in the Sugar Bowl.

TITANS TIDBITS:

• Lewan chose to wear jersey number 77 at Michigan and then at the pro level because of the legacy of Wolverine tackles who have donned the number, including Jake Long and Jon Jansen.
• His father, Dave, was a defensive lineman at the University of Minnesota.
• One of Lewan's close friends with former Carolina Panthers defensive end Craig Roh. The two played together as high school seniors and then went to Michigan at the same time.
• At the 2014 NFL Scouting Combine, Lewan ran the 40-yard dash in 4.87 seconds, beating all other offensive linemen in his class and clocking the fourth-fastest time among offensive linemen from 2010-14. He also ranked among the top offensive linemen at the 2014 combine in the broad jump (first at nine feet, nine inches), vertical jump (tied for third at 30.5 inches) and three-cone drill (fourth at 7.39 seconds).

CAREER TRANSACTIONS:

• A native of Cave Creek, Ariz., Lewan was selected by the Titans in the first round (11th overall) of the 2014 NFL Draft.

SEASON RECAPS:

2016 (14/14):
• At Detroit (9/18), started at left tackle and blocked for an offense that amassed 363 total yards in a 16-15 comeback win.
• Against Oakland (9/25), started at left tackle and was a part of an offensive line that helped produce 393 total yards and allow just one sack on 33 pass attempts.
• At Houston (10/2), started at left tackle.
• At Miami (10/9), started at left tackle and was a member of an offensive front that opened holes for Titans' rushers to gain 235 yards on the ground and did not allow a sack on 29 pass atttempts.
• Against Cleveland (10/16), started at left tackle and blocked for an offense that compiled a season-high 407 total yards, including 137 rushing yards.
• Against Jacksonville (10/27), started at left tackle and opened holes for Titans' ball carriers to accumulate 214 yards on the ground. Was a part of an offensive front that did not allow a sack in 23 pass attempts.
• At San Diego (11/6), started at left tackle and was a part of an offensive line that did not allow a sack on 43 pass attempts.
• Against Green Bay (11/13), started at left tackle but was disqualified early in the first quarter for contacting an official.
• At Indianapolis (11/20), started at left tackle but left the game late in the fourth quarter with an injury.
• At Chicago (11/27), started at left tackle and was a member of an offensive front that did not allow a sack on 23 pass attempts. Blocked for Titans' ball carriers to gain 149 yards on the ground.
• Against Denver (12/11), started at left tackle and was a part of an offensive line that opened holes for Titans' rushers to amass 180 rushing yards on 42 carries in a 13-10 victory over the Broncos.
• At Kansas City (12/18), started at left tackle and helped pave the way for Titans' ball carriers to gain 148 yards on the ground. Member of an offensive front that allowed just one sack for zero yards on 33 pass attempts.

2015 (15/15): Started 15 games at left tackle. Was inactive for the regular season finale.
• At Tampa Bay (9/13), started at left tackle and was a member of an offensive front that opened holes for Titans rushers to gain 124 yards on the ground.
• At Cleveland (9/20), started at left tackle and helped block for Titans ball carriers to amass 166 rushing yards on 30 carries.
• Against Indianapolis (9/27), started at left tackle and helped protect Marcus Mariota, allowing him to pass for 367 yards.
• At New Orleans (11/8), started at left tackle and was a member of an offensive line that did not allow a sack on 39 pass attempts and allowed Marcus Mariota to throw for 371 yards and four touchdowns.
• Against Jacksonville (12/6), started at left tackle and helped block for a Titans' offense that amassed 467 total yards.

2014 (11/6): Named to the Pro Football Writers of America All-Rookie team. Appeared in 11 games with six starts at left tackle during his rookie campaign. Was inactive for the final five games because of injury. Made his NFL debut at Kansas City (9/7/14). Made his first career NFL start at left tackle against Jacksonville (10/12/14).
• At Kansas City (9/7), made his NFL debut as a reserve on special teams. Lined up at left tackle late in the fourth quarter.
• Against Jacksonville (10/12), made his first career NFL start at left tackle.
• Against Pittsburgh (11/17), started at left tackle and was a part of an offensive front that did not allow a sack on 24 pass attempts.
• At Philadelphia (11/23), started at left tackle and left the game midway through the fourth quarter with an injury.

COLLEGE:

• In four seasons at Michigan, Lewan appeared in 50 games with 48 starts at left tackle. He started the final 41 games of his career.
• As a senior (2013), started all 13 games at left tackle for the third consecutive season. Named first-team All-American by Sporting News, second-team All-American by Walter Camp, Associated Press, CBSSports.com and SI.com. Won the Hugh R. Rader Memorial Award for U-M's top offensive lineman and named Big Ten Rimington-Pace Offensive Lineman of the Year for second consecutive season. Added first-team All-Big Ten (coaches and media), Sporting News All-Big Ten, Athlon Sports All-Big Ten honors.

• As a junior (2012), started all 13 games at left tackle. Named first-team All-American by Walter Camp, Associated Press, ESPN.com and SI.com. 87 MARC MARIANI

WIDE RECEIVER • 6'1" • 190 LBS • COLLEGE: MONTANA
ACQUIRED: FREE AGENT - 2016
NFL EXPERIENCE (NFL/TITANS): 7/5 • HOMETOWN: HAVRE, MONT.
GAMES PLAYED/GAMES STARTED: 68/5 (PLAYOFFS: 0/0)

Pro Bowl: 2010

PRO: The Titans re-signed Marc Mariani following the 2016 preseason to bring experience as a return specialist. He originally joined the club as a 2010 seventh-round selection out of Montana. The former college walk-on made an immediate impact as a rookie returner for the Titans in 2010, earning Pro Bowl honors after finishing second in the AFC and fourth in the NFL with a 12.2-yard punt return avg. and finishing fourth in the AFC with 25.5-yard kickoff return avg. Mariani set the franchise record for most combined return yards on punts and kickoffs and became the second Titans/Oilers player to record a punt return touchdown and kickoff return touchdown in the same regular season. He missed the 2012 and 2013 seasons due to injury before joining the Chicago Bears from 2014-2015.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS:

• In 2015, Mariani set career-highs with 22 receptions and 300 receiving yards for the Chicago Bears while appearing in 16 games with a career-best five starts.
• In 2011, appeared in all 16 games as a reserve, ranking seventh in the AFC with a 10.7 punt return avg. and finishing eighth in the AFC with a 23.4 kickoff return avg.
• As a rookie in 2010, named to the Pro Bowl as a return specialist. Finished second in the AFC and fourth in the NFL with a 12.2-yard punt return avg., while finishing fourth in the AFC with 25.5-yard kickoff return avg.
• Set the franchise record for the most total return yards on punts and kickoffs in franchise history with 1,859 yards. His 2010 total exceeded Derrick Mason's previous record of 1,794 yards in 2000.
• Became the second Titans/Oilers player to record a punt return touchdown and kickoff return touchdown in the same regular season. Billy Johnson did it in both 1975 and 1977.

TITANS TIDBITS:

• Mariani has overcome a great deal of adversity to make it to the NFL. He was a non-preferred walk-on at Division I-AA Montana before working his way up the Grizzlies' depth chart and finally earning a scholarship as a junior.
• Mariani thought he was the victim of a practical joke when the Titans called to inform him that he was drafted. The former Montana teammate of then-Titans Coach Jeff Fisher's son, Brandon, had been on the phone back and forth with his buddy all day. Just before the Titans were scheduled to pick in the seventh round, Mariani got another call from Brandon, who informed him that he was now a Titan.

CAREER TRANSACTIONS:

• The Havre, Mont., native was selected by the Titans with their first of two picks in the seventh round (222nd overall) of the 2010 NFL Draft.
• Released by the Titans on Aug. 30, 2014.
• Signed by the Chicago Bears as a free agent on Nov. 18, 2014.
• Released by the Bears on Sept. 3, 2016.
• Signed by the Titans as a free agent on Sept. 5, 2016.

SEASON RECAPS:

2016 (14/0 - Tennessee):
• Against Minnesota (9/11), served as the return specialist in his first game back with the Titans and tallied five kickoff returns for 118 yards and one punt return for 14 yards.
• At Detroit (9/18), returned two punts for nine yards and one kickoff for 19 yards.
• Against Oakland (9/25), played as the return specialist and returned one punt for 10 yards.
• At Houston (10/2), returned four kickoffs for 99 yards and three punts for 27 yards.
• At Miami (10/9), served as the return specialist and returned four punts for 20 yards and one kickoff for 20 yards.
• Against Cleveland (10/16), returned five punts for 30 yards.

Returned 16 kickoffs for 418 yards and 29 punts for 192 yards. 19 of his 22 receptions resulted in a first down and 11 of his 22 catches came on third down. Add a special teams tackle on coverage units.
• Against Minnesota (11/1), notched his first reception since the 2011 season.
• Against Detroit (1/3), started at wide receiver and collected a career-high six receptions for a career-best 80 receiving yards.

2014 (6/0 - Chicago): After joining the Bears following Week 11, tallied 20 kickoff returns for 510 yards (25.5 avg) and seven punt returns for 29 yards (4.1 avg). Over the final six weeks of the season, recorded the second most kickoff returns and the third most kickoff return yards in the NFL.

2013 (0/0 - Tennessee): Placed on injured reserve on Aug. 31, 2013 and missed the entire season with a shoulder injury.

2012 (0/0 - Tennessee): Placed on injured reserve on Aug. 26, 2012 and missed the entire season with a leg injury.

2011 (16/0 - Tennessee): Appeared in all 16 games as a reserve, ranking seventh in the AFC with a 10.7 punt return avg. and finishing eighth in the AFC with a 23.4 kickoff return avg. Caught five passes for 24 yards and added one rush for four yards. Registered his first career NFL reception on a four-yard pass from Matt Hasselbeck against Baltimore (9/18/11). Tied for the team lead in special teams tackles twice in 2011 (at PIT, at HST). Named AFC Special Teams Player of the Week after posting his second career punt return for a touchdown with a 79-yarder at Carolina (11/13/11).
• Against Baltimore (9/18), saw action as a reserve wide receiver and return specialist. Grabbed two receptions for nine yards. Returned three punts for 17 yards. Registered his first career NFL reception on a four-yard pass from Matt Hasselbeck in the third quarter.
• At Pittsburgh (10/9), grabbed one reception for five yards as a reserve wide receiver. Returned three kickoffs for 93 yards and one punt for 10 yards. Brought back a kickoff 42 yards to the Tennessee 43-yard line in the second quarter. Tied for the team lead with a solo special teams tackle.

• At Carolina (11/13), named AFC Special Teams Player of the Week after returning a career-high six punts for 103 yards with a touchdown. Gave the Titans a 7-0 lead with a 79-yard punt return for a touchdown with 13:56 remaining in the first quarter.
• Against Tampa Bay (11/27), returned four kickoffs for 83 yards and a punt for three yards as a return specialist. Returned a kickoff 16 yards before handing the ball off to Tommie Campbell who raced 84 yards for a touchdown with 7:47 remaining in the first quarter.
• At Buffalo (12/4), returned three punts for 72 yards and one kickoff for 21 yards. Had three punt returns of more than 22 yards. Helped set up the Titans' first scoring drive with a 22-yard punt return to the Bills' 44-yard line in the first quarter. Returned a punt 26 yards late in the second quarter. Gave the Titans good field position by returning a punt 24 yards to the Titans' 44-yard line in the third quarter.
• Against New Orleans (12/11), returned five kickoffs for 121 yards and four punts for 34 yards. Gave the Titans good field position with a 30-yard kickoff return to the Tennessee 35-yard line in the final stanza.
• Against Jacksonville (12/24), tied a career-high with six punt returns for 44 yards. Brought back four kickoffs for 90 yards. Posted a special teams tackle on coverage units.

2010 (16/0 - Tennessee): Named to the Pro Bowl as a return specialist. Appeared in all 16 games and finished second in the AFC and fourth in the NFL with a 12.2-yard punt return avg. Finished fourth in the AFC with 25.5-yard kickoff return avg. Set the Titans/Oilers single-season record with 1,859 total return yards and 1,530 kickoff return yards in 2010. Tied for the team lead in special teams tackles once in 2010 (vs. JAX). Collected his first career touchdown with a 98-yard kickoff return against Denver (10/3/10). Named AFC Special Teams Player of the Week after posting an 87-yard punt return for a touchdown against Washington (11/21/10). Became the second Titans/Oilers player to record a punt return touchdown and kickoff return touchdown in the same regular season. Billy Johnson did it in both 1975 and 1977.
• Against Denver (10/3), returned six kickoffs for 187 yards with a touchdown and one punt for nine yards. Gave the Titans a 17-13 lead with a 98-yard kickoff return for a touchdown in the third quarter. • Against Washington (11/21), named AFC Special Teams Player of the Week after returning three kickoffs for 82 yards and one punt for 87 yards and a touchdown. Gave the Titans a 7-0 lead with an 87-yard punt return for a touchdown with 8:18 remaining in the first quarter. It tied for the second-longest punt return for a touchdown in franchise history, equaling Billy Johnson's 87-yarder against Cleveland on Oct. 16, 1977.
• At Kansas City (12/26), returned five kickoffs for 98 yards and three punt returns for one yard. Set the Titans' single-season record for kickoff return yards with a 14-yard return in the first quarter. Returned the opening kickoff of the second half 38 yards to the Titans' 39-yard line.

COLLEGE:

• Mariani ended his career as the most prolific receiver and all-purpose player in Montana history. He set school marks in career receiving yards (3,018), receiving touchdowns (29), and career all-purpose yards (5,441). His 164 receptions and 200 career points rank him seventh in the Grizzlies' record book. Mariani also had three of the longest scoring plays in school history in his career: a 98-yard kickoff return, a 94-yard punt return, and an 84-yard reception.
• As a senior (2009), was a unanimous All-Big Sky pick at wide receiver and a second team selection as a return specialist. Led the second-ranked and 14-1 Grizzlies in receiving with 80 catches for 1,479 yards and 13 touchdowns. His 1,479 receiving yards set a single-season record at Montana. Led the conference with seven 100-yard receiving games and in multiple touchdown games receiving (four). Was named a first team All-American by the Associated Press, Walter Camp, and the Sports Network, and he was also selected to the College Sporting News "Fab 50." Returned 32 punts for 507 yards (15.8 avg.) with a touchdown.
• As a junior (2008), started all 16 games and caught 69 receptions for 1,308 yards with a career-best 15 touchdowns. Set a school record with 2,265 all-purpose yards, which is the fifth most in Big Sky Conference history. His 1,308 receiving yards and 15 touchdowns were the second most in a season at Montana. Led the Big Sky in punt returns, averaging 16.22 an attempt, which ranked him fourth in the nation. Was a first team All-Big Sky pick at both wide receiver and as a returner. He was named second team All-American by the Sports Network and an honorable mention pick on the College Sporting News' "Fab 50."
• As a sophomore (2007), saw action in 11 games with three starts and caught 15 passes for 231 yards with one touchdown. Led the Big Sky and was 11th in the FCS in punt returns (13.32-yard avg.). Was an honorable mention All-Big Sky selection as a returner.
• As a freshman (2006), played in all 14 games, mostly on special teams, and had eight tackles in that role. He did not have a reception as a receiver.
• Majored in Business at Montana.

Captain: 2015, 2016

PRO: The Titans used the second overall pick in the 2015 NFL Draft on Oregon quarterback Marcus Mariota. As a rookie, the 6-foot-4-inch, 222-pound signal caller validated the selection by posting the third-highest passer rating in franchise history (91.5) and the fifth-highest rookie completion percentage in NFL history (62.2). He was the first player in franchise history to open his rookie season in Week 1 as the starting quarterback. He became the second rookie quarterback in NFL history (Peyton Manning) to complete three touchdown passes in four different games and the only NFL rookie to record two games with four touchdown passes and no interceptions. Mariota was the fifth Heisman Trophy winner to be drafted by the Oilers/Titans (Derrick Henry became the sixth in 2016), joining Billy Cannon, Earl Campbell, Mike Rozier and Eddie George. At the 2015 NFL Scouting Combine, he finished among the top three quarterbacks in the 40-yard dash, vertical jump, broad jump, three-cone drill and 20-yard shuttle. His 4.52-second 40-yard dash gave him the fastest quarterback time at the Combine since Robert Griffin III's 4.41 in 2012.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS:

• During his rookie season, Mariota completed 230 of his 370 passes for 2,818 yards, 19 touchdowns—all franchise rookie records—while throwing only 10 interceptions. His 91.5 passer rating ranks third in franchise history behind only Steve McNair's 2003 MVP season (100.4) and Pro Football Hall of Famer Warren Moon's 1990 AP Offensive Player of the Year campaign (96.8).
• Mariota set a franchise rookie record by completing 62.2 percent of his passes. That was the fifth-highest percentage by a rookie quarterback in NFL history and the eighth-highest completion percentage in a season by any quarterback in Titans/Oilers history.
• Mariota joined Peyton Manning (1998) as the only rookie quarterbacks in NFL history to complete three touchdown passes in four different games, and he became the lone NFL rookie to ever record two games with four touchdown passes and no interceptions (Sept. 13 at Tampa Bay and Nov. 8 at New Orleans).
• Mariota's 252 rushing yards in 2015 included an 87-yard touchdown run against Jacksonville (Dec. 6), which was the fifth-longest rushing play in franchise history.
• Prior to Mariota in 2015, the last NFL player to record touchdowns of at least 40 yards passing, rushing and receiving in the same season was Walter Payton in 1983.
• Mariota earned a 36-5 starting record as a starter at Oregon. He completed at least one touchdown pass in all 41 games during his three seasons there, which ranks second in NCAA history. He became one of four players in FBS history to pass for over 10,000 yards (10,796) and run for over 2,000 yards (2,237) in a career (Dan LeFevour, Robert Griffin III and Colin Kaepernick).
• Mariota was awarded the Heisman Trophy on Dec. 13, 2014. He became the first winner from the University of Oregon and the first player born in Hawaii to receive the honor. In the balloting, he received 2,534 total points, or 90.9 percent of the total points possible. Only one player in Heisman history—Ohio State quarterback Troy Smith in 2006—garnered a higher percentage. Mariota received 788 first-place votes, while the runner-up, Wisconsin running back Melvin Gordon, received 1,250 total points and 37 first-place votes. Alabama wide receiver Amari Cooper finished third with 1,023 points and 49 first-place votes. The point total is reached by a system of three points for a first place vote, two for a second and one for a third.
• As a junior in 2014, Mariota led Oregon to an appearance in the College Football Playoff Championship Game after completing 304 of 445 passes for 4,454 yards with 42 touchdown passes and only four interceptions. He also rushed for 770 yards and 15 touchdowns and even caught a touchdown pass. His 58 total touchdowns in a season (passing, rushing and receiving) shattered the previous Pac-12 record of 41 (Matt Barkley, 2011).

• Mariota's touchdown "celebrations" are usually limited to a simple series of gestures: three taps on his chest and pointing to the sky as a way to show appreciation for his mother, father and younger brother.
• He is the oldest son of Toa and Alana Mariota. His younger brother, Matthew, is a sophomore linebacker at Oregon.
• Mariota credits much of his athletic success to playing soccer in his youth. By the time he was eight years old, he was wearing a soccer jersey with the number 8, and he has kept the jersey number ever since then.
• During his time in Eugene, Ore., Mariota became a fixture at the Boys and Girls Club of Emerald Valley, spending time on a weekly basis with kids at the center. For his efforts in the community, he was awarded with the inaugural Play It Forward Award at the 63rd Annual Oregon Sports Awards in June 2015.
• Mariota's "bucket list" includes boogie boarding in Bali and traveling to Europe and South America.
• Mariota is working on the launch of his Motiv8 foundation, which will serve the communities of Middle Tennessee, Eugene and Honolulu.

CAREER TRANSACTIONS:

• The Honolulu, Hawaii, native was selected by the Titans in the first round (second overall) of the 2015 NFL Draft.

SEASON RECAPS:

2016 (14/14): Ranks third in the AFC with a 96.7 passer rating. Tied for fourth in the AFC and tied for seven in the NFL with 25 touchdown passes. Has completed 50 passes of at least 20 yards in 2016. Had the nation's top passer efficiency rating at 181.7.
• Became the Ducks' first Heisman Trophy winner and the first Heisman winner from the state of Hawaii. Also became Oregon's second unanimous first-team All-American of all time. Additional honors included Player of the Year by the Associated Press and the Walter Camp Football Foundation, the Maxwell Award, the Davey O'Brien National Quarterback Award and the Johnny Unitas Golden Arm Award. Named Pac-12 Offensive Player of the Year and 2015 Rose Bowl Offensive MVP.
• His 58 total touchdowns—42 passing, 15 rushing and one receiving—set the single-season conference record, breaking Matt Barkley's (USC) mark of 41 from 2011. His passing touchdowns also marked a new conference best.
• Led the Ducks to No. 2 in the final Associated Press rankings. Directed the third-overall rated offense in the country (547 yards per game) and the 10th-ranked passing offense (312.5).
• Against Florida State (1/1/15), recorded a season-high 26 completions (36 attempts) for 338 yards, scoring two touchdowns through the air and one on the ground in the College Football Playoff Semifinal Rose Bowl victory.
• Against Ohio State (1/12/15) in the inaugural College Football Playoff Championship game, completed 24 passes for 333 yards and two touchdowns, including a 70-yard touchdown toss. Added 39 rushing yards.
• As a sophomore (2013), started all 13 games and was 245-of-386 passing (65.8 percent) for 3,665 yards, 31 touchdowns and four interceptions. Rushed 96 times for 715 yards and nine touchdowns.
• Named first-team All-Pac-12 for the second consecutive season and named Oregon's Most Inspirational Player in a vote of his teammates. Led the Pac-12 in passing efficiency (167.7), passing yards per completion (14.96 avg.) and total points responsible for (240) while ranking seventh in the country in the former two categories and tied for ninth in the latter. Nationally, rated ninth in total offense (336.9), 12th in touchdown passes (31) and 14th in passing yards per game (281.9). Became the first player in school history to eclipse 4,000 yards of total offense in a single season (4,380) and was one of three league players to surpass the previous Pac-12 season record in 2013. Set school records for most points responsible for, completions (245) and most total touchdowns (40), and finished second on the single-season passing yards ledger (3,665). Broke Pac-12 and Oregon pinnacles for consecutive pass attempts without an interception in both a single season (285) and a career (353). Extended his streak of tossing at least one touchdown pass in every game of his career (26).
• As a redshirt freshman (2012), started all 13 games and was 230-of-336 passing for 2,677 yards with 32 touchdowns and six interceptions. Rushed 106 times for 752 yards and five touchdowns. Won honorable mention All-American and Pac-12 Offensive Freshman of the Year honors and became the Pac-12's first freshman quarterback to earn first-team all-league honors in 23 years. Recorded at least one touchdown pass in every game and set a conference freshman record for most touchdown passes in a season. Led the conference and ranked seventh in the country in passing efficiency (163.23). Led the league in completion percentage (68.45), falling just short of the NCAA freshman record of 69.5 percent (Sam Bradford, Oklahoma, 2007). Finished second on Oregon's single-season total offensive yards list (3,429) and ninth in passing yards (2,677). The Ducks' second-leading rusher (752) also ran for more yards in one year than any other quarterback in school history, including a single-game best 135 yards at Arizona State.
• Also in 2012, threw only one interception over his final seven games, a stretch that included 119 consecutive pass attempts without an interception.
• Redshirted in 2011.
• The second-team academic all-conference choice graduated from Oregon in December 2014 with a degree in general science.

18 RISHARD MATTHEWS

WIDE RECEIVER • 6'0" • 217 LBS • COLLEGE: NEVADA
ACQUIRED: UNRESTRICTED FREE AGENT (MIA) - 2016
NFL EXPERIENCE (NFL/TITANS): 5/1 • HOMETOWN: SANTA ANA, CALIF.
GAMES PLAYED/GAMES STARTED: 63/24 (PLAYOFFS: 0/0)

PRO: The Titans signed Rishard Matthews early in the 2016 free agency period to bring veteran leadership and big-play potential to the wide receiver position. The 6-foot, 217-pounder is coming off his most successful season in 2015 in which he recorded career highs with 43 receptions, 662 receiving yards and four touchdowns. Matthews spent his first four NFL campaigns with the Miami Dolphins after being drafted by the team in the seventh round of the 2012 NFL Draft. The University of Nevada product is a versatile player, having lined up outside and in the slot with the Dolphins.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS:

• In 2015, Matthews set career-highs with 43 catches, 662 receiving yards and four touchdown receptions despite playing in just 11 games for the Miami Dolphins.
• In 2013, Matthews appeared in all 16 games with the Dolphins and hauled in 41 receptions for 448 yards with two touchdowns.

TITANS TIDBITS:

• Matthews' father, Andre, is a retired U.S. Marine Corps master sergeant.
• In October 2015, Matthews' half-brother Christopher Ruiz was killed while serving as a retired Marine working as a private defense contractor in Afghanistan. Ruiz served in the Marines for 10 years, and served overseas in Operation Iraqi Freedom. He was in Afghanistan training locals to fight for their country, when he was killed. Ruiz was one of six U.S. Airmen and five other civilian contractors killed in the crash of an Air Force C-130 as it tried to put down at the Jalalabad Airfield on Oct. 2.
• Matthews wears a bracelet with the words "Forever by my side." It has his fallen brother's name on it, along with the Marines logo. He wears the bracelet every day.

CAREER TRANSACTIONS:

• The Santa Ana, Calif., native was originally selected by the Miami Dolphins in the seventh round (227th overall) of the 2012 NFL Draft.
• Signed by the Titans as an unrestricted free agent on March 11, 2016.

SEASON RECAPS:

2016 (14/7 - Tennessee): Leads the team with a career-best seven receiving touchdowns and a career-high 800 receiving yards. Ranks second on the team with a career-best 53 receptions. 10 TRE McBRIDE

WIDE RECEIVER • 6'0" • 210 LBS • COLLEGE: WILLIAM & MARY
HOMETOWN: MCDONOUGH, GA.
GAMES PLAYED/GAMES STARTED: 8/0 (PLAYOFFS: 0/0)

PRO: The Titans selected Tre McBride in the seventh round (245th overall) of the 2015 NFL Draft. The William and Mary product is one of the promising members of a young receiving corps battling for playing time in 2016 and also excels on special teams. The McDonough, Ga., native is a tireless worker with an excellent catch radius and outstanding body control, ball tracking and concentration. Though he has a 6-foot frame, his jumping ability and strength at the point of the catch are traits that allow him to play larger than that.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS:

• As a rookie in 2015, he played in seven games, totaling two receptions for eight yards and a touchdown while also returning 10 kickoffs for 190 yards.
• McBride was a three-time All-CAA selection at wide receiver at William and Mary. He was also the CAA Special Teams Player of the Year who earned all-conference accolades as a kick returner.

TITANS TIDBITS:

• McBride's father, Douglas, is a U.S. Army Colonel currently stationed at Fort Lee, Va., and has had two tours in Iraq and one tour in Afghanistan.
• McBride has played the trumpet since sixth grade and started playing the harmonica in college.
• McBride is the creator and administrator of a lifestyle website called Fresh Life Only (freshlifeonly.com), or Flo. He and his co-creators blog on topics related to the mind, body, soul and finances.

CAREER TRANSACTIONS:

• The McDonough, Ga., native was selected by the Titans in the seventh round (245th overall) the 2015 NFL Draft.
• Waived by the Titans on Sept. 5, 2015 and signed to the team's practice squad a day later.
• Signed by the Titans from their practice squad to the active roster on Nov. 17, 2015.
• Waived by the Titans on Sept. 5, 2016 and signed to the team's practice squad two days later.
• Signed by the Titans from their practice squad to the active roster on Nov. 2, 2016.

SEASON RECAPS:

2016 (1/0):
• At San Diego (11/6), was inactive.
• Against Green Bay (11/13), was inactive.
• At Indianapolis (11/20), was inactive.
• At Chicago (11/27), was inactive.
• Against Denver (12/11), made his season debut as a reserve on special teams. Pinned the Broncos deep in their own territory late in the fourth quarter by diving to down Brett Kern's 47-yard punt at the Denver two-yard line.
• At Kansas City (12/18), was inactive.

2015 (7/0): Played in seven games as a rookie. Returned 10 kickoffs for 190 yards and posted two receptions for eight yards with a touchdown. Registered five special teams tackles and a forced fumble on coverage units. Spent the first 10 weeks of the season on the team's practice squad. Collected his first career NFL reception and his first career NFL touchdown against Houston (12/27/15). Made his NFL debut at Jacksonville (11/19/15). Led or tied for the team lead in special teams tackles three times in 2015 (at NE, vs. HOU, at IND).
• At Jacksonville (11/19), made his NFL debut as a reserve on special teams.
• Against Oakland (11/29), played as a reserve on special teams and as the kickoff returner. Forced a fumble on kickoff coverage and returned one kickoff for 31 yards. Forced a fumble on a Jeremy Ross kickoff return that was recovered by Daimion Stafford at the Raiders' 18-yard line in the third quarter.
• Against Jacksonville (12/6), returned four kickoffs for 80 yards.
• Against Houston (12/27), played as a reserve at wide receiver and caught his first two career receptions for eight yards with his first career touchdown. Returned one kickoff for 21 yards. Notched a special teams tackle on coverage units. Got the Titans on the scoreboard with his first career touchdown, a one-yard touchdown reception, with 1:31 left to play in the fourth quarter.
• At Indianapolis (1/3), played as a reserve at wide receiver and carried the ball once for eight yards. Led the team with two special teams tackles on coverage units.

COLLEGE:

• Appeared in 45 career games with 33 starts at William and Mary and finished his career ranked second in career receptions at W&M (196), fifth in receiving yards (2,653), fifth in all-purpose yards (4,281), tied for sixth in touchdown catches (19), fifth in kickoff return yards (1,294) and third in 100-yard receiving games (eight).

HOMETOWN: TERRELL, TEXAS
GAMES PLAYED/GAMES STARTED: 114/38 (PLAYOFFS: 3/2)

PRO: The Titans signed Brice McCain as a free agent early in the 2016 offseason to add competition and experience to the cornerback position. The 5-foot-9-inch, 190-pounder is a veteran defensive back that has seen time outside and as a nickel corner during his seven NFL seasons. Prior to arriving in Tennessee, the University of Utah product spent his first five NFL campaigns as a member of the Houston Texans. McCain has also seen action with the Pittsburgh Steelers and the Miami Dolphins.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS:

• In 2015, McCain saw action in 14 games in his only season in Miami and tallied 39 tackles, one interception and 10 passes defensed.
• In 2014, McCain played in 14 games for the Pittsburgh Steelers and registered a career-best three interceptions to go along with 25 tackles and six passes defensed.

TITANS TIDBITS:

• In 2014, McCain played with the Pittsburgh Steelers and worked with current Titans defensive coordinator Dick LeBeau. McCain kept his notes from playing in LeBeau's defense and referenced them when making the transition to Tennessee.

CAREER TRANSACTIONS:

• The Terrell, Texas, native was originally selected by the Houston Texans in the sixth round (188th overall) of the 2009 NFL Draft.
• Re-signed by the Texans as an unrestricted free agent on March 20, 2013.

CORNERBACK • 6'0" • 193 LBS • COLLEGE: RUTGERS
HOMETOWN: NYACK, N.Y.

Captain: 2012, 2013, 2015

PRO: Jason McCourty is a fast, athletic cornerback and one of the veteran leaders of the defense. The Titans rewarded the 6-foot, 193-pounder with a long-term contract extension during the 2012 preseason. Originally a sixth-round draft choice in 2009, the former Rutgers standout was selected a defensive captain by his teammates for the 2012 campaign and tied for the team lead with four interceptions. He was voted as a captain again in 2013 and 2015. From the time he became a full-time starter in 2011 through 2015, McCourty led the Titans in passes defensed (60) and tied for the team lead in interceptions (nine).

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS:

• In 2014, McCourty started all 16 games at cornerback for the third consecutive season and led the team with three interceptions and 13 passes defensed.
• At Seattle on Oct. 13, 2013, McCourty scored his second career touchdown, scooping up a loose ball on an aborted field goal attempt and racing 77 yards for a touchdown.
• In 2012, McCourty started all 16 games for the first time in his career and led the squad with a career-high 17 passes defensed, while finishing tied for third on the club with 93 tackles. He also posted a career-best four interceptions.
• In 2011, McCourty set a career high and ranked second on the squad with 107 tackles. He also led the club with 13 passes defensed and tied for the lead with two interceptions.
• Against the Indianapolis Colts on Oct. 30, 2011, McCourty scored his first career touchdown by recovering a Pat McAfee punt that was blocked by Patrick Bailey in the end zone.
• McCourty snared his first career NFL interception on a tipped pass from Eli Manning in the end zone at N.Y. Giants (9/26/10).
• As a rookie in 2009, McCourty was thrust into the starting lineup for three consecutive games (at Jacksonville, vs. Indianapolis, at New England) in the first half of the season after the Titans secondary suffered multiple injuries. He finished third on the team with 12 special teams tackles as a rookie.

TITANS TIDBITS:

• McCourty played his last three seasons at Rutgers with his identical twin brother, Devin. The duo held down the starting cornerback spots for Scarlet Knights together for two years. Devin, who redshirted his first season at Rutgers, was a first-round draft pick by the New England Patriots in 2010. They also have an older brother, Larry.
• During the 2013 offseason, Jason and Devin spearheaded "Tackle Sickle Cell," a campaign that aimed to educate the public, increase blood donations, and raise money and awareness for the fight against sickle cell disease. The duo partners with the Embrace Kids Foundation to host three major events: McCourty Twins 5K Run/Walk, Tackle SC Casino Night and Tackle Sickle Cell Blood Drive. More information is available online at www.tacklesicklecell.org.
• In 2014, Jason and Devin McCourty won their respective team's Walter Payton Man of the Year Award. Then, in 2015, each of the twins were nominated for the Byron "Whizzer" White Award for their commitment to their respective NFL cities. During the 2016 offseason, Rutgers University welcomed Jason and Devin McCourty into their Hall of Distinguished Alumni.
• McCourty excelled off the field at Rutgers as he was a semifinalist for the prestigious Vincent dePaul Draddy Trophy given to the college football player with the best combination of academics, community service and on-field performance. He was also named an ESPN The Magazine Academic All-District first-team member.
• McCourty and former teammate Kenny Britt were featured in the July 2012 issue of GQ within the magazine's feature on Nashville.

CAREER TRANSACTIONS:

• The Nyack, N.Y., native was selected by the Titans in the sixth round (203rd overall) of the 2009 NFL Draft.

91 DERRICK MORGAN

COLLEGE: GEORGIA TECH • ACQUIRED: 1ST ROUND - 2010
NFL EXPERIENCE (NFL/TITANS): 7/7 • HOMETOWN: COATESVILLE, PA.
GAMES PLAYED/GAMES STARTED: 89/78 (PLAYOFFS: 0/0)

PRO: Derrick Morgan was drafted by the Titans with the 16th overall pick in the 2010 NFL Draft, and since then, he has become a consistent presence on the defense, first as a defensive end and more recently as a 3-4 outside linebacker. His 27.5 sacks from 2010–2015 ranked second on the Titans behind only Jurrell Casey's 28 sacks. Morgan and Brian Orakpo combine to make a formidable duo as the team's starting outside linebackers, supplemented by rookie Kevin Dodd. The 6-foot-4-inch, 261-pounder led the team with 6.5 sacks and set career-best marks with 26 quarterback pressures and 13 tackles for loss in 2014. He was rewarded with a free agent deal by the Titans in the 2015 offseason. Morgan is an explosive defender equally adept at rushing the passer and stopping the run. The Georgia Tech product has a reputation as a gritty player with a non-stop motor, and he has the ability to play on either side of the defensive line or at outside linebacker.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS:

• In 2015, Morgan recorded 4.5 sacks in the first four games of the season. Since 1982, Morgan's sack total tied for the fourth-best mark for the franchise in a season's first four games. However, Morgan later battled a shoulder injury and was limited to 10 games before being placed on injured reserve.
• In his first season at outside linebacker in 2014, Morgan led the team with 6.5 sacks and tied for the team lead and set career-best marks with 26 quarterback pressures and 13 tackles for loss. He also posted a career-high 82 tackles, nine passes defensed and two forced fumbles.
• In 2013, Morgan finished second on the Titans with six sacks and eight quarterback pressures.
• In 2012, Morgan led the team with 6.5 sacks and 19 quarterback pressures, while also posting a career-high 66 tackles.
• In 2011, Morgan appeared in 15 games and led the team with 20 quarterback pressures. He also tallied 47 tackles, 2.5 sacks, three tackles for loss and two passes defensed.
• As a rookie in 2010, saw action in four games and amassed 10 tackles and 1.5 sacks before being placed on season-ending injured reserve.
• In 2009, Morgan's junior year, he won Conference Defensive Player of the Year honors after leading the ACC with 12.5 sacks and finishing second in the conference with 18.5 tackles for loss.

TITANS TIDBITS:

• Morgan is a 2016 graduate of the University of Miami's Executive MBA for Artists and Athletes program.
• Morgan helped deliver his daughter at home in April 2015.
• Morgan changed his jersey number from 90 to 91 during the 2012 offseason. He is familiar with the number 91, having worn it during his three seasons at Georgia Tech. Former Titans defensive lineman Jason Jones wore 91 in Morgan's first two seasons with the club.
• Morgan credits his mother, Pamela Sweigart, as his primary role model in life. He also says that she should be credited with his football success, since, even as a single parent, she managed to take him to every practice and every game during his youth.

CAREER TRANSACTIONS:

• The Coatesville, Pa., native was selected by the Titans in the first round (16th overall) of the 2010 NFL Draft.

SEASON RECAPS:

29 DeMARCO MURRAY

RUNNING BACK • 6'1" • 220 LBS • COLLEGE: OKLAHOMA
ACQUIRED: TRADE (PHI) - 2016 • NFL EXPERIENCE (NFL/TITANS): 6/1
HOMETOWN: LAS VEGAS, NEV.

Pro Bowl: 2013, 2014

PRO: Early in the 2016 offseason, the Titans acquired running back DeMarco Murray in a trade with the Philadelphia Eagles. The 6-foot-1-inch, 220-pounder brings stability and veteran leadership to the Titans' running back corps. A two-time Pro Bowler, Murray is known for his physical, downhill running style, but he is also a skilled pass catcher out of the backfield. The University of Oklahoma product enjoyed a stellar 2014, capturing the NFL's rushing title and earning NFL Offensive Player of the Year honors. A former third-round draft choice of Dallas in 2011, Murray spent his first four seasons with the Cowboys before joining the Philadelphia Eagles for the 2015 campaign.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS:

• Murray earned the 2014 NFL rushing title after leading the league and setting Cowboys franchise records in rushing yards (1,845) and scrimmage yards (2,261). His 1,845 yards were 484 more than the next closest rusher (Pittsburgh running back Le'Veon Bell).
• Murray set an NFL record by rushing for 100-plus yards in each of the Cowboys first eight games in 2014, breaking Hall of Famer Jim Brown's previous record of six-consecutive games to start a season set in 1958.
• In 2014, Murray became the fastest player in Dallas history and fifth-fastest player in league annals to reach the 1,000-yard mark, doing so in just eight games.
• Murray garnered Pro Bowl honors in 2013 after completing his first-career 1,000-yard campaign, totaling 1,121 yards and nine touchdowns.
• As a rookie in 2011, Murray rushed for a Dallas Cowboys franchise record 253 yards against St. Louis (10/23/11), the ninth-highest single-game total in NFL history and the second-most by a rookie back.

TITANS TIDBITS:

• Murray led his high school basketball team to a 2005 state title. He was considered a top-30 basketball recruit in the state as well.
• He started the DeMarco Murray Foundation with the mission to provide families with seriously and chronically ill children with daily encouragement and life changing experiences. More information is available at DeMarcoMurray.com.
• Murray hosted his first youth football camp in Middle Tennessee in June 2016, welcoming 150 players to the two-day event at D1 Sports Training in Franklin.

CAREER TRANSACTIONS:

• The Las Vegas, Nev., native was originally selected by the Dallas Cowboys in the third round (71st overall) the 2011 NFL Draft.
• Signed by the Philadelphia Eagles as an unrestricted free agent on March 12, 2015.
• Traded from the Philadelphia Eagles along with their 2016 fourth-round selection to the Titans for their 2016 fourth-round selection.

SEASON RECAPS:

Hauled in five receptions for 35 yards and a career-high two receiving touchdowns. Extended the Titans' first touchdown drive with a 14-yard reception on third-and-10 late in the second quarter. Extended the Titans' lead to 10-0 by hauling in a pass and flipping into the end zone for a six-yard touchdown with 41 seconds remaining in the first half. Concluded the Titans scoring with a four-yard touchdown catch with less than a minute remaining in the fourth quarter.
• At Detroit (9/18), started at running back and led the team with 89 rushing yards on 12 carries. Led the team with seven receptions for 56 yards. Murray's 145 scrimmage yards were the most by a Titans running back since Chris Johnson totaled 170 scrimmage yards (150 rushing, 20 receiving) at St. Louis on Nov. 3, 2013. Flipped field position with a 67-yard run up the middle to the Lions' 26-yard line in the second quarter. Extended the Titans' game-winning touchdown drive with a five-yard reception on third-and-one in the fourth quarter.
• Against Oakland (9/25), started at running back and led the team with 114 rushing yards on 16 carries with a touchdown. Led the team with five catches for 41 yards. It was his 22nd career 100-yard rushing game and first with the Titans. Kickstarted the Titans' touchdown drive with a 36-yard jaunt off left end in the third quarter. Cut the Raiders' lead to 17-10 with a five-yard touchdown run with 5:51 left to play in the third quarter.
• At Houston (10/2), started at running back and led the team with 95 rushing yards on 25 carries with two touchdowns. Grabbed two passes for 24 yards. Cut the Texans' lead to 17-10 with a two-yard touchdown plunge with 11:21 remaining in the second quarter. Extended the Titans' second touchdown drive with a 14-yard catch on third-and-four in the second quarter. Evened the score at 17-17 with a one-yard touchdown run on third-and-one with 2:28 left to play in the first half. Kept the Titans' third-quarter scoring drive alive with a one-yard run on thirrd-and-one.
• At Miami (10/9), started at running back and carried the ball 27 times for a team-best 121 rushing yards. Tied for the team lead with five catches for 16 yards. Extended the Titans' second touchdown drive with a eight-yard jaunt on third-and-two in the second quarter. Kept the Titans' final touchdown drive alive with a seven-yard run on third-and-two in the fourth quarter.
• Against Cleveland (10/16), started at running back and carried the ball 21 times for a team-best 65 rushing yards with a touchdown. Extended the Titans' lead to 21-13 with a three-yard touchdown plunge with 9:33 left to play in the third quarter.
• Against Indianapolis (10/23), started at running back and led the team with 107 rushing yards on 25 carries with a touchdown. Hauled in three catches for 20 yards. Extended the Titans' opening touchdown drive with a four-yard run on third-and-one in the first quarter. Kept the Titans' touchdown drive alive late in the first half with a 13-yard catch on third-and-five. Cut the Colts lead to 17-13 with a one-yard touchdown plunge with 34 seconds remaining in the first half.
• Against Jacksonville (10/27), started at running back and led the team with 123 rushing yards on 21 carries with a touchdown. Hauled in one reception for five yards. Extended the Titans' first touchdown drive with a 22-yard jaunt on third-and-two late in the first quarter. Gave the Titans a 24-0 lead by reversing field and scoring on a 14-yard run off left end with 7:09 left to play in the first half. Kept the Titans' scoring drive alive just before halftime with a 19-yard rumble off left end in the second quarter.
• At San Diego (11/6), started at running back and carried the ball 14 times for 51 yards with a touchdown. Led the team with seven receptions for 29 yards. Extended the Titans' opening touchdown drive with a one-yard plunge on fourth-and-one in the second stanza. Kept the Titans' fourth touchdown drive alive with a 10-yard catch on third-and-five in the fourth quarter. Converted a third-and-one with a 13-yard jaunt during the Titans' final touchdown drive late in the fourth quarter. Capped the Titans' scoring with an extra-effort, one-yard touchdown plunge with less than three minutes left to play in the game.

• Against Green Bay (11/13), started at running back and led the team with 123 rushing yards on 17 carries, including a 75-yard score. Collected his first career touchdown pass and hauled in two receptions for 33 yards. Gave the Titans an early 7-0 lead with a 75-yard touchdown jaunt off left tackle on the Titans' first play from scrimmage. With his 75-yard touchdown run tied Earl Campbell's franchise record, set in 1979, of five consecutive games with a rushing touchdown. Gave the Titans a 14-0 lead by registering his first career pass, a 10-yard touchdown toss to Delanie Walker with 6:58 remaining in the first quarter. Scored a touchdown on a 75-yard run and added his first career touchdown pass, becoming the first Titans non-quarterback since Earl Campbell in 1980 (Sept. 7 at Pittsburgh) to rush for a touchdown and pass for a touchdown in the same game. Extended the Titans' fourth touchdown drive with a 35-yard reception down the right sideline on third-and-two in the second quarter.
• At Indianapolis (11/20), started at running back and led the team with 70 rushing yards on 21 carries. Pulled in three receptions for nine yards with a touchdown. Reached the 1,000-yard rushing mark for the third time in his six-year career and for the first time as a member of the Titans. Cut the Colts' lead to 21-7 with a leaping, three-yard touchdown reception on third-and-goal with 20 seconds remaining in the first half. Became the second player in franchise history to record at least one touchdown in six consecutive games, joining Bill Groman, who had eight straight games with a touchdown in 1961.
• At Chicago (11/27), started at running back and gained 43 yards on 17 carries. Led the team with five receptions for 41 yards.
• Against Denver (12/11), started at running back and led the team with 92 rushing yards on 21 carries with a touchdown. Gave the Titans an early 7-0 lead with a one-yard touchdown plunge on a third-and-goal rush off left tackle. Extended the Titans' third scoring drive with a five-yard jaunt on third-and-two in the second quarter.
• At Kansas City (12/18), started at running back and led the team with 89 rushing yards on 18 carries. Hauled in five receptions for 52 yards out of the backfield. Extended the Titans' second scoring drive with a pair on third-down conversions: a seven-yard run on third-and-one and a 10-yard rumble on third-and-one in the fourth quarter. Hauled in a 15-yard pass on fourth-and-five during the Titans' final touchdown drive.

2015 (15/8 - Philadelphia): Played in 15 games with eight starts for the Eagles. Amassed a team-best 702 rushing yards on 193 carries with six touchdowns. Collected 44 receptions for 322 yards with a touchdown.
• At Atlanta (9/14), scored two touchdowns (one rushing, one receiving) in his Eagles debut.
• Against New Orleans (10/11), led the team with 83 rushing yards and seven receptions, while amassing 120 yards of total offense. Also scored on a four-yard run.
• Against N.Y. Giants (10/19), posted 112 yards rushing on 21 carries and collected a 12-yard touchdown run.
• At Dallas (11/8), registered 161 total yards of offense (83 rushing, 78 receiving), including a one-yard touchdown run and a career-long 44-yard catch.

2014 (16/16, 2/2 - Dallas): Garnered 2014 NFL Offensive Player of the Year, first-team AP All-Pro and Pro Bowl honors after leading the league with 1,845 rushing yards and 2,261 scrimmage yards. Became the first Cowboys running back to lead the league in rushing since Emmitt Smith in 1995. His 12 games of 100-plus yards was tied for the second-highest total in NFL history. Earned NFC Offensive Player of the Month honors in both September and October, becoming just the third running back (Smith in 1992 and Barry Sanders in 1997) to accomplish the feat in consecutive months. Was named the FedEx Ground Player of the Week five times, the highest total in the NFL in 2014. Tied for the league lead with 13 rushing scores and added 57 catches for 416 yards (7.3 avg.) out of the backfield.
• Against San Francisco (9/7), rushed for his eighth-career 100-yard game (118) on 22 carries with a touchdown. Also became the first player to hit 100 yards against the 49ers in San Francisco's previous 17 games.
• At Tennessee (9/14), notched 115 first-half rushing yards, the most in the first half in his career and the fourth-most by a Cowboy in a half since 1991, while finishing the contest with 167 yards a touchdown.
• Against New Orleans (9/28), became only the fourth running back in NFL history to open the season with at least 100 yards rushing and a touchdown in each of the first four games of a season after rushing for 149 yards and two touchdowns. Also became the 12th player in team history with 20 career rushing touchdowns.
• At Seattle (10/12), joined Jim Brown (1958) as the only players in NFL history to rush for 100 yards in each of the first six games of a season with 115 yards and a touchdown on 29 carries.
• Against N.Y. Giants (10/19), rushed for 128 yards and a touchdown, becoming the first player in league history to break the 100-yard mark in each of the first seven games of a season.
• Against Washington (10/27), became the first player in NFL history with eight straight 100-yard outings to open a season after tallying 141 yards on 19 carries. Also became the fastest Cowboy to reach 1,000 yards in a season and tied for the fifth-fastest in NFL history. Additionally, set a career high with 80 receiving yards, including a then-career-long reception of 34 yards, and his second-best scrimmage-yard total (221).
• At N.Y. Giants (11/23), notched his 10th 100-yard rushing game of the season, totaling 121 yards on 24 carries while becoming the seventh Cowboy in team history to reach 4,000 career rushing yards.
• At Chicago (12/4), rushed a career-high 32 times for a season-high 179 yards and one touchdown. Also led the team with a career-high nine receptions and his 41 touches rank second in Cowboys single-game history.
• At Washington (12/28), eclipsed the 100-yard mark for the 12th time in 2014, rushing for 100 yards and a touchdown. The touchdown marked his 13th rushing score of the year, which tied for fifth in team history and also tied for the NFL lead (Seattle RB Marshawn Lynch).
• In the Divisional Playoff round at Green Bay (1/11), rushed for 123 yards and a touchdown on 25 carries. His 123 yards ranked ninth in Cowboys single-game playoff history and he became the first Cowboy since Smith in 1995-96 to rush for a touchdown in consecutive playoff games.

2013 (14/14 - Dallas): Was named to the Pro Bowl for the first time in his career, finishing the season with 1,121 yards and nine touchdowns on 217 carries (5.2 avg.), while adding 53 catches for 350 yards and a touchdown.
• Against St. Louis (9/22), rushed for 175 yards and a touchdown in a win.
• At New Orleans (11/10), tallied 89 yards and a touchdown on 16 carries.
• Against Oakland (11/28), recorded his first-career multi-touchdown game in a Thanksgiving Day win, becoming the first Cowboy since Julius Jones in 2004 to record three rushing touchdowns in a game.
• At Chicago (12/9), registered his second 100-yard contest of the season, leading the team with 146 yards rushing.
• At Green Bay (12/15), scored one touchdown and rushed for 134 yards on 18 carries for his second-consecutive 100-yard game.
• At Washington (12/22), corralled the first receiving touchdown of his career - a game-winner. Also added 96 yards and a touchdown on the ground.

2012 (10/10 - Dallas): Led the Cowboys in all rushing categories with 663 yards and four touchdowns on 161 carries over 10 games.
• At N.Y. Giants (9/5), opened the season with a game-high 131 rushing yards on 20 carries.
• Against Philadelphia (12/2), carried 23 times for 83 yards and a touchdown in his first game back following a foot injury.
• Recorded a touchdown in three-consecutive games: against Philadelphia (12/2), at Cincinnati (12/9) and against Pittsburgh (12/16).

2011 (13/7 - Dallas): Appeared in 13 games with seven starts as a rookie, and lead the team with 897 rushing yards and 164 carries. His 5.5 yards-per-carry average was tops among NFL running backs with at least 150 carries.
• Earned PWFA All-Rookie Team honors and was also named the NFL's Offensive Rookie of the Month in November.
• Rushed for 139 yards against Seattle (11/6) and 135 yards and a touchdown against Buffalo (11/13), capping a four-game span in which he rushed for 601 yards - the most ever by a Cowboy over a four-game stretch and tied for fifth all-time among NFL rookies over the period.
• Against St. Louis (10/23), established a single-game Cowboys rushing record with his 253-yard performance. Scored his first-career touchdown on a 91-yard run, the longest first-career touchdown run since the league merger in 1970.

COLLEGE:
• Finished his Oklahoma career as the school's career all-purpose yardage leader (6,718) and also owns the Sooners record for career touchdowns (65) and career receiving yards by a running back (1,571).

OUTSIDE LINEBACKER • 6'4" • 257 LBS • COLLEGE: TEXAS
ACQUIRED: UNRESTRICTED FREE AGENT (WASHINGTON) - 2015
NFL EXPERIENCE (NFL/TITANS): 8/2 • HOMETOWN: HOUSTON, TEXAS

Captain: 2015, 2016 Pro Bowl: 2009, 2010, 2013

PRO: The Titans entered the 2015 NFL free agency period looking to add pass rushing talent from the outside linebacker spot in their 3-4 defensive alignment. The club found just that when they signed three-time Pro Bowler Brian Orakpo as an unrestricted free agent on March 13, 2015. The 6-foot-4-inch, 257-pounder arrived in Tennessee having registered 40 career sacks and 156 quarterback pressures in six seasons (2009-14) with the Washington Redskins. In his first campaign with the Titans, he tied for the team lead with seven sacks and led the squad with 12 tackles for loss and 37 quarterback pressures. The University of Texas product was originally drafted by the Redskins in the first round (13th overall) of the 2009 NFL Draft.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS:

• In 2015, Orakpo started all 16 games in his first season with the Titans and tied for the team lead with seven sacks. He also led the squad with 12 tackles for loss and 37 quarterback pressures.
• In 2013, Orakpo earned his third career Pro Bowl berth after leading the Redskins with 10 sacks.
• Orakpo led or tied for the team lead in sacks in each of his first three seasons with the Redskins.
• In 2009, Orakpo was selected to his second consecutive Pro Bowl after leading the squad with 8.5 sacks.
• In 2009, Orakpo earned a Pro Bowl berth and was named to the PFW/PFWA All-Rookie Team after setting a Redskins rookie record and leading all NFL rookies with 11 sacks.

TITANS TIDBITS:

• Orakpo annually hosts The Brian Orakpo Leukemia Golf Classic to raise money for the National Capital Area Chapter of the Leukemia and Lymphoma Society.
• Orakpo is a good friend with former Titans safety Michael Griffin. The two played together for three seasons at the University of Texas and Griffin was an integral part in helping recruit Orakpo to Nashville.

CAREER TRANSACTIONS:

• The Houston, Texas, native was selected by the Washington Redskins in the first round (13th overall) of the 2009 NFL Draft.
• Signed by the Redskins as their franchise player on March 27, 2014.

SEASON RECAPS:

2016 (14/14 - Tennessee): Leads the team and is tied for third in the AFC with 11 sacks. Leads the team with 44 quarterback pressures. Tied for a career-high with eight tackles at Miami (10/9/16). Has tied for the team lead in tackles once in 2016 (at MIA). Has led or tied for the team lead in sacks eight times in 2016 (at DET, vs. OAK, at HOU, at MIA, vs. CLE, vs. GB, vs. DEN, at KC). Has led or tied for the team lead in quarterback pressures six times in 2016 (at DET, vs. OAK, at HOU, vs. GB, vs. DEN, at KC).
• Against Minnesota (9/11), started at outside linebacker.
• At Detroit (9/18), started at outside linebacker and posted five tackles, including two sacks, a team-high four quarterback pressures and two stops for loss. Dropped Matthew Stafford for a one-yard sack early in the third quarter. Came off the edge and sacked Stafford for a nine-yard loss during the Lions' final drive in the fourth quarter.
• Against Oakland (9/25), started at outside linebacker and tallied two tackles, including a sack and a team-best three quarterback pressures. Ended a Raiders' drive by dropping Derek Carr for a four-yard sack on third-and-nine late in the third quarter.
• At Houston (10/2), started at outside linebacker and recorded four tackles, a sack, four quarterback pressures and a pass defensed. Combined with Al Woods to stop Lamar Miller for no gain on a rush off left tackle in the first quarter. Sacked Brock Osweiler for a 10-yard loss in the first quarter. Broke up a pass intended for DeAndre Hopkins in the second quarter.
• At Miami (10/9), started at outside linebacker and tied a career-high with eight tackles, including two sacks, three quarterback pressures and a stop for loss. Became the third player in franchise history to record six or more sacks in the first five games of a season since individual sacks became an official statistic in 1982. Stuffed Dominique Jones for a one-yard loss on a short pass in the left flat in the third quarter. Dropped Ryan Tannehill for a nine-yard sack midway through the fourth quarter. Two plays later, sacked Tannehill for a 10-yard loss on third-and-10.
• Against Cleveland (10/16), started at outside linebacker and notched four tackles, including a sack and three quarterback pressures. Dropped Cody Kessler for a nine-yard sack midway through the third quarter. The play gave Orakpo five consecutive games with at least one sack, marking the eighth time in franchise history a player accomplished the feat.
• Against Indianapolis (10/23), started at outside linebacker and collected two tackles.
• Against Jacksonville (10/27), started at outside linebacker and posted three quarterback pressures.
• At San Diego (11/6), started at outside linebacker and tallied three tackles and three quarterback pressures.
• Against Green Bay (11/13), started at outside linebacker and notched four tackles, including a team-best two sacks and tied for the club lead with four quarterback pressures. Sacked Aaron Rodgers for an 11-yard loss late in the third quarter. Registered his second sack of the afternoon by dropping Rodgers for an eight-yard loss late in the fourth quarter.
• At Indianapolis (11/20), started at outside linebacker and recorded five tackles, five quarterback pressures and a pass defensed. Batted down a screen pass intended for Jordan Todman in the second quarter.
• At Chicago (11/27), started at outside linebacker and registered three tackles and two quarterback pressures.
• Against Denver (12/11), started at outside linebacker in his 100th career NFL game and collected four tackles, a sack and a team-high six quarterback pressures. Dropped Trevor Siemian for a five-yard sack late in the third quarter.
• At Kansas City (12/18), started at outside linebacker and tallied five tackles, a sack, four quarterback pressures and a pass defensed. Ended a Chiefs drive by batting down a third-and-nine pass intended for Jeremy Maclin late in the first quarter. Dropped Alex Smith for a four-yard sack in the third quarter.

2015 (16/16 - Tennessee): Started all 16 games at outside linebacker in his first season with the Titans and tied for the team lead with seven sacks. Led the squad with 12 tackles for loss and 37 quarterback pressures. Registered 64 tackles, five passes defensed, a forced fumble and a blocked field goal. With his sack at Jacksonville (11/19/15), tied a career high with his fourth consecutive game with at least one sack. Led or tied for the team lead in sacks five times in 2015 (vs. MIA, at HOU, at NO, vs. CAR, at JAX). Led or tied for the team lead in quarterback pressures 11 times in 2015 (at TB, at CLE, vs. MIA, vs. ATL, at HOU, at NO, at JAX, vs. JAX, at NE, vs. HOU, at IND). Led or tied for the team lead in tackles for loss four times in 2015 (vs. IND, at NO, vs. OAK, at IND). Tied for the team lead in passes defensed four times in 2015 (at HOU, at NO, at JAX, vs. HOU).
• At Tampa Bay (9/13), started at outside linebacker in his Titans debut and led the team with four quarterback pressures. Collected a tackle.

50 NATE PALMER

LINEBACKER • 6'2" • 248 LBS • COLLEGE: ILLINOIS STATE
ACQUIRED: WAIVERS (GB) - 2016 • NFL EXPERIENCE (NFL/TITANS): 4/1
HOMETOWN: CHICAGO, ILL.
GAMES PLAYED/GAMES STARTED: 36/12 (PLAYOFFS: 2/0)

PRO: The Titans clamied Nate Palmer off waivers during the 2016 offseason to bring experience and versatility to the linebacker position. The 6-foot-2-inch, 248-pounder spent his first three NFL seasons with the Green Bay Packers. The Illinois State product played in 24 games with 12 starts from 2013-15, while missing the entirety of his second season with an injury. Palmer has played both inside and outside linebacker during his NFL career and brings great flexibility to the linebacker corps.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS:
• In 2015, played in a career-best 16 games with 10 starts for Green Bay and collected career-highs with 80 tackles, a sack, two quarterback pressures and three passes defensed.

TITANS TIDBITS:
• Palmer was the high school basketball teammate of current N.Y. Knicks point guard Derrick Rose for two seasons.
• Palmer names his father, Nathan Sr., as the biggest influence on him as he never made excuses and successfully started his own trucking business in Chicago.
• During college, Palmer held summer jobs at the Boys and Girls Club in Champaign and later as a busboy and food expediter at the Bloomington (Ill.) Country Club.

CAREER TRANSACTIONS:
• The Chicago, Ill., native was originally selected by the Green Bay Packers in the sixth round (193rd overall) of the 2013 NFL Draft.
• Released by the Packers April 8, 2016.
• Claimed off waivers by the Titans from the Packers on April 11, 2016.

SEASON RECAPS:
2016 (12/0 - Tennessee): Leads the team with 11 special teams tackles. Has tied for the team lead in special teams tackles six times in 2016 (at DET, vs. CLE, vs. JAX, at SD, vs. DEN, at KC).
• Against Minnesota (9/11), made his Titans debut as a reserve on special teams.
• At Detroit (9/18), played as a reserve on special teams and tied for the team lead with two special teams tackles.
• Against Oakland (9/25), saw action as a reserve on special teams and tallied a tackle on coverage units.
• At Houston (10/2), was inactive.
• At Miami (10/9), was inactive.
• Against Cleveland (10/16), saw action as a reserve on special teams and tied for the team lead with one stop.
• Against Indianapolis (10/23), played as a reserve on special teams and saw a few snaps as a linebacker on defense as well.
• Against Jacksonville (10/27), saw limited action as a reserve at linebacker. Tied for the team lead with a special teams tackle.
• At San Diego (11/6), tied for the team lead with a special teams tackle on coverage units.
• Against Green Bay (11/13), played as a reserve on special teams and saw limited action at linebacker. Registered a special teams stop on coverage units.
• At Indianapolis (11/20), saw action as a reserve on special teams.
• At Chicago (11/27), played as a reserve on special teams and registered a tackle on coverage units.
• Against Denver (12/11), saw action as a reserve on special teams and tied for the team lead with a special teams stop.
• At Kansas City (12/18), tied for the team lead with two special teams tackles on coverage units.

2015 (16/10, 2/0 - Green Bay): Played in all 16 games with 10 starts at linebacker and finished third on the team with 80 tackles and added a sack, two quarterback pressures and three passes defensed. Added four tackles on special teams. Appeared in both postseason contests.
• At Chicago (9/13), saw significant action as a reserve and finished second on the team with nine tackles and a pass defensed.
• Against Seattle (9/20), made the first start of his career on the inside, and led the linebackers with six tackles and a pass defensed.
• At San Francisco (10/4), started and led the linebackers with six tackles and a pass defensed.
• Against San Diego (10/18), started and finished with a team-leading and career-high 13 tackles. Added a quarterback pressure and helped limit the Chargers to just 60 yards rushing on 21 carries.
• Against Detroit (11/15), started at linebacker and registered 11 tackles, including a stop of fullback Michael Burton for no gain on a third-and-one in the fourth quarter to force a Detroit punt.
• At Minnesota (11/22), started and finished with five tackles and his first career sack. Midway through the second quarter, came up after initially dropping into coverage to bring down Teddy Bridgewater for a sack.
• Against Chicago (11/26), started and posted 11 tackles.

2014 (0/0, 0/0 - Green Bay): Spent the entire season on injured reserve after suffering a knee injury in the preseason finale. Placed on injured reserve on Aug. 30.

2013 (8/2, 0/0 - Green Bay): Played in eight games with two starts at outside linebacker during his rookie campaign. Posted 18 tackles and an additional tackle on special teams. Was a healthy inactive for eight games and the team's playoff contest.
• At Cincinnati (9/22), made his NFL debut on special teams, but did not record any statistics.
• Against Cleveland (10/20), made his first pro start and finished with six tackles, two pressures and a quarterback hit.
• Against Chicago (11/4), saw extended action in the second half after fellow rookie outside lienbacker Andy Mulumba left the game with an ankle injury. Registered a then career-high seven tackles and a quarterback hit.

COLLEGE:
• Started all 24 games during his two seasons at Illinois State (2011-12) after playing his first two collegiate seasons at the University of Illinois (2009-10).
• Earned second-team All-Missouri Valley Football Conference honors at defensive end following both of his junior and senior seasons. Registered 117 tackles, including 25.5 for a loss, 17 sacks, five forced fumbles and two fumble recoveries for the Redbirds.
• Appeared in 21 games during his two seasons at Illinois, and saw time primarily on special teams for the Fighting Illini, but also registered nine tackles as a reserve defensive end.
• As a senior (2012), earned second-team All-MVFC honors for the second consecutive season after starting all 13 games and collecting career highs with 71 tackles and 15½ tackles for a loss. Added 7.5 sacks, three forced fumbles, a fumble recovery and a pass defensed.
• Was selected to play in the NFL Players Association Collegiate Bowl following the season, becoming the 15th Illinois State player to be chosen for a postseason all-star game and the first since 2008.
• As a junior (2011), started all 11 games and earning second-team All-MVFC honors after leading the conference with a career-best 9.5 sacks. Also posted 46 tackles, including 10.5 stops for a loss, two forced fumbles, a fumble recovery for a touchdown and a pass defensed. Was also named to the MVFC All-Newcomer team as one of the lynchpins on a Redbirds defense that ranked No. 1 in the conference in yards allowed per game.

• As a sophomore (2010), appeared in nine games as a reserve linebacker for the Illini, seeing most of his playing time come on special teams. Tallied six tackles on defense.
• As a redshirt freshman (2009), appeared in all 12 games, playing predominantly on special teams, but also sparingly on defense, where he recorded three assisted tackles. Also earned Academic All-Big Ten honors.
• Earned his degree in health science from Illinois State.

PERSONAL:
• Was a four-sport letterman at Simeon (Chicago, Ill.) High School and was named to the 2007 All-Public League team by the Chicago Sun-Times and the special mention all-state team by the Champaign News-Gazette following his senior season.
• Earned All-American acclaim from both SuperPrep and PrepStar after seeing action at defensive end, tight end, linebacker and offensive line during his high school career.
• Recorded 128 tackles and 18 sacks on defense, and 10 catches for 250 yards and a touchdown on offense.
• Also lettered two years each in baseball, track and field, and basketball.
• Follow Palmer on Twitter at @natep4.
• Born Nathan Palmer Jr. on Sept. 23, 1989 in Chicago, Ill.

37 KALAN REED

CORNERBACK • 5'11" • 192 LBS • COLLEGE: SOUTHERN MISS
ACQUIRED: 7TH ROUND - 2016 • NFL EXPERIENCE (NFL/TITANS): ROOKIE
HOMETOWN: BIRMINGHAM, ALA.
GAMES PLAYED/GAMES STARTED: 2/0 (PLAYOFFS: 0/0)

PRO: Kalan Reed was selected by the Titans with the final pick in the seventh round of the 2016 NFL Draft. The 5-foot-11-inch, 192-pounder was a three-year starter at Southern Mississippi and has a knack for finding the end zone having returned three of his eight interceptions for touchdowns. His draft selection adds more youth and athleticism to an already-competitive defensive back unit, and he also will compete for playing time on special teams coverage units.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS:

• In 2015, Reed was named first-team All-Conference USA after notching a school record 19 passes defensed, including a career-high four interceptions, two which he returned for touchdowns.

TITANS TIDBITS:

• The Titans selected Reed with the 253rd pick in the draft making him "Mr. Irrelevant," an unofficial title bestowed upon the last person selected in the NFL Draft. Reed was flown to California in early June for Irrelevant Week, which includes media events, fundraisers, and a banquet at which the honoree is given the Lowsman Trophy — as opposed to the Heisman Trophy.
• Reed lived in Nashville from the time he was two-years old until he was six. He started playing football in Antioch, Tenn., with the Flatrock Vols pee-wee team and played during halftime of a Titans game when he was five-years old.
• Reed's cousin, Maurice Kelly, played safety with the Seattle Seahawks and is currently the VP of Player Development for the organization. Reed's mother, Keyaschei, once worked in the Memphis Grizzlies ticket office.

CAREER TRANSACTIONS:

• The Birmingham, Ala., native was selected by the Titans in the seventh round (253rd overall) of the 2016 NFL Draft.
• Waived by the Titans on Sept. 3, 2016 and signed to the team's practice squad a day later.
• Signed by the Titans from their practice squad to the active roster on Nov. 28, 2016.

SEASON RECAPS:

2016 (2/0): Appeared in his first career NFL game against Denver (12/11/16).
• Against Denver (12/11), made his NFL debut as a reserve on special teams.
• At Kansas City (12/18), saw action as a reserve on special teams.

COLLEGE:

• In four seasons at Southern Mississippi (2012-15), finished his collegiate career having played in 48 games with 39 starts. Registered 152 career tackles, eight interceptions (three returned for touchdowns), 35 passes defensed and 8.5 tackles for loss.

AS A SENIOR (2015), named first-team All-Conference USA after starting all 14 games and registering 56 tackles, which was fourth-best on the team. Added a single-season school record 19 pass breakups and four interceptions, four tackles for loss for 14 yards, two fumble recoveries and two forced fumbles. Selected to play in the NFLPA Collegiate Bowl.
• Against Austin Peay (9/12), recorded his first interception on the season and returned it 76 yards for a touchdown.
• At Marshall (10/9), totaled two tackles and an interception.
• At UNC Charlotte (10/24), made a spectacular one-handed interception in the end zone in front of a receiver that earned an ESPN Top 10 play of the day.
• At Western Kentucky (12/5), registered an interception off Brandon Doughty and returned for a 40-yard touchdown in the Conference-USA Championship game.
• Against Washington (12/26), tallied career-high tying nine tackles to go along with a forced fumble and a fumble recovery in his final game in the Zaxby's Heart of Dallas Bowl.

AS A JUNIOR (2014), started all 12 games and recorded 34 tackles, a tackle for loss, two interceptions and a team-high nine pass breakups.
• At Mississippi State (8/30), notched three tackles and his first interception of the campaign.
• Against Alcorn State (9/6), posted four tackles and an interception.

WIDE RECEIVER • 6'2" • 194 LBS • COLLEGE: MASSACHUSETTS
ACQUIRED: 5TH ROUND - 2016 • NFL EXPERIENCE (NFL/TITANS): ROOKIE
HOMETOWN: PISCATAWAY, N.J.
GAMES PLAYED/GAMES STARTED: 14/10 (PLAYOFFS: 0/0)

PRO: The Titans selected Tajaé Sharpe in the fifth round (140th overall) of the 2015 NFL Draft. The 6-foot-2-inch, 194-pounder is known for his precise route-running and he shows excellent body control and concentration when the ball is in the air. Sharpe led the nation with 111 receptions as a senior and finished his career as the University of Massachusetts all-time leader in receptions, receiving yards and catches in a single game.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS:

• In 2015, Sharpe enjoyed a stellar senior campaign by by being named a Walter Camp All-American and first-team All-Mid-American Conference selection. Sharpe led the nation with 111 receptions and led the Minutemen with 1,319 receiving yards and five touchdowns. He topped 100 receiving yards in six games and recorded at least 11 receptions in six games.
• Sharpe caught at least one pass in all 47 career games in which he appeared at Massachusetts.
• In 2014, Sharpe was selected All-MAC first team after leading all Minutemen with 85 receptions, 1,281 receiving yards and seven touchdown receptions.

TITANS TIDBITS:

• Sharpe's grandmother, Cozy Little, is a breast cancer survivor having beat the disease in 2001.
• Sharpe was so excited to get into football mode that he brought his own football to the first day of the Titans rookie minicamp. He says he usually goes to sleep with it and carries one around as much as he can, just because.
• Sharpe's family members nicknamed him "Show," which is short for "Showtime."

CAREER TRANSACTIONS:

• The Piscataway, N.J., native was selected by the Titans in the fifth round (140th overall) the 2016 NFL Draft.

SEASON RECAPS:

2016 (14/10): Ranks fourth on the team with 38 receptions and third on the squad with 474 receiving yards. Has led the team in receptions once in 2016 (vs. MIN). Has led the team in receiving yards once in 2016 (vs. MIN). Collected his first career touchdown against Green Bay (11/13/16). Appeared in his first career NFL game as the starter at wide receiver and became the team's first rookie wide receiver to start a season opener in the "Titans era" (1999–present) against Minnesota (9/11/16).
• Against Minnesota (9/11), made his NFL debut as a starter at wide receiver and led the team with seven receptions and 76 receiving yards. Became the team's first rookie wide receiver to start a season opener in the "Titans era" (1999–present). In franchise history, only one rookie—Sid Blanks in 1964—had more receptions in a season opener. Hauled in his first career reception with a 12-yard catch from Marcus Mariota in the first quarter. Extended the Titans' first touchdown drive with an eight-yard catch on third-and-eight late in the second quarter.
• At Detroit (9/18), started at wide receiver and hauled in four receptions for 33 yards. Extended the Titans' game-winning touchdown drive with a seven-yard catch on third-and-five in the fourth quarter.
• Against Oakland (9/25), started at wide receiver and registered three receptions for 48 yards. Hauled in a 23-yard pass and a 19-yard reception during the final drive in the fourth quarter.
• At Houston (10/2), started at wide receiver and caught two passes for 15 yards.
• At Miami (10/9), started at wide receiver and hauled in two catches for 17 yards during the Titans' touchdown drive before the half.
• Against Cleveland (10/16), played as a reserve at wide receiver and carried the ball once for one yard on a reverse.
• Against Indianapolis (10/23), saw action as a reserve at wide receiver and hauled in four passes for 59 yards. Extended the Titans' final touchdown drive with a 16-yard catch on third-and-15 late in the third quarter.
• Against Jacksonville (10/27), played as a reserve at wide receiver and caught one pass for 11 yards during the Titans' scoring drive just before halftime.
• At San Diego (11/6), saw action as a reserve at wide receiver and snared four receptions for 58 yards. Extended the Titans' second touchdown drive with a 29-yard reception along the left sideline on third-and-one late in the second quarter. Hauled in three receptions for 29 yards during the Titans' go-ahead touchdown drive to open the third quarter.
• Against Green Bay (11/13), started at wide receiver and collected three receptions for 68 yards with his first career receiving touchdown. Kept the Titans' second touchdown drive alive with a leaping, 22-yard catch on third-and-14 in the first quarter. Registered his first career NFL touchdown with a 33-yard catch from Marcus Mariota midway through the third quarter.
• At Indianapolis (11/20), started at wide receiver and caught four passes for 68 yards with a touchdown. Got open deep in the end zone for a 34-yard touchdown pass midway through the third quarter.
• At Chicago (11/27), started at wide receiver and snared two receptions for 11 yards.
• Against Denver (12/11), started at wide receiver.
• At Kansas City (12/18), started at wide receiver and snared two receptions for 10 yards. Drew a 20-yard pass interference penalty during the Titans' final touchdown drive.

COLLEGE:

• In four seasons at Massachusetts (2012-15), Sharpe appeared in 47 games with 43 starts and finished his career as the school's all-time leader with 277 receptions and 3,486 receiving yards. The two-time All-MAC first team performer ended his collegiate career ranked third in Minuteman history with 16 touchdowns and sixth with 3,497 all-purpose yards.

AS A SENIOR (2015), was a 2015 Walter Camp All-American and first-team All-Mid-American Conference honoree. Started all 12 games and for the second consecutive season led the team in receptions (111), receiving yards (1,319), touchdown catches (five) and yards per game (109.9). 36 LeSHAUN SIMS

CORNERBACK • 6'0" • 203 LBS • COLLEGE: SOUTHERN UTAH
ACQUIRED: 5TH ROUND - 2016 • NFL EXPERIENCE (NFL/TITANS): ROOKIE
HOMETOWN: LAS VEGAS, NEV.
GAMES PLAYED/GAMES STARTED: 11/0 (PLAYOFFS: 0/0)

PRO: LeShaun Sims was selected by the Titans in the fifth round of the 2016 NFL Draft. His presence adds more youth and athleticism to an already-competitive defensive back unit, and he also will vie for time on special teams. With the reputation as a tough and physical corner and a willing tackler, he possesses the physical tools to match up with NFL receivers after a successful four-year career at Southern Utah.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS:

• In 2015, Sims was a first-team All-Big Sky performer, finishing the campaign with a pair of interceptions and 54 tackles. He helped the Thunderbirds win the conference title.

TITANS TIDBITS:

• He was commonly referred to as "Swis" in college because for his first college game the name on the back of his jersey was upside down. The nickname stuck.
• Prior to Sims, no prior student-athlete from Andre Agassi Prep in Las Vegas, Nev., had ever earned an athletic scholarship. When he was a high school freshman, the Stars played eight-man football in the public charter school's first year with a football team. They moved to 11-man football during his sophomore year, and by his senior season, the team won a league title.
• Sims is a movie buff who lists "Training Day" among his all-time favorites.

CAREER TRANSACTIONS:

• The Las Vegas, Nev., native was selected by the Titans in the fifth round (157th overall) of the 2016 NFL Draft.

SEASON RECAPS:

2016 (11/0): Has led or tied for the team lead in passes defensed twice in 2016 (vs. DEN, at KC). Has tied for the team lead in special teams tackles three times in 2016 (at HOU, vs. JAX, at SD). Collected his first career interception at Kansas City (12/18/16). Appeared in his first career NFL game at Houston (10/2/16).
• Against Minnesota (9/11), was inactive.
• At Detroit (9/18), was inactive.
• Against Oakland (9/25), was inactive.
• At Houston (10/2), made his NFL debut as a reserve on special teams and recorded a tackle on coverage units.
• At Miami (10/9), played as a reserve on special teams.
• Against Cleveland (10/16), saw action as a reserve on special teams.
• Against Indianapolis (10/23), played as a reserve on special teams coverage units.
• Against Jacksonville (10/27), played one snap as a reserve in the secondary. Tied for the team lead with a special teams tackle. Recovered a muffed punt by Marquise Lee at the Jaguars' 35-yard line late in the third quarter to set up a Ryan Succop field goal.
• At San Diego (11/6), tied for the team lead with a special teams tackle on coverage units.
• Against Green Bay (11/13), played as a reserve on special teams and saw limited action at cornerback. Notched two tackles on defense. Recovered a Trevor Davis muffed punt at the Packers' 24-yard line in the second quarter. Registered a special teams stop on coverage units.
• At Indianapolis (11/20), saw action as a reserve on special teams.
• At Chicago (11/27), saw significant action as a reserve at cornerback and registered four tackles and a pass defensed.
• Against Denver (12/11), played a significant role as a reserve at cornerback and collected four tackles, a team-high two passes defensed and a stop for loss. Broke up a pass intended for Jordan Taylor in the end zone late in the third quarter. Two plays later, defended a third-and-goal pass intended for Demaryius Thomas in the end zone.
• At Kansas City (12/18), saw significant action as a reserve at cornerback and tallied a tackle, his first career interception and another pass defensed. Notched a special teams tackle on coverage units. Collected his first career interception by picking off an Alex Smith pass intended for Jeremy Maclin in the end zone during the third quarter.

COLLEGE:

• In four seasons at Southern Utah, he appeared in 47 total games with 46 starts, including starts in every game during his final three seasons. His career totals included 220 tackles, eight interceptions, 27 passes defensed, one forced fumble, five fumble recoveries and four tackles for loss.

AS A SENIOR (2015), started all 12 games for the Thunderbirds and finished the season with two interceptions (one returned for a touchdown), 12 passes defensed, 54 tackles, 2.5 tackles for loss and one forced fumble. Named first-team All-Big Sky Conference at cornerback. Played in the East-West Shrine Game following the season's conclusion.

AS A JUNIOR (2014), appeared in all 12 games and tallied 67 total tackles, two fumble recoveries and nine pass breakups. Named third-team All-Big Sky.

AS A SOPHOMORE (2013), started all 13 games at cornerback. Led the team's corners with 62 tackles and tied for second on the team with three interceptions and four passes defensed. Added two fumble recoveries and 1.5 tackles for loss.

AS A REDSHIRT FRESHMAN (2012), played in 10 games with nine starts, missing one contest due to injury. Tallied 37 tackles and tied for the team lead with three interceptions. Added two passes defensed and recovered a fumble.

AS A FRESHMAN (2011), redshirted.
• Graduated in April 2016 with a degree in exercise science.

• Single, splits time between Nashville and Las Vegas, Nev.
• Attended Andre Agassi Prep (Las Vegas, Nev.), where he earned second-team all-state honors as a wide receiver and defensive back. As a senior, he tallied 52 tackles and a team-leading six interceptions on defense. On offense, he produced more than 400 receiving yards and five receiving touchdowns while rushing for 170 yards and another score.

LINEBACKER • 5'11" • 231 LBS • COLLEGE: MIAMI (FLA.)
ACQUIRED: UNRESTRICTED FREE AGENT (PIT) - 2016
NFL EXPERIENCE (NFL/TITANS): 5/1 • HOMETOWN: MIAMI, FLA.
GAMES PLAYED/GAMES STARTED: 44/18 (PLAYOFFS: 3/1)

PRO: The Titans signed Sean Spence as an unrestricted free agent during the 2016 offseason to bring depth and experience to the inside linebacker position. The 5-foot-11-inch, 231-pounder spent his first four NFL seasons with the Pittsburgh Steelers, including his initial three campaigns working with current Titans defensive coordinator Dick LeBeau. The University of Miami product missed the entirety of his first two pro seasons, but bounced back to play in 31 regular season games in his next two campaigns (2014-15). Spence's speed and athleticism allow him to roam the field from sideline to sideline and be disruptive against the run and the pass.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS:
• In 2014, Spence played in all 16 games with nine starts and registered career-highs with 52 tackles, including a sack.

TITANS TIDBITS:
• Spence was the recipient of the Pittsburgh Steelers' Ed Block Courage Award in 2014.

CAREER TRANSACTIONS:
• The Miami, Fla., native was originally selected by the Pittsburgh Steelers in the third round (86th overall) of the 2012 NFL Draft.
• Signed by the Titans as an unrestricted free agent on March 16, 2016.

SEASON RECAPS:
2016 (13/5 - Tennessee): Ranks fourth on the team with seven special teams tackles. Ranks third on the squad with 65 tackles. Has tied for the team lead in tackles once in 2016 (at MIA). Has tied for the team lead in sacks once in 2016 (vs. CLE). Has led or tied for the team lead in special teams tackles three times in 2016 (vs. OAK, at MIA, vs. JAX). COLLEGE:
• Started 40 of 47 games at Miami (Fla.) and finished his career ranked 11th in school history with 318 tackles (170 solo) that included 10.5 sacks for minus-87 yards and 47.0 stops for losses totaling 164 yards. Forced four fumbles, recovered another, deflected nine passes and had a seven-yard interception return for a touchdown.
• Became the first Hurricane to record 100 tackles in consecutive seasons (111 in 2010 and 106 in 2011) since 2003 (Jonathan Vilma made 133 stops in 2002 and 127 in 2003) and is just one of six Hurricanes to ever record 100 tackles at least twice in a career.
• As a senior (2011), earned All-American fourth-team honors from Phil Steele, as the Butkus Award semifinalist. Was the recipient of the team's Captain's Award and Jack Hardin Most Outstanding Player Award. Earned All-Atlantic Coast Conference first-team honors from the Atlantic Coast Sports Media Association. Started the team's final 11 games and led the team with 106 tackles (54 solo), three sacks for minus 23 yards and a team-high 14 stops for losses of 39 yards. Finished fourth in the ACC with an average of 9.64 tackles per game. Also caused a fumble, deflected one pass and registered at least 10 tackles in six games.

• As a junior (2010), the team's Most Valuable Player earned second-team All-ACC honors from the Atlantic Coast Sports Media Association. One of seven Hurricanes to start all 13 games, the weakside linebacker finished second on the team and fifth in the conference with a career-high 111 tackles (59 solo) that included 2.5 sacks for minus 21 yards. Paced the Hurricanes and ranked fourth in the league with a career-high 17.0 stops for losses of 61 yards for a team that ranked 22nd in the nation in total defense (323.31 ypg). Caused two fumbles, recovered another and deflected six passes.

• As a sophomore (2009), started seven of the 10 games he appeared in and finished with 36 tackles (19 solo). Finished with three sacks for minus 28 yards, 6.5 stops for losses of 33 yards and a quarterback pressure.

• As a freshman (2008), named a Freshman All-American selection by The Sporting News and College Football News. Was named the Atlantic Coast Conference Defensive Rookie of the Year by the Atlantic Coast Sports Media Association. Started the last nine games, finishing third on the team with 65 tackles (38 solo) that included two sacks and a team-high 9.5 stops for losses of 31 yards. Also caused a fumble and deflected a pass, scoring on a seven-yard interception return during his first career start against Florida State.

• Majored in general studies at Miami (Fla.).

PERSONAL:

• Attended Northwestern High School (Miami, Fla.) and was a four-star prospect, rated 13th among the nation's outside linebackers by Rivals.com.

• As a senior in 2007, the team's national championship campaign, he delivered 123 tackles with two interceptions and three sacks.

• Was rated the second-best outside linebacker in the country by ESPN and earned All-American honors from Prep State. Added all-state accolades from the Florida Sportswriters Association and ranked sixth on the Miami Herald South Florida Top 25. Was selected to the Atlanta Journal-Constitution Super Southern 100 team and competed in the inaugural Under-Armour All-Star game

• During his junior campaign, the team compiled a 15-0 record, with the linebacker leading the state with 197 tackles that included 10 stops behind the line of scrimmage while picking off two more passes.

• Moved into the starting lineup as a sophomore, picking off a pair of passes while recording 96 tackles.

• Has one daughter, Summer Joy.

24 DAIMION STAFFORD

SAFETY • 6'1" • 218 LBS • COLLEGE: NEBRASKA
ACQUIRED: 7TH ROUND - 2013 • NFL EXPERIENCE (NFL/TITANS): 4/4
HOMETOWN: RIVERSIDE, CALIF.
GAMES PLAYED/GAMES STARTED: 60/8 (PLAYOFFS: 0/0)

Captain: 2016

PRO: The Titans selected hard-hitting, physical safety Daimion Stafford in the seventh round of the 2013 NFL Draft. In his first three seasons, Stafford appeared in all but one game as a key member of the special teams corps and as a reserve safety. His 34 special teams tackles during that time led the Titans. He developed a reputation as a sure tackler and playmaker during his two seasons at Chaffey (Rancho Cucamonga, Calif.) College and two seasons at the University of Nebraska.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS:
• In 2015, Stafford played in all 16 games and set a career high with two starts.
• In 2014, Stafford led the team with 13 special teams tackles. He also tallied 33 tackles, a sack, two quarterback pressures, two tackles for loss, three passes defensed and an interception as a reserve on defense.
• Stafford recorded his first career interception at Philadelphia on Nov. 23, 2014.
• In 2013, he was one of two Titans rookies, along with Chance Warmack, to play in all 16 games. Stafford ranked fourth on the team with 12 special teams tackles.
• As a senior at Nebraska, Stafford was named first-team All-Big Ten in a media poll after starting 14 games, leading the team with four interceptions and ranking second on the squad with 96 tackles.

TITANS TIDBITS:
• At Norco (Calif.) High School, his coach was Todd Gerhart, the father of NFL running back Toby Gerhart.
• Navigating through his youth was not always an easy process for Stafford and his two sisters. But thanks to the efforts of many, he persevered. Those that inspired and helped him included his mother, LaTanya Henderson; Norco High School guidance counselor Kristine McCollough; Norco football coach Todd Gerhart; and Daniel Kelley, the head of his "second family." Stafford spent time living with the Gerhart and Kelley families during high school.
• In his first game at Nebraska against Chattanooga, Stafford made a thunderous tackle and forced a fumble on the play. A replay of the hit on YouTube received over 60,000 views.

CAREER TRANSACTIONS:
• The Riverside, Calif., native was selected by the Titans in the seventh round (248th overall) of the 2013 NFL Draft.

SEASON RECAPS:
2016 (13/6): Has tied for the team lead in passes defensed twice in 2016 (at DET, at MIA). Has tied for the team lead in special teams tackles twice in 2016 (at IND, vs. DEN).
• Against Minnesota (9/11), played as a reserve at safety and on special teams. Collected three tackles on defense.
• At Detroit (9/18), saw significant action as a reserve at safety and posted four tackles, a stop for loss and a pass defensed. Broke up a pass intended for Eric Ebron in the end zone late in the third quarter. Burst through the line and dropped Dewayne Washington for a two-yard loss on a rush off left end in the final stanza. Stuffed Theo Riddick for no gain on a short pass during the Lions' final drive in the fourth quarter.
• Against Oakland (9/25), played significant snaps as a reserve at safety and tallied three tackles. Stuffed Latavius Murray for no gain on a rush off right guard in the opening stanza.
• At Houston (10/2), started at safety and recorded a career-high seven tackles.
• At Miami (10/9), started at safety and registered three tackles and an interception. Sealed the Titans' 30-17 victory by intercepting a Ryan Tannehill pass intended for Kenny Stills with 2:14 left to play in the fourth quarter.
• Against Cleveland (10/16), started at safety.
• Against Indianapolis (10/23), played as a reserve at safety and collected six tackles. Stuffed Frank Gore for no gain on a rush off right end in the third quarter.
• Against Jacksonville (10/27), started at safety and posted five tackles.
• At San Diego (11/6), started at safety and tallied five tackles, including a stop for loss. Stopped Melvin Gordon for no gain on a goal line rush up the middle in the third quarter.
• Against Green Bay (11/13), played as a reserve at safety and notched two tackles, including a stop for loss. Stuffed James Starks for a four-yard loss on a short pass in the right flat in the second quarter.
• At Indianapolis (11/20), started at safety and recorded three tackles. Tied for the team lead with a special teams tackle.
• At Chicago (11/27), was inactive.
• Against Denver (12/11), saw significant action as a reserve at safety and collected five tackles, a quarterback pressure and a fumble recovery. Tied for the team lead with a special teams stop. Sealed the win by recovering an A.J. Derby fumble that was forced by Avery Williamson with 53 seconds left to play in the fourth quarter.
• At Kansas City (12/18), played significant snaps as a reserve at safety and tallied five tackles and a quarterback pressure. Notched a special teams tackle on coverage units.

2015 (16/2): Played in all 16 games with two starts at safety and registered 20 tackles, a sack, a quarterback pressure, a tackle for loss and five passes defensed. Ranked fourth on the team with nine special teams tackles. Collected a fumble recovery on special teams coverage units. Made his first career start at safety against Atlanta (10/25/15). Tied for the team lead in sacks once in 2015 (vs. CAR). Tied for the team lead in passes defensed twice (at NE, vs. HOU). Led or tied for the team lead in special teams tackles four times (vs. ATL, vs. CAR, at JAX, vs. HOU).
• At Tampa Bay (9/13), played as a reserve at safety and on special teams. Collected two tackles and a pass defensed on defense and two special teams stops on coverage units. Deflected a fourth-and-16 pass intended for Vincent Jackson late in the fourth quarter.
• Against Atlanta (10/25), made his first career start at safety and amassed two tackles and a pass defensed. Notched a special teams stop on coverage units. Broke up a pass intended for Jacob Tamme in the second stanza.
• Against Carolina (11/15), saw action as a reserve at safety and tallied two tackles, including a sack, a stop for loss and a quarterback pressure. Posted a special teams stop on coverage units. Halted a Panthers' drive by sacking Cam Newton for a 10-yard loss on third-and-eight in the second quarter. Teamed with Brian Orakpo to stuff Greg Olsen for a six-yard loss on a short pass in the second quarter.
• Against Oakland (11/29), saw action as a reserve at safety and recorded three tackles and a pass defensed. Collected a tackle and a fumble recovery on special teams coverage units. Halted a Raiders' drive by breaking up a pass intended for Clive Walford on third-and-three in the first quarter. Recovered a Jeremy Ross fumble on a kickoff return that was forced by Tre McBride at the Raiders' 18-yard line in the third quarter.
• At New England (12/20), started at safety and tallied five tackles and a pass defensed. Tipped a deep pass intended for Rob Gronkowski in the fourth quarter.

2014 (15/0): Appeared in 15 games as a reserve and led the team with a career-best 13 special teams tackles. Compiled career-highs with 33 tackles, an interception, a sack, two stops for loss, two quarterback pressures and three passes defensed. Was inactive for one contest. Led or tied for the team lead in special teams tackles five times in 2014 (at KC, vs. JAX, vs. PIT, at JAX, vs. IND). Led or tied for the team lead in passes defensed twice (at BAL, at PHI). Collected his first career interception at Philadelphia (11/23/14). Set a career-high with six tackles at Houston (11/30/14) and against Indianapolis (12/28/14).

• At Kansas City (9/7), played as a reserve on special teams and tied for the team lead with a career-high three special teams tackles. COLLEGE:
• Stafford attended Nebraska after being one of the most highly sought-after prospects in the junior-college ranks. He played in 21 total games at Chaffey College in Rancho Cucamonga, Calif., during the 2009 and 2010 seasons. Then, at Nebraska, he started 26 of 27 games and totaled 176 tackles, 1.5 sacks, a quarterback pressure, seven tackles for loss, four interceptions, 17 passes defensed, three forced fumbles and two fumble recoveries. His 176 tackles in his two seasons at Nebraska made up the fourth-best total in school history among two-year players.
• As a senior (2012), named first-team All-Big Ten from the media, BTN, ESPN and Phil Steele, while earning second-team honors from the league's coaches. Started 14 games and ranked second on the team with 96 tackles. He had a team-high four interceptions and added four tackles for loss, a sack, seven passes defensed, two forced fumbles and two fumble recoveries. Helped Nebraska lead the nation in opponent pass completion percentage, while ranking in the top 10 in pass efficiency defense and passing yards allowed.
• As a junior (2011), named honorable mention All-Big Ten by the media in his first season with the Cornhuskers. Totaled 80 tackles to rank third on the team and rank first among defensive backs. Added a team-high 10 pass breakups, along with three tackles for loss and a half sack.
• As a sophomore (2010), played in 11 games for Chaffey College and tied for the team lead with five interceptions. Ranked fourth on the squad with 62 tackles and added three tackles for loss, six total passes defensed. Led the team with 17 kickoff returns for 475 yards (27.9 avg.), including a 100-yard touchdown return (11/13 vs. Antelope Valley), and also returned nine punts for 136 yards (15.1 avg.).
• As a freshman (2009), played in 10 games and finished second on the team with 85 tackles during his first season with the Chaffey College Panthers. Led the defense with four interceptions and added 1.5 tackles for loss, 10 passes defensed, a forced fumble and a blocked kick. Also returned 12 punts for 201 yards (16.8 avg.) and a touchdown and returned five kickoffs for 133 yards (26.6 avg.).

PRO: Justin Staples is a versatile linebacker that has the ability to play both inside and outside linebacker in a 3-4 defensive scheme. The 6-foot-4-inch, 245-pounder has excelled on special teams coverage units in his first two seasons with the Titans. Tennessee originally added Staples from their practice squad to the active roster on Nov. 20, 2014. The 6-foot-4-inch, 245-pounder entered the NFL as an undrafted free agent with the Cleveland Browns in 2013 and spent parts of his rookie campaign on the team's practice squad.

TITANS TIDBITS:

• Staples is related to Roebuck "Pops" Staples of the famed soul/R&B group The Staples Singers.
• Staples is the second oldest of nine siblings. He grew up in Berea, Ohio, down the street from the Cleveland Browns' practice facility.
• On senior day at Illinois in 2012, Staples wore jersey number 61 instead of his usual 54 to honor his late father Lenson. Lenson played football at Northwestern before transferring to Missouri in 1983-84, when he wore No. 61 for the Tigers. Lenson died in August 2010, just one month before Illinois played Missouri for the final time in their Arch Rivalry Series.

PRO: A powerful right-footed kicker in his eighth NFL campaign, Ryan Succop joined the Titans prior to the start of the 2014 regular season. Succop arrived in Tennessee after five seasons with the Kansas City Chiefs where he posted four 100-plus point seasons and connected on 81 percent of his field goal attempts. In his first two seasons (2014-15) with the Titans, the University of South Carolina product made good on 86.8 percent of his field goals. In 2013, he tallied career highs for points (118) and touchbacks (47), and also posted the second-best percentage of his career for field goals made inside of 50 yards, connecting on 87.5 percent (21-24) of those attempts.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS:

• In 2015, Succop set a career-best by connecting on 87.5 percent of his kicks (14 of 16 field goals) and recording 43 touchbacks, the second-most of his career.
• In 2014, Succop played in all 16 games in his first season with the Titans and connected on a then career-high 86.4 percent of his field goals. He converted 19 of 22 field goals and all 27 extra point attempts for 84 points.
• Succop has appeared in two postseason contests, making all three field goals attempted and all six extra points for 15 points.
• In 2013, posted 118 points, setting a new single-season career-high for points, passing his old mark of 104 set in his rookie season in 2009.
• Set a Chiefs franchise record for most points in a postseason game, accounting for 14 points in the Chiefs 2013 AFC Wild Card Game at Indianapolis (1/4/14).
• In 2009, Succop converted 86.2 percent of his field goals (25 of 29), tying as the highest make percentage by a rookie since the AFL-NFL merger (min. 20 attempts). He also led all NFL rookies with 104 points.
• Succop was named All-Rookie from Pro Football Weekly/PFWA and was voted the Chiefs' 2009 Mack Lee Hill Award winner by his peers for his rookie success.
• Succop set a career high and a Chiefs franchise single-game record by converting all six field goals he attempted at New Orleans (9/23/12).

TITANS TIDBITS:

• Succop was given the title "Mr. Irrelevant" after being selected with the final pick (256th overall) of the 2009 NFL Draft.
• Succop caddied for his friend, Wesley Bryan, at the 2016 Nashville Golf Open, a Web.com event at Nashville Golf & Athletic Club. Succop and Bryan went to school together at the University of South Carolina,
• Succop registered 104 career goals and was a four-time all-conference and two-time all-state soccer selection at Hickory (N.C.) High School.
• Succop handled both the kicking and punting duties during his sophomore and junior seasons at South Carolina.

CAREER TRANSACTIONS:

• The Hickory, N.C., native was originally selected by the Kansas City Chiefs in the seventh round (256th overall) of the 2009 NFL Draft.
• Released by the Chiefs on Aug. 30, 2014.
• Signed by the Titans as a free agent on Sept. 2, 2014.

SEASON RECAPS:

2016 (14/0 - Tennessee): Has made 34 consecutive successful field goals from inside 50 yards, dating back to 2014, which is a franchise record.
• Against Minnesota (9/11), connected on his lone field goal attempt (28) and his only extra point try. Registered four kickoffs with two touchbacks and a failed onside attempt. Gave the Titans a 3-0 lead with a 28-yard field goal with 4:45 remaining in the first quarter.
• At Detroit (9/18), made good on one of two field goals (46) and his lone extra point chance. Cut the Lions' lead to 9-3 with a 46-yard field goal with 12:03 left to play in the second quarter.
• Against Oakland (9/25), connected on his lone field goal (34) and his lone extra point chance. Gave the Titans a 3-0 lead with a 34-yard field goal with 9:50 remaining in the first quarter.
• At Houston (10/2), made good on both field goals (48, 26) and both extra point attempts. Boomed four touchbacks on kickoffs. Cut the Texans' lead to 14-3 with a 48-yard field goal with 2:36 left to play in the first quarter. Evened the score at 20-20 with a 26-yard field goal midway through the third quarter.
• At Miami (10/9), connected on his lone field goal (40) and three of four extra point chances. Drilled a 40-yard field goal to increase the lead to 24-14 with 10:33 left to play in the third quarter.
• Against Cleveland (10/16), made good on all four extra point chances. Missed a 58-yard field goal just before halftime.
• Against Jacksonville (10/27), made good on all three field goals (32, 22, 33) and three of four extra point tries. Gave the Titans an early 3-0 lead with a 32-yard field goal with 3:31 left to play in the first quarter. Concluded the first half scoring with a 22-yard field goal as time expired to give the Titans a 27-0 halftime lead. Nailed a 33-yard field goal and increased the Titans lead to 36-8 with 12:32 left to play in the game.
• At San Diego (11/6), connected on all five extra point tries while booting six touchbacks on six kickoffs.
• Against Green Bay (11/13), made good on both field goals (51, 23) and all five extra point chances. Gave the Titans a 44-25 lead with a 51-yard field goal with 9:56 left to play in the fourth quarter. Increased the Titans lead to 47-25 with a 23-yard field goal with less than five minutes remaining in the game.
• At Indianapolis (11/20), connected on his lone field goal (47) and both extra point chances. Cut the Colts' lead to 21-17 with a 47-yard field goal with 12:14 left to play in the fourth quarter.
• At Chicago (11/27), made good on both field goals (19, 31) and all three extra point tries. Extended the Titans lead to 24-7 with a 19-yard field goal with 4:07 left to play in the third quarter. Increased the Titans lead to 27-7 with a 31-yard field goal with 13:45 left to play in the fourth quarter.
• Against Denver (12/11), appeared in his 125th career NFL game and connected on both field goals (53, 41) and his lone extra point attempt. Extended the Titans lead to 10-0 with a season-long 53-yard field goal with 5:48 left to play in the first quarter. Gave the Titans a 13-0 lead with a 41-yard field goal with 1:27 remaining in the first half.
• At Kansas City (12/18), made good on both field goals (39, 53), including his sixth career game-winning kick and his first as a member of the Titans. Cut the Chiefs' lead to 17-10 with a 39-yard field goal early in the fourth quarter. Gave the Titans a 19-17 victory with a 53-yard, game-winning field goal as time expired in the game. Succop's field goal tied for the second-longest game-winner in franchise history, equaling Rob Bironas' 53-yard effort at Houston on Nov. 23, 2009 and behind only Bironas' 60-yarder against Indianapolis on Dec. 3, 2006.

79 SEBASTIAN TRETOLA

GUARD • 6'4" • 314 LBS • COLLEGE: ARKANSAS
ACQUIRED: 6TH ROUND - 2016 • NFL EXPERIENCE (NFL/TITANS): ROOKIE
HOMETOWN: SAN BERNARDINO, CALIF.
GAMES PLAYED/GAMES STARTED: 1/0 (PLAYOFFS: 0/0)

PRO: The Titans selected Sebastian Tretola in the sixth round of the 2016 NFL Draft. The University of Arkansas product is a skilled lineman that displays excellent size and strength in the trenches. The 6-foot-4-inch, 314-pounder played both guard positions in college and started the final 24 games in his Razorbacks career.

TITANS TIDBITS:
• In 2014, Tretola and the University of Arkansas launched his own Heisman Trophy campaign after he threw a touchdown pass to his long snapper on a fake field goal. The Razorbacks athletic department produced a video highlighting the guard's offensive prowess that got more than 82,000 views on YouTube.
• Tretola states the reason he loves football is because it literally saved his life. Without the game, he says he would have gone down a "real, real, real bad path." He says he is going to pay the sport back by giving it everything he's got.
• Tretola considers himself an extreme neat freak. He folds all of his clothes a certain way and likes all of his equipment in a specific places in his locker.
• Tretola is a self-proclaimed world-renowned beatboxer.

CAREER TRANSACTIONS:
• The San Bernardino, Calif., native was selected by the Titans in the sixth round (193rd overall) the 2016 NFL Draft.

SEASON RECAPS:
2016 (1/0): Appeared in his first career NFL game against Jacksonville (10/27/16).
• Against Minnesota (9/11), was inactive.
• At Detroit (9/18), was inactive.
• Against Oakland (9/25), was inactive.
• At Houston (10/2), was inactive.
• At Miami (10/9), was inactive.
• Against Cleveland (10/16), was inactive.
• Against Indianapolis (10/23), was inactive.
• Against Jacksonville (10/27), made his NFL debut as a reserve at left guard late in the fourth quarter.
• At San Diego (11/6), did not play.

• At Indianapolis (11/20), was inactive.
• At Chicago (11/27), was inactive.
• Against Denver (12/11), was inactive.
• At Kansas City (12/18), was inactive.

COLLEGE:
• During his two-year stay at Arkansas, Tretola started 24 straight contests to close his career. Allowed just one sack in two seasons and paved the way for three combined 1,000-yard rushers. Spent his first two collegiate campaigns at the University of Nevada before attending Iowa Western Community College in 2013.

AS A SENIOR (2015), started all 13 games at left guard and allowed one sack on the season to help Arkansas lead the SEC in fewest sacks allowed for the third straight season. Earned an 80 percent offensive grade in 10 of 13 games. Led the team with 75 knockdowns while committing just one penalty over 901 plays. Paved the way for running back Alex Collins to run for over 1,500 yards and become just the third player in SEC history with three straight 1,000-yard campaigns to begin his career. Collins tied for the SEC lead with 10 100-yard rushing games, equaling Darren McFadden's program single-season record. Arkansas led the SEC with five 200-yard rushing games in league play and had a total of eight on the year.
• Against Texas Tech (9/19), graded out at a season-best 91 percent with nine knockdowns.
• At Tennessee (10/3), helped pave the way for 250 yards rushing on 50 carries for Arkansas' first win in Knoxville since 1992. Named SEC Offensive Lineman of the Week on Oct. 5.
• Against Auburn (10/24), earned a 90 percent grade with eight knockdowns as Arkansas had over 200 yards on the ground and in the air en route to seven touchdowns.
• At Ole Miss (11/7), finished with nine knockdowns while protecting Brandon Allen during a 33-for-45 performance for 442 yards and six touchdowns against the No. 19 Rebels.

AS A JUNIOR (2014), attended Arkansas and appeared in all 13 games and started 11 at left guard. Saw action in over 690 snaps, allowing no sacks and was only penalized four times. Averaged an offensive grade of 79 percent, tied for second-best on the team. Blocked for running backs Alex Collins and Jonathan Williams, who were the only FBS teammates to each rush for 1,000-plus yards. Helped protect quarterback Brandon Allen as the offensive line led the SEC with 14 sacks allowed.
• Against Texas Tech (9/13), collected a season-high seven knockdown blocks with a grade of 90 percent as the Razorbacks gained more than 400 yards on the ground in the non-conference road win.
• Against Alabama-Birmingham (10/25), caught the college football world's attention when he tossed a touchdown pass to Arkansas' long snapper on a fake field goal.
• Against Ole Miss (11/22), registered five knockdown blocks in the Razorbacks' second consecutive shutout over a ranked opponent.

AS A SOPHOMORE (2013), attended Iowa Western Community College and earned first-team all-conference honors after helping the Reivers win the Midwest Football Conference championship and a No. 2 final ranking following a defeat of Butler in the Graphic Edge Bowl. Ranked as a four-star by 247Sports.com, the No. 1 junior college prospect in Iowa, the No. 8 junior college offensive tackle in the country and the 29th-best junior college prospect in the nation. Ranked 63rd in Rivals.com junior college top 100 and ESPN ranked him as the nation's No. 11 junior college offensive tackle.

AS A REDSHIRT FRESHMAN (2012), saw action in 10 games with four starts at Nevada, helping the Wolf Pack to the New Mexico Bowl.

AS A FRESHMAN (2011), attended Nevada and worked with the Wolf Pack scout team while redshirting.
• Graduated with a degree in American studies from Arkansas in Dec. 2015.

PERSONAL:
• Single and splits time between Nashville and San Bernardino, Calif.
• Attended Cajon (San Bernardino, Calif.) High School and was a two-time first-team all-league selection in football who earned all-county honors as a senior in 2009. Was a member of a San Andreas League championship team in 2008 as a junior.
• Also lettered in basketball in high school.
• Has a younger brother, Mikoe, and a younger sister, Justice.

PRO: The Titans targeted Delanie Walker early in the 2013 free agency period to bring physicality, versatility and leadership to the offense. He has delivered that and more, becoming one of the NFL's top play-making tight ends. The tight end brings a unique element to the offense and poses match-up problems for defenses with his ability to line up in the backfield, on the line, in the slot and as a wideout. The 6-foot-2-inch, 248-pounder spent the first seven years of his career with the San Francisco 49ers after being selected in the sixth round of the 2006 NFL Draft. His first three seasons in Tennessee arguably resulted in the best three-year stretch in franchise history by a player at his position. During that time period, his 217 receptions and 2,549 receiving yards (to go with 16 touchdowns) set a franchise high for a tight end in any consecutive three-year period, and his reception and yardage totals ranked third and fourth, respectively, in the NFL in that timespan. In 2015, he set the single-season franchise records among tight ends with 94 receptions and 1,088 receiving yards, leading to his first career Pro Bowl invitation.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS:

• In 2015, Walker was named to his first Pro Bowl. He set new team records among tight ends with 94 receptions and 1,088 receiving yards, and he caught six touchdown passes for the second time in three years (2013). He broke his own receiving yardage record (890 in 2014) and Frank Wycheck's reception record (70 in 1998 and 2000) for franchise tight ends.

• On the team's all-time single-season receptions list, regardless of position, Walker tied wide receiver Kendall Wright (94 receptions in 2013) for the fifth-highest total in 2015. Walker's 94 receptions tied Jason Witten (94 catches in 2009 and 2010) for the 10th–highest total in NFL history by a tight end.

• In 2014, Walker's team-leading 890 receiving yards set a career high and marked the highest total in franchise history by a tight end, eclipsing Frank Wycheck's 768 receiving yards in 1998. Walker's 63 receptions in 2014 also led the team, set a career high, and tied for fourth in team annals.

• In 2013, Walker's first season in Tennessee, he totaled 60 receptions for 571 yards and six touchdowns, setting career highs in all three categories. Also, he became the only tight end in franchise history other than Titans Ring of Honor member Frank Wycheck (1997–2001) to reach 60 receptions in a single season. Walker's six touchdown receptions tied for fourth place in franchise history among tight ends and were the most since Wycheck's six in 1996.

• In 2012, Walker played an integral role in the 49ers' second consecutive playoff season, as he teamed with Vernon Davis to form one of the NFL's top tight-end duos. He saw action in all 16 regular-season games with four starts and set a career high with 344 yards and three touchdowns (matched career high) on 21 receptions. His average of 16.4 yards per catch was the highest among all NFL tight ends with 20 or more catches.

• During the 2012 playoffs, Walker appeared in all three games and started in Super Bowl XLVII. In the Super Bowl, he recorded three receptions for 48 yards.

• In 2010, he played in 14 games with eight starts and tallied a then-career-best 29 receptions for 331 yards.

TITANS TIDBITS:

• Walker was named the Tennessee Titans Community Man of the Year in 2013 and 2015, due in large part to his tireless work with Mothers Against Drunk Driving. He teamed with MADD to help raise awareness of the dangers of drinking and driving after losing his aunt and uncle in a horrific accident near New Orleans after Super Bowl XLVII. The morning after San Francisco's loss to Baltimore at the Superdome, an alleged drunk driver killed Alice and Bryan Young only hours after Walker hugged Alice and Bryan at the team's postgame party. In addition to his work with MADD, Walker is an ambassador with the Tennessee Governor's Highway Safety Office's "Booze It and Lose It" campaign.

• During the 2016 offseason, Walker spearheaded a benefit dinner and auction for his foundation called "Carving It Up with Delanie Walker." He also launched "Delanie Walker's Imagination Station" at Fall-Hamilton Elementary School in collaboration with Scholastic Book Fairs to provide a new fully-furnished reading room for students.

• Walker was one of five finalists for the NFL's 2015 Byron "Whizzer" White Award, which recognizes community service.

• During the 2015 and 2016 offseasons, the Delanie Walker Gives Back Foundation (delaniewalker.org) hosted a Celebrity Go-Karting Challenge, raising more than $75,000 to benefit the foundation. Walker launched the non-profit to provide inner-city and low-income children with the educational opportunities and resources to reach their full potential and beat the odds. Proceeds from the go-karting event will help fund community outreach programs such as Back to School COOL, Delanie's Imagination Stations, and College Bound. Walker's offseason also includes hosting a youth football camp.

• Over the years, Walker has owned quite a selection of cars, ranging from classics to newer models. His collection has included a 1964 Chevy Impala, 1972 Buick Skylark, 1989 Camaro IROC-Z28, 2008 Mercedes-Benz CL63 AMG and 2010 F250 truck. Walker's passion for cars can be traced back to his childhood, where he would spend countless hours refurbishing old autos with the help of his friend's father, who was a mechanic. "Growing up we didn't have much money, so we would buy cars from the junkyard and fix them up. We'd spend all day taking off parts and replacing them, just like new. The most important lesson I learned was 'the way you take it off is the way you put it back on.'" Walker admits that cars these days have become more advanced and that he is only comfortable working on models that are pre-1990. After his playing days are over, he envisions owning a car restoration shop.

• Having grown up in a tough neighborhood, Walker knows first-hand how difficult it is to overcome obstacles in order to achieve one's goals. During his time in San Francisco, he visited delinquent youths across the Bay Area, making it a point to share his story and give positive reinforcement to those who can relate to him. "It's very important that people know about what I've been through. You can grow up in the worst neighborhood and still make it to the NFL. That's why I want kids, especially in the Bay Area, to understand that you can overcome those situations, because I did."

• For a 248-pound tight end, Walker makes a lot of tacklers miss. His speed on the field can be linked to his success on the track as a high school senior. Despite lettering only one year, he won the Division III 100m (10.6) and long jump (21-5) titles, while also serving as a member of the winning 4x100m relay team at the 2002 Miramonte League Meet. Delanie's younger brother, Anthony, competed in the 400m and 4x400m at the collegiate level, and has his hopes set on making the Olympic team one day.

• On Feb. 14, 2015, Walker was inducted into the Central Missouri Athletic Hall of Fame.

CAREER TRANSACTIONS:

• The Pomona, Calif., native was selected by the 49ers in the sixth round (175th overall) of the 2006 NFL Draft.

• Signed by the Titans as an unrestricted free agent on March 14, 2013.

52 AARON WALLACE

OUTSIDE LINEBACKER • 6'2" • 242 LBS • COLLEGE: UCLA
ACQUIRED: 7TH ROUND - 2016 • NFL EXPERIENCE (NFL/TITANS): ROOKIE
HOMETOWN: SAN DIEGO, CALIF.
GAMES PLAYED/GAMES STARTED: 8/0 (PLAYOFFS: 0/0)

PRO: The Titans selected Aaron Wallace in the seventh round of the 2016 NFL Draft, viewing the 6-foot-2-inch, 242-pound defender as a player with tremendous upside. During Wallace's career at UCLA, he waited patiently for an opportunity to play regularly during his first three seasons and then became a mainstay for the Bruins as a senior. He led the team with seven sacks in his final year on campus. He is a versatile player, capable of lining up at multiple linebacker spots.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS:

• In 2015, his seven sacks and 12.5 tackles for loss led UCLA as a senior. He played in all 13 games and recorded eight starts.

TITANS TIDBITS:

• Wallace is one-quarter Chinese on his mother's side of the family. One of his "bucket list" items is to walk on the Great Wall of China.
• His father, Aaron Wallace Sr., was a three-time All-Southwest Conference selection at linebacker for Texas A&M (1986-89) and was selected in the second round of the 1990 NFL Draft by the Oakland Raiders. Aaron Sr. went on to play eight seasons in the NFL, collecting 21 sacks in 102 career games.
• His mother, Sandra Broussard, is on the board of a foundation in San Diego called the Berry Good Food Foundation, which promotes nutritional education and organic food.
• He aspires to be a strength and conditioning coach following his playing career.

CAREER TRANSACTIONS:

• The San Diego, Calif., native was selected by the Titans in the seventh round (222nd overall) of the 2016 NFL Draft.

SEASON RECAPS:

LINEBACKER • 6'1" • 246 LBS • COLLEGE: KENTUCKY
ACQUIRED: 5TH ROUND - 2014 • NFL EXPERIENCE (NFL/TITANS): 3/3
HOMETOWN: MILAN, TENN.
GAMES PLAYED/GAMES STARTED: 45/41 (PLAYOFFS: 0/0)

PRO: The Titans used their fifth-round pick in the 2014 NFL Draft on Kentucky linebacker Avery Williamson The 6-foot-1-inch, 246-pound defender entered the NFL with a reputation as an aggressive, downhill, sure-tackling inside linebacker. In 2015, Williamson led the team with 137 tackles and became the first player in the Titans era to start his career with back-to-back 100-tackle seasons. He had one of the most productive seasons of any Titans defensive rookie in recent memory in 2014. Even though he did not record his first start until Week 5, he produced 107 tackles to rank third on the team and record the highest tackle total by a rookie in the "Titans era" (1999–present).

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS:

• In 2015, Williamson led the team with 137 tackles and ranked third on the squad with nine tackles for loss. He became the first player in the Titans era to start his career with back-to-back 100-tackle seasons.
• As a rookie, Williamson saw action in all 16 games with 12 starts at linebacker and ranked third on the team with 107 tackles. He also tied for third on the squad with three sacks.
• As a senior at Kentucky, Williamson was a team captain and led the squad in tackles for the second consecutive season. His 102 tackles tied for fourth place in the SEC.

TITANS TIDBITS:

• Williamson grew up in the West Tennessee town of Milan, which is approximately a two-hour drive from Nashville. He lists Eddie George, Steve McNair and Jevon Kearse as his favorite Titans as a child.
• During the 2016 offseason, Williamson spent time as an analyst on the set of NFL Network.
• One of Williamson's "bucket list" items is to see the pyramids in Egypt.
• In 2013, he was chosen to represent the Kentucky football program on a one-week educational/service trip in Ethiopia.

CAREER TRANSACTIONS:

• The Milan, Tenn., native was selected by the Titans in the fifth round (151st overall) of the 2014 NFL Draft.

96 AL WOODS

DEFENSIVE LINEMAN • 6'4" • 307 LBS • COLLEGE: LOUISIANA STATE
NFL EXPERIENCE (NFL/TITANS): 7/3 • HOMETOWN: ELTON, LA.
GAMES PLAYED/GAMES STARTED: 79/18 (PLAYOFFS: 0/0)

PRO: The Titans targeted unrestricted free agent defensive end Al Woods early in the 2014 offseason to help fulfill the team's commitment to get larger on the defensive front. He appeared in 30 games with 10 starts in his first two campaigns with the team and was rewarded with a new contract during the 2016 offseason. The 6-foot-4-inch, 307-pounder has the ability to play all three spots on the defensive line, which adds to his value. Woods entered the NFL as a fourth-round selection by the New Orleans Saints. He has also spent time with the Tampa Bay Buccaneers, Seattle Seahawks and most recently the Pittsburgh Steelers, where he appeared in 28 games from 2012-2013.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS:

• In 2015, Woods set a career high with nine starts.
• Woods saw action in 16 games in 2014, his first season in Tennessee. His totals included a career-high 31 tackles, a sack, two tackles for loss and a quarterback pressure.
• In 2013, Woods saw action in all 16 games for the first time in his career and notched 20 tackles, two sacks and a pass defensed with the Steelers.

TITANS TIDBITS:

• Woods likes to fish and hunt deer and owns a farm with about 300 head of cattle and 90 horses in Elton, La.

CAREER TRANSACTIONS:

• The Elton, La., native was originally selected by the New Orleans Saints in the fourth round (123rd overall) of the 2010 NFL Draft.
• Released by the Saints on Sept. 4, 2010.
• Signed by the Pittsburgh Steelers to their practice squad on Sept. 8, 2010.
• Signed by the Tampa Bay Buccaneers to their active roster from the Steelers' practice squad on Nov. 3, 2010.
• Released by the Buccaneers on Sept. 3, 2011.
• Claimed by the Seattle Seahawks off waivers on Sept. 4, 2011.
• Released by the Seahawks on Nov. 8, 2011.
• Claimed by the Steelers off waivers on Nov. 9, 2011.
• Signed by the Titans as an unrestricted free agent on March 13, 2014.

59 WESLEY WOODYARD

LINEBACKER • 6'0" • 233 LBS • COLLEGE: KENTUCKY
ACQUIRED: UNRESTRICTED FREE AGENT (DEN) - 2014
NFL EXPERIENCE (NFL/TITANS): 9/3 • HOMETOWN: LAGRANGE, GA.
GAMES PLAYED/GAMES STARTED: 133/77 (PLAYOFFS: 6/1)

Captain: 2014, 2015, 2016

PRO: The Titans signed Wesley Woodyard during the 2014 unrestricted free agency period, adding veteran leadership to the linebacking corps. Following his career at the University of Kentucky, the 6-foot, 233-pounder went undrafted and signed a free agent contract with the Denver Broncos. Woodyard spent six seasons in Denver and appeared 87 career regular season games, totaling 396 tackles, eight sacks, five interceptions, six forced fumbles and one fumble recovery. He was also a six-time team captain during his tenure with the Broncos.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS:

• In 2015, Woodyard finished second on the team with 110 tackles and third on the squad with five sacks.
• In his first season with the Titans in 2014, Woodyard started all 16 games at linebacker and led the team with a career-high 134 tackles.
• Represented the only player in the NFL in 2012 — and just the 12th player in the last 30 years — to record at least 100 tackles, five sacks and three interceptions in a single season. Posted career highs in starts (14), tackles (114), sacks (5.5), interceptions (3), passes defensed (6) and fumble recoveries (1).

TITANS TIDBITS:

• Woodyard has been a captain in his first two seasons with the Titans. He joined Hall of Fame running back Floyd Little as the only players in Broncos franchise history to serve as a captain in each of their first five years with the club. In 2004, Woodyard also became the first-ever Kentucky freshman to serve as a team captain.
• During the 2016 offseason, Woodyard's 16Ways Foundation hosted a youth football and cheer camp, as well as a charity golf outing in Lexington, Ky.
• Woodyard was a three-time nominee for the Walter Payton NFL Man of the Year while with the Broncos in 2010-11 and 2013.

CAREER TRANSACTIONS:

• The LaGrange, Ga., native was originally signed by the Denver Broncos as a rookie free agent on April 28, 2008.
• Signed by the Titans as an unrestricted free agent on March 14, 2014.

13 KENDALL WRIGHT

WIDE RECEIVER • 5'10" • 191 LBS • COLLEGE: BAYLOR
ACQUIRED: 1ST ROUND - 2012 • NFL EXPERIENCE (NFL/TITANS): 5/5
HOMETOWN: PITTSBURG, TEXAS
GAMES PLAYED/GAMES STARTED: 65/40 (PLAYOFFS: 0/0)

PRO: The Titans used the 20th overall pick in the 2012 NFL Draft to select Baylor wide receiver Kendall Wright. Since then, Wright has become one of the most dynamic and productive young receivers in team history. His total of 251 receptions during his first four seasons with the club is unprecedented among Titans and Oilers players. Wright edged Drew Hill's 250 catches from 1985 through 1988. In 2013, Wright became the first player in franchise history to lead the team in receptions in each of his first two NFL seasons, and his 158 catches in that span were the most in team annals for a player's first two campaigns. His 94 catches in 2013 ranked fifth in franchise history for a single season, and his 1,079 receiving yards were the most by a Titans player since 2004 (Drew Bennett and Derrick Mason). The 5-foot-10-inch, 191-pounder made an immediate impact in 2012 by tying for the NFL lead among rookies with 64 receptions. Wright was used principally as a slot receiver in college, but he has grown to become a weapon that can be used all over the field. He is a primary weapon whose sudden burst and consistent, strong hands figure to make him a key component in the Titans' offensive scheme for years to come.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS:

• In 2014, Wright's 57 receptions and 715 receiving yards ranked second on the team. His six touchdown catches led the squad and set a new career high.
• In 2013, Wright led the team with 94 catches and 1,079 receiving yards. He ranked fifth in the AFC and seventh in the NFL in receptions, and his reception total also ranked fifth in franchise history for a single season. Wright's 1,079 receiving yards were the most by a Titans player since 2004, when Drew Bennett (1,247) and Derrick Mason (1,168) each finished with more than 1,100.
• As a rookie in 2012, Wright saw action in 15 games and tied for first among all NFL rookies with a team-best 64 receptions. He also tied for the team lead with four receiving touchdowns and ranked second on the squad with 626 receiving yards.
• Wright concluded his Baylor career as the most decorated and accomplished receiver in school history. He set virtually every significant receiving record for the program, totaling 302 receptions for 4,004 yards and 30 touchdowns. He never missed a game in his four years with the Bears and recorded at least one reception in every contest.
• As a senior in 2011, Wright set Baylor single-season records in receptions (108), receiving yards (1,663), receiving touchdowns (14), 100-yard games (nine), all-purpose yards (1,772) and consecutive games with a reception (tied own record with 13). He landed on numerous All-American lists and was a Biletnikoff Award semi-finalist.

TITANS TIDBITS:

• As a freshman at Baylor, Wright played on the basketball team. He appeared in 13 games as a reserve guard and scored 10 points.
• Wright was a three-sport star at Pittsburg (Texas) High School, where he earned All-State honors in football, basketball and track. He captured the state 3A titles in the long jump (24-0 3/4) and triple jump (48-5 1/4).
• During the 2013 offseason, Wright went back to Baylor to train for his second NFL campaign. He worked out with Dallas Cowboys receiver Terrance Williams and lost close to 15 pounds.
• In his spare time, Wright enjoys playing basketball, bass fishing, video games and watching comedy movies.

CAREER TRANSACTIONS:

• The Mount Pleasant, Texas, native was selected by the Titans in the first round (20th overall) of the 2012 NFL Draft.

SEASON RECAPS:

2016 (10/3): Has five career 100-yard receiving performances, including one in 2016 (vs. CLE). Has led or tied for the team lead in receptions twice in 2016 (vs. CLE, vs. JAX). Has led the team in receiving yards three times in 2016 (vs. CLE, vs. JAX, at SD).
• Against Minnesota (9/11), was inactive.
• At Detroit (9/18), was inactive.
• Against Oakland (9/25), was inactive.
• At Houston (10/2), returned to the lineup with a start at wide receiver and hauled in two passes for 14 yards.
• At Miami (10/9), played as a reserve at wide receiver and caught one pass for nine yards.
• Against Cleveland (10/16), saw action as a reserve at wide receiver and led the team with eight catches for 133 yards and a touchdown. Kept the first touchdown drive alive with a 26-yard reception on third-and-15 in the opening stanza. Increased the Titans lead to 14-6 with a diving 48-yard touchdown catch early in the second stanza. Kept the Titans' final touchdown drive going with three third-down conversions: a 13-yard pass on third-and-four, a four-yard catch on third-and-two and an 11-yard hookup on third-and-eight in the final stanza.
• Against Indianapolis (10/23), played as a reserve at wide receiver and hauled in two receptions for 12 yards.
• Against Jacksonville (10/27), saw action as a reserve at wide receiver and tied for the team lead with four receptions for a team-best 84 receiving yards with a touchdown. Gave the Titans a 10-0 advantage with a 36-yard touchdown catch in the end zone on the first play of the second quarter. Kept the Titans' second touchdown drive alive with a leaping 15-yard grab on third-and-eight in the second stanza.
• At San Diego (11/6), started at wide receiver and hauled in two receptions for a team-high 64 receiving yards. Kept the Titans' fourth touchdown drive alive with a 48-yard catch-and-run reception on third-and-one in the fourth quarter.
• Against Green Bay (11/13), played as a reserve at wide receiver and collected two receptions for eight yards with a touchdown. Extended the Titans advantage to 35-10 with a six-yard touchdown catch on third-and-four late in the second quarter.
• At Indianapolis (11/20), saw action as a reserve at wide receiver and caught four passes for 52 yards. Kept the Titans' second touchdown drive alive with a 21-yard catch-and-run reception on third-and-three in the third stanza. Note: Average team drive start DOES NOT include onside kicks or kickoffs at the end of a half unless either kickoff is returned for a touchdown. All other kickoffs (returned kickoffs, fair catches, touchback and kickoffs out of bounds) are included. Kickoffs resulting in the kicking team retaining possession are not included.
ADJ KO: Adjusted kickoffs are used to compute the Avg. Team Drive Start.
I20: The number of drives that start inside (not including) the 20 yd line.

LAST WEEK'S GAME CLIPS

TITANS PULL OFF IMPROBABLE COMEBACK WIN OVER CHIEFS

BY JIM WYATT
TITANS ONLINE
DECEMBER 19, 2016

KANSAS CITY — In the coldest game in franchise history, Titans kicker Ryan Succop had ice water in his veins.

Succop nailed a 53-yard field goal on the final play of the game as the Titans rallied to beat the Chiefs, 19-17.

Players spared Titans coach Mike Mularkey a Gatorade bath in the wake of an improbable come-from-behind win, but there was no denying the importance, or hiding the emotion, after the kick sailed over the crossbar.

"Wow. What a win,'' Titans defensive lineman Jurrell Casey said. "This is No.1 right here for me. I started jumping and screaming. I was very excited, I'm not going to lie. It was incredible."

"I could have gotten us flagged,'' Titans tight end Delanie Walker added with a smile. "I was on the field running to the locker room yelling stuff after he made it. You don't want to know what I was yelling. I can't really remember a win I had like this in my 11 years in the NFL. This is one of the most exciting ones I have been a part of.

"I believe in this team, man."

The Titans gave their fans even more reason to believe on Sunday, when the Titans pulled off a memorable rally on a day when the temperature was one degree at kickoff, with a wind chill of minus-9. It went down in the record books as the coldest game in franchise history.

The Titans trailed all game, but rallied late.

Real late.

Down 17-16, the Titans took over at their own 25-yard line with 1:07 left in the contest. Quarterback Marcus Mariota drove the team 40 yards on six plays, and put Succop in a position to win it. Barely.

Succop didn't kick one over 49 yards in pregame. But his 53-yard field goal sailed just over the crossbar when it mattered. Moments earlier, Succop was short on a kick from the same distance, but the kick didn't count because the Chiefs had called a time out.

"You could give me 10 kicks from there and I don't know if I could make one, honestly, in the weather and the cold and just kicking a frozen football,'' Succop said. "There is one explanation for why that ball went in and it's because it was the Lord's will for it to go in. Glory to God. What a day."

Mariota completed 19-of-33 passes for 241 yards, along with an interception. Running back DeMarco Murray ran for 89 yards on 18 carries while Derrick Henry ran for 58 yards and two touchdowns on nine carries for the Titans.

The Titans (8-6) travel to Jacksonville next Saturday to face the Jaguars.

Mularkey showed some guts late in the fourth quarter when, after a one-yard run by Henry made it 17-16 with just 3:12 remaining, the Titans tried to win it with a two-point conversion. But Mariota's pass was incomplete.

"I wanted to win, I wanted to win the game right there instead of going into overtime, instead of having to possibly do what we did there at the end," Mularkey said. "I wanted to get us up and make a statement to our team that that's why we came here. When we got the ball I went around the sidelines and talked to the guys on this team, the leaders and I said that this is my plan and they were all – let's go. They knew before the drive started that we were going for it."

When it didn't work, the Titans got a stop on defense, and got the ball back for a second chance.

"I think the amazing thing is nobody doubted that we were going to come back and win,'' Titans linebacker Derrick Morgan said. "It was a great team win."

The Titans got off to a miserable start, and they made it difficult on themselves throughout by committing three turnovers.

Chiefs receiver Tyreek Hill ripped off a 68-yard touchdown on Kansas City's second offensive play, making it 7-0 early.

The Titans appeared on the verge of quickly answering back, but receiver Rishard Matthews lost a fumble inside the Kansas City five-yard after making a catch, and the Chiefs cashed it in for more points. It became 14-0 when Chiefs quarterback Alex Smith ran it in from 11 yards out on a scramble.

But the Titans answered back, scoring on a four-yard touchdown run by Henry early in the second quarter to cap off a six-play, 87-yard drive and make it 14-7. Henry had five carries for 41 yards on the scoring drive.

The Titans turned the ball over twice in the first half. In addition to Matthews, Mariota also lost a fumble that was recovered by Chiefs linebacker Ramik Wilson. The turnovers snapped a streak of four consecutive games without a turnover for the Titans.

The Titans turned in a pair of goal line stands to keep Kansas City out of the end zone, and stay in it.

The first came in the second quarter, and it was capped off with back-to-back stops from the one-yard line on third and fourth down. On the fourth-down play from the one, safeties Kevin Byard and Daimon Stafford combined with linebacker Wesley Woodyard to stop Chiefs running back Spencer Ware for no gain.

The second came in the third quarter, and it ended with an interception in the end zone from rookie cornerback LeShaun Sims. On the play, Sims was covering Chiefs receiver Jeremy Maclin, and he stepped in front of him to end the drive and keep the game at 17-7 with 6:02 in the third quarter.

The Chiefs made it 17-7 at halftime on a 34-yard field goal by kicker Cairo Santos.

The two teams played a scoreless third quarter before Succop connected on a 39-yard field goal to make it 17-10 with 11:54 remaining.

Then came the late rally, which sets the stage for a big finish to the 2016 season.

“Man, it’s one of those feelings where you can’t help but feel if this year is kind of magical,” Byard said. “For (Ryan) to barely miss the kick the first time and then to get another chance, it’s just crazy. We knew on this playoff run we would have to win these kinds of games, and we were able to get a W. It was magical.

“We don’t quit and we keep going. With that mentality, it leads to this.”

TITANS QB MARCUS MARIOTA GUIDES GAME-WINNING DRIVE

TITANS ONLINE

Titans quarterback Marcus Mariota knew what needed to be done.

Mariota then guided a six-play, 40-yard drive in the final 1:07 of Sunday's game against the Chiefs. He was then among those celebrating in the end when kicker Ryan Succop's 53-yard field sailed over the crossbar as time expired as the Titans pulled out a dramatic 19-17 win.

"I was kind of pacing back and forth on the sideline,'' Mariota said, "and I ended up toward the back half of the sideline next to Tajae (Sharpe) and Harry (Douglas). And once (Ryan) kicked it and I saw it go through, I might have been on the field before even the refs put their arms up.

"All in all it was such a great team effort. For us to pull that one off was huge and we just have to keep the momentum going."

Trailing 17-16 with 1:07 left, the Titans took over at their own 25-yard line.

Mariota completed a 19-yard pass to receiver Rishard Matthews, and then a pair of passes to tight end Delanie Walker to get the Titans to the Kansas City 35-yard line.

"We knew that we had to get down and get into the 50-yard range for Ryan,'' Mariota said. "So we knew if we could get a couple of big plays we would have a chance at it. Rishard and Delanie made great plays to get us down there, and Ryan did a great job if finishing it off at the end."

Mariota completed 19-of-33 passes for 241 yards, along with an interception. Running back DeMarco Murray ran for 89 yards on 18 carries while Derrick Henry ran for 58 yards and two touchdowns on nine carries for the Titans.

In the contest, Mariota became just the seventh player in NFL history with at least 6,000 passing yards and 600 rushing yards in his first two NFL seasons.

In the coldest day in franchise history – it was one degree with a wind chill of minus-9 at kickoff – Mariota didn't wear gloves and said he didn't have any issues throwing the football. Mariota lost a fumble in the first half, one of three turnovers committed by the Titans.

The Titans trailed throughout, but they rallied in the second half and had a chance to win it after a one-yard run by Derrick Henry made it 17-16 with just 3:12 remaining. The Titans tried to win it with a two-point conversion, but Mariota's pass was incomplete.

Mariota loved the call.

"I love it. I love it,'' Mariota said. "To have the confidence in us, and to have the opportunity to go and win it, I didn't question that call at all, and I hope coach (Mike) Mularkey continues to be that way and continues to believe in us.

"For us, we all wanted (another) opportunity. (We said) if we get an opportunity we're going to go down there and win the game."

RYAN SUCCOP GETS EMOTIONAL AFTER GAME-WINNER

TITANS ONLINE
DECEMBER 19, 2016

KANSAS CITY — Ryan Succop wasn't sure if he could kick the football 53 yards.

Not on this day, when the temperature was in single digits.

So the Titans kicker said a prayer with teammates, and with the game on the line, he gave it all he had with his right foot.

And it was good enough.

Succop's 53-yard field goal sailed just over the crossbar on the final play of Sunday's game, and it gave the Titans a dramatic 19-17 win over the Kansas City Chiefs here at Arrowhead Stadium. Moments earlier, Succop was short on a kick from the same distance, but the kick didn't count because the Chiefs had called a time out.

"On the second one I just kind of had to throw technique out the window a little bit and really go after it and kick it as hard as I could,'' Succop said. "I told some of the guys this afterward: You could give me 10 kicks from there and I don't know if I could make one, honestly, in the weather and the cold and just kicking a frozen football.

"There is one explanation for why that ball went in and it's because it was the Lord's will for it to go in. Glory to God. What a day."

Succop's kick capped off a six-play, 40-yard drive that was engineered by quarterback Marcus Mariota. Trailing 17-16 with 1:07 left, the Titans took over at their own 25-yard line.

Mariota completed a 19-yard pass to receiver Rishard Matthews, and then a pair of passes to tight end Delanie Walker to get the Titans to the Kansas City 35-yard line.

But even Succop didn't know if that was close enough. He hit a career-long 54-yard kick earlier in his career, but that was back in 2011, when he played for the Chiefs. In warmups, he didn't even try a kick longer than 49 yards.

"I didn't even really go past that, to be honest with you, because I couldn't imagine going over 50 on a six-degree day,'' Succop said. "This is the coldest day I've ever played in."

When the ball sailed through the uprights, it set off a wide range of emotions for many Titans. Titans equipment man Matt Thompson retrieved the football, and it was in Succop's locker after the game.

"I kind of blacked out for a moment,'' said Beau Brinkley, the team's snapper. "It's surreal. This team has been on the other side of that spectrum for a while, and it feels so good to be on the winning side.

"I was really excited. We were all really excited."

Titans coach Mike Mularkey said he had faith in Succop, who made a 39-yard field goal attempt earlier in the game and has now made 20-of-22 kicks this season.

"He banged the game-winner,'' Mularkey said of Succop. "Everyone on the sideline knew it was what he was going to do. We have a lot of confidence in him."

Succop, an eight-year veteran who spent his first five NFL seasons with the Chiefs, got especially emotional.

"Just pure adrenalin, and so much emotion,'' Succop said. "I was telling some of the guys, I have really never gotten that emotional after a game, but it was just an incredible feeling. Not knowing if I could even hit one that far.

"I watched it the whole time, and I wasn't sure it went in or not. When I saw the referees (put his hands up) that is when I knew, and it was just an incredible feeling."

REXRODE: 'WE'RE NOT THOSE TITANS ANYMORE,' OWNER SAYS AFTER EPIC WIN

BY JOE REXRODE

KANSAS CITY – She greeted everyone she encountered as she made her way through a jubilant locker room that was much her making, and Amy Adams Strunk wasn't done as she exited to a blast of frigid air.

The Titans' controlling owner found reserve tight end Phillip Supernaw in the tunnel, about 25 yards from the Arrowhead Stadium field where her team buried its former identity Sunday. Supernaw didn't play much because of a concussion, but she thanked him anyway, because it takes everyone to engineer the kind of makeover we are witnessing in 2016.

"There's a lot of chemistry on this team, and there's just a whole different attitude now," Adams said as she walked up the tunnel toward warmth, still glowing from a 19-17 Titans win in the coldest game in franchise history and coldest weather she could recall experiencing. "We're not 'those Titans' anymore."

They're long gone, and maybe they already were. Internally, certainly. The general manager she hired and the head coach she retained – that move made amid howling criticism – have been building a future that could easily be identified as promising before this win.

This win, though. The emotion of the Titans, after Ryan Succop somehow got an icy rock of a football to travel 53 yards and over the crossbar at the buzzer, said it better than any of them could as they dressed for the flight home – freshly 8-6 with two games to play, knowing that wins in both will deliver an AFC South championship.

They ran around, they chased the jubilant Succop and, in some cases, they fell all over each other. Jurrell Casey said he "touched the ground a little bit and let the emotions fill my body," because this was not just an outcome that helped the Titans keep pace.

This was a comeback from a 14-0 deficit, against a 10-3 Chiefs team fighting to be the AFC's No. 1 seed in the playoffs, a Chiefs team as good as any at finding ways to win, and it happened despite a 3-1 turnover deficit and the loss of two defensive starters and a late coaching decision that appeared fatal.

It happened because Marcus Mariota came up clutch on his last two drives, other than a two-point try Mike Mularkey ordered up with 3:12 left and his team down 17-16. It happened because the Titans defense got the stop to give Mariota another chance anyway, and because it killed two deep Kansas City drives with a LeShaun Sims pick and a goal-line stand.

It happened because the Titans offensive line was again excellent, no sleeves for all in weather that was 1 degree at kickoff – after center Ben Jones and rookie tackle Jack Conklin did their usual pre-game barefoot walk, the length of the field and back.

"That was awful," Jones said of the walk, but he said of the game: "We'll remember it the rest of our lives."

"This team won't quit," Mularkey said. "It never does, never has and I don't see it ever happening with the guys in that locker room."

Those guys have talked all season about doing away with the blues that came with five combined wins in 2014-15. General Manager Jon Robinson gave them a much better roster through one draft and round of free agency. Mularkey stressed physicality and accountability.

And Adams gave the team's ownership a face and a voice. She invested in a revamped locker room at the Titans facility and new seats at Nissan Stadium. She bought a house in Green Hills, fully aware of the absentee ownership complaints that reached high volume amid all the losing.

These all appeared to be positive steps. But the evaluations take place on Sundays. It has been step forward/step back all season, which is still significant progress.

Now, it's a win over the Super Bowl-champion Broncos, followed by a win at the Super Bowl-hopeful Chiefs. As we discuss the Titans moving forward, we should no longer reference the failures of their recent past.

A trip to Jacksonville is next. You might say the Titans always seem to split with the lowly Jaguars. You shouldn't. That was the old Titans.

The new Titans should handle that assignment to set up a winner-take-all game against the Houston Texans on Jan. 1 at Nissan Stadium, for a terrific shot at their first playoff berth since 2008. If they don't, maybe we'll look back at Sunday and figure it was more about the Chiefs running out of luck, or Andy Reid blowing it by calling timeout to give Succop a second blast to win.

That's what they were talking about in the Kansas City locker room Sunday. The emerging NFL story was in the other locker room. And this felt like an important chapter.

"This team has shown no quit, and it's just, unlike in years previous, you just know there's a chance," Adams said. "When we got down, I did not think we were going to lose. I thought we would come back."

TITANS GET PAST CHIEFS, KEEP CONTROL OF PLAYOFF FATE

Five things to know about the Titans' 19-17 victory over the Chiefs on Sunday at Arrowhead Stadium in Kansas City, Mo., where the temperature was 1 degree at kickoff, making this the coldest game in Titans/Oilers franchise history. The Titans (8-6) remain in first place in the AFC South with two games to play.

Succop booted a 53-yard field goal for the win

Titans placekicker Ryan Succop was short on his first attempt with 5 seconds remaining in the game, but the Chiefs had called a timeout. He hammered his second attempt through the uprights to give the Titans the victory, and their first lead of the game.

The Titans' drive began on their own 25-yard line with 1:07 to play. Receiver Rishard Matthews opened with a 19-yard catch to the Titans' 44. Tight end Delanie Walker had a 15-yard grab to the Chiefs' 35, setting up the game-winning field goal.

Titans' gamble on two-point conversion failed

Running back Derrick Henry's second rushing touchdown, from the 1-yard line with 3:12 to play, would have tied the score 17-17 had the Titans kicked the extra point. But coach Mike Mularkey decided to go for two.

Quarterback Marcus Mariota rolled right, couldn't find anyone open and had a weak pass knocked down as the Chiefs continued to lead 17-16.

Henry's score followed a 15-yard catch by running back DeMarco Murray on fourth-and-5. Henry also scored on a 4-yard run in the second quarter to trim the Titans' deficit to 14-7.

Titans committed three turnovers

The Titans had a chance to set a franchise record with five consecutive games without a turnover, but they lost the ball three times, including twice in the first half.

Matthews fumbled deep in Chiefs territory, and Mariota was intercepted and lost a fumble for his first turnovers since a loss to the Chargers on Nov. 6.

The Chiefs scored seven points off the mistakes, although the change in field position after Mariota's fumble ultimately contributed to a Kansas City field goal.

Defense made two stops in the red zone

The Titans' defense kept the score close with a goal-line stand and interception in the end zone.

Chiefs running back Spencer Ware was stuffed at the goal line on third and fourth downs late in the second half, after Mariota's fumble.

And after Mariota's interception — a one-handed grab by Chiefs safety Ron Parker — Titans rookie cornerback LeShaun Sims intercepted an Alex Smith pass in the end zone intended for Jeremy Maclin with about six minutes remaining in the third quarter.

Titans trailed 14-0 early

The Titans were concerned about the Chiefs' electric wide receiver and kick returner, Tyreek Hill, and he burned them on a running play.

Hill blazed through the secondary for a 68-yard touchdown run on the Chiefs' second play of the day, giving Kansas City an early 7-0 lead.

Smith ran for a 10-yard touchdown to give the Chiefs a 14-0 lead before the Titans mounted their comeback.

RYAN SUCCOP DRILLS LONG, FROZEN FIELD GOAL TO HAND TITANS VICTORY OVER CHIEFS

BY JASON WOLF
THE TENNESSEAN

Ryan Succop stood on the worn arrowhead logo at midfield of the stadium he called home for his first five seasons in the NFL and prepared for the most important kick of his career.

Marcus Mariota, without the benefit of a timeout, had used 62 seconds to guide the Titans from their own 25-yard line to the Chiefs' 35, right on the cusp of Succop's career-long range. Succop, long snapper Beau Brinkley and holder Brett Kern prayed together on the sideline during the drive. Now, five seconds remained on the clock, the Titans trailing 17-16 in the coldest game in franchise history, the outcome and potentially the team's playoff hopes on the line.

The ball was snapped, the hold was correct, and Succop swung his leg, connecting with a ball as rigid as a cinder block. It landed in the end zone – short – but the Chiefs had called a timeout at the last moment, providing a reprieve.

"I kind of went over and tightened up my plant shoe a little bit," Succop said later, "because I knew I was going to be going at it as hard as I could."

In extreme cold, the ball doesn't travel as it normally would.

There's no compression at the point of contact, and Succop remained unsure if he'd be successful on a second attempt from that distance.

His teammates and coaches felt otherwise.

"I thought he could because I've seen him kick it in practice," Titans coach Mike Mularkey said. "Not in these conditions, but he has a strong leg and he has a lot of confidence. We have a lot of confidence in him and I think he knew it. The whole team was over there, all believed it was going through."

Succop had to try.

"So, on the second one, I kind of just had to throw technique out the window a little bit and really go after it and hit it as hard as I could," he said.

This time, the ball boomed through the uprights as time expired, handing the Titans their first lead of the game and a 19-17 victory, their second in a row against an AFC West powerhouse and their third in a row, a feat they hadn't accomplished since 2011.

"I might have been on the field before the refs put their arms up," Mariota said.

The Titans improved their record to 8-6 and remain in first place in the AFC South, tied with the Texans with two games to play.

Chiefs coach Andy Reid offered a mea culpa for calling the timeout, attempting to ice the kicker after the game.

"Listen, it didn't work," he said. "I've got to do better on that. It backfired."

Meanwhile, the Titans celebrated in the locker room.

"I told some of the guys this earlier," Succop said. "You could give me 10 kicks from there and I don't know if I can make one. Honestly, in today's weather, the cold and just kicking a frozen football. There's one explanation of what that ball went in and it was because it was the Lord's will for it to go in today, and I know that's the case. Glory to God, man. What a day."

He wasn't the first or the last to invoke a divine influence in the outcome.

But tight end Delanie Walker spread the credit around.

"It was scary," he said. "I'm glad they called a timeout. Thank you for that, Kansas City."

TITANS REPORT CARD: STRONG DEFENSIVE EFFORT HELPS STUN CHIEFS

THE TENNESSEAN

RUSHING DEFENSE

B-

The Chiefs produced well over their average, finishing with 158 rushing yards on 28 carries. Much of that total can be attributed to Tyreek Hill's electric 68-yard touchdown sprint in the first quarter, when he burst into the secondary and turned around safety Kevin Byard on his way to handing the Chiefs an early 7-0 lead. Spencer Ware finished with 70 yards on 18 carries, an average of 3.9 yards per touch, but was stuffed on third and fourth down at the goal line. Quarterback Alex Smith ran for a 10-yard touchdown to push the Chiefs' advantage to 14-0.

PASSING DEFENSE

A

The Titans lost two starters from their already-thin secondary in the first half, when cornerback Jason McCourty left with a shoulder injury and safety Da'Norris Searcy suffered a concussion. But the Titans rose to the challenge. Smith completed 15 of 28 passes for 163 yards, an interception and a 56.1 passer rating. Rookie cornerback LeShaun Sims intercepted Smith in the end zone for his first career pick. Jeremy Maclin had six catches for a game-high 82 yards, including a 44-yard grab that helped set up the Chiefs' second touchdown. Star tight end Travis Kelce was limited to three catches on five targets for 41 yards.

SPECIAL TEAMS

Ryan Succop boomed a game-winning 53-yard field goal as time expired after his first attempt fell short – but Chiefs coach Andy Reid had called a timeout in an attempt to ice the kicker, providing him a second opportunity. Succop, who played his first five NFL seasons in a Chiefs uniform, also hit a 39-yard field goal early in the fourth quarter to trim the Titans' deficit to 17-10. Hill averaged just one yard on three punt returns. Titans return man Marc Mariani averaged 21 yards on three kickoff returns and 11 yards on two punt returns. Brett Kern averaged 35.8 yards on four punts.

COACHING

B-

It was a highly questionable decision for Mike Mularkey to go for two instead of kicking a game-tying extra point with 3:12 to play. The Titans failed and weren't certain to get another possession. Even had they succeeded and taken a slim lead, the Chiefs would have had plenty of time to drive into field goal range for a game-winning kick. But players were uniformly positive about the decision, pleased with the aggressive approach and knowledge that their coach believed they'd get the job done. The fact they won the game undoubtedly helped. Mularkey lost both coach's challenges, on a Maclin catch along the sideline and a spot call on a first-down run by Ware. The Titans took a smart approach on punts and kickoffs, as Succop and Brett Kern booted the ball high in an effort to mitigate the risk of Hill breaking a long return.

START WITH THE HEART: THUMBS UP, DOWN AFTER TITANS STUN CHIEFS

THE TENNESSEAN

Here are four thumbs up and two thumbs down after the Tennessee Titans' 19-17 win over the Kansas City Chiefs on Sunday at Arrowhead Stadium:

THUMBS UP

True grit: Some of the things that are happening for this team are best explained by its collective belief that they will happen – and its ability to keep digging until they do. Down 14-0 on a brutally cold day in one of the toughest road environments against one of the NFL's best teams? No problem. Just shut that team out in the second half and make countless clutch plays to beat them.

Succop's second try: Chiefs fans will no doubt blame Andy Reid for calling a timeout to "ice" Titans kicker Ryan Succop, whose first crack at a 53-yard try to win fell short. But Succop still had to summon the leg to blast a kick that was well out of the range he set for himself entering the game. He has been great all season and now has what he called the No. 1 moment of his career to date.

Defensive adjustments: Once again, if you're going to victimize this Titans defense, you had better do it early. The Chiefs had 14 points in the first 11 minutes and three the rest of the way. The Titans' goal-line stand, the end-zone pick from rookie cornerback LeShaun Sims and the third-down stop to get the ball back for the winning drive were the key plays.

Marcus Mariota's late flurry: The Titans quarterback had two turnovers, and the passing game was limited for most of the game. But he was 8-for-13 for 103 yards on the final two drives, not counting a 2-point try incompletion and a spike to set up the winning field goal. He also picked up 20 yards on a pass-interference call. His fourth-and-5 strike to DeMarco Murray was as clutch as it gets.

THUMBS DOWN

The usual road start: Just as in a loss at Houston … and a loss at San Diego … and a loss at Indianapolis … the Titans were down big almost immediately. A Tyreek Hill 68-yard touchdown run on the Chiefs' second play from scrimmage opened the scoring, and it was 14-0 with 4:24 left in the first quarter after a Titans fumble and an Alex Smith touchdown scramble on third-and-goal from the 11.

Going for two: Yes, it all worked out in the end. And yes, Mike Mularkey told his team this was the plan before the touchdown drive that could have tied the game with 3:12 left. But you can still re-evaluate, and at that point the Chiefs were doing nothing on offense and losing the physical battle on both sides of the ball. Take the tie and there's a good chance the Titans aren't down to a longshot of a 53-yard bomb to win or lose. But yeah. It did all work out.

WHAT THE TITANS' WIN OVER THE CHIEFS MEANS

BY DAVID AMMENHEUSER
THE TENNESSEAN
DECEMBER 19, 2016

Tennessean sports editor Dave Ammenheuser's analysis of what the Titans' 19-17 win over the Kansas City Chiefs means:

WHAT IT MEANS

The AFC South is down to a two-game season.

Houston and Tennessee are tied atop the division with 8-6 records; Indianapolis is a game behind at 7-7.

The Titans and Texans posted come-from-behind wins on Sunday to remain tied. The Texans came back to beat Jacksonville 21-20, while the Titans survived with a 19-17 win in Kansas City.

Indianapolis won easily, 34-6, in Minnesota. Andrew Luck passed for 250 yards and two touchdowns, and Frank Gore ran for 101 yards for the Colts.

Quarterback Tom Savage replaced Brock Osweiler and led the Texans' comeback. Jacksonville led 13-0 in the second quarter and 20-11 after the third quarter, but Houston scored the final 13 points of the game.

Remaining schedule:

Titans: Dec. 24 at Jacksonville, Jan. 1 vs. Houston

Texans: Dec. 24 vs. Cincinnati, Jan. 1 at Tennessee

Indianapolis: Dec. 14 at Oakland, Jan. 1 vs. Jacksonville

Each team has a chance to win the division. Here's how:

Titans: Win their final two games.

Texans: Win their final two games or one win and one loss by the Colts and one loss by the Titans.

Colts: Win their final two games, plus the Texans must lose their final two games and the Titans must lose to Jacksonville.

HERO OF THE GAME

Easiest choice all season: Ryan Succop's 53-yard field goal as time expired won the game for the Titans and kept their postseason hopes alive.

TURNING POINT

Succop's 53-yard field goal capped the final 1:07 Titans scoring drive to win the game. Mariota started the drive with a 19-yard pass to receiver Rishard Matthews. After an incomplete pass, he connected with tight end Delanie Walker on back-to-back completions of 6 and 15 yards to move the ball to the Kansas City 35. Mariota then spiked the ball with 5 seconds left.

As Succop attempted the game-winning field goal, the Chiefs called a timeout. The kick was short.

Thus, Succop had one more chance. This time, the kick was good, and the Titans won.

STAR WATCH

QB Marcus Mariota: 19-of-33 for 241 yards

RB DeMarco Murray: 18 carries for 89 yards

RB Derrick Henry: Nine carries for 58 yards, two touchdowns

TE Delanie Walker: Six catches for 55 yards, including two for 21 yards in final drive

K Ryan Succop: Field goals of 39 and 53 yards, the latter the game-winner

FAST FACTS

0: Touchdown passes for Titans quarterback Marcus Mariota, the second straight game he had none.

0: Seconds the Titans led the game in regulation. The game-winning kick went through as time expired.

1: Plays cornerback Jason McCourty played before leaving the game with a shoulder injury.

1 of 4: Times the Chiefs scored when they had the ball inside the Titans' 20-yard line.

3: Titans turnovers (two fumbles, one interception) after having none the past four games.

21: Chiefs' average gain on their first six plays while taking a 14-0 first-quarter lead.

53: Yards of Titans placekicker Ryan Succop's game-winning kick against his former team.

68: Yards Tyreek Hill had on his touchdown run early in the first quarter. He had just 3 all-purpose yards (all on punt returns) the rest of the game.

389-317: Titans' edge in offensive yardage in the game.

UP NEXT

The Titans will spend Christmas Eve in Jacksonville. The two AFC South competitors will play at noon Saturday. The NFL has moved most of the Week 16 schedule from Sunday to Saturday because of the holiday. The Titans must win the game to keep their AFC South championship hopes alive.

Delanie Walker sums up Titans' win: 'We do not doubt'

KANSAS CITY, Mo. -- The Tennessee Titans are not the most talented team. They are not the best-coached team in the league. They are not the smartest team in the NFL.

After Sunday's remarkable 19-17 win against the Kansas City Chiefs, the Titans may be the most resilient team in the league.

With a minus-9 wind chill temperature in Kansas City at kickoff and trailing by 14 points on Sunday after a little over 10 minutes, they resisted any temptation to huddle by the heaters and stare at the clock.

"In this locker room, we don't doubt," tight end Delanie Walker said. "We know we've got a great thing and it's going well. We knew we could come out here and beat them.

"Everybody probably counted us out after those [three] turnovers. But we believe in each other and we know we are built for these type of games, to finish at the end, and that's what we did."

Ponder that. They don't doubt.

This is a team that earned the second pick in the 2014 draft and the first pick in 2015. During that span, the Titans went 5-27. This is a team that hired Mike Mularkey, a retread coach who had an 18-39 record in his previous head-coaching work. This is a team that hasn't beaten the Colts, usually the leader of the AFC South, in its past 11 tries.

They don't doubt.

Ryan Succop's 53-yard field goal lifts the Titans to a 19-17 win over the Chiefs and keeps Tennessee in first place in the AFC South. AP Photo/Charlie Riedel

Ryan Succop said he thought he'd go 0-for-10 from 53 yards given the Arrowhead Stadium conditions and missed well short on an attempt that was washed away by a Kansas City timeout. He then smashed his second chance over the bar, atoning for a failed two-point conversion just over three minutes earlier. The Titans improved to 8-6.

While Mularkey's mindset was admirable on the two-point try and the percentages made it a reasonable attempt, it was borderline crazy not to tie the game and then try to win. Or to be pleased to go into overtime against the Chiefs, who stalled badly after halftime.

But the coach got a massive two-for-one.

He got buy-in from his players, who embraced the aggressiveness, and he got the miracle kick that bailed him out of the questionable judgment.

"I love it," quarterback Marcus Mariota said.

Mariota left room for other characteristics, but resiliency was top of mind.

"I think that is what defines this team and it is the culture we are building around here," Mariota said. "Guys continue to believe in that and continue to believe in the culture Coach Mularkey is instilling. We are on the right path."

The Titans' willingness to stick with the run game was another giant development. Teams with good running backs and good offensive lines but down two touchdowns often get too far away from the run.

But the Titans ran it 46 percent of the time, which kept them true to who they are, and the run game produced 148 yards and both of their touchdowns.

"I think that's a compliment to [offensive coordinator Terry] Robiskie," DeMarco Murray said. "We're going to run the ball as much as we can, we're going to just play our game. No matter what the score is, we never look up and say 'We're down 20' or 'We're up 20.'

"We're going to do the things it takes to win and I think Robiskie and Coach Mularkey, they have trust in us as a team to fight, scratch and claw for every yard, every possession and try to make it happen."

The Titans gave up touchdowns on the Chiefs' first two possessions. They allowed a second-quarter field goal and nothing else after that, thanks to an impressive goal-line stand and an end zone interception by rookie corner LeShaun Sims.

"It just speaks to the character of this team: We're resilient," rookie safety Kevin Byard said. "We don't waver, we don't get fazed by anything. When we stay relaxed and stay calm, it usually works out in our favor."

Jason McCourty has played in 108 games for the Titans since 2009 and Derrick Morgan has played in 89 since joining the team a year later.

McCourty, who left the game after a shoulder injury on his first play, said the victory was probably the biggest one of his NFL career. Morgan rated the win as "top one."

"We have every chance to get into the playoffs," McCourty said. "There is no reason it can't be us."

Ryan Succop on Titans' game winner: Wasn't sure I would reach goal

KANSAS CITY, Mo. -- Ryan Succop didn't try a warm-up field goal longer that 49 yards on Sunday at frigid Arrowhead Stadium.

The Tennessee Titans place-kicker didn't figure there was much of a point to it.

And Succop was short from 53 yards on the final play of regulation -- but it was washed away by Kansas

City Chiefs coach Andy Reid's timeout. Given a second chance, Succop found the range and lifted the Titans to a 19-17 win that improved their record to 8-6.

"I felt like I hit the first one good, and when it came up short, there was a second in my mind where I wasn't sure if I could even reach from there," said Succop, who played for the Chiefs from 2009 to 2013. "So on the second one, I kind of just had to throw technique out the window a little bit and really go after it and hit it as hard as I could."

During the timeout, Succop said he re-tied the shoe on his plant foot to prepare to go at the kick extra hard.

Earlier, Succop and special-teams coach Steve Hoffman concluded the kicker's maximum distance was probably 47 or 48 yards.

At the point of the deciding kick, the Titans could already have been tied and still assured of heading to overtime if Succop had missed the 53-yard attempt. But earlier in the fourth quarter, Tennessee coach Mike Mularkey had his offense try for a two-point conversion after Derrick Henry's second touchdown with 3:12 remaining, rather than having Succop attempt the extra point. The Chiefs covered a play that had Marcus Mariota looking to the right flat, and he wound up with a short incompletion.

Tennessee got the ball down 17-16 and moved 40 yards in 1:07 to set up Succop's heroics.

Reflecting on the 53-yard field goal, Succop said that if given 10 chances at the kick, "I don't know if I could make one."

He did, though.

Titans equipment man Matt Thompson retrieved the ball for Succop, and when the kicker got his hands on it, gloveless, in the locker room, he and punter Brett Kern marveled at just how cold it still was.

Reid was left to second-guess his timeout.

"Listen, it didn't work," Reid said. "I've got to do better on that. It backfired."

Improbable win at Arrowhead has Titans in great position

KANSAS CITY, Mo. -- Even a late, failed two-point conversion attempt that denied them the chance to forge a tie couldn’t undo the Tennessee Titans.

Fighting back from a 14-point deficit in below-zero wind chill, the Titans drove for a last-play, 53-yard field-goal attempt.

Ryan Succop’s first try was short, but the Kansas City Chiefs had called a timeout at Arrowhead Stadium.

His second, in a building he used to call home, was true.

It won the game, 19-17, and keeps the Titans in first place in the AFC South with an 8-6 record -- tied with Houston, which beat Jacksonville on Sunday.

If Tennessee wins Saturday at Jacksonville, the Titans will -- at worst -- play for the division title at Nissan Stadium in Week 17, when the Texans visit.

"That was a really cool thing, to watch the kind of football we played," left tackle Taylor Lewan said. "...Keep playing ball, keep playing as hard as we can, stack two more wins together and go to the playoffs."

As has become their style, the Titans found a way to hang around and be within just a few plays late in a game.

A late touchdown put the Titans in position to tie Kansas City. The Titans went for two, and the play was a massive failure: a short, incomplete throw by Marcus Mariota under pressure after a roll to his right.

But the Titans' defense forced a punt, and Tennessee got the ball back with 1:07 left and no timeouts.

Mariota's 19-yard pass to Rishard Matthews and two to Delanie Walker (for 21 yards combined) positioned Succop for his heroics, and a wild celebration as time expired.

"That's the best game I ever played in," rookie safety Kevin Byard said. "That's the best locker room I've ever been in."

SUCCOP'S WINNING FG GIVES TITANS 19-17 WIN OVER FORMER TEAM

BY DAVE SKRETTA
ASSOCIATED PRESS
DECEMBER 19, 2016

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Ryan Succop wasn't offended when Titans coach Mike Mularkey elected to go for a 2-point conversion and the win Sunday rather than let him attempt the tying extra point against the Chiefs.

Good thing, too. His confidence came in handy a few minutes later.

The kicker who lost his job in Kansas City to an undrafted rookie in training camp a few years ago spoiled what was nearly a banner day for the Chiefs. He boomed a 53-yarder through the uprights on the final play of the game to give Tennessee a 19-17 victory crucial to its playoff hopes .

"I just kind of had to throw technique out the window a little bit and really go after it," said Succop, who came up short on his first try, only to get a do-over when Chiefs coach Andy Reid called timeout.

"I thought I hit the first one good and when it came up short there was a second in my mind, I wasn't even sure I could reach from there," Succop said. "You could give me 10 kicks from there and I don't know if I could make one. Honestly."

He made the only one that mattered.

The victory was the third straight for the Titans (8-6) and kept them tied with Houston atop the AFC South. It also dashed a chance for the Chiefs (10-4) to clinch their spot in the playoffs. They came into the day tied with the Raiders for first in the AFC West.

Mularkey said the decision to go for 2 after Derrick Henry's second TD run made it 17-16 with 3:12 to go had nothing to do with Succop's leg. Rather, it had everything to do with his confidence in his team.

"I wanted to make a statement," Mularkey said. "When we had the ball, I went around the sideline. I talked to the guys on this team, our leaders, and I said, 'This is my plan.' And they were all, 'Let's go.' They knew before the drive started we were going for it."

Meanwhile, the Chiefs kept squandering chances to put the game away.

Twice they were stuffed at the 1-yard line in the first half and came away without points, and Alex Smith threw an interception in the end zone early in the second to ruin another drive. They also had a hard time converting third downs, going 4 for 14 and continuing a season-long trend.

"I take the responsibility for that," Chiefs coach Andy Reid said. "We've got to do a better job, I do, of coaching them up and putting them in positions to make plays."

As the Titans and Chiefs continue their playoff pursuit, here are some more key takeaways:

MARVELOUS MARCUS: Titans quarterback Marcus Mariota fumbled the ball away and threw an interception , and was having an otherwise miserable day until the fourth quarter. But after leading his team to a touchdown to get back in the game, he made three crucial completions to set up Succop's winning field goal.

"We had to get down and get to the 50-yard range for Ryan. We knew if we could get a couple big plays that we would have a chance at it," he said. "Ryan did a great job of finishing it off at the end."

MARVELOUS MURRAY: The Titans' DeMarco Murray carried 18 times for 89 yards while catching five passes for 52 yards. For a big stretch of the game, he was the team's only consistent offense.

SECOND-HALF WOES: The Chiefs have not scored an offensive touchdown in the second half the last two weeks, and only scored one in the second half dating to their overtime win in Denver on Nov. 27.

"Every second half is different," Smith said. "Certainly today, yeah, frustrating. A lot of plays to be made out there. ... If we could make one or two of them it's a different day."

BUNDLED UP: It was 1 degree at kickoff, making it the coldest game at Arrowhead Stadium since records have been kept beginning in 1994. The wind chill of minus-9 was second to a 2008 game against Miami, when it was minus-12 at kickoff. In fact, it was so cold that fuses that operate the massive scoreboard in the west end zone froze, leaving a corner of it blank for much of the game.

"It was tough for both teams," said Chiefs kicker Cairo Santos, a native of Brazil. "Tough day."

UP NEXT: The Titans visit Jacksonville, which fired coach Gus Bradley on Sunday, next weekend before facing the Texans to finish the regular season. Kansas City gets Denver at home on Christmas night.

MARIOTA SALVAGES MISERABLE DAY, TITANS' PLAYOFF HOPES

BY AMIE JUST
DECEMBER 19, 2016

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Marcus Mariota had never played in weather colder than 75 degrees during high school, and never in temperatures bellows 40 degrees during his college days at Oregon.

That's what happens when you're born and raised in Hawaii.

So when he took the field at Arrowhead Stadium on Sunday, and it was 1 degree with a wind chill of minus-9, perhaps it made sense the Tennessee Titans quarterback would get off to a chilly start.

He was certainly hot by the end.

Mariota shrugged off an early fumble and interception to lead Tennessee to a touchdown late in the fourth quarter against Kansas City. Then, after the Titans failed to convert a 2-point conversion and got the ball back, he drove them into range for Ryan Succop to kick a 53-yarder for a 19-17 victory.

"Marcus did a great job of keeping everybody positive and letting us know that we're going to go out there and make great plays," Titans wide receiver Rishard Matthews said. "The defense did a great job getting us the ball back. Special teams did a great job containing their returners.

"It was an overall team win today."

Mariota was 19 of 33 for 241 yards, and his completion percentage of 57.6 was among the worst games of his career. He also didn't throw a touchdown pass — something that's happened only nine times — in a game that was eminently forgettable until the end of the fourth quarter.

The turnovers were especially surprising for a quarterback who rarely makes a mistake.

The first came as he was trying to escape the pass rush, and defensive tackle Dontari Poe got his hand on the ball. It squirted free downfield and the Chiefs recovered.

"It was one of those deals," Mariota said. "I was tucking the ball away. He ended up swiping at it and got it. That's going to happen. Guys, they get paid a lot of money to do that. He made a great play."

He chalked his interception up to being "a good play," too, though that may be an understatement. Early in the third quarter, Mariota was making a relatively safe pass to tight end Delanie Walker when safety Ron Parker came flying in for the one-handed pick-off.

"Really, that team does a great job of creating turnovers," Mariota said. "That's what they do. I just think the way we were able to battle back says a lot about this team."

So does the final drive. The Titans got the ball back with 63 seconds left, and Mariota hit Matthews for 19 yards before finding Walker on two more completions. That moved the ball within range of Succop, who knocked through the winner against his former team.

"I thought he made some really good throws," Titans coach Mike Mularkey said of his quarterback. "I thought he played well, made some really good decisions with some of the runs we had, zone reads. Very good decisions. I thought he played well."

As for the weather, well, Mariota wasn't willing to admit he was cold. Asked how he had prepared for it, he replied: "The same. I wasn't thinking about it."

ENDLESS PLAYOFF POSSIBILITIES AND THE KICK OF A LIFETIME

BY PETER KING
MONDAY MORNING QUARTERBACK
DECEMBER 19, 2016

Week 15 helped solve part of the postseason puzzle, but there are still several pieces hoping to fit. Here's a look at some stretch-run scenarios. Plus the Titans' ice-cold game-winner, Green Bay's good guy and more

Imagine you're Tennessee kicker Ryan Succop, and you're back in Kansas City, where you kicked for the first five seasons of your career before being fired, and your team's playoff fate rests on something that feels impossible. The wind-chill temperature is -9º, impossible conditions for kicking because the ball doesn't travel well and feels like a rock. It really does; it's so hard it doesn't compress a millimeter no matter how hard you grip. You just hit the ball perfectly, but came five yards short on a 53-yard field-goal try. Luckily, you got saved by the Chiefs' timeout at the last second. The mis-kick didn't count on the scoreboard, but it did count in your head.

Now you've got the sickest feeling in your gut. Athletes are not supposed to ever say what you're thinking right now.

"I don't think I can reach it," Succop thought.

He took a deep breath. A cloud of white vapor came out of Succop's mouth as snapper Beau Brinkley took his grip on the frozen ball.

"If I had 10 kicks from here," Succop thought, "I don't think I could make one. Not on a day like this."

No more time for negativity. Brinkley fired the ball back, punter Brett Kern put it down, and that noise you may have heard was a stadium full of people inhaling.

Merry Christmas week, everyone, and Happy Hanukkah too.

Sunday was the kind of day that was a roller coaster with a touch of heartbreak, and an inevitable coach-firing. (What took the Jags so long with 14-48 Gus Bradley?) But not a lot of significant dreams died. We have 14 days left in the season, and 33 games to play, and all we learned over the weekend is:

• New England, 12-2, clinched a first-round bye for an NFL-record seventh straight year.

• Oakland, 11-3, clinched a playoff berth for the first time since 2002.

• We were all shoveling dirt on the Packers a month ago, but Green Bay wins the NFC North with wins over Minnesota (home) and Detroit (road) in the last two weeks. Watching Green Bay win four straight by an average of 13 points, it's pretty conceivable that Aaron Rodgers' run-the-table call will come true.

• Washington's an NFC wild card by winning out. Miami's an AFC wild card by winning out.

• There's one potential wild-card weekend matchup that stands above all. Say Green Bay wins the North and is the fourth NFC seed. Say the Giants have the best record of the wild cards and is the fifth NFC seed. Pardon the Packers if very bad memories arise right now. 2007: At Lambeau … Last game of Brett Favre's Green Bay career … NFC Championship Game … Historically cold day … Favre throws game-losing OT pick … Eli Manning quarterbacks Giants to 23-20 win on way to Super Bowl triumph over Patriots. 2011: At Lambeau … Packers go 15-1 in regular season, rest players in meaningless regular-season finale, look stale in opening divisional game versus Giants … Manning quarterbacks Giants to 37-20 win on way to Super Bowl triumph over Patriots. History can't repeat itself. Can it?

You know what's interesting? The bevy of possibilities for the final game of the season. The NFL has to announce game number 256, the Sunday night finale on NBC Jan. 1, no later than a week from today. Two games seem natural if form holds next weekend and all four teams exit the weekend 9-6: Green Bay at Detroit for the NFC North title, or Houston at Tennessee for the AFC South title. Oakland-Denver could have playoff implications for both teams. The Pats and Dolphins play in south Florida; New England's lost three straight at Miami, and the top seed in the AFC and Miami being in or out could ride on that game.

Most seasons around Christmas, we're fairly clear about the teams we like heading into the postseason. Not this year. The only sure thing is New England. The Patriots have won 12 games or more in every season since 2010, and after a 16-3 win at Denver, there's no disputing the Patriots are football's best team, with the kind of defense that can carry the load on the rare day when Tom Brady is just meh. After that? Kansas City has lost at home to Tampa Bay and Tennessee in the past month. Oakland lost to Kansas City by 16 and eight points. Dallas had a good rebound game Sunday night, but the Giants may be the Cowboys' NFC kryptonite. No one, not even Pete Carroll, knows if the embattled Russell Wilson will stay upright through the postseason behind a bad offensive line. Do the Giants have enough offense? Atlanta's promising, but it's hard to say if the Falcons' D will hold up. Green Bay and Pittsburgh and Tennessee all could win a couple of playoff games (yes, the Titans), but none are assured of making the playoffs.

That's the way we should like it down the stretch. It's a blur. If New England stumbles in January, none of 20 possible Super Bowl scenarios would surprise me.

Tennessee-Kansas City had some other drama. The Chiefs, up 14-7 in the second quarter, had two shots from the Titans' one to make it 21-7. But Tennessee's defense rose up against two straight Spencer Ware run over the right side—linebacker Wesley Woodyard led the charge on both plays with old man river Dick LeBeau cheering from the sideline. Tennessee held. In the last 40 minutes of the game, the Chiefs managed just one field goal in eight possessions. That gave Tennessee a chance to come back, and with 3:14 left, Derrick Henry scored on a one-yard run. Pre-PAT, that made it Kansas City 17, Tennessee 16.

Tennessee had no timeouts left. One Chiefs first down on the ensuing drive would most likely end the game. But coach Mike Mularkey decided to try to win the game right then and there. He went for two. Marcus Mariota rolled right, got pressured, and didn't get off a good throw. K.C. kept the lead, and Football Pundit America screamed: You blew it Mularkey! Too big a risk there, to go for two with no timeouts left.

"I wasn't thinking that way at all," Mularkey said from Arrowhead afterward. "I was thinking we were going to win the game in one of two ways. We get the two-point conversion, then we hold them, and we win. Or we don't make the two-point conversion, we hold them, and our kicker makes the field goal to win before going to overtime. That's the kind of confidence I have in my team. I wanted them to know it. They knew the plan on the sideline before we got to that point. They knew we were going for the win."

"But it did leave you in position to be second-guessed from coast to coast," I said.

"Then you can second-guess me all you want," he said. "I don't care. I believe in these guys, and I think they believe in what we're doing too."

Of course the Titans made Kansas City go three-and-out. Of course the Hawaiian quarterback who played in the Pac-12 drove the Titans to the Chiefs' 35 with time ticking down, and spiked the ball to stop the clock with five seconds left. Here came Succop, Mr. Irrelevant, the 256th and final overall pick in 2009, in Scott Pioli's first draft as Kansas City's GM. And of course Kansas City coach Andy Reid called the timeout to freeze the freezing kicker, and his practice kick landed in the end zone, a good five yards short, leading to the aforementioned severe doubts by Succop.

"I heard the whistle before the snap," Succop told me after the game, "so I knew they called time. I figured they would. But you've just got to kick it, which I did. The second one, I knew after that first kick that I just had to throw technique out the window. I just had to kick that thing as hard as I could, regardless of the right technique. I was kicking a frozen football in the worst conditions you could imagine."

The snap was perfect. Kern's hold was good. Succop's technique didn't look like a cleanup hitter swinging for the fences at all. He hit is square, and it flew, and traveled farther than the kick a minute earlier. And it barely landed over the crossbar. Good.

"Kick of a lifetime," he said over the phone, choking up.

"I gotta be honest. The conditions, this team, these guys, the way we're fighting for the division … I was crying like a baby after this one. I could not do this. No question in my mind it was the Lord's will. That's the one explanation for it. Glory to God."

And so here's the weirdest division in football, the AFC South, with two weeks to go:

1. Houston (8-6). Still to play: Cincinnati, at Tennessee. Holds the tiebreaker, but it's the shakiest lead of any division leader. Coach Bill O'Brien, rightfully, benched Brock Osweiler, his $72-million quarterback, Sunday as the Texans needed every break to beat the moribund Jags, 21-20. He's likely to keep unknown former Rutgers/Arizona/Pitt quarterback Tom Savage his quarterback. What should have been an energizing comeback over the Jags seemed almost maudlin because of the Osweiler wake. No time for that now.

2. Tennessee (8-6). Still to play: at Jacksonville, Houston. Big schedule edge, and the Titans have beaten Green Bay, Denver and Kansas City in the last five weeks, and the defense is coming on, and Marcus Mariota is one fun quarterback to watch.

3. Indianapolis (7-7). Still to play: at Oakland, Jacksonville. Everything has to fall right for the Colts—who had a ridiculously unlikely 34-6 win at Minnesota on Sunday—to win the division at 9-7. Colts go 2-0. Titans lose to Jags, beat Texans. Texans go 0-2. That'd leave Indy and Tennessee 9-7, with the Colts division champs by virtue of a season sweep of Tennessee. Of course, this means the Colts winning the possible final game in the history of the Black Hole next Sunday, against the 11-3 AFC West leaders. And it means Tennessee losing at Jacksonville. Stranger things have happened. I just can't think of many right now.

4. Jacksonville (2-12). Still to play: Tennessee, at Indianapolis. This is a talented team, but Gus Bradley could never get this car out of second gear. He finally got some impact defensive pieces this year—Dante Fowler, Malik Jackson, Jalen Ramsey—but they still stunk on defense, and Bradley got fired Sunday night with the worst record in NFL history (14-48) of a coach with at least 60 games. "I thought it would be best to do it immediately after today's result so Gus can step away, relax and regroup with his family during the Christmas and holiday season," Khan said in a statement. Bradley is such a nice guy, and owner Shad Khan's such a nice guy, that though he got fired after the game, Khan let Bradley return to Jacksonville on the team charter. That's a pretty strange deal. But the players let Bradley down, particularly quarterback Blake Bortles. Most disappointing quarterbacks in football this year: 1. Brock Osweiler; 2. Blake Bortles; 3. Cam Newton. But if you wanted to put Bortles first I wouldn't argue. Where do the Jags turn now? I doubt to Tom Coughlin for Act II—Khan and GM Dave Caldwell were not in Jacksonville for Coughlin I, but we'll see.

OFFENSIVE PLAYERS OF THE WEEK

Marcus Mariota, quarterback, Tennessee. I don't care about stats—19 of 33, 241 yards, no TDs, one pick, 67.9 rating—because most of Mariota's professional games have been better numerically. I care about Mariota's three fourth-quarter drives, in ungodly cold (minus-nine wind chill in Kansas City). The quarter started with the Chiefs leading 17-7. Then Mariota led the Titans 51 yards on 11 plays to a field goal; 68 yards on 12 plays to a touchdown; and 40 yards on six plays in the last minute with no timeouts to the winning field goal. That's a game very few quarterbacks could have won. Mariota did.

DEFENSIVE PLAYERS OF THE WEEK

Wesley Woodyard, linebacker, Tennessee. Pretty pedestrian stat line—four tackles, one for loss, no sacks. But with the Chiefs up 14-7 midway through the second quarter, Kansas City had the chance to take a two-touchdown lead on a day with minus-9 wind chill and the quarterback on the other team from Hawaii. Third-and-one, Kansas City, at the Titans' one. Power formation. K.C.'s 230-pound running back hit the hole between right guard and tackle, and boom! There was Woodyard, stoning Spencer Ware for a half-yard loss. Next play: Ware again, on fourth-and-goal from the one, and four Titans, led by Woodyard, stoned him again. No gain. Looking back, those were the two biggest defensive players of the game for the 8-6 Titans.

SPECIAL TEAMS PLAYER OF THE WEEK

Ryan Succop, kicker, Tennessee. His 39-yard field goal in the Arrowhead igloo brought the Titans to within one score early in the fourth quarter, and his 53-yarder at the final gun won a game that looked very lost. Tennessee 19, Kansas City 17, keeping the Titans alive in the AFC South title hunt. "I don't get very emotional after games," the ex-Chief told me. "But after this, how could I not? Kick of a lifetime."

TITANS DON'T GET ICED IN COMEBACK WIN OVER CHIEFS

BY GREGG ROSENTHAL
NFL.COM
DECEMBER 19, 2016

The Tennessee Titans (8-6) rallied to score 12 unanswered points in the fourth quarter to stun the Kansas City Chiefs, 19-17. Here's what we learned:

1. Abolish "Icing the kicker" forever, especially when it's one degree outside. Chiefs coach Andy Reid cost his team the win in part because he called a timeout before Titans kicker Ryan Succop attempted a 53-yard field goal as time expired. Succop came up short on his first try, but nailed it the second time around after warming up. It capped an incredible fourth quarter by Marcus Mariota during which he led the Titans to three scoring drives to stun the Chiefs (10-4).

2. This is one to remember in Mariota's development. In frigid conditions, Mariota rebounded from two poor turnovers to lead a 10-point fourth quarter comeback in Arrowhead. Tennessee's 88-yard touchdown drive included two third-and-long conversions and another beautiful throw on fourth-and-5. Given 1:07 and no timeouts, Mariota calmly knew just where to go with the ball to set up the winning field goal. Now 8-6, this Titans squad has the look of a playoff team.

3. This was a game of missed opportunities for the Chiefs. They were stuffed twice on the goal line in the first half, including a fourth-down try by Spencer Ware. Alex Smith's awful third quarter interception in the end zone helped turn the game around. After a fantastic first half by Smith, the Chiefs offense was scoreless after halftime.

4. After Smith's pick, the Chiefs picked up a total of 30 yards in their next three drives. When push came to shove, needing three yards to ice the game late, Reid called for an option run by Smith rather than a throw. It was a safe call and safe didn't work against the Titans.

5. The Chiefs are all but out of the running for the No. 1 seed in the AFC after this loss. It will make winning the AFC West and getting the No. 2 seed more complicated. Tennessee, meanwhile, is on track to play for the AFC South title in Week 17 against Houston. The Titans still can't afford a slip up against the Jaguars next week.

6. This has been a season of big playmakers and winning the turnover margin for Kansas City. The formula almost worked again with a 68-yard Tyreek Hill touchdown run and a 3-1 edge in turnovers, including another big Eric Berry play on a forced fumble.

7. Rishard Matthews' emergence as a deep threat has been a huge part of expanding Tennessee's offense. He finished with 105 yards on four catches.

HOW THE TENNESSEE TITANS GAMBLED, FAILED AND BRILLIANTLY MANAGED TO SAVE THEIR SEASON

BY CHRIS CHASE
FOXSPORTS.COM
DECEMBER 19, 2016

On a Sunday filled with big decisions, bigger consequences and plays both season-saving and season-ending, the greatest call of all came from Tennessee Titans coach Mike Mularkey, who opted to go for a two-point conversion rather than a game-tying extra point late in the game to beat the AFC West-leading Kansas City Chiefs. It was brash, bold and a failure. But it ended up not mattering as the Chiefs were forced to punt with that one-point lead and the Titans moved 40 yards in 1:07 to kick a game-winning field goal as time expired. And therein lies the genius of Mularkey's earlier decision.

How? Let's start at the beginning.

The Titans, co-leaders of the jammed-up AFC South, were trailing for all but the opening three minutes of their massive showdown with the Chiefs in a frigid Arrowhead Stadium. For much of the day, Marcus Mariota and Co. were down two scores. So when they scored a touchdown to pull within one point with 3:12 remaining, it seemed like a natural that Tennessee, thankful for its new lease on football life, would kick the extra point and go to overtime. Mularkey didn't. He recognized an opportunity and ordered up a go-ahead two-point conversion.

It was obviously a risky move but one that made sense. The Titans had the Chiefs defense on the ropes, having held the ball for much of the fourth quarter. They were playing on the road in a game that started with a record-low temperature (just above zero) and had bone-chilling winds throughout. They're not looking good on tiebreakers in a division that has three teams within a game of the lead. With just two games left after Sunday, a loss would have left Tennessee's fate in the hands of others. Going for the win firmly put the Titans' destiny in their own control.

The problem, as usual in such circumstances (which seem to be increasing in a coaching fraternity that sees more of its ranks gambling this year), was the play call, not the decision. Tennessee rolled out Mariota and thus he had no room to do anything when Kansas City blanketed its coverage. The conversion failed. The game seemed over. Mularkey would be ripped for putting his team's destiny on one play from the 2-yard line. And the Texans would be in the driver's seat for a division title, leading to at least one unwatchable game on wild-card weekend. Or so we thought.

Here's why Mularkey's decision was so clever: There was still a lot of time left on the clock — way too much time for the term "game-winning two-point conversion" to be reliably applied. This was a day when the Packers faced a 3rd-and-11 on their own 26 with 31 seconds left and no timeouts and still won the game. It doesn't matter where you were playing, what lay down the road or that the mercury was hovering around absolute zero — 3 minutes is more than enough time to get into field-goal range. So, instead of going for two and having it be an absolute win-or-lose decision (like the Eagles had against the Ravens — they failed too), the two-point decision was actually one that brought a number of scenarios.

1. Kick the extra point. First, hope it goes in — never a guarantee. Then, try and hold the Chiefs, who had two timeouts, from moving 40ish yards in just over three minutes. Their offense is hardly high-powered, but with that much time Alex Smith could have dinked-and-dunked his way down the field without even breaking a sweat (that would have frozen solid on his forehead, but you get the idea). An extra point didn't mean overtime — not at all. It meant a temporary tie.

2. Successfully convert two-point conversion. It's the same scenario as above, except instead of having overtime be the reward for stopping the Chiefs, a victory would have been on the other side. One downside: Kansas City gets an extra play in this scenario as fourth downs would be in play. With the lead, that's an acceptable one.

3. Fail to convert the two-pointer. This is what happened, and this is where the sneaky brilliance comes in.

Giving the ball back to Kansas City down one-point lead basically ensured one thing: The Chiefs, led by the most conservative head coach of his generation, were playing with a lead, which in Andy Reid-land is a whole lot different than playing with a tie or from behind. When Reid has a lead, he runs down the clock. And when he has a lead and the only way the opponent can stop the clock is with the two-minute warning, a play out of bounds or an incomplete pass, he runs it up the middle three straight times. It's not quite clockwork, but it's close enough.

Reid played right into the Titans' hands. His predictable play calling helped the defense make a stop and Tennessee got the ball back with 1:07 remaining. From there, Kansas City's prevent offense turned into a prevent defense and the Tennessee Titans had suddenly fallen upward, turning a disastrous, failed two-point conversion into a stunning, season-saving come-from-behind victory.

Mike Mularkey gambled. Andy Reid was showing his cards.

TITANS OWNER SENDS MESSAGE WITH FACILITY IMPROVEMENTS

BY JIM WYATT
TITANS ONLINE
AUGUST 3, 2016

NASHVILLE, Tenn. —OK, she peeked. Titans controlling owner Amy Adams Strunk admits it up front.

After the Titans made significant changes inside the building at Saint Thomas Sports Park, Strunk looked at pictures of the impressive renovations – including a glitzy new locker room -- before she walked into the facility over the weekend. She couldn't resist.

And she was blown away regardless.

"It was like "Wow!" It's just stunning,'' Strunk said. "I always say go big or go home, so that's what we did. And I think we accomplished what we wanted."

When the Titans wrapped up their offseason program in mid-June, work began on a renovation project at the team's headquarters in MetroCenter. Strunk saw the finished product for the first time over the weekend, after players reported for training camp. The changes are evident from the first step inside the entrance for players.

Straight ahead is the lit up Titans fireball logo. Just inside the building and to the left is a giant Vince Lombardi trophy with the words "One team. One goal."

The locker room is dramatically different.

New lockers, new carpet and new televisions decorate the spacious locker room. There's a huge, lit-up, Titans fireball logo on the ceiling. Two round tables with a Titans logo, surrounded by cushioned stools, are in the middle of the locker room.

Titans quarterback Marcus Mariota passed Strunk during her tour.

"Thank you for everything,'' Mariota told Strunk. "It looks great."

"You deserve it,'' Strunk told the quarterback.

"I want the players to know we are on board with you,'' Strunk said. "We want to be a part of a winning team, and the first step is giving them this beautiful facility."

Strunk was beaming as she made her way through the facility, guided by Titans general manager Jon Robinson and coach Mike Mularkey.

In the hallways, messages are delivered with flashy colors, photos, and murals:

Among the mantras on the walls:

A good plan violently executed now is better than the perfect play next week. … Work uphill all week, so you can play downhill on Sundays. … Teamwork means success. Work together, win together. … Individuals play the game. Teams win championships. … Miracles are made through hard work and discipline.

"All the sayings Jon and Mike came up with,'' Strunk said. "It's inspiring."

The state-of-the-art, wide-open locker room is the highlight of the project completed in roughly six weeks. It changed the look inside the building, home of the team since 1999.

"It's the best thing since I have been here,'' receiver Kendall Wright said. "I think they did it for us, and we appreciate it. I am not saying this will happen, but when big-time free agents come see us, this will help, too. And that's bigger than us. I am glad they did it."

"We love Nashville and love the organization and what they have done for us and our families and to see the changes that have gone on, it is really exciting, not only for the older guys but the younger guys as well,'' cornerback Jason McCourty said. "So much effort is being done to help us be the best we can be and to help us win football games as the end result."

At the start of another training camp, Strunk said the organization wants to prove to players and fans the team is committed to winning.

She's spent the last three days at training camp. There's a different look – and feel – these days, she said.

"This is an opportunity to show the players how much we support them,'' Strunk said. "We are going to invest in whatever gets a winning team.

"I am excited for the fans. They deserve to have a first-class organization. The players are so excited, and there's a lot of optimism here. Big expectations. So we are going to work hard and we are going to get there. … I am just really happy for everybody that works here. It's a new day."

TITANS OWNER COMMITTED TO BUILDING A WINNER

TITANS ONLINE
MARCH 23, 2016

BOCA RATON, Fla. — It's been roughly one year since Amy Adams Strunk took over as controlling owner of the Tennessee Titans, and plenty has changed since.

Here at the NFL owners meetings, the franchise has a new general manager (Jon Robinson), head coach (Mike Mularkey), and team president (Steve Underwood). The Titans picked a face-of-the-franchise quarterback in Marcus Mariota in last year's NFL Draft, and the team has made some key additions in free agency more recently.

And with Strunk calling the shots, the organization has a new vision as well.

Strunk, the daughter of late Titans owner Bud Adams, admits she had some sleepless nights to get to this point. She's made some difficult decisions, no doubt. While taking a break in between today's sessions, however, she spoke optimistically about the outlook moving forward. She's excited about what's ahead.

"I had a vision and I agonized on how I was going to get to that vision. But my vision has been clear, and it was always to get this team on track, and to get to winning,'' Strunk said.

"I am passionate about this team. Since I was six years old going to my first Oilers game, I've been passionate about it. Back then I was that star-struck fan. I waited outside the locker room to get autographs just like millions of other kids have done. It's always been in my blood. The main thing now is I want to win. We all want to win, and we want to be a force in the NFL. It's time."

Following a 3-13 season, and with just five wins over the past two seasons, the Titans have taken steps to make it happen.

Last season, Strunk dismissed coach Ken Whisenhunt, and named Mularkey the interim coach. In January, after a coaching search, Strunk made the decision to stick with Mularkey. Also in January, Strunk hired Robinson after she opted not to renew the contract of former GM Ruston Webster.

When free agency began, the Titans dove in head-first. The team traded for former Eagles running back DeMarco Murray, and since the beginning of March the Titans have signed seven new players to the team, while also re-signing several of their own free agents.

"I am so happy with how things have gone,'' Strunk said. "Jon has done such a good job. I think people who have graded our free agency have said 'Wow, The Titans are in there.' I think it has been fantastic.

"And Mike, from the beginning he has said he wanted to get a strong running back and we have that in DeMarco. I think it is going to help Marcus, and our whole offense. DeMarco gives us a weapon."

Strunk praised Robinson for executing the plan. And she also expressed confidence in Mularkey, who served as the team's interim coach the final nine games of the 2015 season.

"I am so happy when I hear free agents say: 'I want to play for Mike,' Strunk said. "That says everything to me, it really does. He is a good coach.

"Jon, he told me he wasn't going to go crazy overspending, that he would get us the players we need but he'd be smart about it and he's done that."

All the changes, Strunk said, needed to be made. Strunk said the Titans will continue to build the roster.

"We needed to improve, and we need to start winning. Really, that is what it is all about. And we are headed in that direction,'' Strunk said. "I didn't have to tell (Jon) too much. Sometimes throwing that money (at free agents) works and sometimes it doesn't. I think Jon has been judicious in his choices, and from an owner's standpoint I like what I see. I am excited about all these guys. They are really going to add to the team."

Robinson, who worked previously with the Patriots and Buccaneers praised Strunk for her commitment, and helping him make the transition to his new role.

"I would say she has been outstanding, emphatically outstanding,'' Robinson said of Strunk. "She is extremely approachable, she has a great personality, she is into football, and she is passionate about this football team. She wants to see this football team succeed. She wants to make the entire state of Tennessee and Nashville proud of the Titans. And she wants the fans to know they are a part of the family.

"Amy, we talk multiple times throughout the course of the week, either by phone call or text. She has made my transition to this job fun."

This week, Strunk has been surrounded by others NFL owners at the Boca Raton Resort.

Texans owner Bob McNair said he's visited with Strunk, and seen her in general sessions.

"She has been active, and in attendance and paying attention to what is going on, and seems to be enjoying it,'' McNair said. "I think she is very interested in the team and very committed to trying to improve the fortunes of the team."

In recent weeks, Strunk has also been more involved in the community in Nashville as well.

Strunk spoke during an event for season-ticket holders at the Convention Center in Nashville last month. Over the weekend, she attended 104.5-FM's annual SportsFest event at Nissan Stadium, where she mingled with fans.

“She has made a concentrated effort to get out and be more visible in the public, and not just the public but around the organization,’’ Mularkey said of Strunk. “She has been around a bunch more, and she wants to be more involved. Jon and I stay in constant contact with her, keeping her updated. She wants to know what is going on on a daily basis. She is very active, and I think that has been good for the organization.”

In the coming weeks, the Titans will see more changes. Mularkey has spoken about improvements inside Saint Thomas Sports Park, from the locker room to the indoor practice facility.

The Titans have the No. 1 pick in the NFL Draft, and the team is scheduled to make eight picks.

Strunk, of course, wants to see the biggest changes on the football field.

She knows she’s not the only one.

“When I first took over I felt like I had to watch and learn and see how we needed to move this team toward winning, and I think as time has gone on I was able to put my stamp on it,’’ Strunk said. “When I see the fans, they are excited, and that makes me happy. I want to help us start winning.

“The fans, they have been great, and very encouraging to me. I want to win like they do, and I want to win for them. I want that stadium to go back to the way it was, when it was rocking, rocking because we were winning.

“Winning, it’s a really good feeling and losing is a bad feeling I don’t like. I want us to win games.”

TITANS GM JON ROBINSON ALREADY REVEALING A SEASONED GUT

THE TENNESSEAN
SEPTEMBER 9, 2016

This is a whirlwind process, you see, with one interview bleeding into the next flight, and that question is a test of seriousness and preparedness. It's also easy enough for the informationally overwhelmed, because Robinson asks it in his office.

Five footballs featuring his name in large letters are on the wall behind him, two for contributing to Super Bowl champions in New England, one for a decade of service there, one for his time as director of player of personnel in Tampa Bay and one personally signed by Bill Belichick. If the prospect in question handles the moment, maintains composure and takes stock of the room, the answer is right in front of him.

A couple of the 2016 draft hopefuls did just that, making it a handful overall to answer the question correctly. Everyone else?

"You see the beads of sweat forming on their faces," Robinson said, sitting in that same office Thursday, three days before the unveiling of his first attempt at a winning professional football team.

That's just one of many moments of evaluation, of course, and you don't get into the room unless you have an enticing enough combination of size, speed, strength and skills. Every answer, every outside endorsement and criticism, every filmed rep and timed sprint is thrown into a file, which ultimately shapes a decision on that player.

"An informed, instinctive call, if you will," Robinson said.

And if you make enough good ones, you win, and here's an early, instinctive call on Robinson: He'll win. I have no idea how much or whether he can build a Super Bowl team, let alone a string of them as he helped do as a scout and then director of college scouting for Belichick's Patriots.

But the results to date, philosophy and approach of the 40-year-old from Union City suggest better days ahead for a franchise that has gone 5-27 the past two seasons. To which you say: How hard is it to have "better days" than 5-27?

To which I say: OK, fine, let's get wild and say "good days." Competitive teams playing a physical brand of football, running the ball and defending, winning enough to take part in relevant games in December and flirt with playoff bids.

In the AFC South in 2016 with this improving-yet-incomplete roster, that's not off the table. Anything beyond that in the future will hinge on effective Robinson selections, particularly at wide receiver and in the secondary.

"We'd like to be playing in the postseason," Robinson said of this team. "You want to get in the tournament. That's what we're working for daily, and the way to get in the tournament is through daily preparation."

And in the meantime, the 2018 draft is on the horizon. Yes, 2018 — among many things Robinson learned from Belichick was to look as far ahead as possible. And nothing is more important in the salary-cap era than the draft.

Take the Indianapolis Colts, which employ zero of the seven players GM Ryan Grigson drafted in 2013. That helps explain why Indy is a pretty bad team other than quarterback Andrew Luck, whose six-year, $140 million deal could make it more difficult to put enough quality players around him.

That part of the equation is a problem Robinson and the Titans hope to have. Receiver Harry Douglas summed up this week the feeling inside the building on Marcus Mariota when he said: "Marcus doesn't look like he's going into year two — he looks like he's going into year six, seven or eight. He's a franchise quarterback now."

If that ends up true, Mariota will go from $6 million a year to more than $20 million in 2018, and Robinson will face cap challenges. That's why the draft is so crucial.

It's why Robinson spinning the No. 1 overall pick into a slew of picks from the Los Angeles Rams was so clutch. It's why sensible free-agent deals — as his signings of Ben Jones, Rashad Johnson and Rishard Matthews seem to be — are important as well.

It's why one person more than any other will dictate the happiness of the Nashville sports fan over the next few years, based on "instinctive calls" that are informed by exhaustive analysis and aided by wacky questions. You should already know his name.

TITANS GM JON ROBINSON CREDITS DAD FOR TRADE BACKGROUND

TITANS ONLINE
AUGUST 17, 2016

NASHVILLE, Tenn. — Five trades in seven months.

New Titans general manager Jon Robinson has proven quickly he isn't afraid to make a deal.

It runs in the family.

The most recent example of Robinson's wheeling and dealing played out this morning, when the Titans traded receiver Dorial Green-Beckham to the Philadelphia Eagles in exchange for versatile offensive lineman Dennis Kelly.

While Robinson learned plenty at previous NFL stops with the Patriots and Buccaneers, the Union City native said he first learned the tricks of trade at a young age, by watching his dad.

"He's bought and sold hunting dogs, tractors, guns, knives, cars, boats – you name it,'' Robinson said of his father, Don. "I'll never forget, we used to go to James R. Cash auctions, state auctions and farm auctions, and we would buy hay rakes and bush hogs and all that kinds of stuff.

"Just to watch him haggle back and forth with people, it was kind of fun. And yeah, that sticks with you."

Robinson's memory takes him back to when he was anywhere from six to 10 years old. From his father's truck, the two listened to the Swap Shop at noon on 1240-WENK in Union City.

"I can't tell you how many things we bought while riding in that truck,'' Robinson said.

The experience stuck with him.

"(My dad) would generally come out on top,'' Robinson said, "or at least walk away thinking he came away with a good deal."

Robinson made Tuesday's trade in an effort to increase competition on an offensive line in charge of protecting quarterback Marcus Mariota, while also clearing holes for the running backs.

Robinson's previous four trades since taking over in January have panned out well so far:

• The Titans swapped fourth-round picks with the Eagles in exchange for running back DeMarco Murray, the NFL's Offensive Player of the Year in 2014 while with the Cowboys. Murray was impressive in the preseason opener on Saturday night, running for 93 yards, including a 71-yard touchdown run.

• Robinson traded the No.1 pick of the draft to the Los Angeles Rams for the 15th overall pick in the draft, two second-round picks (43 and 45), and a third-rounder (76) in 2016. The Titans also received the Rams' first-round pick in 2017, along with their third-round pick in next year's draft. It put the team in a position to make further moves, and build the roster with multiple picks.

• The Titans traded the 15th and the 76th overall pick, along with a second-round pick in 2017, to move up in the draft to land Michigan State tackle Jack Conklin with the eight overall pick. The Titans also received the Browns' sixth-round pick, No. 176. Conklin has performed well in training camp, and is on track to start as a rookie.

• On the third day of the draft, the Titans traded with the Broncos and acquired cornerbacks LeShaun Sims (5th round, 157) and Kalan Reed (seventh round, 253rd) in exchange for the 176th pick of the draft and a sixth round pick in 2017. Sims and Reed have been impressive in training camp.

The trade with the Eagles got plenty of attention across the NFL on Tuesday.

Kelly has played in 30 games, with 15 starts, after being selected by the Eagles in the fifth round 2012 NFL Draft. Kelly has started nine games at right tackle and three games at right guard and three games at left guard during his career. The 6-foot-8, 321-pounder played at Purdue.

"I like his versatility,'' Robinson said of Kelly. "He has really good size, he's versatile, he's played a lot of positions. He embodies the traits we look for in an offensive lineman – smart, tough, and dependable."

Green-Beckham was a second-round pick by the Titans last year, and he had his moments in 2015. Throughout training camp, however, coaches have talked about his struggles with consistency.

Robinson decided it was time to make another move.

"Not to speak on Philly's behalf, but they inquired about it,'' Robinson said. "They thought it was a good opportunity for him, and we thought adding Dennis would be good for our football team. We are moving on. I appreciate everything Dorial did when he was here. He bought in to what we are trying to do. But in the end we felt like this was the best decision for the team."

RESUSCITATING THE TITANS

MMQB.COM
MARCH 2, 2016

INDIANAPOLIS — NFL Quiz. Jon Robinson is:

a. The Falcons long-snapper.

b. The Vikings salary-cap manager.

c. An equipment man for the Buccaneers.

d. The NFL Scouting Combine's director of operations.

e. The man holding the first pick in the 2016 draft.

Guess I'm a bad quiz-giver. The first four wouldn't be of much interest right now. The new GM of the Titans, Robinson, 40, was born and raised in the western Tennessee metropolis of Troy (pop. 760), a one-blinking-red-light burb near the borders of Kentucky, Missouri and Arkansas. Robinson nearly died twice as a child because of kidney failure, grew up baling hay on a farm and rooting for the Danny White Cowboys and played college football at Southeast Missouri. He got his big break in the business at 26, when he got hired to be a southeastern scout with the then-Super Bowl champion Patriots.

And now he's got eight weeks to decide whose name gets picked first in the draft as he tries to turn around his home-state team. In a hour-long conversation over coffee in the Westin Hotel here about his life and goals for the Titans, Robinson sat at a side table just off the bustling lobby wearing a white Titans cap. Times recognized: zero.

"That's the way I like it," he said. "It's never about me. It's about what we can accomplish as a team."

There certainly is a lot of work to do. The Titans are 5-27 in the past two years. They seem to have a franchise quarterback in Marcus Mariota, but they need help at tackle—they allowed the most sacks in football last year—and at pass-rusher and in the secondary. Lots of help. In this draft, there's a tailor-made pick sitting there in Mississippi left tackle Laremy Tunsil, who appears to be quick enough to keep the speed-rushers mostly off Mariota for the next few years. But what Robinson really wants to do, unlikely as it seems today, is to create a buzz for the top pick, perhaps by encouraging those beneath him to leapfrog quarterback-needy Cleveland for one of the two top passers in the draft. There's probably not enough excitement about quarterbacks Carson Wentz or Jared Goff being sure things to make that happen, but lots can change in two months. Players can rise and fall, and Robinson's certainly going to try to create action around the pick.

"I'm going to be making a pretty impactful decision for the future of the franchise," he said. "I've pondered the significance of the decision quite a bit. It's big. I'm the kind of guy, when I walk the hallways of our building in Nashville, I get chill-bumps. It's pretty cool to be working for the team in my home state. I'm a Tennessean, through and through. And I want to do something good for the people of Tennessee."

I always wonder when I see a story like this—a kid from a small town in Tennessee, who played middling college football, who was a low-level assistant at Nicholls (La.) State—how a person gets to be an NFL general manager. In Robinson's case, it started with Kalimba Edwards.

Remember Kalimba Edwards? Former linebacker at South Carolina. Drafted by the Lions as a defensive end in the second round in 2002. Had 31 sacks in seven so-so NFL seasons. When the Patriots summoned Robinson—then a Nicholls (La.) State assistant coach and NFL scouting liaison—for an interview for a scouting job in the winter of 2002, personnel chief Scott Pioli handed Robinson three video tapes of Edwards to watch. After Robinson watched, he told Pioli that Edwards had been playing out of position at South Carolina and should be a defensive end, and he took a couple of minutes to explain why. Pioli, as Robinson recalled, looked at him and said: "Just write what you see—like that—when you evaluate players. If you keep doing that, you'll have a chance in this business."

Robinson climbed the Patriot ladder for a few years, and when Pioli left to become the Kansas City GM early in 2009, Robinson was made the Patriots' director of college scouting. In taking the job, Robinson remembers going into coach/franchise czar Bill Belichick's office early that offseason to tell him how he planned to put together the board.

"I'm not going to be right all the time," Robinson recalls telling him. "But my role will be to get everything organized for you so at the end of the season you can start the process of learning about these guys. I'll strive for perfection, but I might make some mistakes."

Robinson recalls Belichick telling him, "Are you kidding me? You know how many time I've been wrong?"

In his four years in New England, Robinson got that reinforced a lot, and it should serve him well in Tennessee.

"We're going to be a draft-first team," said Robinson. "I want team-first, coachable guys. I want to stack good draft classes on each other, one by one. When these guys in this draft walk in the door, I want them to make a statement to our team."

Tunsil, says Robinson, "checks off a lot of boxes for us. But personality-wise, we're in the infancy stages of getting to know him and whether he'd be a fit."

I said, "He seems really reserved as a person."

“Yeah,” said Robinson. “I think he likes to block people more than he likes doing talk shows.”

Great line. True line.

Last point: Robinson knows he’s pretty lucky to be alive, never mind running the NFL franchise 167 miles from home. When he was in fourth grade, he was struck down by the kidney disease nephritis. His heart stopped, and paramedics started it again before putting him in an ambulance for the hospital in nearby Union City. On the way to the hospital, his heart stopped again and he had to be saved. After being comatose for days, Robinson began to recover and lived a pretty normal boyhood. “What I remember,” he said, “is my first question to the doctors: Am I still gonna be able to play football?” The answer was yes.

He played well enough, and was honorable enough, to get an appointment to the Air Force Academy. But he said he was miserable there, and got a discharge, moving to Southeast Missouri, where he was a play-making inside linebacker. The coaching bug bit him, and he climbed the ladder at Nicholls (La.) State. And then came New England, and then Tampa Bay for two years, and now the Titans. His home team.

“Jon is a proud Tennessean who is excited to be coming home,” said the owner, Amy Adams Strunk, when Robinson was named GM. She’s right. Now he’s got to get his Titans out of the biggest hole in franchise history.

VETERANS DAY HAS SPECIAL MEANING FOR MULARKEY, TITANS

BY JIM WYATT
TITANS ONLINE
NOVEMBER 12, 2016

NASHVILLE, Tenn. — Mike Mularkey didn't need anyone to remind him it's Veterans Day.

The Titans head coach was fully aware when the calendar flipped to November 11. Yet it's hardly the only day Mularkey thinks about the soldiers who've served in the military, and the sacrifices they've made for the country.

Mularkey is part of a military family.

His father, Jack, was in the Army, and served in World War II. A brother, Terry, served 20-plus years in the Army. And Mularkey's nephew, Jack, is in the Army Special Forces unit, a Green Beret captain who leads a 12-man team.

It's why Mularkey's made sure his football team is influenced by those in the armed services.

"I've been around it my whole life," Mularkey said. "I know the training the soldiers go through. And what we do is minute, playing football. It is minuscule to what they do for us.

"I have so much appreciation for what they do for us and our country, and the sacrifices they make every day."

This week marks the Titans' Salute to Service game when the Green Bay Packers visit Nissan Stadium. Each year, the NFL and the NFL Players Association come together in honor of Veterans Day to celebrate and recognize members of the military as part of the league's Salute to Service.

The league's military appreciation efforts culminate in November with Salute to Service games honoring veterans, active-duty members and their families. On Sunday, there will be a special tribute before the game, and at halftime.

There's been a military presence around the Titans all season.

Brigadier Gen. Scott E. Brower from Fort Campbell talked to the team during training camp.

Mularkey's nephew and others in his Special Forces unit talked to the team before a game last month. In the hallway leading into the team's meeting room, a photo of Jack Mularkey's unit hangs on a wall, with the soldiers decked out in full gear, in Titans hats.

"I think it is important,'' Mularkey said. "General Brower talked to the team, and it had a huge impact on our team. The (Special Forces soldiers) talked about what they do, and how (the military and football) is not the same, but it is the same -- it is two teams both relying on each other and have each other's back.

"Their training is life and death, and our training is wins and losses, and that's the big difference."

Last week, the Titans held a walkthrough at the Marines training facility in San Diego.

"It was great,'' Mularkey said of the experience. "We had the chance to work out on their field and have a lot of the Marine families out to watch us. A number of the players and coaches went back in the afternoon to watch them put many of the young Marines through an obstacle course that you've seen on TV, but they got to see it up close and personal with the drill sergeants giving them a little bit of their own. It was pretty interesting, but when they came back, they said it would have been a great team function to see how these guys are trained for what they do and why they're as good as they are."

In addition to Mularkey, Titans players like Rishard Matthews, Antonio Andrews, Brian Schwenke and Tre McBride also grew up with a military background.

This week, they also talked about their appreciation for members of the military.

"We have to let them know they are appreciated,'' said Andrews, whose father, Olan Andrews II, serves in the U.S. Army. "The NFL gets to acknowledge them and show them we are thankful for everything they do. We are out here playing for them."

Matthews' father, Andre, is a retired U.S. Marine Corps master sergeant. Matthews' half-brother Christopher Ruiz was killed in October 2015 while serving as a retired Marine working as a private defense contractor in Afghanistan. Ruiz served in the Marines for 10 years.

McBride's father, Douglas, is a U.S. Army Colonel who had two tours in Iraq and one tour in Afghanistan. Schwenke's father, Brian Sr. was a SERE (Survival, Evasion, Resistance and Escape) trainer in the Navy from 1990-2002.

"What has gone on in my family in the past, and remembering my brother and everything, it is definitely an important month, and I am glad we (honor the military)," Matthews said. "I think we should do it more often, and not just select few games or anything. I think it is very important to go out there and give back, and show love to the vets and current service members."

Mularkey will be decked out in the NFL's Salute to Service gear on Sunday. When he stands for national anthem, he'll once again pause and give thanks to those in the military.

It's always special moment for Mularkey, and for good reason. The Titans regularly line up on the team's sideline, side by side.

"It is paying respect to the flag that so many people have died for, and fight for still," Mularkey said. "And why we are standing there, there is somebody fighting somewhere. It is a small token total respect. … Guys don't have to stand like they do, they want to."

TITANS, MIKE MULARKEY RAISING MONEY FOR ALS AFTER TDS

BY JIM WYATT
TITANS ONLINE
OCTOBER 21, 2016

NASHVILLE, Tenn. — Mike Mularkey scored nine touchdowns during his nine-year playing career.

As a member of the Vikings and Steelers, the former tight end admittedly had a pretty low-key celebration.

“I did the Gronk, but maybe not to that extent,’’ a smiling Mularkey said on Thursday, referring to Patriots TE Rob Gronkowski. “It was just a spike. I was happy to be there, and then celebrate with your teammates.”

Mularkey saved his best idea for a touchdown celebration for his days as a head coach. In his first full season as head coach of the Titans, Mularkey came up with an idea that’s been getting Titans fans – especially kids -- involved after touchdowns, while also raising money for ALS.

Maybe you’ve noticed: After touchdowns this season, Titans players have been giving the footballs to children in the crowd, both on the road and at Nissan Stadium.

Mularkey is keeping track, and at the end of the year he’ll make a donation to the ALS Association. The Titans Foundation will match Mularkey’s donation. Already, a five-figure total has been raised for ALS.

“Pretty cool, huh?,’’ Titans tight end Delanie Walker said. “It is something good to do as a team, and I think the fans are loving it, too. They are able to get a game ball, and they feel a part of it. And Mike and the team are doing something good for ALS, and Tim Shaw.”

A former Titans linebacker, Shaw was diagnosed with ALS in 2014. During training camp, the Titans signed Shaw to a contract, making him a “Titan for Life.” Since, Shaw has been a frequent visitor at Saint Thomas Sports Park, where he has a locker. He’s also attended games.

Mularkey said on Thursday he had no intentions of making the team’s post-touchdown routine known publicly. But when told his players shared the story, Mularkey shared the background. He said the routine has been part of his history as a head coach, dating back to his days with the Buffalo Bills in 2004-05.

Back then, Mularkey made a donation to the Ronald McDonald House for players who gave the footballs back to officials after a score to avoid an excessive celebration penalty.

Mularkey said he wanted to do something in Nashville to reward Titans fans, while also bringing attention ALS. According to the ALS Association, amyotrophic lateral sclerosis is a progressive neurodegenerative disease that affects nerve cells in the brain and the spinal cord. Also known as Lou Gehrig’s disease, ALS eventually leads to death. Patients in the latter stages of the disease may become totally paralyzed.

“I wanted to do something for Tim, being around him as much as I have,’’ Mularkey said. “I want to look classy, I want to make our fans happy, and I want us to be able to celebrate. What the players are doing, there is nothing negative about it. It has really been for a good cause.

“It’s a great gesture by our players, who want to celebrate with our fans. Everybody is a winner when we score touchdowns.”

Delanie Walker scores a touchdown against the Dolphins in Week 5. He handed the ball to offensive lineman Quinton Spain, who ended up giving it to a fan in the crowd.

Walker got plenty of attention when he gave a football to a young Lions fan in Detroit in Week 2. The boy’s mother posted a note about Walker and the Titans on Facebook. In last week’s game against the Browns, tight end Anthony Fasano delivered the football to fan after his score.

Skill position players have routinely handed the football to offensive linemen after scores. Guard Quinton Spain has been busy. Running back DeMarco Murray gave the ball to Spain after one of his recent scores. As a team, the Titans have scored 15 touchdowns.

“Every time we score, we give the ball to a kid,’’ Spain said. “It is great. I love to be a part of it. Kids have been excited. I got a notification on Twitter about what a good thing I did, giving it to a kid. And to see the kids loving it, I just want to keep it up.”

Rookie lineman Jack Conklin has taken part of the action as well.

“I got to do it once,’’ Conklin said. “It’s raised quite a bit of money so far. It is fun, and it’s great for ALS and Tim Shaw, and the fan getting the ball.”

Mularkey said the he’s received some nice letters from fans in recent weeks, thanking the team for the kind gestures each week.

Mularkey, of course, wants to keep it going.

The more touchdowns, the better.

“It is fun for a lot of reasons,’’ Mularkey said. “Plus, we can raise money and awareness for ALS.”

MIKE MULARKEY THANKFUL FOR CHANCE TO LEAD TITANS

BY JIM WYATT
TITANS ONLINE
SEPTEMBER 10, 2016

NASHVILLE, Tenn. — When Titans coach Mike Mularkey stands on the sideline during the National Anthem on Sunday at Nissan Stadium, he'll take a moment to count his blessings.

It's something he's done since entering the NFL as a player in the 1980s.

"I am really thankful, and I always have been,'' Mularkey said this week. "I feel very blessed to be able to do this, for as long as I've been able to do it."

This Sunday, however, could be an extra special moment.

At the start of the 2016 season, Mularkey wants to make good on an opportunity he wasn't sure would ever come again.

He's very grateful.

"To have another chance, I am very appreciative,'' Mularkey said. "I am very blessed for this opportunity, I really am. And I am excited to see where this goes. It has been a good start. What we built in the offseason, how things went in the preseason, it's been positive. And I think these guys understand what it takes, and they're having fun doing it. I really looking forward to getting (the season) started."

Mularkey, 54, was hired in January as the team's head coach on a permanent basis. Titans controlling owner Amy Adams Strunk elected to stick with Mularkey, who served as interim head coach last season, after interviewing several other candidates for the job.

At the time, Mularkey expressed his gratitude, privately and publicly. After serving previously as head coach with the Bills (2004-05) and Jaguars (2012), he wondered if he'd ever get another chance.

Now he has one, and it starts against the Minnesota Vikings.

"I think Mike Mularkey's a heck of a football coach,'' Vikings coach Mike Zimmer said. "He's building them the way he wants to build them. I think you saw with the additions that they made in the offseason what they're trying to get done."

Players say they're on board, and confident in Mularkey.

"Yeah we believe in him,'' tight end Delanie Walker said. "Personally, I am super stoked, because he was my tight ends coach for two years. We share a bond together. The feeling is everyone in here doesn't want to let him down. We play for each other, and I think he is putting us in a great situation to win games with the coaching staff he brought in.

"I think any time a coach gets a job he as to prove himself. I think he has proven to us he is a good head coach, and he is going to show it."

Veteran receiver Harry Douglas spent four seasons with Mularkey in Atlanta when he served as offensive coordinator with the Falcons.

Douglas said Mularkey has taken a positive approach with the Titans since replacing Ken Whisenhunt during the middle of last season.

"We believed in him from Day One, 100 percent,'' Douglas said of Mularkey. "I think a lot more people are now seeing he was the best man for the job. We are glad as players to have him leading us.

"I have been with him since I started my NFL career. He is a great coach, he works hard, and he wants the best for his players. He knows how to make it fun, but make it tough, hard-nosed football at the same time. Whenever you have a coach like that, it makes you want to go harder for him."

During the course of the offseason, Mularkey and Titans general manager Jon Robinson worked together to reshape the team's roster, through free agency and the draft. Robinson took the lead on personnel decisions, while Mularkey put his stamp on the locker room.

Over the past several months, Mularkey implemented his style on the field, and off it. He's held players accountable, while demanding a professional, hard-nosed approach. He wants to see a tough and rugged style of football on Sundays.

Against the Vikings, he'll get a chance to see just how much progress his team has made.

He's happy for the opportunity.

"I think the message from me has never changed,'' Mularkey said. "Since the day I first stood in front of them last year, in what was a difficult situation with the coaching change, what they heard that morning is the same thing they've heard day after day after day. They heard we were going to make changes, and we made changes. Everything we've said, we've done, and that's what they want, someone who is going to be up-front and honest with them.

"I think we've come together as a team. I think this is a very close team. I think these guys really care about each other. We want to win for one another, and we are going to do everything we can to be successful."

TITANS CAMP REPORT: MULARKEY BRINGS PHYSICALITY

BY EMILY KAPLAN
MMQB.COM
AUGUST 10, 2016

NASHVILLE — When the Titans announced the hiring of Mike Mularkey as coach, the overwhelming outside sentiment was: Huh? It felt like an uninspiring choice for a franchise with a budding star quarterback, defensive promise, and the No. 1 pick in the 2016 draft. In relieving the fired Ken Whisenhunt, Mularkey had gone 2-5 as interim, dropping his career coaching record to 18-37.

What's more, the Titans seemed uninterested in engaging in conversation with the hiring cycle's hottest candidates: Adam Gase, Hue Jackson, Dirk Koetter, Josh McDaniels and the like.

Surely Mularkey, 54, had convinced Tennessee ownership he had learned from his previous coaching gigs—one lasting one season (Jacksonville in 2012), the other two (Buffalo in 2004-05)—and was ready to get this job right.

"I didn't get it wrong the first two times, in my opinion," Mularkey says. "Remember, I resigned in Buffalo, for a variety of personal reasons. So I haven't changed my coaching style one bit. My philosophy and message has been consistent for 20-something years: I like being a physically tough team, and I hope you do too if you want to be around here."

As most of the NFL trends towards quickness, embracing technology and scientific edges, the Titans believe they can build a winning team by going old school. Instead of exploiting Marcus Mariota's athleticism, the offense is committing to a ground-and-pound running game. Tablets are accepted, but coaches ask players to take most of their notes with pen and paper. Modern concepts take a backseat to experience; half of Mularkey's 18 assistant coaches are older than 57. Three of those men—Bob Bratkowski, Russ Grimm, Steve Jackson—had been out of coaching for at least three seasons before returning to help with the Titans. And then there's defensive coordinator Dick LeBeau, who, at 78, is using the same zone blitzes he essentially introduced to the NFL before most current players were born, but has stayed "in good enough shape to keep up with guys and yell in their face."

"Mularkey believes in a throwback culture," Mariota says. "And I think guys have really bought into it. I have. Hopefully it makes us more successful."

Mularkey played nine seasons as a tight end for the Vikings and the Steelers from 1983-91. At the time, Minnesota began camp later than most teams, and the players didn't put on pads until halfway through camp. The Steelers, under Chuck Noll, hit nearly every day. Mularkey was inspired by the physicality-wins-championships approach and when he began his coaching career as a tight ends coach in 1994, he fully embraced it. "When I was coaching tight ends, we were going to be the most physical position group on the field," Mularkey says. "The culture Chuck Noll built is the one I'm familiar with and the only one I've ever wanted."

When Mularkey and general manager Jon Robinson built the Titans coaching staff, they kept narrow focus. Every assistant coach on staff either played with or coached with Mularkey at some point—the only exception is assistant secondaries coach Steve Jackson, though LeBeau vouched for him. "This is the first time in my three tries that I got all of my guys," Mularkey says. "I trust them. They don't have any hidden agendas to be coordinators, or have eyes on other jobs. They just want what I want and that's to win." That explains why on most afternoons, at least five or six chairs are crammed into LeBeau's modest office. Or why the entire team embraces physicality. "Hitting is pretty much the same as last year, but guys coming off the ball, flying around a lot more," Mariota says. "The tempo of practices has been a lot more intense."

At an intersquad scrimmage at Nissan Stadium on Monday night, it didn't take 15 minutes for evidence to emerge. Center Brian Schwenke walked off with a foot-long blood stain stretching from his stomach to his thigh (official injury: cut middle finger). Schwenke returned to action a few minutes later, by which point bodies were still flying. (After being rained out before an offday, the players hadn't hit for two days.) Rookie running back Derrick Henry powered past tacklers, proving Robinson's commitment to bruising backs this offseason—the Titans also signed DeMarco Murray—to relieve pressure and protect Mariota. The second-year quarterback appeared shaky, being intercepted by backup safety Daimion Stafford, but defense ruled the day anyway. Veteran safety Jason McCourty, who missed almost all of last season with injury, jarred a bar loose from towering receiver Dorial Green-Beckham. Even undrafted rookie defensive end Mike Smith, who sang the national anthem by nomination of teammates who were impressed by his shower crooning habits, recovered a fumble from backup quarterback Matt Cassell and returned it for a touchdown.

Last year, LeBeau was in an awkward situation as co-defensive coordinator with one of his protégées, Ray Horton. Though LeBeau's influence was ubiquitous, he was frustrated by not being able to call defensive plays for the first time in his career. Back in the helm, LeBeau says he's excited to blitz a bit more, especially since there is more depth in his front seven.

"I'd be very surprised if we are not a more aggressive team this year," Mularkey says.

Nobody is immune to it—not the starting quarterback Mariota, not the hotshot rookie Henry. Mularkey plays role of disciplinarian. After a long meeting, the coach will demand a player to turn in his notes. “He just wants to make sure you’re paying attention,” Mariota says. “It reminds you of a pop quiz,” says undrafted rookie linebacker Aaron Wallace. “I was a little scared because I like to doodle a lot.”

Explains Mularkey: “You're Derrick Henry, you're the big back, you're No. 2, I want to see what you've written down in your role as a special teams player. Usually the first time, it’s not very good but the second time it's amazing how detailed and how much information they have because they don’t want to embarrass themselves.” The coach will then hand off the notes to position coaches, who can discipline at will.

“No feedback is good feedback,” Mariota says.

The old-school tactics are rigid, but Mariota says players are responding. Through OTAs, Mularkey displayed a chart each week listing the most-penalized players, hoping to fix bad habits through peer-humiliation.

The coach has made at least one change to his style. “I’m trying to have a little more fun this time around,” he says. “I'm making it a little more fun to come into work.” Recently, Mularkey told 10 rookies there would be a pop quiz the next day. They would be called in front of the team auditorium and drilled on concepts that had been installed in the last week.

“I know for a fact that 10 of them went home and studied beyond belief,” Mularkey says.

When the competition began, Mularkey called an audible. Actually, this is going to be a spelling bee. The entire room burst into laughter.

Henry finished runner-up to guard Sebastian Tretola. The winning word: acceptable.

FIVE THINGS I THOUGHT ABOUT THE TITANS

1. Mariota spent most of his first offseason working out at his alma mater, Oregon. A big focal point was his footwork, specifically drops under center. “Getting more depth, timing, everything,” he says. “Just being able to feel powerful doing a quicker drop while still getting the power I needed if I took a longer, deeper drop. This is something I feel like I’m significantly better at now than I was at this point last season.”

2. One of the Titans quiet strengths last season was the defensive line, which finished eighth in the league with 3.9 yards allowed per rush. The defense actually ranked 12th in the league overall, impressive considering the team’s sputtering record. Much of the success is credited to ascending star defensive tackle Jurrell Casey, as well as pass-rushing linebackers Brian Orakpo, who notched seven sacks, and Derrick Morgan, who recorded 4.5 sacks in just 10 games. All return for 2016, as does another player the coaching staff seems to be high on: third-year defensive lineman Da’Quan Jones, a fourth-round draft pick out of Penn State in 2014. Jones was promoted into the starting lineup last year and quietly recorded 67 tackles and 15 quarterback pressures. “If he makes the same jump he did from year one to year two,” Mularkey says. “Then I think he could be something special.”

3. LeBeau doesn’t look 78, and he sure doesn’t act it. The Hall of Fame coach speaks with such passion for the game—and appears in fantastic shape—it’s hard to imagine him ever retiring soon. “I wish I could say I’m not done anytime soon, but the law of averages says otherwise,” LeBeau says. “I'm enjoying everything I'm doing, and as long as I have the vitality to do it, I can stay up with the guys and can feel like I'm contributing to the growth of the team, that's what I like to do. I do this because I'm a teacher, and you have to have players around to teach. You can't teach on the golf course.”

4. I’m always careful to take too much out of one training camp practice, especially an intrasquad scrimmage. But it was hard not to be impressed with Henry, who had a handful of powerful runs and scored on two touchdown runs. Looking at his physique and the way he powers his legs, he’s an incredibly tough runner to bring down. The Heisman-winner definitely has value as a bruising complement to Murray, but I’m curious to see how they will incorporate him into the passing game.

5. Not only did teammates nominate Smith, an undrafted rookie from Southern Mississippi, to sing the national anthem, but also the 6-foot-4, 282-pound lineman crushed it.

SEASONS, QBS PASS BUT WADE PHILLIPS, DICK LEBEAU STILL GET IT DONE

BY JEFF LEGWOLD
ESPN.COM
DECEMBER 9, 2016

ENGLEWOOD, Colo. -- The first year Dick LeBeau and Wade Phillips worked the same season as NFL assistant coaches, current Denver Broncos coach Gary Kubiak was playing at St. Pius X High School in Houston.

Paul McCartney was passing his post-Beatles time fronting Wings, “Silly Love Songs" was the year’s No. 1 song and folks had flocked to the theaters for a year of blockbusters that included “Rocky," “All the President’s Men” and “Taxi Driver." In short, when the Broncos and Tennessee Titans conduct their football business in Nashville on Sunday, the defensive playcallers will have a combined 82 NFL seasons served as assistant or head coaches in the league.

Phillips is in his second season with the Broncos, his 39th overall in the NFL, while LeBeau is in his 43rd season as an NFL coach after his Hall of Fame playing career. And the two have moved through the decades making life miserable for opposing quarterbacks as they’ve found a way to connect with players, adapt with the times and still enjoy what they do.

Broncos wide receiver Emmanuel Sanders played four seasons with the Pittsburgh Steelers when LeBeau was the team’s defensive coordinator and has been with the Broncos since the 2014 season. So, he has seen LeBeau and Phillips up close.

He has seen how they work, how they interact with the players around them and deal with the challenges on the field in front of them. And he said each has his own way of building all of the bridges.

“You see Wade, he’s dancing on the sideline, having a good time," Sanders said. “It can be country, hip-hop, Wade’s dancing and you say, ‘I love that guy.'"

“Coach LeBeau is going to walk with you, he’s going to put his hand on your shoulder and he’s going to tell you he loves you," Sanders continued. “He’s going to make sure you know he cares, he’s going to tell you he loves you 100 times."

None of that included any comments about X's and O's within the game or the ability to design pass-rush packages that consistently free up rushers as offenses continued to evolve. But it comes down to a people business as both coaches have continued to find ways to coach players in 2016 who may be far different than those in 1980.

Both have been head coaches and both have seen their greatest successes running defenses that have led the league in sacks and handed out countless contusions along the way.

“It’s amazing," said Kubiak, who hired Phillips in 2015. “[LeBeau] is a special person. You look at he and Wade, how long they’ve been doing it and how well they continue to do it with all these young kids running around and how they continue to relate to these young kids and push the right buttons."

“The longer you coach, I think it helps, because you come in and they think you know something and you can help them," Phillips said. “Reputation helps you I think, word of mouth … that helps. But I think you just be yourself and coach the way you coach. If you like a guy all right, I think you play for him a little better than if you don’t like him at all. That old thing where you have to be mean to players all the time and cuss them out, they don’t fear you, I can tell you that. You’ve got to relate to them on a level where you can help them be a better player."

Each has coached teams that finished No. 1 in defense -- Phillips did it last season when the Broncos' defense powered a Super Bowl run -- and won championships. And while their schemes may not always seem complicated, they have worked as the game has changed and offenses have increasingly put the ball in the air.

In 1980, for example, two quarterbacks threw for 4,000 yards, 16 quarterbacks threw for 3,000 yards and five quarterbacks attempted at least 500 passes. Last season, by contrast, 12 quarterbacks threw for 4,000 yards, 23 quarterbacks threw for 3,000 yards and six quarterback attempted 600 passes while 15 attempted at least 500 passes.

“You see his age and you think he wouldn’t be able to relate to the younger guys, but that’s who he flocks to," Broncos linebacker Von Miller said of Wade Phillips. “But I wasn’t expecting it. I’ve had older coaches before where you just said, ‘yes, sir, no sir,’ and you get your job done, go to work and not really a sense of humor."

In the end, two coaches who started their careers long before cable and the Internet will likely decide who comes away with a win Sunday in Nissan Stadium.

LeBeau said at the scouting combine earlier this year that he “would keep on going in this as long as somebody will have me. I love coaching and the players, they keep you young."

“The mastermind of the zone blitz," Phillips said of LeBeau. “He’s in the Hall of Fame as a player really, but he should be in the Hall of Fame as a coach. He’s tremendous. If they ever give assistant coaches in the Hall of Fame, he would be one I would put in for sure."

THE MUSIC MAN: DC-SONGWRITER DICK LEBEAU

TITANS ONLINE
SEPTEMBER 2, 2016

NASHVILLE, Tenn. — There's a tip jar outside Dick LeBeau's office at Saint Thomas Sports Park, with a sign just above it that reads: "Will Play For Tips."

It was placed there in good humor by one of LeBeau's admirers, and the Titans defensive coordinator has many inside the facility, despite the fact the jar contained just $2.77 as of Wednesday afternoon.

The 78-year-old LeBeau smiled when he first noticed it there. Then he picked up his guitar and started playing again.

For a select few, yesterday was filled with mixed emotions, as the Titans left for Thursday night's game against the Miami Dolphins. While the game signals an end to the preseason, it also means LeBeau's guitar playing, singing, and songwriting days will now be put on hold.

It was considered a treat.

But it's time to focus 100 percent on football, something LeBeau loves more than music or golf, or any of the hobbies he happens to excel at doing. Yet LeBeau admits, he has a passion for music, and he has since he was a little boy.

"There's music in my family,'' said LeBeau, set to begin his 58thyear in the NFL as a player or a coach. "My aunt played the piano, and I've had family members in choir, music teachers. My dad played in a band. My brother is a professional musician. I mean, there was always something going on in the house pertaining to music.

"The musical gene kind of jumped me a little bit, but the good Lord gave me a little athletic ability. So I have no complaints."

It turns out LeBeau, a Hall of Fame defensive back who is regarded as one of the best defensive minds of all time, got some of that musical talent after all.

LeBeau has written nearly a dozen songs, and he's regularly played the guitar in his office this offseason. Occasionally, Titans assistant special teams coach Steve Hoffman joined him. LeBeau describes the music as "country, folk rock."

"I mostly do it in the offseason,'' LeBeau said. "It's just a period of relaxation. It is definitely one of my favorite pastimes. I just play for myself mainly, but I have played in front of people before and they'll say, 'I've never heard that song before.' And I tell them: 'You'll probably never hear it again either.' Song writing, it's not all that easy.

"But I enjoy it. I am not going to be down there on Broadway any time soon, I can tell you that. But yeah, I enjoy it."

Titans coach Mike Mularkey, whose office is down the hall from LeBeau's, has heard the music coming from the defensive coordinator's office.

"Yeah, I can hear it down the hallway,'' Mularkey said with a smile. "He has a good tune, definitely. It sounds pretty good. Now I'm not sure he's going to be at the CMA Festival next year, but he has a good tune.'"

In many ways, LeBeau has impressed those around him since joining the team prior to the 2015 season.

Last Christmas, LeBeau recited 'Twas the Night Before Christmas to the team. He stood before the entire team on Christmas Eve and recited the poem from memory for roughly 18 minutes, without skipping a beat.

This offseason, while on the golf course, he recorded a hole-in-one -- it was his 7th.

Last season, LeBeau was largely responsible for making changes to improve the Tennessee defense, and he's expecting bigger and better things this fall, when his singing and guitar playing will be put on hold -- but not his listening.

"I listen to all kinds of music,'' LeBeau said. "I love music, I really do. I'm not a big fan of opera, but anything else, any genre you want to name, I love it, and I'll have it on. My personal favorites are John Prine and Hayes Carll."

LeBeau went to see Carll perform in Nashville not too long ago. Since moving to town last year, LeBeau said he's been downtown to hear music a few times. He loves the city, and the energy around it, he said.

Football, meanwhile, still gets him going. The start of another season is music to his ears.

"There's no doubt, (playing the guitar) is something I do to relax a little bit,'' LeBeau said. "I've run out of time for my second career, so I'll stick to coaching, I guess. But I like music, and I like my songs."

DICK LEBEAU TALKS TITANS, CHRISTMAS TRADITIONS AND MORE

BY ANDREW MARANISS
THE TENNESSEAN
JUNE 12, 2016

At age 78, Titans defensive coordinator Dick LeBeau enters his 57th year in the NFL as a player or coach. He was elected to the Pro Football Hall of Fame in 2010.

What was your first experience with football?

The day I was big enough to walk, I was playing football. I was born in 1937 so, needless to say, that was before video games, because that was before video. We were outdoors all the time. We played in the post office yard in my little hometown of London, Ohio. We would go and take the "Keep off the Grass" sign down because that was our football field. Hell, I kicked my football up on the roof all the time.

Did you wear a leather helmet?

I never had a leather helmet. But when we were in junior high school, they had a closet about the size of my office. All the old equipment from the old days was in there. Way in the back, there were still some leather helmets, but nobody had to wear them. But I saw the leather helmets. I do go back that far.

You played at Ohio State for Woody Hayes and won a National Championship in 1957. My memory of Hayes is him punching a Clemson player. Was he harder on you guys than he was on that Clemson player?

Oh, definitely. He didn't hardly even hit that guy. We weren't allowed water on the practice field. Every now and then, if Woody was in a good mood, he'd give us an ice cube. Their whole concept was to make you tough enough to compete in the fourth quarter. There's an old saying that if it doesn't kill you, it's good for you. As far as I know, Woody didn't kill anybody.

You went to college with golfing legend Jack Nicklaus. What was he like then?

The few times I got to play golf with Jack were enough to let me know that I better really concentrate on football. We were playing one time and I was screwing around with my shot and he said, 'What the hell are you doing?' I'm trying to decide what club to hit, between a 7- and 8-iron. He said, 'Take the 7-iron and hit it two grooves up and that will take about seven yards off it.' What do you mean two damn grooves, I'm just trying to hit it!

Where were you when JFK was killed?

There was a guy with this big idea for the Detroit Lions to put out a Christmas record. Friday was a lighter day of practice and they had rented this studio, and I don't know how many of us went over there, probably 10 or 15 of us who liked to sing. And this guy had choreographed the carols and songs. If you can imagine professional football players singing Christmas carols, and there were maybe only one or two of us who could carry a tune. We were working on that damn record when we heard the news.

Speaking of Christmas, you recite "The Night Before Christmas" for your teams. How did that get started? You used to do it for your mom and your aunt, correct?

I've done it for my family for a long, long time. We were middle class, and that's a nice way of saying kind of poor, but we never knew it, because everybody in town was in the same boat. They came through the Depression and World War II. Nobody had much of anything. But at Christmas time, you would have thought we were the Rockefellers. I wanted to let my family know they had passed the spirit of Christmas — giving and concern for your fellow man and the birth of Jesus.

So I thought what would be a good way to do that? I've always loved that poem. I think I'll learn it. I sit down putting together bikes and dollhouses on Christmas Eve with a beer, which is not a good idea if you're trying to learn that poem. There's more stanzas than you think. It took me a couple of years and, finally, about the third year, I said I think I'll see how far I can go without the beer. So, I started doing it just for the family.

Then, I was coaching in Cincinnati and I said, well, my defense is like my family, I'm going to do it for them. And I did, and the head coach said, "I heard you did 'The Night Before Christmas.' I want you to do it for the whole team." That's when I started doing it for everybody. I love to do it. They indulge me and act like they're paying attention. But, as I see players who maybe I haven't seen for 15 years, one of the first things out of their mouth is, "Are you still doing 'The Night Before Christmas?'" It's a part of their memories, too.

You've been around great teams, mediocre teams, bad teams. How do you feel about where this team stands now in its progression?

I think we made a lot of progress last year. It just didn't reflect in the won-loss column. We were in the majority of our games and leading late in a lot of our games. You've got to go through that process in this league a lot of times. We're really looking forward to continuing that process and reaping the rewards of winning some games.

I remember my first trip to the Super Bowl with Cincinnati, we played San Francisco. It was a 14-game season, and both teams were 3-11 the year before. They looked like sudden turnarounds, but they weren't. It was a gradual build-up of a lot of things.

You're really into movies. What's your favorite football movie of all time?

When I was playing in college and pro, I went to movies all the time.

What's the one where Ronald Regan as Knute Rockne says to win one for the Gipper? Or "Father Was a Fullback" with Fred MacMurray. You ever see that? I like the feel-good stuff. I get enough of the realism getting your ass beat.

You sing, you play the guitar. Have you gotten to do any real "Nashville" types of things since you've been here?

I got to go down to a Hayes Carll concert with my son. I've been a fan of his since he started recording. I'd never been to a concert with my son. That was a milestone, and then for it to be with Hayes Carll, it made my day. Definitely without a doubt, one of the highlights of my life was that concert.

You're in the Hall of Fame and won two Super Bowls and that was a highlight of your life?

It was Hayes Carll, man. It don't get any better than that.

HALL OF FAMER TIM BROWN: OC TERRY ROBISKIE WILL SPARK TITANS

BY JIM WYATT
TITANS ONLINE
JULY 15, 2016

NASHVILLE, Tenn. – Tim Brown's NFL career began back in 1988, and when he retired 17 seasons later, his list of accomplishments was a long one.

So is his memory.

The Hall of Fame receiver remembers Terry Robiskie well. Robiskie was on the Los Angeles Raiders coaching staff when Brown arrived in the league. He was offensive coordinator with the Raiders from 1989-93, when Brown had the first of his nine 1,000-yard seasons.

Robiskie is now offensive coordinator with the Titans, something Brown wasn't aware of when he visited Nashville earlier this offseason.

"Terry is here now?, Brown asked with a smile. "Oh my gosh!"

Then, the memories flooded in.

"Let me say this,'' Brown said. "Marcus (Mariota) is going to have a lot of fun. The thing about Terry that you love is his intensity for the game. Man, it is unmatched by any coach I have ever been around. He has a passion. I am talking about a crying, teary passion for this game like no other coach I have been around.

"So from that standpoint, he is going to get the most out of this offensive club and certainly get the best out of Marcus. And I think Marcus is really going to benefit from having a coach who is so passionate about the game."

Brown, a nine-time Pro Bowler who racked up nearly 15,000 receiving yards with the Raiders, was in Nashville earlier this offseason with four other Heisman Trophy winners for a football clinic for youth at Nissan Stadium in conjunction with the Heisman Trophy Trust and Boys & Girls Clubs of Middle Tennessee.

As part of Nissan's ongoing collaboration with Habitat for Humanity and the Heisman Trust, the Heisman Trophy winners joined a Habitat for Humanity construction crew to build a new home in Nashville.

Brown believes Robiskie can light a spark under the Titans, who finished 30th in the NFL in total offense (25th rushing, 25th passing) last season.

Robiskie, who has 34 years of coaching experience in the NFL, including six seasons as an offensive coordinator, joined the Titans after spending the past eight seasons as wide receivers coach with the Falcons.

"He's a tough love guy,'' Brown said of Robiskie. "He'll come in and cuss you out and then pat you on the butt on the way out the door. He used to get on me all the time. It came to the point that I knew what I was going to get."

Brown predicted big things to come from Mariota following a season when he set franchise records for most touchdowns (19), completions (230), passing yards (2,818) and passing attempts (370) in his first NFL season despite missing four games with knee injuries.

Brown said other Titans, of course, will need to play well around him.

"Marcus is a rare guy, but the thing is he can make a perfect pass, and if they don't catch it, guess what?,'' Brown said. "Guys have to do their job around him. The thing for him is he has gain a rapport with a couple of guys on the offensive side of the ball, and know those guys are going to take care of him at all times. And you have to rely on those guys. If you look at all the great quarterbacks, they all have their go-to guys. He needs to establish that as quickly as he can and work on it.

"… You know he is going to make the right decisions, and is going to do the right thing. The football part is what it is, and it is going to come natural. The best thing about a rookie is they become second-year players, so he can take all that experience from last year and become a much better player and he will because he has the talent to do that. And with all the talent the Titans are going to get around him now, he is going to be able to do great things in the future. It's going to be fun for the fans here in Nashville to watch him grow."

MOBILE, Ala. – Terry Robiskie stood under the cold metal bleachers at Senior Bowl practice Wednesday afternoon and spoke publicly for the first time since being named the Titans' offensive coordinator last week.

He hasn't had time to learn much about the team's personnel, aside from quarterback Marcus Mariota, who he spoke with briefly over the phone. And he didn't want any of the Titans assistants to catch him up, either, preferring to make his own judgement calls in time.

But those aren't the only calls he's tasked with.

Robiskie will be calling plays for the first time since 2004, when he was the offensive coordinator and interim head coach of the Browns. But the excitement, he said, doesn't stem from being charged with dictating the plays, but from scheming, coaching and seeing his athletes find success.

"It's exciting to be able to sit and design something," Robiskie said. "I don't think the excitement is in, to sit down and call it. No. I think the excitement is to draw it up. The excitement is to prepare, to put it together, to practice it, to work it, and then to see them execute it."

Coach Mike Mularkey and general manager Jon Robinson have talked about wanting smart, team-first players. Of course, those seem like platitudes, attributes every organization desires.

But the process of making that a reality begins with the coaching staff, and Robiskie embodies the team-first attitude.

"You draw up a play, you put it in, you call it and it's there, we miss it, whatever it is," Robiski said. "We call a bench route for a touchdown and, boy, it was wide open and we missed it. That's disappointing. I don't care who called it. It's disappointing.

"I think the joy and the greatness of (coaching), you saw something in practice or you saw something on film, and you worked it, and all of a sudden Harry Douglas catches it and scores, and then all the guys, the whole team goes crazy and is excited. That's the joy of it for me. The joy isn't to say I called it. I don't care who called it. It doesn't matter to me who called it. It's who executed it. It ain't about the play; it's about players. It's about who can make that play come to life."

Robiskie, 61, has 33 years of NFL coaching experience, including five as an offensive coordinator. He spent the past eight seasons as the Falcons' wide receivers coach, the first four working alongside Mularkey, who was the team's offensive coordinator.

Robiskie was key in the development of stars Roddy White and Julio Jones and also coached Douglas from the time he was drafted in the third round in 2008 until the veteran wide receiver joined the Titans last season.

The Falcons played against the AFC South last season, which gives him a head start on understanding the division, he said.

Robiskie said he will work in tandem with new wide receivers coach Bob Bratkowski, who was Mularkey's offensive coordinator with the Jaguars in 2012. The two are friends, he said, and will be able to strike a healthy balance.

"Bob's been in my seat, I've been in Bob's seat. We'll interchange that extremely well," Robiskie said. "I think I'll walk in his room and when I get in there too much, Bob's going to tell me to leave. He knows when to tell me to leave."

Robiskie makes sweeping gestures as he speaks, and the Super Bowl XVIII ring on his right hand reveals the depth of his experience. It stems from the start of his career, and his second of 11-season run with the Los Angeles Raiders that concluded with four years as offensive coordinator.

Former Heisman Trophy-winner Jim Plunkett led Los Angeles to a 38-9 victory against the Redskins on Jan. 22, 1984.

More than three decades later, Robiskie hopes to set an "aggressive, physical, nasty" tone and eventually have another Heisman winner deliver a ring for his other hand.

If the primary reason he accepted the Titans' job was to reunite with Mularkey, a close second was the opportunity to work with Mariota.

"He looks like just a natural-born football player," Robiskie said. "He looks like a guy that just enjoys going out and playing the game, and it looks like he's having fun doing it."

ANTONIO ANDREWS NOT BACKING DOWN FROM COMPETITION

BY JIM WYATT
TITANS ONLINE
JUNE 23, 2016

NASHVILLE, Tenn. – Antonio Andrews rose to the top of the top of the team's depth chart at running back last season, adding another chapter to his underdog story in the process.

Now, Andrews finds himself fighting for survival.

With the addition of veteran DeMarco Murray and a talented rookie in Derrick Henry, Andrews knows he has to prove himself all over again with the Titans.

So, what's new?

"People count me out every year, but that's just fuel to the fire, and motivation,'' Andrews said. "I am not trying to make no best friends. I am trying to feed my family.

"So it's the same mindset as I've always had – be the starter and keep working hard and stay consistent."

Andrews, who played in four games in 2014 after making the team as an undrafted free agent out of Western Kentucky, led the Titans in rushing with 520 yards and three touchdowns last season. He also caught 21 passes for 174 yards.

Things have changed since then, though. Following the trade for Murray, the team drafted Henry, last year's Heisman Trophy winner out of Alabama, in the second round. The Titans also have running backs Bishop Sankey, David Cobb and David Fluellen in the mix.

Andrews said it's a tight group, despite the competition.

"I am real cool with DeMarco -- we are locker buddies so we are clowning all the time,'' Andrews said. "I've talked to Derrick a little bit, too. We are a close group, and we talk to each other.

"There's a lot of competition, but that will make us better. The reps are limited so when you do something you want to do your best. The competition will be upped because reps are limited and you have to perform."

Titans coach Mike Mularkey said Andrews has responded well to the competition, like the other backs.

"(He's been) very positive,'' Mularkey said of Andrews. "That's one thing I'll give credit to that group, if anything they've all picked up their game. They're all much more detailed. We're making less mistakes. You see no body language that has affected them and what we're doing at that position. That's one group I've been really pleased with the way they come out to work every day."

Andrews, who worked his way up to the active roster from the practice squad in 2014, said he was pleased with his accomplishments last season. While he kicked himself at the end of the year after a missed blocking assignment against the Patriots led to quarterback Marcus Mariota being sacked – and injured – and a fumble that was scooped up and returned for a score against the Texans, he felt he answered the call.

Heading into training camp, Andrews is fully aware not every running back on the roster now will make the team.

He plans to do everything possible to convince the Titans he's worthy.

"They know what I can do and they know I am only getting better,'' Andrews said. "I don't really worry about (the number of backs who will make it). We had a lot of running backs my rookie year, and last year we had a lot of tight ends. So you never know.

"(Last year) I reached my personal goal by becoming a starter, even if the season didn't go as planned. But I know everyone is getting better, and we've made some moves. So it is real competitive now.

"You just have to compete,'' Andrews continued. "At the end of the day, I am an undrafted free agent, whether I was a starter last year or not. I am an undrafted free agent and I am going to bring everything I can to the table."

TITANS LB DAVID BASS MORE COMFORTABLE, READY TO PRODUCE

BY JIM WYATT
TITANS ONLINE
AUGUST 19, 2016

NASHVILLE, Tenn. — The Titans scored a nice catch at the start of last season in linebacker David Bass.

Coming off a productive year, Bass is happy he's not in catch-up mode, and he's ready to contribute again.

He's had a solid training camp, when he's built on his reputation.

"Oh man,'' linebacker Brian Orakpo said of Bass, who was claimed off waivers from Chicago the Sunday before last year's season opener. "He has like a lucky horseshoe in his back pocket. This guy is around every loose ball, every interception. We have all kinds of nicknames for him. Every ball, we know Bass is coming up with it."

Bass, heading into his fourth NFL season, posted 42 tackles, 1.5 sacks and an interception last year. He started seven games, and provided a nice boost when the team lost linebacker Derrick Morgan to injury during the season.

A year later, Bass is feeling more comfortable. And he's been playing like it.

"It was on the go last year,'' Bass said. "I am still learning, and really, you can never learn too much. I am always trying to build chemistry and get more comfortable in the playbook. But I've had a whole offseason to work at things I needed to improve on from last year, switching to a 3-4… and I think I am better with the playbook, and making plays.

"Last year was my first year playing in the 3-4, so I am trying to get better at dropping, being in space … and setting the edges. … I am never satisfied, you can't be content in this game. I am working every day."

With Orakpo and Morgan set to start for the team at outside linebacker, Bass should provide a key piece to the rotation. In Saturday's preseason opener against the Chargers, Bass was credited with a tackle, just five days after a scrimmage at Nissan Stadium when he came up an interception. Linebackers J.R. Tavai and Deiontrez Mount were among those with sacks on Saturday night. Another outside linebacker, second-round pick Kevin Dodd, came off PUP on Wednesday, and he's looking to make an impact.

Bass said having a healthy Orakpo and Morgan – and depth -- will be key.

"The rotation is everything,'' Bass said. "If we can keep fresh bodies on the field it is going to be tough for the offenses to get a hold of what we are doing, and if they do they still have to stop us. With everybody back, we're going to be a defense to mess with. We're going to be good."

Titans coach Mike Mularkey said he's seen improvement out of Bass, who also recorded an interception – and what would've been a Pick-6 – early in camp.

"His level of play has gone up, so now you're talking about we've got two bookends with Derrick being back—and he looks really good,'' Mularkey said of Bass. "We're being smart about it, but he looks really good. So we've got some depth at that position, which we didn't feel like we had last year."

TITANS DL ANGELO BLACKSON WANTS TO PLAY FASTER IN SECOND NFL SEASON

BY JIM WYATT
TITANS ONLINE
JULY 1, 2016

NASHVILLE, Tenn. – Angelo Blackson sprinted around the practice field on the final day of the team's minicamp earlier this month looking like a sprinter trapped in a defensive lineman's body.

He was part of a four-man relay team, and his performance was pretty impressive – especially for a 300-pounder.

"One of my goals this offseason was to get faster,'' Blackson said. "I've dropped a few pounds. I wanted to add a little more speed to my game."

Blackson, of course, won't be making many long-distance runs from his position on the defensive line. He wants to impact play with quick bursts, and he feels like he improved during his first full NFL offseason.

A 6-foot-4, 318-pounder, Blackson was a fourth-round draft pick by the Titans out of Auburn in last year's NFL Draft. He played in all 16 games for the Titans last season, finishing with 19 tackles, 2.5 sacks and two quarterback pressures.

He was pleased with his offseason progress.

"It has been great,'' he said. "(I've) just been trying to improve on the things I know I needed to improve at and trying to take it step by step, day by day.

"Some technical things, pads level, hand placement – I've been working on a lot of things. But the biggest thing is more the approach from the IQ, from the pre-snap, being able to read formations better."

Blackson has worked at both defensive end positions this offseason, and said he's also worked some at nose tackle.

Coach Mike Mularkey praised Blackson as he flashed during his rookie season.

"What he can do along the line of scrimmage,'' Mularkey said Blackson, "I think he is more athletic than a lot of the guys he is going up against. He is extremely good with his hands. The combination of that…I think he is going to be a good player."

Blackson believes he's faster, and he's in better condition heading into Year 2.

He's already looking forward to training camp, which begins the end of July.

"(Year One) was different, but like everybody, you need to adjust,'' Blackson said. "You just have to learn the mental, and be a mental player and put yourself in a better position pre-snap.

"I'm just taking it day by day and improving at the things I need to improve at. And when camp comes around I want to do my best and put my best foot forward."

WHAT'S IN A NAME? TITANS CB VALENTINO BLAKE EXPLAINS

BY JIM WYATT
TITANS ONLINE
SEPTEMBER 7, 2016

NASHVILLE, Tenn. —The Titans signed cornerback Antwon Blake this offseason. It's the name on his ID badge, and in the team's media guide. Since entering the NFL in 2012, it's how he's been listed on rosters.

But moving forward, he'd like to be known as Valentino Blake.

Blake has his reasons.

For starters, Valentino is his middle name. But the name change also provides a chance for a fresh start.

"I wanted to make more of a formal switch, and that's what I really prefer to be called,'' Blake said. "Overall, I like Valentino more. I've been wanting to do it, and I figure a new team, a fresh start, so there's no time like the present."

Blake, heading into his fifth NFL season, actually goes by a lot of names.

His nickname is "Zilla," which is referenced in his Twitter handle, "@ZillaMane41." But a lot of his friends also just called him "Blake."

Some more background:

"Zilla is a nickname that kind of came up,'' Blake said. "I actually got it my freshman year in college (at UTEP) from one of my strength coaches. I started lifting, and it was like 'Godzilla.' And some of the dumbest nicknames, they just stick if everybody likes it. It made its way home and I embraced it, and that's what they call me.

"Antwon, that's what people call me when they don't really know me."

Titans cornerback Jason McCourty is playing a different kind of name game.

"I call him little guy,'' McCourty said with a smile. "We actually all call him Zilla but I hear he'd rather go by Valentino now than Antwon. He is one of those type guys where each day you are trying to figure him out a little more.

"Hey, whatever makes him happy, I'm cool with it."

Blake is so cool with the name "Valentino" he has it tattooed on his back.

On Monday, when quizzed about the name change, Blake said he hopes it catches on, but he knows he'll still answer to a lot of names. On the team's depth chart and updated roster, he now appears as Valentino Blake.

More than anything, he wants to make a name for himself with the Titans after previous stops in Jacksonville and Pittsburgh.

"I am definitely excited to be here, especially from what I have been seeing from the team in camp,'' Blake said. "Everyone's mood around here, you can tell the atmosphere is good. Guys are working, and everyone is looking to have a big year."

KEVIN BYARD MAKING IMPACT IN ROOKIE SEASON FOR TITANS

BY JIM WYATT
TITANS ONLINE
NOVEMBER 9, 2016

NASHVILLE, Tenn. — Kevin Byard remembers his 'Welcome to the NFL moment" well.

It happened in Week 1, the day he made his debut for the Tennessee Titans.

"It was really when I tackled Adrian Peterson,'' Byard said of the Vikings running back. "I tackled Adrian Peterson and I was like, 'I know I can do this thing. I know I can be in this for a long time."

Byard, this team's rookie safety from MTSU, has come a long way since.

"Every game I feel more comfortable,'' Byard said on Monday. "Every game I feel like I am making more plays, even with the limited reps I have been getting I feel like I am making an impact and I want to make an impact in every single game I play in, and that is what I am striving for."

Byard has earned extra playing time with his play.

On Sunday against the Chargers, Byard had his most productive day as a pro. Byard tied for the team lead and set a new career-high with 10 tackles in San Diego. He also added a tackle for a loss, and had a key break-up on a pass intended for Chargers tight end Antonio Gates. He was also active on special teams.

Byard played in 49 of the team's 78 snaps against the Chargers, a week after playing 64 of the team's 72 snaps against the Jaguars, when he tallied five tackles, including two for losses.

On the season, Byard has 27 tackles, with four tackles for a loss and two passes defensed. Byard played just 21 snaps in the opener against the Vikings, but he quickly began to see his playing time increase.

"He's very instinctive,'' Titans coach Mike Mularkey said of Byard. "He plays hard. I think he's always around the football. He broke up some of the quick screens to the receivers yesterday—very instinctive on knowing and being aware that it was coming and then blowing it up.

"Yeah, I thought he played very well (against the Chargers). I mean, the last play, he had a chance to make the stop on third-and-seven (against Melvin Gordon), but other than that, he did a lot of good things for us."

Byard, selected in the third round by the Titans, is hardly satisfied.

"Honestly, going into this year I knew it was only going to be a matter of time before I was really feeling comfortable out there, and before I could really go out there and make plays fast,'' he said. "But all that stuff really means nothing if we are not getting wins. If I have one tackle, nine tackles, 12 tackles it doesn't matter. I just want to win."

On Sunday, the Titans will face the Green Bay Packers, and quarterback Aaron Rodgers.

Byard is very familiar with the five-time Pro Bowler, and two-time league MVP.

But he won't be intimidated. And he said the focus of the team's defense is to clean up the mistakes made in Sunday's loss to the Chargers, and to get back to .500 with a win.

"He is one of the best quarterbacks of our time, and definitely my time. He is one of those guys who has thrown countless Hail Marys, fourth quarter comebacks,'' Byard said of Rodgers.

"But I feel I can play with anybody. I mean, I'm not a guy who goes out there and says, "Oh, we have Aaron Rodgers coming to town this weekend.' I feel like I can play with anybody in this league.

"…As a defense we have to keep improving. We are not a terrible defense all of a sudden because we had one bad game. We are still a good defense and we just have to correct things and keep getting better."

TITANS ROOKIE KEVIN BYARD HAD TO GROW UP FAST

BY JOHN GLENNON
TENNESSEAN.COM
JULY 19, 2016

He wasn't ready to be a father figure, not at the age of 14.

But Kevin Byard didn't have much of a choice at the time.

When his parents divorced in 2007, Byard headed south to Atlanta with his mother, older brother and five younger siblings — including three little sisters ages seven, five and three.

There was no plush new home awaiting the U-Haul when it rolled in from Virginia, no sense of financial security for the family either. They lived in the basement of a friend's house at first, wondering how they would afford to set out on their own.

The resulting circumstances meant Byard would grow up much quicker than expected, as — even in high school — he and his older brother took responsibility for the younger members of the family while their mother worked long hours as a waitress at the Piccadilly Restaurant.

Byard helped hold his family together through the years, even as it was evicted seven times in less than a decade.

Though he missed out on many of the traditional teenager experiences along the way, Byard — a former Middle Tennessee State University standout who's now a Titans rookie safety — credits the difficult times earlier in his life for helping to forge an advanced maturity and focus.

Those are some of the traits the Titans saw in Byard when they chose him in the third round of the NFL draft. He signed his contract last week and will compete for a place in the starting lineup when training camp begins next week.

"When I look back at that time, it was definitely the most adverse time in my life — my mom moving with little to no money, and me and my oldest brother having to be caretakers for my little brothers and sisters," Byard said. "But it's definitely something I feel like groomed me into the man I am today and into being responsible at a young age. It definitely helped me grow up fast."

Crying all the way to Georgia

Byard's mother, Artina Stanley, was taking online college courses at the time of her divorce, so she'd recently received a Pell Grant check for a couple of thousand dollars.

Stanley put almost all of that money into the family move, figuring a fresh start in Atlanta would be good for a couple of reasons. It would provide more athletic exposure for Byard, who was already showing signs of becoming a very good football player. And one of her best friends lived in the area.

"I knew I had to take advantage of the opportunity to go, so I closed my eyes, got in the U-Haul and got on the road," Stanley said. "We all cried the whole way to Georgia, but I felt in my gut it was just the right thing to do.

"By the time we got to Georgia, I might have had 100-something dollars left. I was scared, very afraid."

Stanley's friend connected her with another friend, who lodged the family of eight in a finished basement. Within a couple of weeks, Stanley landed her job as a waitress, a job she still holds.

But with Stanley having to work from 11 a.m. until 9 p.m., Byard and his older brother, Kavonne, took on parental roles at home — even as they attended high school and played football.

"It was a trying time for me because I was always the type of parent that was saying I will never have my children watch my children," Stanley said. "But I had no other choice.

"(Kavonne) had to pick up one of his baby sisters at day care every day. Kevin would be at home straightening up the house or making sure his little sisters and brothers had lunch, or possibly preparing dinner or whatever. They had to do all this between the time they were dismissed from school and when they had to go back to practice at 4. They had to do this before they could do anything else."

Said Byard: "When my mother came home at night, we had to make sure the house was together and everything. My sisters were still so young that they were just running around, acting crazy. So it was definitely on our shoulders. We were the ones getting yelled at, not the younger ones."

Byard admits he wasn't always thrilled with his new responsibilities, but he understood and accepted them.

"I was just 14 going on 15, so being that age, you really want to be a teenager," he said. "You want to go out there and do the different things that everybody else is doing, but you've got to make that sacrifice.

"You gotta' change from being a teenager. You can't go out. You have to come home and make sure the house is clean. That was pretty much the biggest change for me, doing stuff that I didn't want to do. But it was something I had to sacrifice for me and my mother."

I got your back, Mom

Stanley worked more than one job to provide for the big family, taking part-time positions at Golden Corral and at Primerica Insurance at different times.

"I had to show my children that hard work pays off," she said. "Never wait for anyone to bring you anything. You work hard until you accomplish what you want to accomplish."

But even with her incomes, as well as the support provided by Byard's father, it was difficult making ends meet and paying all the bills.

Byard recalls having to pick up and move three times during his four years of high school.

"When we got out of the basement and got our own place, things kind of stabilized a little bit," Byard said. "But it definitely never really got easy."

In fact, Stanley said the family has been evicted seven times in the nine years since moving to Georgia.

"There have been times we had to move, or we'd have the heat turned off on us," Stanley said. "But we were never homeless and we have never been hungry. That always makes me smile."

Through the hard times, Stanley said neither Kevin nor his older brother ever wavered on their decision to stay with their mother, nor shirked the responsibilities to their younger siblings.

"I think there were times where Kevin wondered, `Why do I have to do this?' " Stanley said. "But at the same time, he was like, `I got your back, Mom. Don't worry about it. We got it.' "

A room for every child

Even before Byard signed his contract, the advances he was able to get after the Titans drafted him last April allowed for an important step: He moved the family into a bigger Atlanta home — one with a room for every sibling — and began paying the new rent as well.

"I hated having to see her pack up and keep moving like that," Byard said. "I just wanted her to be somewhere stable. She doesn't have to move anymore."

Said Stanley: "That was an amazing, amazing blessing for me that he was able to do that. That was one of my biggest worries all of my life, like, 'Oh God, am I going to get the rent?' "

Stanley is still working at the Piccadilly Restaurant, where she keeps her regular customers informed on her children's accomplishments. Kavonne is working toward a master's degree at Valdosta State, while another brother is preparing for his first year at Wagner College in Staten Island, N.Y.

"It's been a tremendous challenge to all of us," Stanley said. "But I'm starting to see the fruits of our labor."

Byard, meanwhile, appears to have a bright future with the Titans, who were every bit as impressed with his work ethic, learning ability and intelligence as they were his talents on the football field.

He tested out better than any other prospect in terms of his ability to process the schemes and defensive information the Titans threw at him during the interview.

"We try to give the same questions and the same board work to everyone, so it's a fair evaluation," Titans coach Mike Mularkey said. "He just clearly stood out, to be able to get back up there and spit it back out. ... He was easily the best on the board in being able to retain (information) and shoot it back at us."

Byard is looking forward to battling for a starting job in training camp, and to beginning his NFL career less than an hour away from where he starred for the Blue Raiders.

His status these days is a far cry from what it was a decade ago, when Byard began to play a father-figure role to five younger siblings in the basement of a friend's house. But who's to say where life might have led him otherwise, had he not endured the hardships and learned the lessons he did during that time?

"At the end of the day," Byard said, "it definitely helped me out to become a better person."

JURRELL CASEY NAMED TITANS WALTER PAYTON MAN OF THE YEAR

BY JIM WYATT
TITANS ONLINE
DECEMBER 8, 2016

NASHVILLE, Tenn. — Jurrell Casey is a force on the football field.

As a 305-pound defensive lineman for the Tennessee Titans, Casey makes his living being as disruptive as he can be in between the white lines. He throws around offensive linemen, tackles running backs, and sacks quarterbacks.

The dirty work has earned him Pro Bowl recognition.

Casey has also rolled up his sleeves and done plenty of work off the field as well, and his work hasn't gone unnoticed.

Casey is the 2016 Titans recipient of the Walter Payton Man of the Year award.

Casey is now a finalist for the league-wide 2016 Walter Payton NFL Man of the Year Award that will be awarded during the upcoming Super Bowl week. This prestigious NFL award has been in existence since 1970 and it honors players who demonstrate outstanding balance in their lives between civic and professional responsibilities. In 1999, the NFL renamed the award after the late Walter Payton as a tribute to his greatness, both on and off the field.

"It is huge honor, and it is something that means a lot to me,'' Casey said. "I want people in the community to see me do things the right way on the field and off the field. When I see the impact a good deed can have, it brings me lots of joy.

"But this is just the beginning. I want to do what I can to help others. Me and my wife want to help change the world and make it an even better place."

Casey, a three-time team captain who went to the Pro Bowl last season, was a third-round draft pick by the Titans in the 2010 NFL Draft out of Southern Cal. He's played in 91 career games, and has tallied 459 tackles with 31 career sacks and 40 tackles for loss.

He's also been a monster in the community.

This year, complimenting his success on the field, Jurrell and his wife, Ryann, established the Casey Fund, a nonprofit dedicated to raising money for re-entry programs, inner-city youth programs, mentoring and halfway houses. The Casey Fund helps people in need, including people who have been incarcerated. When he was in high school, Jurrell's older brother, Jurray, was convicted of first-degree murder and he remains incarcerated.

In addition to his work through his foundation, Jurrell also serves as the spokesperson for United Way of Metropolitan Nashville, donating his time and likeness to ad-campaigns and partaking in community events hosted by the organization.

Over the summer, in his hometown of Long Beach, Calif., Jurrell hosted a free youth football skills camp for linemen.

Casey recently hosted a food drive for 200 underprivileged families in Nashville prior to Thanksgiving. He's also currently planning his first fundraiser for the Casey Fund – a chili cook-off in April.

Casey has participated in nine community events for the Titans already this season.

"What makes Jurrell so special is his unwavering commitment to advancing the common good," said Tina Tuggle, Director of Community Relations for the Tennessee Titans. "He seizes every opportunity to make an impact. He has harnessed his platform as a professional athlete and will use it to the best of his ability, and we know that he will continue to do so long after his playing days are over."

Casey said he developed the mentality of wanting to give back from watching his mom, Collette Burns.

Now, he wants to do his part.

"My mom really brought us up that way, and just seeing her open her arms to people in the community, trying to put a smile on the faces of other people, it made an impact on me,'' Casey said. "And being with my wife has driven me to want to do that even more, because she is a real kind and giving woman, always wanting to look out for other people besides herself.

"Just to see two people like that, two strong women in my life, to see them put other people in front of them, I think that is great and it drives me to want use my platform to give back just like they do."

The NFL Walter Payton Man of the Year will receive a one million dollar donation – $500,000 to the charity of his choice and $500,000 in his name to expand Character Playbook, an interactive online course focused on youth character development and building healthy relationships.

Two finalists each receive a $125,000 donation to the charity of their choice and $125,000 donation to expand Character Playbook.

The three finalists will be announced in January, with the winner announced during the annual NFL Honors show, airing the day before Super Bowl LI. The remaining 29 team winners receive a $50,000 donation to the charity of their choice, plus an additional $50,000 donation to expand Character Playbook in their club's market.

JURRELL CASEY DISCUSSES LIFE, ON AND OFF THE FIELD

BY JIM WYATT
TITANS ONLINE
OCTOBER 27, 2016

NASHVILLE, Tenn. — The Titans drafted Jurrell Casey in the third round of the 2011 NFL Draft out of Southern California.

Since, Casey has developed into one of the NFL's top defensive linemen.

He's coming off a Pro Bowl season, and he has over 430 tackles and 30 sacks in his playing career.

Titans Online sat down with Casey recently to discuss a number of topics, on the field and off it.

Here's how the conversation went….

Right out of the gate: How did you get steered into football?

"My mother and my uncle, Horace Burns. He actually got me into Pop Warner. My brother and all of us played, and that is what started to drive me toward the game of football."

What were your thoughts when you first arrived in the NFL? Any long-term goals?

"The first thing is I wanted to make sure I earned a starting spot on the team. From Day 1, that was my mindset when I came in, and I was able to do that. Now my goal is to make it to the Hall of Fame. I want to be the best player I can possibly be every week on the practice field, and on Sundays."

How much did it mean to you to play in the Pro Bowl last year?

"It meant so much to me. You get the respect of the guys around the league, and just to be in the presence of the guys in the league, the best players in the league. And they showed me a lot of respect. It is a huge blessing, and it's where each individual should want to be."

Since I've been around you, I've heard you talk a lot about your mother, Collette Burns. Can you describe the impact she's made on your life? And when you think about your mom, what comes to your mind?

"The biggest thing about my mom is her work ethic. No matter what the situation was when I was growing up, and no matter what was going on in our household, she was always dedicated to make sure we had exactly what we wanted, and exactly what we needed. She worked two jobs, and made sure she was there on time. She never missed a day. And she also made sure she was able to take care of her kids. When somebody can do that all by herself, it just shows you what you are capable of. She sacrificed for me, and helped set me up for a better lifestyle than she had."

Your older brother, Jurray, has impacted your life in a different way. Jurray was convicted of first-degree murder when he was younger. You've been very open in talking about that, while also crediting him for helping you refocus on becoming a better football player and student. How much did his experience influence your life?

"What happened to Jurray made a huge impact in my life. I could have definitely been in the same position he was in, or going in the same direction he went in when he was young. But he pushed me to go into the right direction and to make good decisions, and he kept me motivated to make sure I stuck with the talent God blessed me with."

You got married last summer. I know you and your wife, Ryann, set up the Casey Fund to help people in need, including people who have been incarcerated. She's an attorney in Nashville. How proud are you of Ryann, and what kind of impact has Ryann had on your life?

"I am super proud of her. She is great, and she has done so much to help me. She tries to help me with my presence in public, my public speaking, and just helping me be more of a patient guy. She wants to try and build my character off the field rather than just being a great person on the field. She has helped me in all kinds of ways. On top of that, she is a hard-working woman, someone who is dedicated to her craft. She graduated from law school, and she passed the bar exam [in California] and then passed another bar in Nashville. I give her mad props for that, because some people wouldn't do it again. But she is dedicated to our relationship and our family, and she got the job done."

You grew up on California. What did you think of Nashville when you first got here, and what's your opinion of the city now?

"When I first got to Nashville, I thought it was going to be a dead city. But now, I see it's a live city. It's a great city. And you see how many people have moved here and how many people visit here. No matter what time of year it is you'll see tour groups here, and it's always packed. It is great. I am definitely loving it."

You have played for three head coaches since you've been here – Mike Munchak, Ken Whisenhunt and now Mike Mularkey. What's different now?

"I think the biggest thing now is team chemistry. A lot of guys who've been around here for a little while now, we've been able to build a relationship between one another, and we've embraced new guys who have come in. We now have a team that plays off one another and plays together."

You've worn the No.99 since you've been here. Any reason why?

"It's just a number I got when I got here. I had no intentions of wearing 99. When they called me and asked me what number I wanted, I told them 91. But 91 was gone, and they told me the next best numbers. I said, ‘Stick me in 99.’ Now, I love the number. I think it is a beast number, and it looks good for a defensive lineman. And I am trying to rock it.”

What’s your best memory as Titan?

“I’m going to have to hold off on that one until we win a Super Bowl.”

Who’s the best offensive lineman you’ve ever faced?

“I’d have to say Joe Thomas [of the Browns]. He is one of the best out there, and he is still crafty and shifty out there for his age. I say he has to be the best one.”

What will you do when your playing career is over?

“The biggest thing is to get into the real estate market, and really try to get into the entrepreneur world and try to start up some things for myself. I don’t have anything in mind in particular right now, I am focused on football. But that will be exciting too.”

When your career is over, what do you want people to think of when they hear the name Jurrell Casey?

“I want them to think of a guy who worked hard no matter what, and a guy who pushed himself to be the best he could possibly be. I want them to remember me as a legend who played the game.”

TITANS' MATT CASSEL IN FAMILIAR ROLE BACKING UP MARIOTA

BY TERRY MCCORMICK
AUGUST 3, 2016

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — In one sense, Matt Cassel's football career is right back where it started — even before he entered the NFL.

Cassel signed a one-year deal in the offseason to back up Tennessee Titans quarterback Marcus Mariota, the 2014 Heisman Trophy winner from Oregon.

A dozen years earlier, while in college at Southern California, Cassel had an up-close view of another Heisman Trophy winner. Cassel backed up USC star Matt Leinart, who won college football's highest individual honor in 2004.

In between, Cassel has carved out a nice career of his own, one that has included six NFL stops and has ranged from filling in for Tom Brady to earning a Pro Bowl berth for the Kansas City Chiefs in 2010 with a little of everything in between.

At age 34, Cassel knows his role now is to mentor Mariota and be ready to be called upon just in case.

The Titans made the decision to go with Cassel, and a few weeks after signing him moved on from last year's primary backup Zach Mettenberger, who was waived and claimed by the San Diego Chargers.

Not only is the Titans organization what Cassel was seeking after splitting last season between Buffalo and Dallas, but the Nashville area was a fit as well.

"It was a great fit for me. I think not only from an organizational standpoint, but from a place to live," Cassel said.

"I also understand my role. Obviously, we've got a very young, talented quarterback ahead of me. I was in a program when I was young where my elder was Tom and I was able to learn a lot, and I understand that my role is to come in and help him develop and be the best he can be.

"Anything I can do to help him along the way is something that will be valuable to the team and help us win games hopefully."

Mariota started 12 games as a rookie last season and threw for 2,818 yards and 19 touchdown passes. Cassel admired Mariota's play from afar and now appreciates it even more up close.

"In my mind, for a young guy to come in and play the way he did last year, and then also actually sit here and evaluate him this offseason, I've been impressed with each and every facet of his game," Cassel said.

"He's very smart. He's talented and he can make all the throws, but he's also got an unbelievable ability to make people miss and run.

"The sky's the limit for him. He's just got to continue to work, and I don't think that's an issue for him. He's one of the first guys in the building every day. I've got nothing but respect for him, and I love working with him."

The feeling is mutual in terms of what Mariota takes from watching and listening to the veteran in practice and the meeting room.

"He's been incredible for me, and (third-stringer) Alex Tanney has too. To have the quarterback room the way it is now, for me, it's been really helpful," Mariota said. "After every single set, I can talk to one of those guys and ask them what they saw."

Cassel has been on good, bad and even great teams at times in his career. Although the Titans have won just five games combined over the past two seasons, Cassel is optimistic.

"I think we're headed in the right direction," Cassel said. "I know one thing, this team is a team that likes to work. We're young, but at the same time, these guys all give great effort.

"We had a great offseason. Now it's about coming together in camp and pushing each other and understanding the system and what the coaching are trying to accomplish on each and every play and growing as a team."

NOTES: The Titans have waived cornerback Bennett Okotcha, who had a shoulder injury. Okotcha joined the team May 16 as an undrafted free agent from Texas-San Antonio. ... Titans coach Mike Mularkey said Tuesday that wide receiver Kendall Wright "tweaked his hamstring" in practice.

TITANS' JACK CONKLIN FUELED BY SCHOLARSHIP SNUB

THE TENNESSEAN

At some point on Sunday — maybe when he wakes up, maybe when he drives to Nissan Stadium, maybe when he puts on his Titans uniform before the season opener — rookie right tackle Jack Conklin's thoughts will drift back to the snub.

It was only four years ago, after all, that Conklin, try as he might, couldn't attract the attention of the college football world.

Hard as it is to believe now looking at the 6-6, 308-pound Conklin — the Titans' first-round draft pick last April — not a single Division I football program offered him a full scholarship coming out of high school.

A walk-on at Michigan State, Conklin conquered one challenge after another, eventually earning a scholarship, winning All-American status and becoming the eighth overall selection in the draft.

But Conklin has never really forgotten the sting of that collegiate cold-shoulder, nor does he want to.

It fuels him.

"I still think about it a lot," Conklin said. "It's that chip-on-the-shoulder mentality. It's where I came from. I think about it every day, all the work I had to put in to earn that scholarship and get to this point. I know I need to keep that mindset going to get to where I eventually want to be in the NFL."

What about me?

Try as they might, Darren Conklin and son Jack just couldn't understand what was going on around them during Jack's high school senior season in 2012.

Or, more specifically, what was not.

Despite the fact he was the son of a high school football coach, and despite the fact Conklin had grown to about 6-6 and 290 pounds, he wasn't drawing the kind of significant college interest that merited a scholarship offer.

"It was tough for me being both a coach and a parent because I'd sit there and say, `I know he's good enough,'" Darren Conklin said. "We knew that he had it in him and believed all along he had all the tools and attitude, and that people just weren't seeing it. But there are times you start to wonder, `Maybe I'm wrong.'"

In retrospect, there were probably a few reasons why Conklin received such little interest.

One was that he came from a small school in sparsely recruited western Michigan. Plainwell High hadn't sent a high school football player to a Division I college in decades.

Second, Conklin began his high-school career as a 6-2, 225-pound fullback/tight end, not necessarily the kind of measurements — or positions — that excite a lot of big-time college recruiters. His position switch, and his weight gain, occurred later in high school.

Third, Conklin enjoyed playing basketball, too, so while many of the top football recruits were attending college football recruiting camps, Conklin was on the hardwood.

"I played a lot of basketball in the spring, so I really didn't go to my first college camp until summer going into my senior year," Conklin said. "I think playing basketball really helped me be a better athlete, but it probably didn't help the football recruiting."

Added Darren Conklin: "We got a late start in recruiting, so a lot of schools were already full. The recruiting process now has been focused on 10th-graders to such an extent that it's silly."

Finally getting noticed

Conklin initially decided to attend Fork Union (Va.) Military Academy, a prep school that he hoped would allow him one more year to catch the eye of more college scouts.

But it was just about then that Michigan State — the arch-rival of Michigan, where Conklin's father and mother had gone to school — finally saw the light.

After watching some late film on Conklin, Michigan State invited him to the campus a few times and eventually reached an agreement: If Conklin was willing to walk on at Michigan State — and if everything went well that first year — the Spartans would reward him with a scholarship in his second year.

"I think probably some guys that come in on scholarships think they've already arrived a little bit," Conklin said. "I was at the bottom and I knew I had to keep working hard. I had to do more every day than these other guys did. I probably wouldn't have had that same mindset if I'd come in on scholarship."

Conklin redshirted his freshman season, but earned a starting spot in his second year. The ground-heavy attack of the Spartans proved a perfect fit for Conklin, who developed a reputation as a punishing run blocker on his way to becoming a Sporting News first-team All-American during his final season.

"I think he always had that extra healthy motivation," Darren Conklin said. "I know there were plenty of times that Jack looked across the field and said, `That guy got a scholarship and I didn't. I'm going to put him on his back 20 times today to prove to that school what they missed out on.'"

FIRST-ROUND PICK JACK CONKLIN SETTLING IN WITH TITANS

BY JIM WYATT
TITANS ONLINE
AUGUST 6, 2016

NASHVILLE, Tenn. – Jack Conklin hasn't played in an NFL game yet, but that doesn't mean he hasn't faced pressure in his rookie season.

Take, for instance, the heated battles that go on between the offensive linemen and defensive linemen every day in training camp. He had one earlier this week with the "WWE belt' on the line.

Conklin, the team's first-round pick out of Michigan State, won his while working against edge rusher Derrick Morgan. It gave the whole unit bragging rights.

"Those situations I want to be in,'' he said. "It's the most game-like situation I think I am going to be in around practice. The pressure is on, and it's a game-is-on-the-line kind of thing. That's why you play football."

Conklin has settled in nicely for the Titans during his first NFL camp. He's worked with the first group at right tackle from Day One, and hasn't flinched.

"He's done a great job,'' quarterback Marcus Mariota said of Conklin. "He hasn't been overwhelmed too much as far as I've seen. He's come in and stepped up. Obviously everyone is going to have their mistakes. But he's learning from them and continuing to grow. We are going to need a lot of him out of that right tackle spot."

"Jack has been very solid, there's no question," coach Mike Mularkey said. "You wouldn't know he was a rookie."

Defenders have also been impressed.

"I think he is doing really well,'' Morgan said. "It is tough to come in as a rookie lineman, but he is holding his own. He has been consistent."

Offensive line coach Russ Grimm said Conklin remains a work in progress, but he also likes what he's seen.

"He is getting there,'' Grimm said. "Obviously he is not there yet, but Jack is a physical player and he is a smart guy but obviously he is a rookie. There's going to be some growing pains, but so far he has been making some good progress."

A 6-foot-6, 308-pounder, the Titans drafted Conklin with the eighth overall pick back in April. When veteran Byron Bell suffered a season-ending ankle injury during the offseason, Conklin went from splitting time to getting pretty much all the reps with the first-team unit, opposite left tackle Taylor Lewan.

Conklin has endured some teasing from Lewan, who went to rival Michigan.

But he's learned a great deal from him as well, he said.

"Taylor has been a big help for me, a guy who has gone through it,'' Conklin said. "He's a guy who I can really ask any question and he'll give me a good answer for it.

"Yeah, there's always a jab here or there (about Michigan State), but we are teammates, and we are Titans now, and that is what matters, the Titans winning."

Mularkey said he anticipates Conklin will make some mistakes as he grows as a player, but said they've been few and far between so far.

When the Titans open the preseason on August 13 against the Chargers, Conklin will be tested even more.

Conklin plans to be ready.

"I am starting to understand the offense better, and now it is less thinking, "I need to go here, or here','' Conklin said. "Now I can just move fast and get in the right position, and that's the point you want to be in, to move fast.

"The game is definitely faster at this level, and these guys are the best of the best. You have to be focused and locked in at all times. It goes from being one or two guys on the team to the entire defensive line, so you have to be on the top of your game.

"I am just going to keep working. It's my first camp and I hold myself to high standards and I want to be one of the best guys in the country at my position. I want to be in the right spot and know exactly what I am doing when the games come. But I am excited, and I am having fun."

HARRY DOUGLAS ON TERRY ROBISKIE: "I THINK IT'S A GREAT FIT"

BY JIM WYATT
TITANS ONLINE
JANUARY 21, 2016

NASHVILLE, Tenn. – The Titans hired Terry Robiskie as the team's offensive coordinator on Wednesday, and veteran receiver Harry Douglas has already heard from many of his curious teammates.

Douglas, who played seven seasons under Robiskie with the Falcons, has also chatted with many of his former teammates in Atlanta, including receivers Julio Jones and Roddy White, since the veteran coach was first linked to the Titans.

"I've been talking to those guys the last few days, and (Falcons quarterback) Matt (Ryan), too. Trust me, they are going to really, really, really miss coach Robiskie,'' Douglas said. "I've had a lot of people in Atlanta calling me, telling me: You stole him away. I'm like, we didn't steal him, but I'm happy to have him, I'll tell you that."

Robiskie brings 34 years of NFL coaching experience to the Titans, including six seasons as an offensive coordinator. He's spent the last eight seasons as receivers coach for the Falcons. Robiskie worked under Titans head coach Mike Mularkey when he served as offensive coordinator in Atlanta, and he also worked with him in Miami.

Robiskie will call the offensive plays in Tennessee. The Titans finished 30th in the NFL on offense during a 3-13 season in 2015.

"No.1, I know we are going to be a tough football team with these guys,'' Douglas said of Mularkey and Robiskie. "We are going to run the football, we are going to be able to pass the football, but the main thing is we are just going to be efficient, and do things that fit the strengths of the players.

"The way those guys operate, they demand excellence. They are not cool with being mediocre; that doesn't fly with those guys. They know how to push their players to get the best of their players. I think it's a great move, it's the right move."

Jason Michael, who served as offensive coordinator for the Titans the past two seasons, will be the team's quarterbacks coach this fall. Shawn Jefferson, the team's receivers coach the past three seasons, has been hired by the Miami Dolphins.

Douglas, who had a 1,000-yard season under Mularkey and Robiskie in Atlanta in 2013, said the team's young players, including quarterback Marcus Mariota and receiver Dorial Green-Beckham, will benefit from Robiskie's presence.

"He is a great guy and he makes the game of football easy for young guys,'' Douglas said of Robiskie. "When I came in as a rookie, he made the game of football so much more fun for me, and he makes it where you can just play the game. And the same with Julio. And he helped Roddy get on track. He'll be good for (Marcus)."

Overall, Douglas said Robiskie will be good for the entire team.

"First of all, I love him – football-wise, off-the-field wise, everything that has to do with life and the game of football, he is a perfect example,'' Douglas said. "He is so well-connected, and so knowledgeable about football. In Atlanta, he would literally stay at the complex all night to try and get us a tip on DBs, or things we could do to get an advantage. And he was a receivers coach then.

"I know he loves the game of football, and he loves players. Now he loves tough players, and he doesn't take any b.s. But he is a great guy and I think he's going to do a great job.

"He demands so much out of his players, and he's going to help make us better."

ANTHONY FASANO HELPING OTHERS WITH ADDICTION CENTER

BY JIM WYATT
TITANS ONLINE
OCTOBER 8, 2016

NASHVILLE, Tenn. — Anthony Fasano never understood the issues surrounding addiction.

The Titans tight end thought it was an excuse, or a weakness, and he wasn't really interested in digging deeper.

Then a family member was impacted by addiction, and it changed his life forever. When his NFL career is over, Fasano plans to devote his time changing the lives of others struggling with addictive disorders and related issues.

Even while he's still playing, in fact, Fasano is making an impact.

Fasano opened an addiction treatment center in Delray Beach, Florida, in December 2015 to provide a state of the art clinical and 12-step immersion services for patients so they can rediscover themselves, learn to build healthy relationships, and embrace recovery and live a life free from addiction.

"It is fittingly called Next Chapter,'' said Fasano, the founder. "One for the next chapter in our patients' lives to turn the page, but I do see this as a career after football for me. Whenever that time comes, I'll transition pretty quickly."

It's been a heck of a career for Fasano, who is in his 11th NFL season. A second-round pick by the Dallas Cowboys in the 2006 NFL Draft, Fasano has played in 152 games while with the Cowboys (2006-07), Dolphins (2008-12), Chiefs (2013-14) and Titans (2015-present). He has 280 catches for 3,089 yards and 33 touchdowns while also earning a reputation as being one of the league's better blocking tight ends.

Fasano, 32, majored in marketing at Notre Dame, and over the years took business classes through the NFL.

When a family member dealt with substance abuse issues, however, it opened his eyes, and inspired him to become involved. Fasano said the family member struggled with drug addiction, and the lingering temptations after initially getting treatment. It wasn't until the family member started working at a treatment center in Florida before he crossed the hurdles necessary to change.

The experience impacted Fasano in ways he never would have imagined.

"It became of interest to me,'' Fasano said. "Honestly, I regretfully say, I was very ignorant to addiction. I couldn't really understand it. … But until it happens to your own family, it opens up your eyes to the disease. It convinced me it is a disease and it doesn't discriminate, it affects everybody. And I think everybody, if they are old enough, can know of a situation where addiction affected their life."

Fasano jumped head-first this offseason into Next Chapter Addiction Treatment, a treatment and trauma program for males, which is located roughly 45 miles from where the Titans will face the Dolphins on Sunday in Miami Gardens, Fla.

He worked in the building in Delray Beach three days a week during the offseason, consulting on the direction of the program, making business decisions, and working on the growth, financing and hiring. The facility treats inpatients and outpatients. The center treats abuse disorders, behavioral additions, and co-occurring psychological disorders related to post-traumatic experience, such as post-traumatic stress disorder and depression. The center helps patients deal with drug and alcohol addiction, trauma, sex addiction, internet addition, gambling and work addiction. Staff members aim to help patients heal, and restore the relationships around them.

"They all kind of fall under the umbrella and a lot of times the clinicians and therapist that treat them, they all kind of have a common thread, no matter what the vice and addiction is,'' Fasano said. "The root of that problem is pretty much the same, so they are trained in all of that stuff."

Pat Capra, director of the Anthony Fasano Foundation, said the tight end has always been passionate about helping others. A second Next Chapter facility is in the works.

Fasano has a golf outing each year that raises money for autistic children in New Jersey, and he has a bocce tournament that raises money for the military, and supports homeless veterans. He established his foundation in 2008 to serve underprivileged youth and military families in New Jersey.

"When this opportunity presented itself and he learned more about addiction,'' Capra said of Fasano, "it was important to him. If you look at the numbers nationwide, it's staggering. In communities all over the country, from the suburbs on down, it is everywhere, even in his hometown of Verona (New Jersey). So the idea of being able to help people and also have a business opportunity, I think it was a perfect combination of what he can do post career.

"(Anthony) has never identified himself as just a football player. Sometimes I think players can have trouble finding successful post-careers because their identity is so much tied to being a football player. So each offseason I think he tries to add skills and involve himself in things that will benefit him post-career, and really the next chapter of his life.

"For him, if he is going to start something like this, which is a pretty sensitive subject and he has seen how addiction can affect people close to him, he wants to make sure they're doing the best for the patients that they are treating and making sure they are seeing results," Capra continued. "So obviously the only way he can do that is making sure he rolls up his sleeves and shows his face and listens and learns as much as he can and lends as much support as he can, and sometimes him being there physically is a big part of that."

Fasano got to know a lot of the patients during the course of the offseason, and he plans to immerse himself in the venture when the season ends.

In the locker room after a practice, Fasano talked in great detail about the levels of care at the facility (nextchapteraddiction.com).

Patients advance to different stages in the program, and transition as they make progress. Some of the levels are intense, when patients have limited freedom and a regimented schedule. The programs could range from 45 to 60 days, to even a 90-day program.

In the twilight of his NFL career, Fasano admits he was hoping to find something that would pull him in a positive direction after football. His next chapter will be involved with Next Chapter.

What makes Fasano happy is seeing a patient overcome the struggles.

It's like scoring a touchdown. Or even better.

"I see this as a win-win,'' Fasano said. "It gives me purpose after football, but also it keeps in the lines some of my foundation work and helping people. It really feels good when you get testimonials from family members, and the patients themselves, the experience they had.

"And then you see them become productive people in society afterward, where before they were just a drain. So it is pretty cool."

JALSTON FOWLER WANTS TO MAKE BIGGER IMPACT IN YEAR 2

BY JIM WYATT
TITANS ONLINE
AUGUST 31, 2016

NASHVILLE, Tenn. – The Titans drafted Jalston Fowler to make an impact last season, and the bruising fullback planned to do just that during his rookie year.

Then he collided with former Titans safety Michael Griffin during an early August scrimmage, and what happened as a result had a big impact on his season.

“Griff got the best of me on my shoulder,’’ Fowler said, “and it messed it up pretty good. Sometimes (running backs) coach Sylvester Croom would see me out there hitting people and he’d tell me: ‘You fought through it. You’re a tough guy.’ If I was out there I was going to do the best I could do, but my shoulder wasn’t right.”

A fourth-round pick out of Alabama, Fowler played in all 16 games for the Titans last season. At the end of the year, he had surgery on the shoulder. Fowler called it a labrum injury. He also dealt with a broken toe at the end of the season.

“He is healthy now,’’ coach Mike Mularkey said of Fowler. “I think he’s as healthy as he has been in years. His weight is down, and he is running better, too. He understands the offense better. There’s a lot of good things about Jalston.”

Mularkey expects Fowler to make a bigger impact in 2016. He’s looked good during the preseason.

Fowler played in 16 snaps vs the Raiders, and he picked up a first down when he plowed through the middle of the Oakland defense on a 4th-and-1. Fowler played in eight snaps vs the Panthers, and four snaps on offense against the Chargers, in addition to playing on special teams in all three games.

Mularkey said the Titans will have a role for the fullback in the offense.

“Absolutely,’’ Mularkey said. “When we did not have a true fullback on the roster two years we were trying to make Jackie Battle a fullback, and that wasn’t fair to him because he was not a fullback. Jalston is, and it is important in this offense. It is really important when you get down to the goal line. When you say, ‘What are the percentages a fullback is playing?’ Well, start putting all the critical situations into a game plan – short yardage, goal-line, four-minute. When you are trying to win the game, you have to win the game, that guy better be a stud back there.

“He is in the game plan more. … When he's been in there, he's been what we've hoped for.”

The 5-foot-11, 254-pounder Fowler said he’s ready to deliver.

A year ago, Fowler ran the ball seven times for 13 yards, and scored a one-yard touchdown. He also caught five passes for 44 yards, with another score. Here’s an impact stat: Eight of Fowler’s 12 touches last year resulted in a first down.

Fowler displayed his versatility at Alabama, where he played fullback, running back, H-back and tight end in addition to his work on special teams. He was teammates with Titans running back Derrick Henry.

“That’s my little brother right there,’’ Fowler said of Henry.

Fowler, a member of two national championship teams at Alabama, is ready to clear a path for Henry, DeMarco Murray and the other running backs this fall.

“I feel a lot better this year,’’ Fowler said. “My plan is always to give it my all when I’m out there. Now, nothing is hurting, and when you don’t have to worry about your shoulder you feel like you are full-go and ready for anything.

“As a fullback, my job is to be on the right guy, and when you are on the right guy you have to blow them up.”

HEISMAN WINNER DERRICK HENRY NOW PATIENT BACKUP WITH TITANS

BY TERESA M. WALKER
DECEMBER 9, 2016

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Tennessee offensive coordinator Terry Robiskie promised Derrick Henry he would touch the ball more as an NFL rookie than the running back did as a freshman back in college at Alabama.

Robiskie delivered, actually doubling up on the workload Henry had his first year in college with four games left.

It's just nowhere near what any NFL running back really wants.

A year after winning the Heisman Trophy, Henry is honing his patience with the Titans, backing up the NFL's second-leading rusher in DeMarco Murray. The man who led Alabama to a national title while setting the Southeastern Conference rushing mark running for 2,219 yards has had five games as a pro with five or fewer carries.

"As a competitor, it's always going to be tough," Henry said. "But you just got to be patient like everybody says."

The Titans' decision to draft Henry with the 45th pick overall was a surprising move considering Tennessee traded for Murray in March. The 2014 NFL offensive player of the year with 1,845 yards rushing, Murray slumped with just 702 yards with Philadelphia last season. Drafting Henry gave them insurance at a position where they struggled mightily the past two seasons.

The original plan was using Henry to give Murray a break and mix them both up.

Turns out Murray really hasn't needed a breather much this season, never carrying more than 27 times in a game. Murray now has 1,043 yards on 229 carries and is averaging 4.6 yards per rush with eight touchdowns. Against Green Bay, Henry carried only nine times because Robiskie said the Titans thought Murray would break off another big run after going 75 yards on his first touch.

Robiskie said Henry just has to wait for his time.

"Derrick's going to be a good player," Robiskie said recently. "I think he's going to be a good player for this organization for a long time. The best thing to me is he's sitting there watching a pro ... how to work during the week, how to take care of your body during the week, how to get stronger as the season gets longer ... When he gets in, he'll be ready."

So far, Henry has 70 carries for 312 yards with two touchdowns. His best game came Oct. 27 when he carried a career-best 16 times for 60 yards. Henry has shown off his hands catching nine passes for 107 yards. It's a workload that's far different from last year when he carried 395 times and ran for 28 touchdowns.

Henry, whose locker is two down from Murray's, is trying to learn as much as he can. His biggest lesson yet? Work every day in meetings and in practice.

"Always be about business and come prepared to work and work hard," Henry said.

Murray believes learning how to work in the NFL from veterans is beneficial to any young player. His role models in Dallas included Tony Romo and other veterans, but Murray only had his freshman season at Oklahoma to watch and learn how Adrian Peterson handled himself on and off the field.

"I would hope he's taking full advantage of all his resources," Murray said.

Combined, Murray and Henry have the Titans (6-6) third in the NFL averaging 141.5 yards per game. Both could get plenty of work Sunday against a Denver defense ranked 28th in the league, giving up 122.8 yards.

Titans coach Mike Mularkey said they've tried to use Henry more. But Mularkey refuses to force the issue when only Ezekiel Elliott of Dallas has more yards rushing than Murray.

"We've got a pretty good back. He's one of the leaders in the NFL in rushing," Mularkey said. "I'm not going to change something good to appease anybody."

So the Heisman winner has to be patient, prepare and stay ready until his number is called.

DERRICK HENRY VALUES NATIONAL-CHAMPIONSHIP RING ABOVE HEISMAN TROPHY

BY MARK INABINETT
AL.COM
OCTOBER 26, 2016

The Heisman Trophy is something that Derrick Henry will "cherish for the rest of my life." But the national-championship ring that the running back also won at Alabama means more because "you're sharing that as a group of men."

Now a rookie with the Tennessee Titans, Henry talked about his college success last week as a guest on "The Rashad Johnson Show," a radio program on WPRT-FM 102.5 in Nashville hosted by another former Alabama standout who is the Titans' free safety.

Henry won the 2015 Heisman Trophy by setting SEC single-season records with 395 carries for 2,219 yards and 28 touchdowns. He won the award over fellow finalists Christian McCaffrey of Stanford and Deshaun Watson of Clemson.

"Before the announcement, I thought I was going to have a heart attack," Henry said. "My heart was beating about 10 times faster than it normally does. Just a night I'll treasure the rest of my life, remember the rest of my life. Any kid that plays football, grew up playing football their whole life, that's one of their dreams – to win the Heisman Trophy. I know when I used to play NCAA (videogame), I used to put my player on 99 just to make sure I got the Heisman every time.

"But I give all the credit to my teammates and coaches. I couldn't have done that without them."

Henry said his Heisman is "back home with family" in Florida.

Henry's running helped propel Alabama to the 2015 CFP national championship.

"I think the Heisman Trophy is something that I will cherish for the rest of my life," Henry said when asked to compare his Heisman and national-championship ring. "But I feel like without my teammates and my coaches, the Heisman Trophy wouldn't be there. And our whole goal from when I got there was to win a national championship. And being there two years and being so close, then finally getting there, it was like a relief because you work so hard – blood, sweat and tears, day in and day out – and spending so much time at the facility – every day, countless hours – and the coaches being away from their families. For us to finally get that, it was just something that I'll remember for the rest of my life because you're sharing that as a group of men. It's not just one individual."

While the Crimson Tide won the national title for the 2015 season as a team, Henry said his teammates also took great interest in his individual award.

"When I got in the conversation about the Heisman," Henry said, "every game we had, about the third quarter my offensive linemen would be like, 'How many yards do you have right now? Where we at?' I'd be like, 'Ya'll calm down. Don't worry about that. Let's just keep winning.' But it was funny."

Henry hasn't had many yards lately for the Titans because he hasn't had many chances as DeMarco Murray's backup.

Henry had his most productive game of the season on Oct. 9 in Tennessee's 30-17 victory over the Miami Dolphins with 54 yards on seven carries. But in the next game – a 28-26 victory over the Cleveland Browns – Henry had two carries for 7 yards and caught two passes for 20 yards. On Sunday, in the Titans' 34-26 loss to the Indianapolis Colts, Henry had one rushing attempt for 3 yards.

Murray ran for 65 yards on 21 carries against the Browns and 107 yards on 25 carries against the Colts.

"A little bit of that, yeah," Tennessee coach Mike Mularkey said on Monday when asked if Murray's performance was limiting Henry's touches. "Again, we have things in the game plan for Derrick. We can't call them all. I think DeMarco is running very well right now."

Murray ranks third in the NFL with 633 rushing yards on 139 carries this season. Henry has 161 yards on 37 carries.

The Titans kick off Week 8 of the NFL's 2016 season when they host the Jacksonville Jaguars at 7:25 p.m. CDT Thursday. NFL Network will televise the game.

TITANS TARGET, LAND PENN STATE DL AUSTIN JOHNSON

BY JIM WYATT
TITANS ONLINE
APRIL 30, 2016

NASHVILLE, Tenn. —Penn State defensive lineman Austin Johnson spent some time with Titans defensive line coach Nick Eason at the NFL Combine, and got good vibes.

Later, during the pre-draft process, he made a visit to Tennessee, and talked to defensive coordinator Dick LeBeau.

On Friday night, Johnson found out just how much the Titans liked him.

The Titans selected Johnson in the second round (43rd overall) in Friday's NFL Draft.

Johnson (6-4, 314) racked up 154 tackles and 24 tackles for a loss in three seasons at Penn State. He had 78 tackles, 15 tackles for a loss and 6.5 sacks in 2015.

"We've targeted Austin for a while there,'' Titans general manager Jon Robinson said. "He can play nose, he can play five technique, he can play three technique.

"There is a lot of versatility along the defensive line with him. He's got some quickness -- he's actually got some ability to shoot gaps and win on third down situations too as a sub rush."

Johnson was a two-year starter at Penn State, where he proved to be durable – he started 26 games over the past two seasons – and dependable. He doesn't mind doing the dirty work.

Johnson said himself he "can play a lot of positions."

He watched the draft with Titans defensive lineman DaQuan Jones, his former teammate at Penn State.

"Being a competitor, all of us want to go first round and stuff like that,'' Johnson said. "You hear stuff, but those things never really end up going like they're supposed to.

"I'm a guy who is going to grind, going to work hard and do whatever he can to get on the field and make an impact as quick as I can and help the team to get some wins."

TITANS' RASHAD JOHNSON HAS MORE TO PROVE

JOE REXRODE
THE TENNESSEAN
JUNE 8, 2016

Rashad Johnson wasn't supposed to be there, sitting in the Titans locker room Tuesday, seven years of an NFL career behind him and at least one more season as a starting safety ahead.

This is a guy who had no major-college offers coming out of Sulligent (Ala.) High in 2004. He was reminded of that again during a break in the team's final week of organized team activities.

"Merril Hoge came and spoke to us today, and he talked about just finding a way," Johnson said. "And that's kind of how my career has been. I've always found a way to put myself in position to achieve the goals I wanted to do in life."

The NFL was a big one. The former Alabama walk-on running back and 2009 third-round pick of the Cardinals has done more than could have been predicted in this league — 100 games, 51 starts, 344 tackles, 15 interceptions, two playoff wins and one middle finger partially lost in action (he missed two games).

Now the question is how much longer the 30-year-old Johnson can stay in it, and whether he can be part of a Titans turnaround. Based on his production, I'm surprised he didn't come out of free agency with more than a one-year, $2 million deal.

As it is, the Titans can slide Johnson in for the 2016 season at the free safety position vacated by Michael Griffin, and maybe give up some speed and gain some savvy in the process. And they can count on him to help groom the guy who will probably replace him at some point, rookie Kevin Byard of MTSU, because Johnson is smart enough to know that there's no halting youthful turnover in the NFL.

"Just trying to enjoy this and live it up while I can," said Johnson, whose 12 picks since he returned in 2013 from the torn finger on his left hand are tied for second in the NFL.

"He's that voice on the sideline, someone I can go to," Byard said of Johnson. "Any time I have questions on a play or a particular coverage, he's always there to be helpful."

Maybe Johnson could have found a longer, more lucrative deal on the market, but he said the Titans were first to call. And it was the call he was most hoping to get, after it became clear Arizona — which signed free-agent safety Tyvon Branch — was not going to offer.

Late in 2015, it was hard for Johnson to be so far away from his father, Randy Johnson, as he battled pancreatic cancer. Randy Johnson required a 13-hour surgery to remove a tumor from the pancreas, but he has not required chemotherapy or radiation. He's all clear at this point.

"It's really a miracle story," said Johnson, who made the 3½-hour drive to visit his parents over the weekend — a drive he's already made often, a drive that was foremost on his mind when he chose the NFL team closest to home.

That wasn't the entire decision, though. Like most defensive backs, Johnson was intrigued by the opportunity to play for Dick LeBeau, and he said he sensed potential when he met Titans brass and coaches.

"I felt like this organization was headed in another direction," he said. "It's been some troubled times here, but I really felt like the right guys are in place to move this organization forward. And I wanted to be part of a team that was going forward, and not going backward."

Johnson will be "a plus for us," LeBeau said, because he's a "good, smart, veteran player."

The leadership role Johnson had with the Cardinals should carry over to the Titans. There must have been some doubts out there about the playmaking doing the same.

Maybe Johnson will defy those doubters and extend his stay. Maybe he's a one-year bridge to Byard. At least age strengthens perspective.

Sitting in front of his locker Tuesday, Johnson said: "I was never supposed to be where I am right now."

TITANS CENTER BEN JONES OVERCAME TRAUMATIC CHILDHOOD

BY JOHN GLENNON
TITANS ONLINE
JUNE 22, 2016

In just three months, center Ben Jones has established himself as one of the livelier personalities on the Titans.

He's shared shocking stories about eating cockroaches and, yes, drinking his own urine on dares by previous NFL teammates, not to mention one about ripping the dreadlocks off a college opponent and tying them to his ceiling fan.

It's easy to believe the affable Alabama native, who's been known to break up monotonous practices with a joke as he and teammates are lining up for a play, hasn't suffered much in his 26 years.

But that's far from the case.

Jones' childhood and formative years were marked by a near-death experience, as well as the unexpected deaths of his father and a close friend. The combination of the events made Jones wonder why he'd been singled out to suffer, and caused him to question his own faith as well.

"Especially when you're young, you're like, 'Why is all this happening to me? What is going on?' '' the 6-foot-3, 308-pounder said during Titans minicamp.

Mom was 'a real rock'

A tortuous stretch of months for Jones began just a few months after his 10th birthday in 1999, when his father, Steve, died in a helicopter crash.

Steve Jones did timber work of all kinds, everything from planting trees to helping them grow and eventually cutting them down. He was aboard a helicopter that was spraying pesticide on Alabama pines when the chopper's fuel system malfunctioned. The crash killed Jones and the pilot.

Since then, Ben Jones has worn the No. 60 when it was available. It was the number his father wore playing high school football in Thomasville, Ga.

But it was Jones' mother, Vickie Jones, who became a bigger part of her son's life, even stepping into the role of Little League coach her husband had held.

"It was tough because I really relied on my Dad," Ben Jones said. "But my mom just stepped in and was a real rock. She was the discipline in the house. If I didn't do my running throughout the year, she'd wake me up at night and be like, `Hey, run to the mailbox and back,' and that's about a mile and a half on the farm.

"She stayed on us just like my Dad was doing. She pushed me to be who I am today."

'I still have screws in my head'

Only months after the passing of his father, Jones was battling for his own life.

Attending a high school baseball game, Jones was walking from his seat behind home plate toward the outfield seats, where his mother was watching the contest. But as he came around the corner of the dugout, Jones ran straight into the warm-up swing of a player, the bat thumping his uncovered skull.

Jones passed a doctor's concussion test afterward, so it looked like he might be OK. But his condition spiraled downward.

"I started throwing up because there was a blood clot was pressing on my brain, making me sick," Jones said. "It was very bad. I had to have emergency surgery to get rid of the blood clot on the brain. They went ahead and opened my head up and drained the blood clots out."

Jones remained in intensive care for a couple of days before leaving the hospital with some everlasting mementos.

"I still have screws in my head," he said, "so I guess you could say I might have a couple screws loose."

In order to make sure he didn't suffer any more damage, Jones had to wear a batting helmet to school for a year.

"I was the kid in class with the helmet on, the kid going to (recreation) with a helmet on," Jones said. "Fortunately, I was a pretty big kid, so nobody was going to say much to me."

'I just didn't understand'

Jones had to sit out a season of youth football because of the brain surgery, but by the time high school rolled around, he was back on the field, playing on the same team with his older brother, Clay.

But tragedy sought Jones out again during his junior year, when one of his best friends was killed in a four-wheeler accident. Jones was not present when it occurred.

Faith had been important to Jones growing up, but he found it hard to reconcile it with the events of his life to that point.

"I just didn't understand," he said. "Why is this all getting taken from me at such a young age? But stuff happens and at some point you realize, 'Hey, there's more in life like this.' So you have to grow up early."

The older brother of Jones' friend, a youth minister, spoke at the funeral and delivered a message that resonated.

"He said there's a reason (this death) happened, and I want somebody to get saved because of it," Jones said. "I feel like it helped a lot of people really turn their life around."

Since getting drafted by the Texans in 2012, Jones said he and his wife regularly attend religious retreats with other professional athletes, many of whom have lost parents, children or friends. He said they have all come to rely on team chaplains, spouses and family members to help them deal with hard times.

But Jones said his mother, who still works the 300-acre farm the family has had since he was young, has had the greatest influence.

“Everything is a learning point and you reach out to different people,” Jones said. “But my mom, really, she never cracked. Just seeing a God-fearing woman like her showed us an example every day on how to live that Christian life.”

TITANS' DORIAL GREEN-BECKHAM TRADE LOOKS LIKE GREAT MOVE

THE TENNESSEAN
NOVEMBER 15, 2016

For the latest edition of "Columns I Almost Wrote but Thankfully Decided to Hold Off," let's go back a few weeks in this NFL season.

The Tennessee Titans were scratching for every point, three-and-outs more plentiful than downfield attempts. Not completions, attempts. The passing game appeared to have the ceiling of a dollhouse in a 1-3 start.

Meanwhile, Dorial Green-Beckham was getting some run in Philadelphia, 10 catches for 108 yards in his first four games — nothing special, but not bad for a guy in a new system who supposedly couldn't decipher his Titans playbook before he was traded. A 6-foot-5, 237-pound fast guy who appeared to have more upside than any of the Titans receivers he left behind.

That potential, some of it tapped in a 32-catch, 549-yard rookie season in Nashville, was shipped Aug. 16 for a reserve offensive lineman named Dennis Kelly. DGB for WHN (what's-his-name). And the "Jon Robinson's First Major Mistake as Titans GM" column was percolating.

Well. Since then the Titans' offense has turned into one of the scariest in the NFL, Marcus Mariota taking and hitting shots like he's Steph Curry. Green-Beckham has eight catches for 86 yards.

And the Titans and their fans can thank what's-his-name, and Robinson for grabbing him. Taylor Lewan should buy him dinner, or hair product or whatever he wants.

Kelly's bail out of the ejected Lewan is a big part of why the Titans are 5-5 today, zeroing in on a gigantic game at Indianapolis after a 47-25 thumping of the Green Bay Packers. That you probably didn't notice the 6-foot-8, long-maned Kelly much Sunday is a compliment to his ability and preparation for such moments.

"He played unbelievable," Mariota said of Kelly, who entered the game when Lewan was ejected with 10:24 left in the first quarter for slapping aside the hand of an official — enraged at the time that Letroy Guion had jumped offsides and taken a free shot on Mariota.

Kelly, who had 30 games and 15 starts in his first four years in the NFL, had 39 offensive snaps in 2016 entering Sunday. He got 58 against the Packers.

"It has its challenges obviously, just because you've got to prepare for both sides," Kelly said of being ready for such an emergency. "It might not ever happen. Obviously the first (nine) games I haven't really been needed. But it's kind of in the job description. Part of the gig."

And upon review, the Titans couldn't have asked for much more from him. On third-and-14 after the ejection, he warded off Julius Peppers with textbook punch as Mariota hit Tajae Sharpe for a first down.

On the next possession, he delivered a perfect cut block on Nick Perry on a screen to Delanie Walker. Then Kelly and left guard Brian Schwenke handled a Packers twist, switching assignments deftly, on another third-down conversion.

The Packers threw Jayrone Elliott and Datone Jones at Kelly as well; the Titans let Kelly handle his area alone; and he was sound all day. Review the DVR of the game and you'll see consistent pass blocking and run blocking from Kelly.

"I'm proud of him," Lewan said, "and when he came in (to the locker room) I said, 'Great job, but don't do any better because you might take my job.'"

That won't happen, of course, because Lewan and Jack Conklin make up one of the best tackle combos in the league, young first-round picks from Big Ten rivals (Michigan and Michigan State) with exceptional ability. Kelly is the fifth-round pick from Purdue.

And though Lewan was correctly ejected Sunday and remains a threat to melt down at any moment, another look at that entire sequence crystallizes this point: He had a right to be upset about the Guion hit on Mariota, and some of Lewan's teammates could have displayed a little more anger at that moment.

Lewan will be back leading the offensive line against the Colts in the most important Titans game in years. What's-his-name will be back in a just-in-case role. But what a luxury for this team to have Kelly, and what a performance he delivered in the biggest win in years.

"They've got some guys outside that are a threat and I thought he did an unbelievable job stepping in there," coach Mike Mularkey said of Kelly. "Jon (Robinson) getting him here with that trade was as big a trade as we had this year."

And that was a heck of a column to hold off on writing. Now just forget all the other ones that were written about how the Titans won't be able to throw the ball this season.

JOSH KLINE PROVING TO BE NICE ADDITION TO O-LINE

BY JIM WYATT
TITANS ONLINE
OCTOBER 12, 2016

NASHVILLE, Tenn. –When the Titans claimed offensive lineman Josh Kline off waivers the week before the regular season opener, he was viewed by many as an insurance policy.

When starting right guard Chance Warmack suffered an injury in Week 2, the Titans immediately cashed in. Kline was thrown into the mix a week later, and he's started ever since.

"He's fit right in,'' Titans coach Mike Mularkey said of Kline. "He's smart, he's tough, and he understands what we're trying to do. You know, he doesn't say a whole lot, he's a quiet guy, but he's playing our style."

Kline is part of an offensive line that's ranked No.1 in the NFL by Pro Football Focus. The Titans are currently ranked second in the NFL in rushing offense through five games, averaging 148.6 yards per game on the ground. Quarterback Marcus Mariota has been sacked just five times, and only twice since Kline has been in the starting lineup.

Mularkey indicated when Warmack tore a tendon in his finger – and had surgery – that he probably wouldn't return again this season. The team placed Warmack on Injured Reserve last month.

The team certainly seems very satisfied with Kline (6-3, 300), who played in 14 games for the New England Patriots last season, including 13 starts – seven at right guard and six at left guard. Kline also started at left guard for both of the team's playoff contests.

"He's played extremely well,'' Mularkey said. "He has had a tough duty, especially (vs Miami). There were some plays — we had some double teams in that game -- that you can't draw them up and script them any better than they doubled these guys out of there. He had a lot of pressure on him to perform, and he performed really well against that front.

"He started some big games in New England. You just have to say they wouldn't have put him in there if they hadn't had the trust that you need to have in a guy in big games. He's really done everything we've hoped he would do. I mean, it was a very good pick up."

Kline, originally signed by the Patriots as an undrafted free agent in 2013, played in 33 games over the previous three seasons in New England, with 18 starts.

He said on Monday he likes the environment in Tennessee, where he's developing chemistry with the guys who line up next to him -- center Ben Jonesand right tackle Jack Conklin -- in addition to left guard Quinton Spain and left tackle Taylor Lewan.

"(Before I only knew them) on paper, not personally,'' Kline said of his fellow offensive linemen. "But I've come to know them and they are great guys. We have a great room and a great coach, and we just have to keep working on things as an offensive line and keep getting better and just go from there."

This week, the Titans face the Browns, who sacked Mariota seven times in a game last season. The Titans lost that game, 28-14.

While Kline brought with him valuable experience when he joined the team (he played in four playoff games with the Patriots), he downplayed how much influence he might have on his new teammates.

He made it very clear he's just ready to do his part.

"I think they already had the pieces here, and we just needed to execute and do the little things right," Kline said. "Last Sunday shows what we could do.

"I am just trying to do everything I can to help out the team. I still have a lot of work to do, a lot of stuff I need to work on personally to try and get better every day. I think we've played well as a team, and now we are just worrying about Cleveland this week at home."

MOST UNDERUTILIZED PLAYER ON EVERY NFL TEAM

BY STAFF REPORTS
ESPN.COM
NOVEMBER 18, 2016

Which players should be seeing more snaps this season? We asked Pro Football Focus to pick a player for all 32 teams, and here are the results -- with the statistics to back them up. NFL Nation reporters chime in, too, with their take on each player's future role.

All stats provided by Pro Football Focus.

Tennessee Titans -- Defensive end Karl Klug

Pro Football Focus: Klug, in the league since 2011, seems like he is perennially underappreciated. He has two sacks, three hits and 14 hurries while rushing quarterbacks 176 times so far this season. That earns him a pass-rush productivity rating of 8.4, which ranks sixth among 3-4 defensive ends.

NFL Nation: Klug has always been used situationally, and while he's productive when he plays, there is always a rationale for others to get snaps. He has worked under Jerry Gray, Gregg Williams, Ray Horton and Dick LeBeau as defensive coordinators. All have spoken of using Klug more, but he usually winds up around the same level. He played some early-down end in addition to nickel tackle earlier this season, but it hasn't really lasted. The Titans have a lot of young players they like on the line. Klug played 23 snaps, just 29 percent, in Sunday's win over the Packers. He remains a highly valued role player. -- Paul Kuharsky

TITANS HAVE TACKLES WHO 'DON'T GIVE UP ANYTHING' IN TAYLOR LEWAN, JACK CONKLIN

BY PAUL KUHARSKY
ESPN.COM
NOVEMBER 25, 2016

NASHVILLE, Tenn. -- As Tennessee Titans quarterback Marcus Mariota blossoms into a high-quality NFL signal-caller, he can look to his left and his right for two big reasons why.

Taylor Lewan and Jack Conklin, the Titans' left and right tackles, respectively, are having Pro Bowl-caliber seasons. They each allowed their first sack of the season in Week 11 at Indianapolis. While a lot of pieces around Mariota have improved, none are as important as the two offensive linemen who protect the edges.

As a rookie, Mariota was sacked on 9 percent of his dropbacks. In his second season, the number is 2.3 percent.

"If they stay together, the will be top-10 tandem for a long time," one NFL personnel man said. "They are already better than half the league. I loved both coming out. They are both top-10 linemen in the last five drafts combined."

Former Titans general manager Ruston Webster made a lot of moves that contributed to the franchise bottoming out. But in 2014 he used the 11th pick in the draft on Lewan when tackle wasn't a pressing need.

Webster had been in Seattle when the team was not well-prepared enough for life after Walter Jones, and he wanted to assure Tennessee would be OK after Michael Roos, who retired following the 2014 season.

"Lewan could be special and I don't know many more talented across board than him in league," a second personnel man said. "Off the top of my head only Tyron Smith in Dallas.

"They did the franchise a big favor by taking him when everyone was like 'we don't need another tackle.' What I like about him even more now is that he is such a fiery guy. You need someone to protect a quarterback with that type of fervor and set a bar like that for the rest of the offensive line."

NFL Films executive producer Greg Cosell said on The Midday 180 in Nashville that Lewan has super talent with great size and movement and likes Conklin's game, too.

"I think Conklin is a team- and scheme-specific player," Cosell said. "I think he works really, really effectively within the context of this offense."

Lewan sprained his left knee when DeMarco Murray shoved Vontae Davis into him late in the loss at Indianapolis and Dennis Kelly, a capable backup, could be playing opposite Conklin on Sunday in Chicago.

Lewan and Conklin were rivals in college at Michigan and Michigan State, respectively, but Conklin said he kept an open mind as he arrived as the eighth pick in the draft and enjoys being tied to Lewan.

It's not just pass protection, of course.

Murray has rushed for 1,000 yards through 11 games. Of those yards, 600 have come before first contact, a sign of great blocking by the line.

Mariota knows he's fortunate to have such quality guys holding down the edges for him when he drops back to pass.

"They are probably one of the best tandems in the league," Mariota said. "Those guys are Pro Bowl-type players who can really make a difference on a team, and they have.'

In camp and early in the season Lewan and Conklin periodically talked to veteran Titans outside linebacker Brian Orakpo about pass-rushers.

The first team on offense and defense don't go against each other too much in-season, but there are a few plays in practice each week where they compete. Orakpo mostly squares off against Lewan but sees both.

"They are definitely a couple of the best, they will be the best if they are not already," Orakpo said. "They don't give up anything. It's very rare when you see them give up anything. They've been a dynamic duo all along, they've really worked at it to get to this point and they are off the chain with it.

"They are a force to be reckoned with. You cannot do anything against them. Speed? Power? They know how to control whatever kind of rusher you are."

WHAT TITANS ASSISTANT SAYS MARC MARIANI DOES BETTER THAN DEION SANDERS

THE TENNESSEAN
OCTOBER 27, 2016

On a Thursday night late last month, Marc Mariani watched the TV in horror as the Texans fumbled twice on kickoff returns in a nationally televised blowout loss to the Patriots.

"It's hard because I know the feeling," Mariani said the next day. "When you're at the bottom of the pile and that ball is floating away from you, it's a miserable feeling."

The Titans had welcomed their former Pro Bowl kick returner back to Nashville weeks earlier, after he was released by the Bears, re-signing the 29-year-old wide receiver as a veteran upgrade over the young and untested players they were planning to use on punt and kick returns.

Mariani will have his own opportunities to make an impact on the national stage when the Titans host the Jaguars on Thursday Night Football at Nissan Stadium. But for Tennessee, which has had plenty of its own special teams issues this season — and fired its special teams coordinator Oct. 3 — Mariani's positive contribution may simply mean avoiding a big mistake.

"Being solid could mean being spectacular in a lot of ways," longtime special teams assistant Steve Hoffman, who was promoted to coordinator, said about Mariani. "I was in Dallas when we had Deion Sanders, and he was spectacular, but he made some really poor decisions and sometimes he would not field a ball if he didn't think he could make a splash.

"And I love Deion. He's the best athlete I ever saw. But sometimes he wanted to hit the home run all the time. And Marc is a guy that's just going to get what you get. And it just depends on what you want. I like steady. I like a guy that's going to make the right decision."

Sanders will be on hand Thursday night as part of the NFL Network's broadcast team. The Hall of Fame wide receiver and defensive back had nine career returns for touchdowns — six on punts and three on kickoffs. "Prime Time" averaged 10.4 yards on punt returns and 22.7 yards on kickoff returns over his 14-year career.

Mariani was originally drafted in the seventh round in 2010, spent his first four seasons with the Titans and went to the Pro Bowl as a rookie.

He's averaged about a yard less than Sanders on punt returns (9.2) and two more yards (24.9) on kickoff returns over his seven-year career, two of them lost to injuries.

But his production has tailed off significantly in his second stint in Tennessee.

Mariani leads the NFL with 17 punt returns this season, but his average of 6.9 yards per return is ranked 18th in the league. He's averaging 22.9 yards per kickoff return, the lowest total of his career, ninth-best in the NFL among 15 qualified players (those with at least one kick return per game played).

Mariani has three career returns for touchdowns, two on punts and one on a kickoff, though none since his second season.

But he also, importantly, hasn't committed a turnover in just as long.

"Ball security and decision making is just so important," Mariani said. "For both sides (in the Texans' loss to the Patriots on Thursday Night Football) there were balls on the ground. It happens every week. I take pride in that, and I want to be the guy that people count on back there to do the right thing and give the ball back to the offense in the best field position possible.

"I'm back there to make good decisions," he said. "And I know if you're patient and let the game come to you, we'll hit people. We'll make big plays. It's all in the flow of the game though. I can't be back there forcing it. We have a game plan and I'm going to stick to it. I'll make sure the ball gets in my hands and I'm able to make plays."

The Titans' special teams have been a mess this season, particularly their coverage units, which rate among the worst in the league.

Bobby April was fired as special teams coordinator a day after the Titans allowed a game-winning punt return touchdown in a loss to the Texans.

The following week, they surrendered another punt return touchdown in a victory against the Dolphins.

"Oh, it's painful," Hoffman said. "They happen in about eight seconds, but it seems like it takes a day for the guy to get to the end zone when you see him going.

"All you can do is teach. I got in the huddle the very next play and said, 'Look, all we can do about that is forget about it and have it serve to tick you off to 'now we're going to play the rest of the game solid.' We lost that play. We've got to win the rest of them. And we've got to try to make a difference.'"

Special teams contributed to the Titans' loss to the Colts on Sunday, as well.

Tennessee botched an extra point and failed to recover an onside kick they knew was coming. Indianapolis recovered and kicked a field goal after a short drive.

As the Titans work to correct their special teams shortcomings, they know they can at least rely on Mariani.

"Marc's very sharp and he makes great decisions," Hoffman said. "He and I talk on every kick. … He's not going to try to do something spectacular just because he thinks he can. He's going to do the right thing for the team."

So then Mariani over Sanders in the pantheon of return men?

"No, no, no, no, no," Hoffman said, smiling. "I'm just saying, I loved Deion. But if you did the math, for balls that he returned for big returns, he let five punts hit the ground and roll for 75 yard punts. I'm not sure what weighs out."

MARCUS MARIOTA NAMED AFC OFFENSIVE PLAYER OF THE MONTH

BY JIM WYATT
TITANS ONLINE
DECEMBER 2, 2016

NASHVILLE, Tenn. — Titans quarterback Marcus Mariota has been named AFC Offensive Player of the Month for the month of November.

Mariota completed 86-of-130 passes for 1,124 yards with 11 touchdowns, two interceptions and a 115.0 passer rating in four games — against the Chargers, Packers, Colts and Bears. He also rushed for 89 yards and a touchdown.

In November, Mariota ranked first in passer rating, passing yards, touchdown passes and yards per attempt (8.65).

Mariota's 115.0 passer rating in November was the fourth best in franchise history by a player in any calendar month, trailing only Dan Pastorini's 120.8 in November 1979, Warren Moon's 119.1 in November 1990 and Steve McNair's 115.3 in December 2001.

Patriots quarterback Tom Brady was named AFC Offensive Player of the Month in October, and Patriots running back LeGarrette Blount was named AFC Player of the Month in September.

Mariota's the first Titans player to win a player of the month award since Darius Reynaud was named AFC Special Teams Player of the Month in September 2012. Mariota's the first Titans player to win AFC Offensive Player of the Month since running back Chris Johnson won it in November 2009.

Mariota's been on quite a roll.

On the season, Mariota already has thrown for 2,998 passing yards, with 25 touchdowns vs only eight interceptions. His passer rating is 101.9.

In the past eight games Mariota has 21 touchdowns vs. only three interceptions. He's thrown at least two touchdown passes in eight consecutive games, and is now the third player in franchise history with 25 touchdowns in a season. He's the first since Moon did it in 1990.

Mariota joins Moon (1990) and Steve McNair (2002, 2003) as only quarterbacks in franchise history to win the Offensive Player of the Month award.

TITANS QB MARCUS MARIOTA'S CAREER RED ZONE NUMBERS ARE OFF THE CHARTS

BY PAUL KUHARSKY
ESPN.COM
NOVEMBER 15, 2016

NASHVILLE, Tenn. -- Marcus Mariota came into the league with a steady pulse rate and a preternatural calm about him.

Those don't change when he leads the Tennessee Titans' offense inside the 20-yard line, and that's not the case for many young quarterbacks.

On a shrunken field, operating with less space, Tennessee's second-year quarterback has been especially good. It's perhaps the surest sign, among many right now, that he has a big future ahead of him.

Finishing The Job

The active NFL quarterbacks with the most red zone passing touchdowns without an interception to start a career:

YEAR	PLAYER	TDS
2011-13	Andy Dalton	37
2004-08	Philip Rivers	36
2012-15	Kirk Cousins	32
2015-16	Marcus Mariota	30*

* Still active

Source: Elias

Only Detroit's Matthew Stafford, who's in his eighth year, has done better work in the red zone since Mariota came into the league.

Mariota has a 116.3 passer rating, with 30 touchdown passes, no interceptions, a completion percentage of 65.4 and has taken just two sacks.

Those trump his numbers on the rest of the field: an 81.2 rating, 10 TDs, 18 interceptions, a 62.7 percentage and 50 sacks.

"He's a very patient kid," said former Steelers, Jets and Titans quarterback Neil O'Donnell. "It's hard to rattle him. He has a way of slowing down the game, which helps in the red zone.

"That's hard to teach. It's a instinct, like going against full-court pressure in basketball. Some players want the ball in their hands, others do not want to touch it."

Mariota certainly wants it and thrives with it.

"I think it just comes down to the coaches have done a great job week-in and week-out, preparing us for the red zone," he said. "Everyone's making quick decisions. Everyone is communicating, identifying what we're seeing.

"It's resulted in a lot of good plays. If we could continue that going forward, there's always an emphasis of taking care of the football. You're in a range of scoring points and you don't want to lose that."

Mariota has the second-most fumbles in the NFL since the start of the 2015 season with 17. But only one of them has come inside the 20-yard line.

Twenty-one quarterbacks have thrown more passes in the red zone during Mariota's career, partly because he missed four games his rookie year, and partly because the Titans weren't there often enough as they struggled, particularly last season.

The Titans have started scoring more touchdowns from outside the red zone, though, so a smaller percentage of their scoring plays are coming from close range.

This team is confident about a lot right now. Mariota's decision-making on the field's most valuable real estate is at or near the top of the list.

MARCUS MARIOTA WANTS TO BEAT YOU AT FOOTBALL, CARDS, GOLF AND HOME FROM DINNER

BY PAUL KUHARSKY
ESPN.COM
SEPTEMBER 6, 2016

NASHVILLE, Tenn. -- In the NFL, if a player doesn't say he hates to lose, he's an outlier.

It's practically a mandatory claim. It's not enough to be competitive. You need to be ultra-competitive. You need to hate to lose worse than all the other guys hate to lose.

It's certainly a trait attached to Marcus Mariota, the Tennessee Titans second-year quarterback who will lead his team against Minnesota Sunday at Nissan Stadium.

Outside of football, how does Mariota's competitive urge manifest itself?

Friends say he habitually plays just about anything -- golf, cards, table tennis -- until he wins.

"Marcus is hyper-competitive and he hates losing," said trainer Ryan Flaherty, who worked with Mariota in two offseasons. "I don't just mean in football games. If I beat him in a round of golf, which I beat him most of the time -- ha ha -- he won't forget about it and he'll make you play him again and again and again until he can beat you.

"And that doesn't just go for golf, he will do that with ping pong too. He is a vicious competitor. So if you want to get under his skin, beat him. But if you do he will hunt you down until he beats you. I know that might seem pretty obvious and you'll say most guys are like that. But he is next level."

Mariota's friends have his pattern down.

"He will definitely teach you how to play the game then once you learn, it's on," said Bronson Yim, who played with Mariota in high school and at Oregon. "Even if it is a game that Marcus just learned, he wants to learn all of the ins and outs so that he can keep up and then before you know it, he's better than you."

In the spring, Mariota spoke of losing at golf to the Titans new center, Ben Jones.

What kind of quarterback loses to a lineman at golf, many of us wondered?

Jones quickly turned it around and said Mariota was being modest about his game.

Mariota's golfed, too, with tight end Phillip Supernaw, including on a trip to Oregon that also included two of Mariota's teammates from Oregon: Jeff Lockie and Hroniss Grasu, who is now with the Bears.

"He's the sandbagger of all sandbaggers," Supernaw said. "He actually tied me one time. He's in the learning stages, but he's got a really good swing. I think he's had some lessons, I don't know if he'll admit that.

"He said he shoots over 100, but it'll always be in the high 80s, low 90s pretty consistently. When he's asking for strokes, oh my God, it's a ton. He'll try to make me give him at least 10 strokes probably. At least. He can play really bad, but he can play really well. If he plays really well the 10 is more than enough. At any time he can par five holes in a row. He's a decent golfer."

During that golf trip, Mariota and the gang also played a lot of Sevens, and some other games he knows from home.

"Hawaiian people have all these card games, I guess it's a big thing in Hawaii," Supernaw said. "He teaches me all the card games, then he beats me at them until I kind of learn. He doesn't take losing at card games very well.

"He's going to keep playing until he wins. Then it's time to go to bed."

In football, Mariota won't be able to keep playing until he wins.

An NFL week can be long after a loss, and he learned that after playing in nine of them in his rookie season. In three years as Oregon's starting quarterback he lost only five times. In one year as the starter at St. Louis School in Honolulu, Hawaii, before that, he lost once.

"He's not an always outwardly competitive guy, but he's got an internal fire that he hates to lose," Titans general manager Jon Robinson said. "He's won a lot of football games over his career collegiately, then to have what happened last year happen, there is certainly a lot of motivation

Robinson sees Mariots'a competitiveness at practice, in relatively subtle body-language.

"When he comes out of a series in practice it's a fist pump, excited about what happened," he said. "If it's a bad play, it's gritting his teeth and snapping his chin strap off violently, like he let one get away."

Mariota is super easy-going. It's hard to picture him visibly mad beyond that chin-strap tug.

A devious grin is easier to imagine, especially as he talks about trying to be the first one home from dinner.

"Anything I am doing, I want to win, I want to be the best at it," he said. "It doesn't matter if it cards, doesn't matter if I am racing home from dinner or something, I just want to be the first to do it.

"That's just kind if my mentality. That's been my mentality for a long time. It's kind of the way I was raised."

HOW DO YOU RATTLE MARCUS MARIOTA? MAKE A MESS

BY PAUL KUHARSKY
ESPN.COM
AUGUST 11, 2016

NASHVILLE, Tenn. -- Marcus Mariota seems too good to be true. Good luck finding any evidence to the contrary.

A speeding ticket for going 80 in a 55 mph zone is the biggest blemish on his record, and when it was reported during his time in Oregon it qualified as big news.

For a long time, all indications were he didn't dislike anything -- not broccoli, slow drivers in the left lane or heights. And as I searched for a simple bad habit, I went a good while without anything better than pretend frustration that Mariota smiles all the time.

“Something he doesn’t like?” said his college backup and road roommate at Oregon, Jeff Lockie. “That’s tough. He likes a lot of things. He likes everybody, that’s for sure. One thing he doesn’t like? Let’s see. A food? There’s got to be a food. I would think that there is one. But now it’s getting tough to think of.”

Said Mariota’s San Diego-based trainer, Ryan Flaherty: “I spent five hours a day with him for about two or three months a year and he is probably the least annoying person I know. I'm sorry, but there is nothing there.”

"He was just so chill,” Houston Texans defensive back Terrance Mitchell said of his college teammate. “It didn't matter."

Alas, about a dozen people into my inquisition, I learned of something that does bother him.

Mariota does not like messes.

“We were on a golf trip and I might have slept in a little bit,” Titans tight end Phillip Supernaw said. “And he’s very punctual. He’s the type of guy, if you’re going on a trip, it’s bags-at-the-door the night before. I’m kind of like throwing all my stuff in the bag at the last minute.

“So I woke up and my bags were already packed, ready to go. Perfectly folded. Everything. He woke me up with my outfit on the bed, ready to roll. With no effort, I found the one thing that can drive him crazy.”

Mariota’s packing job included Supernaw’s toiletries. He skipped brushing his teeth instead of disrupting his quarterback-packed stuff, which was already in the car, ready to go.

The quarterback’s version of the story is way milder.

“You’ve just got to be ready to go,” Mariota said. “We had an early tee time. It was collaborated, not a big deal. He wanted to set the tee time earlier and wanted to play 36 holes.”

Jack Conklin also has gotten a serious dose of Mariota’s urge to be neat on his own schedule.

“We’re staying in a hotel so they come and make your bed every day for you,” said Conklin, Mariota’s training camp roommate. “Every morning, his bed’s made. I guess people have their routines. For me, I’m in a hotel, someone’s going to make it for me.”

Mariota said Nelson Mandela used to make his bed, even in a hotel.

“You start your day right, it’s just building a good habit,” he said. “If someone of that nature can do it, I can do the same. It’s kind of a habit. It’s something that if I don’t do, it kind of bothers me.”

The neatness might provide the rare subject teammates can razz Mariota about.

“I’m pretty OCD,” he said, before turning to how the desire for neatness might help him in football. “I like to fine-tune every single detail. I think that’s a habit built maybe from me being OCD.”

But Lockie was on that golf trip with Mariota and Supernaw and he doesn’t tease his pal about his desire for order, he latches on to it.

“That’s a positive,” Lockie said. “He’s neat and organized. But he’s not a freak. He was neat and organized and so was I and he encouraged me to be more neat and organized. I thought that was a huge positive. And my mom would say that’s a huge positive as well. That’s a great attribute.”

While neatness doesn’t qualify as a bad habit, Lockie was able to point to one, albeit one out of Mariota’s control.

“He is a very loud snorer,” Lockie said. “You’ve got to get him on that. That’s about the only bad thing I can find about him. It’s off and on. I’d give him a hard time. He’d always fall asleep first.”

Then, defending Mariota in a way I could imagine Mariota defending him, Lockie added: “I snore really loud too. He was usually asleep by then. So he didn’t get to hear.”

“I don’t know how I could really help with that,” Mariota said, laughing.

As for something beyond messes he doesn’t like …

It took an email to his mom, Alana Deppe-Mariota, to get anywhere.

“Tough question,” she replied. “He really hates spiders.”

“I do,” Mariota said. “I’m not a big fan. At Oregon, they are everywhere. They stick all over your car and stuff. After a while you get annoyed with it.”

DIRECT SNAPS: MATTHEWS STAYED THE COURSE, LANDED IN NFL

BY RISHARD MATTHEWS
TITANS ONLINE
DECEMBER 2, 2016

Direct Snaps is a story series contributed by Tennessee Titans players sharing their perspectives, both on and off the field, with fans. This week's entry comes from wide receiver Rishard Matthews.

There was a day, not all that long ago, I had to come to terms with reality. That reality was not what you see right now—playing in the NFL, scoring touchdowns and having one of the best seasons of my career.

My reality was working at the JUCO library.

Six years ago, I was in a much different place. The NFL was still a dream in my mind, but I was far from it. My story is crazy, and a lot of people don't know the journey that brought me here.

I grew up in a military family, so I got used to moving around a lot because my dad was in the Marines. Even though I grew up in that strict way of life, I always said I was going to play football. Everybody that knew me knew I was going to play sports.

Coming out of high school, I got recruited by Oregon and committed to play there. But I didn't score high enough on the SAT or the ACT, so I become a non-qualifier and ended up having to go to junior college. I started off at Santa Ana College. Things were going good there before I got in a car accident. I was the passenger in the car and messed up my sternum in the accident. The sternum has to heal on its own, so I lost a lot of weight during that process because I couldn't train or work out. I didn't feel right playing football after that, and I ended up having to transfer schools to Orange Coast College. I did the spring semester there and ended up being two credits short to be eligible to play for that next season. I remember the feeling I had at that point… what are you going to do from here?

I decided to move to Texas to live with my uncle and go to another junior college, Northlake College, to work on getting my GPA up. They didn't have a football team. I played in some six-on-six leagues, worked out and tried to find people to run routes with, but I got to a place of kind of just accepting that football was probably over for me.

Meanwhile, I started working at the school library and getting comfortable there. I liked interacting with all the kids, I started finding my place and I knew where all the books were at. I realized you've got to accept what happens to you. I wasn't going to sit there and whine about my place in life.

But then Bakersfield College reached out to me and I ended up packing up and moving back to California to play there, still hoping to end up at a DI school eventually. By the time I passed my classes to qualify for a bigger program, pretty much everyone told me all of their scholarships were passed out, but Nevada said they had a few spots left. I didn't even take a recruiting trip. I moved up there on a Saturday, got into the dorms and started class on Monday, not really knowing anything about the university or the football team.

After two years at Nevada, I was drafted by the Miami Dolphins in 2012 and spent four years there, which was the longest amount of time I've ever spent in one place in my life. Now I'm a Titan and hopefully I can make Tennessee my home, as well.

When I look back on it, I can see how it's all part of the process. I've had failures and I've had to go in different directions than I planned at times. But being here means that much more knowing everything I've been through just to make it.

I went back to Texas recently and decided to stop by Northlake College while I was there, just to go and reminisce on everything. Working at the JUCO library was my reality just six years ago. Being back there made me think about the importance of being positive in all life situations thrown at you. I could have let so many things bring me down, but instead, I was just being thankful that I was in that position to learn.

My journey has taught me a lot. But more than anything, I learned to stay the course. Remain positive, no matter what situation you're in. Anything can happen. And don't let anybody take away your dreams.

RISHARD MATTHEWS GAINS TRUST OF THOSE AROUND HIM

BY JIM WYATT
TITANS ONLINE
NOVEMBER 11, 2016

NASHVILLE, Tenn. — Rishard Matthews made a name for himself with the Miami Dolphins because of his rugged style of play. He fought for footballs in the air, and for extra yardage in the middle of the field.

It's why the Titans signed the veteran receiver this offseason.

When Matthews first arrived in Tennessee, however, he admits he had to sell himself again.

"I knew my abilities coming in, but I don't think the whole staff did," Matthews said on Thursday. "Just playing time, and when we brought Andre (Johnson) in. … In the beginning I don't think I had their trust completely."

It's safe to say Matthews has the trust of the coaching staff – and quarterback Marcus Mariota – now.

Matthews seen his playing time increase significantly, and in a five-week span, beginning with his performance in Week 5 at Miami, Matthews has 21 receptions for 240 yards and five touchdowns. In that time period, he tied with Tampa Bay's Mike Evans and Odell Beckham of the Giants for the most touchdown passes in the NFL.

"Now, I feel like I do have their trust, or I feel like it's getting there. I always knew what I was capable of, and I think Mr. (Jon) Robinson did as well,'' Matthews said of the Titans General Manager. "That's why he brought me here. But I feel like it is showing now. I like the direction things are going."

Titans coach Mike Mularkey and offensive coordinator Terry Robiskie have both praised Matthews recently. Matthews caught two touchdown passes last Sunday against the Chargers. He caught six passes for 63 yards in the game.

"(He's) making plays, really making some plays for us and being in the right place,'' Mularkey said. "The trust factor is going up with our quarterback. He definitely is making some throws and trusting that he is going to come down. He didn't make (an early catch against San Diego), and Marcus didn't even hesitate, came right back to him on a contested throw and made a great play."

Matthews is tied for second on the team with 33 catches, and he's second in the team with 447 receiving yards. Matthews leads the team with five touchdown catches.

"I think he's done a great job of creating separation,'' Mariota said of Matthews. "It's started here on the practice field. I think he's really taken it upon himself to do the little things in his route running, make sure he gets his depth, create separation however he can, either it's moving off the line or stacking a guy, so I think it's kind of carried onto the game field. Hopefully that will continue.

"I think his ability to break tackles and get some of those third downs or get more yardage depending on the situation helps keep the chains going."

Matthews, who played his first four seasons with the Miami Dolphins, said he was motivated by a public challenge from the coaching staff earlier in the season.

"I feel like it lights a fire under me,'' he said with a smile, recalling a critique from earlier in the year.

Moving forward, Matthews wants to keep the momentum going.

He wants to be a guy the team can count on week in and week out.

"When other defenses watch film they probably tell their guys I am going to go out there and do my best to make contested catches," Matthews said. "It is something I have always done, being a guy who is a bigger receiver, not as quick as some other guys.

"… I think things are coming along well. Marcus is doing a great job of finding me, and I'm just trying to get open for him and make plays. We communicate and … it shows a lot of trust."

TITANS WR RISHARD MATTHEWS REMEMBERS HIS FALLEN BROTHER ON MEMORIAL DAY

BY JIM WYATT
TITANS ONLINE
MAY 31, 2016

NASHVILLE, Tenn. – Rishard Matthews puts on an NFL uniform on Sundays. Over the years, he's signed countless autographs, taken pictures with fans, and has been cheered by crowds for making big catches and scoring touchdowns.

Like so many of his NFL brothers, the Titans receiver worked hard – and sacrificed plenty – to fulfill his lifelong dream.

Matthews, however, believes the true heroes are in the military. And on Memorial Day, he'll have his older brother on his mind, like he does every day. It's been just over seven months since Christopher Ruiz was killed while serving as a retired Marine working as a private defense contractor in Afghanistan.

"In my eyes, they make so many movies on people who are heroes,'' said Matthews, who signed with the Titans in March after playing his first four seasons with the Miami Dolphins, "and there are people out there fighting for our freedom. There's a lot of people who are gone and didn't come back, and unfortunately (Christopher) is one of them. He is our family's hero."

Christopher Ruiz was Matthews' half-brother, but the two were close. They had been family since Matthews was 5-years-old, when Christopher's mom married Rishard's dad, who served 21 years in the Marines himself.

Ruiz served in the Marines for 10 years, and served overseas in Operation Iraqi Freedom. He was in Afghanistan last October working as a civilian contractor, training locals to fight for their country, when he was killed. He was supposed to come home from Afghanistan to his wife and three young children just three weeks after the accident. Ruiz was one of six U.S. Airmen and five other civilian contractors killed in the crash of an Air Force C-130 as it tried to put down at the Jalalabad Airfield on Oct. 2.

"They answered their nation's call and died in service to their country,'' Brig. Gen. Dave Julazadeh said in a news release following the accident. "There are no words that truly describe the depth of sorrow and pain we feel."

Matthews, 26, said the accident changed his perspective on a lot of things.

"Don't take anything for granted,'' Matthews said. "I have little cousins growing up, and I try and stress that in general. Don't take anything for granted. (Christopher) was there so much, during Iraq and other stuff. When he left, you just thought he was always coming back. I grew up military so I have known people to go and come back. My whole family, we all thought he would be coming back. And then you get that call that he's not coming back."

On the day he signed his contract with the Titans in March, Matthews was wearing a bracelet with the words "Forever by my side.' It has his brother's name on it, along with the Marines logo. He wears it every day.

He has shirts with the word "Hero" on them, along with his brother's face. Prior to a game in Miami last season, his teammates wore the shirt in warm-ups, on a Sunday when Ruiz was honored by the team.

On Instagram, Matthews has posted two tributes to his brother on special dates:

"YOU BEING GONE I STILL DONT BELIEVE. I WILL FOREVER SALUTE YOU. THIS IS THE LAND OF THE FREE BECAUSE OF THE BRAVE. HAPPY BIRTHDAY BIG BROTHER."

"I Will Always Love You. You Are My Big Brother & Forever My Hero #ForeverRemembered #RipChristopherRuiz #ARealAmericanHero"

Matthews sent out this message via Twitter on Sunday: I hope people truly understand the meaning of Memorial Day. This is far more than just a weekend to party. Not even remotely close.

He added another: Truly the LAND of the FREE BECAUSE OF THE BRAVE!!

"I think about him a lot, every day,'' Matthews said. "It is an unfortunate situation. He left behind three beautiful kids, and I try and be in their life as much as I can really, and help out my sister-in-law."

As he lives his own life, Matthews said he plans to honor his brother every step of the way.

Matthews has been a success story himself. A seventh-round pick by the Dolphins out of Nevada, Matthews developed into a player many teams were interested in during free agency after catching 43 passes for 662 yards and four touchdowns last season. The Titans signed him, and he's expected to play a big role this fall.

Moving forward, Matthews wants to deliver for the Titans.

He'll have his brother on his mind.

"He was always there for me for motivation, and support,'' Matthews said. "We grew up in a military family. He was always on the military side, I was always on the sports side. I always said I wanted to play sport, and he always wanted to go in the military, that was his passion."

"It's still hard for me to believe he's not coming back. It was just a real eye-opener on life and how precious life is. You really can't take anything for granted."

MCBRIDE SUCCESSFULLY PREPARES TITANS DEFENDERS FOR SUNDAYS

BY JIM WYATT
TITANS ONLINE
OCTOBER 14, 2016

NASHVILLE, Tenn. — Titans receiver Tre McBride was understandably disappointed when he didn't make the team's 53-man roster to start the season.

But he didn't put on a sad face and mope.

Instead, as a member of the team's 10-man practice squad, McBride has put on the uniform number of receivers like Amari Cooper, DeAndre Hopkins and Jarvis Landry each week in practices, and done his best impression. McBride's teammates – and head coach -- have praised him for getting them prepared for Sundays.

"Tre does an awesome job week in and week out being the other team's best receiver, and I know myself and everyone else in the secondary is appreciative of the way he works,'' Titans cornerback Jason McCourty said of McBride, a seventh-round pick by the Titans in 2015 who played in seven games last season. "I trained with Tre this offseason so I know how badly he wanted to be active and helping on Sundays.

"But I am proud of the way he has worked. He's made us better. Obviously he is not where he wants to be, but he has worked his butt off and he really takes pride in giving us the best look he can. And it's helped get us ready."

The Titans have fared well against top receivers this season.

This past Sunday, the Titans held Landry to just three catches for 28 yards in a win over the Dolphins. Landry entered the contest ranked second in the NFL in catches. He's averaged eight catches for 94 yards in Miami's other four games.

The previous week, the Titans held Hopkins to just one catch for four yards against the Texans. Hopkins has 21 catches for 279 yards and three touchdowns in Houston's other four games.

In Week 3, the Titans held Cooper to four catches for 62 yards in a game against the Raiders. Cooper has averaged six catches for 99 yards in Oakland's other four games.

While other factors have been involved in the Titans holding their own against their opponents' best receiver each week, one thing has been constant: McBride has played the part of that player each week in practices. He's worn the uniform number of the player Wednesday through Friday, even if he's been in street clothes on Sundays.

Players on the practice squad work with the team throughout the week, but don't dress out for games.

"He is helping,'' Mularkey said of McBride. "He is typically the game-wrecker receiver for the opponent, and he gives us a very good look. He is a playmaker, and he wants to make all the plays. Tre is the guy.

"Tre's time is coming, it is. He just has to understand where we are roster wise. But his attitude has been outstanding."

McBride, who caught a touchdown pass at the end of last season, was one of the stars of the offseason for the Titans. He led the team with 10 catches for 95 yards in the preseason, in fact.

The Titans currently have six receivers on the roster – Kendall Wright, Rishard Matthews, Tajae Sharpe, Andre Johnson, Harry Douglas and Marc Mariani. McBride, who played at William & Mary, is the only receiver on the practice squad.

"Tre is a good receiver,'' Titans safety Kevin Byardsaid. "He gives us good looks, and great effort, and it's good for the defense to have a receiver with the ability to give up those looks for different receivers and helping our preparation."

McBride said he takes great pride in making sure the defense is ready.

This week, McBride is playing the role of Browns receiver/Wildcat quarterback Terrelle Pryor.

"I get excited whenever we have a receiver highlighted, and I get to be that guy,'' McBride said. "That means a lot of targets in practice, and it means an opportunity to show I have game as well, while helping the defense.

"I don't take it easy by any means, and I think guys appreciate the fact I go after every ball and try and make it tough on them. Any time I am on the field I take pride in playing good football."

McBride eventually hopes to one day be back on the 53-man roster, and playing on Sundays.

Until then, he'll keep doing his thing during the week, to get the Titans ready.

Just don't look for him in No.10, his real number.

"For now, all I can do is continue to work and wait, and keep on playing good football," McBride said. "These guys know I can play, I showed them in preseason. So it is just a matter of having an opportunity, and hopefully it will come. Until then I just have to keep doing what I am doing.'

TITANS CB BRICE MCCAIN KEPT HIS NOTES, AND IT'S PAID OFF

BY JIM WYATT
TITANS ONLINE
MAY 20, 2016

NASHVILLE, Tenn. – Brice McCain was the first.

Before the Titans traded for running DeMarco Murray, before the team added over a half-dozen free agents, and before the 10-man draft class was selected, McCain signed with the organization back on March 2.

The veteran cornerback has seen a lot of changes since.

"I love it,'' McCain said. "The team went a lot of good directions, and made a lot of good moves. Watching as a guy who just came in, too, you really look at it as a positive. We want to win this year, and I really like it. We brought a lot of young guys in and did well in the draft. So it is a positive."

McCain, who has played 100 games during his NFL career with Houston (2009-13), Pittsburgh (2014) and Miami (2015), said the adjustment to a new team has been smooth, in part, because of his preparation.

He kept his homework.

McCain played in Dick LeBeau's defense in Pittsburgh in 2014, when he registered three interceptions and 25 tackles in 14 games, including nine starts. LeBeau joined the Titans in 2015, and he'll serve as assistant head coach/defensive coordinator in 2016 under coach Mike Mularkey.

"I always keep all my notes from previous years,'' McCain said. "To come back in here and play with coach LeBeau, I look back on my notes and it was very familiar stuff. I jumped right in it. You can move pretty fast so you always know what you are doing.

"I've had a lot of good years, but (that season under LeBeau) was one of my better years."

McCain (5-9, 190), who has nine career interceptions, has been working at the nickel position with the Titans. He's a serious contender in the fight to claim the job.

With the Dolphins, McCain played in 14 games with 11 starts in 2015. He totaled 39 tackles, eight passes defensed and one interception. Prior to joining the Dolphins and before his year in Pittsburgh, McCain spent five seasons with the Houston Texans after being drafted by the franchise in the sixth round of the 2009 NFL Draft.

McCain loves playing nickel, he said.

"It is a special position because you have to know linebackers, you have to know safety, you have to know corner, and you have to know nickel as a whole,'' McCain said. "A lot of receivers have the whole field to work with, so you have to take away leverage and learn how to control your body on breaks because they have a lot of field to work with."

He also loves competition, and he has some in Tennessee. In addition to the returning veterans, the Titans drafted two cornerbacks in the 2016 NFL Draft – LeShaun Sims and Kalan Reed. Jason McCourty and Perrish Cox return, along with B.W. Webb, Blidi Wreh-Wilson, Cody Riggs and Curtis Riley. The Titans signed former Steelers cornerback Antwon Blake in March as well.

"You don't want to come in and not compete,'' McCain said. "I love to compete, and I think every corner in this room does. It's a good thing to have competition and bring out the best in everybody."

McCain, who visited the Buccaneers and had another visit lined up before deciding to sign with the Titans, said he's happy he came aboard when he did.

He likes the feel of optimism in the building, and on the field.

"It wasn't a leap of faith,'' McCain said. "I think if you bring enough players here, anything is possible for a team to win games and turn a season around. Last year is over, it's a whole new year. Every team comes in thinking they are going to win a Super Bowl. That's our mindset, to come out here and work hard and try and seize that goal."

JASON MCCOURTY OPTIMISTIC NOW AFTER 7 TITANS SEASONS WITH NO PLAYOFFS

THE TENNESSEAN
OCTOBER 21, 2016

On a roster that features plenty of long-suffering players, it's impossible to find one who's persevered through more Titans frustration than cornerback Jason McCourty.

A sixth-round draft pick in 2009, McCourty is the only member of the Titans who's been here for eight seasons. In seven previous seasons, the Titans have produced just one winning record, posted a combined mark of 41-71 and fallen short of the playoffs on every occasion.

So while the Titans' two-game winning streak — and 3-3 record — are still modest achievements, it's understandable that McCourty is enthusiastic about the rest of the season as Tennessee prepares to face Indianapolis on Sunday.

"I'm very optimistic and excited," McCourty said Thursday. "Good things lie ahead. You go into every game right now and you feel like, `Hey, we should win this game.' We're prepared."

In an AFC South that has no dominant team, might this finally be the year McCourty and the Titans sniff the postseason? That would give him something in common with twin brother Devin, the New England safety who's made six playoff appearances and won a Super Bowl.

"That's the reason we play this game — to make it to the tournament, and to try to win games once you get in it," McCourty said. "It would mean everything. It would mean all those seven years prior that you put into it were worth it."

There are a number of players who've helped the Titans get off to a competitive start through six games.

DeMarco Murray is one of the league's leading rushers, and linebacker Brian Orakpo is averaging more than a sack per game.

But the contributions of McCourty shouldn't be overlooked either.

McCourty's 11 passes defensed are tied for second in the NFL according to league statistics, and he appears well on his way to surpassing his career total of 15. McCourty is also tied for the team lead with two interceptions, both of which were secured when he outfought receivers for passes that could have been completions.

"He's had two fantastic interceptions, really wrestling the guy from the ball and competing," Titans defensive coordinator Dick LeBeau said. "There's no question that him being out there back with us has been a tremendous asset for our defense. He's a real quality corner and a guy you can count on to play well every game."

The same couldn't have been said last year of McCourty, who was limited to just four games because of a recurring groin injury. He had to undergo two surgeries, the second of which meant a trip to injured reserve last November.

"Comparing last year to this year is night and day," McCourty said. "Even the four games I played in (last year), my groin was an issue in every one of them. It was just a concern not knowing how it was going to be that day or still trying to recover from the game before."

McCourty, 29, explained that returning to top form following the surgeries was a long process, one that really wasn't complete until the start of training camp in late July.

"That's when I finally felt like my normal self again," McCourty said. "That's when it all kind of clicked for me and I was like, `Hey, I'm cool. I'm good to go.'"

Added Titans coach Mike Mularkey: "He's definitely a different guy this year. A lot of that injury stuff just psyches you out in your head. But he's playing with a lot of confidence now, and to me, that's a lot of his game."

One of McCourty's top performances came against Houston, when he spent a good portion of the contest guarding Pro Bowl receiver DeAndre Hopkins. McCourty played a big role in limiting Hopkins to one catch for 4 yards, the lowest yardage total of his career.

In Sunday's win over Cleveland, Titans coaches credited McCourty with four passes broken up, which tied a career high.

Pro Football Focus grades McCourty out as the 14th-best cornerback in the league this season.

"That's what I get paid to do," McCourty said of his coverage. "I'm just trying to stay close to guys. Obviously when you combine good coverage with a good pass rush, you're going to get your fair share of (break-ups)."

A three-time Titans captain and one of the team members most involved in community work, McCourty is an easy player for fans and teammates to pull for — especially considering the many years of hardship he's gone through with this franchise.

"I think it would be great for him to have some success and make the playoffs," Titans defensive end Jurrell Casey said. "He's been around here for a long time, busting his tail and getting after it.

"Missing the playoffs every year is tough. But one of the things I love about J-Mac is that no matter the situation, he's going to continue to lead and continue to push each individual."

JASON MCCOURTY APPRECIATES GAME MORE AFTER FRUSTRATING SEASON

BY JIM WYATT
TITANS ONLINE
AUGUST 19, 2016

NASHVILLE, Tenn. — Jason McCourty never took the game for granted, but missing most of last season changed his perspective on a lot of things.

It really made him think, about how fortunate he's been, and about what's ahead.

"This year,'' said McCourty, set to begin his eighth season with the Titans, "it is kind of a newfound appreciation of where I am. Being out there with the guys, you just enjoy it just a little more just to know how quick it can be taken from you.

"I always worked my butt off to get to where I am. But as you get older you realize the end is closer than the beginning. And you start to realize what a blessing it is. I know I have been blessed."

Drafted by the Titans in the sixth round of the 2009 NFL Draft, McCourty has played in 94 games, with 76 starts, at cornerback in his first seven seasons. He's been named a captain three times, and along the way developed a reputation for being an accountable, dependable pro.

His success has fulfilled a childhood dream shared by McCourty and his twin brother, Devin, a defensive back with the New England Patriots.

"At a young age, we always told my mom we were going to make it to the NFL or the NBA and we were going to provide for her and do things,'' McCourty said. "So I think just from that very young age sports was always something we dreamed of and we've just been blessed that it was able to become a reality."

It wasn't a cakewalk from middle school to high school to college to the NFL for McCourty or his brother. Last season, McCourty's upbeat attitude and resiliency were tested because of a sports hernia injury that required two surgeries, and sidelined him most of the 2015 season.

A full-time starter since 2011, McCourty was able to play in just four games last season. He was placed on Injured Reserve in November and was forced to watch home games from the sideline in street clothes, and road games from his living room couch, on television.

"It was rough,'' McCourty said. "Watching the Jets game, I remember watching (receiver) Brandon Marshall catch the ball and he was wide open and I remember turning the TV off. It was frustrating. You can't be out there, and you can't be on the sideline. You almost feel like you are not a part of it -- like you're just a regular fan. It was very, very frustrating not being able to be out there.

"It really has changed my thinking. I think for me last year, only being able to play in four games, when you come out to training camp, instead of complaining about some of the tough days you start to relish it."

McCourty, who has 453 tackles and 11 career interceptions, was heathy at the start of the offseason program in April, and he's been a fixture in the secondary throughout the offseason.

He's ready to lead again in 2016, and his teammates are thrilled he's back.

"He's a professional guy, someone you can count on and know he is going to do his job,'' said Titans linebacker Derrick Morgan, teammates with McCourty since the 2010 season. "He is very consistent. Knowing No. 30 is out there, it makes you feel comfortable. He is real even-tempered and very consistent, day in and day out.

"In this league, the NFL stands for 'Not For Long', and people come and go. And to see him all the years since I have been here, he has all the intangibles you are looking for in a teammate."

Tight end Delanie Walker praised McCourty for his approach, on and off the field.

"He's a family man, and when he comes on the field it is nothing but business,'' Walker said. "He is very respected around the league, and he's a leader in the locker room. I respect his game and respect everything he does. He is not going to sell you short. If he tells you something, he is going to do it. And since I have been here that's the way he's always been."

Titans coach Mike Mularkey said McCourty is a tone-setter, and a message-deliverer to the team.

"He's one of those guy who doesn't say a whole lot, but when he does, players listen,'' Mularkey said. "He is kind of like Marcus (Mariota) -- he doesn't say a whole lot. Delanie doesn't say a whole lot. Brian Orakpo doesn't say a whole bunch. They just do their jobs really well. Jason does his job really well."

The Titans kick off preseason game No.2 on Saturday against the Carolina Panthers. In a few weeks, the team will kick off the season at Nissan Stadium against the Minnesota Vikings.

McCourty, like many of his teammates, is counting the days.

Orakpo, following a recent practice when McCourty performed extremely well, exclaimed "J-Mac is back! J-Mac is back!" Anyone within 50 yards could've heard him.

McCourty happened to be standing nearby, and he smiled.

Yes, he's back. And he sure is thankful.

"I love the game,'' McCourty said. "And I want to make a positive impact on those around me. I remember coming into the league and guys telling me the one way you stay in this league is with consistency. Let coaches and GMs know what they can expect from you every time you step on the field and I think over those years I've also tried to become a leader and lead by example. So those are two words I'd love for people to remember about me when I'm done playing."

But first, McCourty wants to help the Titans return to winning ways.

He's as optimistic as ever.

"I got a chance to talk to our owner the other day,'' McCourty said of controlling owner Amy Adams Strunk, "and the excitement in her voice, it made me feel really proud as a player just knowing she is right in this thing with us and she wants to much good for us.

"As an older guy on this team, just to be able to talk to her and shake her hand and see how excited she is, you want to go out there and win for her and the fans and the city of Nashville. It is a different feeling and a different buzz right now and as a player you want to follow that up with wins because that is what's going to keep the buzz going."

TITANS OLB DERRICK MORGAN THRIVING IN SEVENTH NFL SEASON

BY JIM WYATT
TITANS ONLINE
DECEMBER 10, 2016

NASHVILLE, Tenn. — Derrick Morgan joined the Titans as a first-round draft pick back in 2010, and he can hardly believe how much things have changed since.

Off the field, Morgan has a growing family. He's now married, with a young son and a daughter. He's a recent graduate of the University of Miami's Executive MBA for Artists and Athletes Program, an endeavor he tackled when he began pondering life after football.

Only these days, Morgan is thriving on the football field as well.

In his seventh NFL season, Morgan already has a career-high eight sacks after just 12 games, along with a career-high 34 quarterback pressures. He's playing at a high level during a season when the Titans are relevant again in the AFC South, and the NFL.

Morgan, who has now played in 87 career games with the Titans, can hardly believe how much time has flown by. During his time in Tennessee, he's played for four different head coaches, changed positions, and seen many teammates come and go.

But he still loves the game. And he loves making an impact.

"It has been a blur,'' Morgan said. "I've seen a lot of new faces, and a lot of change. But I've really enjoyed my time, and I like the direction things are going, I really do.

"… I think we have a really good team, a team that is still growing and still progressing each week and I think when you have team success it translates to personal success for players and I think it all goes hand in hand. I have taken a very diligent approach to preparing myself for each season with my work ethic for how I approach the game. So you don't want to be unprepared when your time may come, or when the team's time may come. I have just been keeping my head down and working and working and working and hoping when our team is ready to make their move I am ready to help in the efforts."

After some down seasons, the Titans are making their move.

The Titans (6-6) head into Sunday's game against the Denver Broncos at Nissan Stadium tied for first place in the AFC South with four games to go. Morgan is second on the team in sacks, behind only linebacker Brian Orakpo (9).

Morgan's previous career high in sacks was 6.5, set in 2012, and tied in 2014. But he has eight sacks in the last nine games, and has been a disruptive force since the Titans began to make their move. Morgan, who is tenth in franchise history with 35.5 career sacks, signed a contract extension with the Titans in March of 2015, when the team signed Orakpo in free agency.

"I am happy for him," Orakpo said of Morgan. "It is checks and balances. You want to do something to eliminate one person, well, another person is going to eat. So it is a back and forth, and that is why I enjoy playing with Morgan because we bring a lot to the table that is very similar."

Titans defensive coordinator Dick LeBeau said Morgan has been consistent all season, even when the sacks weren't showing up on the stat sheet. Morgan missed the team's Week 2 game against the Lions because of a hamstring injury.

"The plays that you kind of notice statistically, they happen or they don't,'' LeBeau said. "But if a player is consistent in his execution and effort, he is going to have some games that are going to be up there productivity-wise also. He can play a great game, any given player, and really not show up that much on the statistic sheet but if you ask the opponent they'll say, 'That guy is a handful.' I think Derrick is always in that category. He may get sacks this week, he may not get it the next week. But he is going to get pressure every week.

"He is one of our veteran leaders and he's done a great job for us on defense."

Morgan knows he's come a long way since he first entered the league in 2010, out of Georgia Tech.

Back then, he described himself as naïve as a player and a person, but time and experience changed him.

Morgan played defensive end in a 4-3 defensive scheme under then Titans head coach Jeff Fisher. When he suffered a season-ending knee injury as a rookie against the Broncos in Week 4 in 2010, his perspective on the game – and life – changed forever.

"It was very depressing,'' Morgan said of the injury. "It really shocked my whole world, really. Up until then, I was just playing, and football was always there for me. And in that instant it was taken away from me and I had to figure out what was my identity apart from football because it had always been football and that was my life.

"One thing it did is it brought me closer to God, and put things in the right perspective. It was a blessing and a curse in the same sentence.

"I think coming into the league you kind of take things for granted,'' Morgan said. "And then you see how quickly things can change, and how quickly a guy's career can change, or injuries, and you realize you are not entitled to anything. You can't take anything for granted. … I have definitely changed a lot in the last six or seven years."

Now an outside linebacker in a 3-4 defensive scheme, Morgan is very comfortable.

He’s also much more experienced, and in his mind that makes him better prepared.

But he won’t ease back. Morgan credits former Titans teammates like safety Chris Hope, and linebackers David Thornton and Stephen Tulloch for showing him a work ethic and approach he always wants to follow.

Now it’s on him, and he doesn’t want to let anyone down.

“I think at this stage in my career I am as smart as I’ve ever been as far as my approach to the game and realizing what my strengths are, and what my deficiencies are, and trying to balance those out and understanding what I have to work on and what I have to do improve,’’ Morgan said. “Experience has helped me out, and I push myself – I always want to get better.

“Time has flown by here, but I’m glad to be here with the Titans. Consistency in this league is very hard to find, and it is very hard to be on a team your whole career, so that is definitely a plus. I am hoping everything works out for our team and that we are able to win some championships and we can be a successful team year in a year out. I am hoping that works out. But I feel like I am here, and it’s where I am supposed to be, and I am thankful for it.”

MURRAY: ANY TEAM OTHER THAN TITANS WOULD'VE BEEN MISTAKE

BY TERESA M. WALKER
ASSOCIATED PRESS
NOVEMBER 4, 2016

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — DeMarco Murray never lost confidence in himself or how well he can play in the NFL.

Now he's proving just how much being in the right place can matter so much.

Halfway through this season, Murray already has run for more yards than all of last season in Philadelphia.

Better yet, he leads the AFC and is second in the NFL with 756 yards rushing. Production that simply reinforces the decision he made in March with the chance to be traded by the Eagles to Tennessee in March.

"I think anywhere else it would've been a mistake," Murray said Thursday.

"I think this is a place that's meant for me, and I'm meant for it. This is a great coaching staff. Obviously, a lot of great teammates, the organization is where it needs to be. But I think it's only going to get better. It's very positive that we're heading in the right direction."

Murray is just the sixth running back in NFL history to run for at least 750 yards and have eight total touchdowns in his first eight games with a team.

The only difference? Murray is 28 with his third team, while the others all were rookies: Doug Martin in 2012, Adrian Peterson in Minnesota in 2007, Eric Dickerson with the 1983 Rams, Billy Sims with the 1980 Lions and Chicago's Beattie Feathers in 1934.

Murray also ranks second in the league with 953 yards from scrimmage and is tied for fourth with his eight TDs.

The performance isn't surprising for a running back who led the NFL in rushing with 1,845 yards in 2014 in Dallas, earning the NFL Offensive Player of the Year award.

He signed a five-year, $42 million contract in Philadelphia, yet Murray only had one 100-yard game with the Eagles while running for 702 yards and averaging a career-worst 3.6 yards per carry.

"Whenever you get the opportunities, you've got to make the most of them," Murray said. "Sometimes I didn't do that last year, and that has a lot to do with me. But just got to learn from every situation and go from there."

The change in scenery certainly didn't hurt.

The running back made sure to research the Titans and new head coach Mike Mularkey before agreeing to the trade. He liked the Titans' plan to run the ball.

Murray has almost as many carries (160) through eight games in Tennessee as he had all of last season in 15 games with Philadelphia (193). He already has four 100-yard rushing games and is coming off his best performance yet, running 21 times for 123 yards in a 36-22 win over Jacksonville last week.

Mularkey said the Titans promised that Murray would be their featured back, and the first half of this season has proven everything they told him has come true.

That's helping the Titans (4-4) improve their win total from last season with eight games left to do even better.

"We're just trying to play to their strengths, and his is downhill," Mularkey said. "I didn't think he'd lose that in a year."

Thanks to Murray's success, Heisman Trophy winner Derrick Henry hasn't been needed much at all. The Titans did give Henry 16 carries for 60 yards — both season highs — in the win over Jacksonville. He also caught four passes for 37 yards.

The combination has Tennessee ranked third in the NFL in averaging 152.2 yards per game.

"They run the ball the way it's supposed to be run," said Chargers coach Mike McCoy who gets to defend Murray on Sunday.

Murray says he isn't paying attention to where he's ranked in the NFL, much more focused on helping Tennessee reach the playoffs. That's something the Titans haven't done since 2008, but they trail Houston by a game in the AFC South.

"Playoffs is much more important for me than rushing yards," Murray said.

Resurgent DeMarco Murray embodies Titans' 'GATA' mentality

NASHVILLE, Tenn. -- The Tennessee Titans are thrilled to have DeMarco Murray front and center as the poster child for their reformatted franchise.

When they traded in March for the running back from Philadelphia, giving up a fourth-round pick in this year's draft, they said he would embody the rugged, tough-minded style of play they so coveted.

And to be the sort of smashmouth team the Titans want to be, a smashmouth running back is required.

Tennessee (3-4) reaches the midpoint of its season Thursday night at Nissan Stadium with a visit from the Jacksonville Jaguars (2-4), but it's already been clear for some time the Titans got their man.

Murray frequently looks like the franchise's best player. Cowboys fans who watched him work in 2014, when he led the league in rushing, probably are not surprised. Eagles fans, who watched a bad season unfold after he signed a big free-agent contract, certainly are.

He knows how he's regarded in the City of Brotherly Love, and is relishing the work that's engendered a different feeling in the Music City.

"I think a little bit of that [Philadelphia experience] weighs in on every decision you make," Murray said. "I've been in the league for a while and we all know what it was. But I like that [Titans general manager] Jon Robinson, with his track record and where he came from, and having the chance to speak with [coach] Mike Mularkey and knowing where the organization is going, since day one it's only been forward.

"It's been a 360 from what I hear from the guys."

In the Titans' locker room, Murray often wears a shirt when he's interviewed that says "GATA" across the front.

The acronym stands for "Get After Their Asses" and was coined by Erskine "Erk" Russell , the defensive coordinator at the University of Georgia in the early 1980s who was promoting defensive aggressiveness in pursuing a ball carrier.

Murray has flipped it to the offensive side.

"I love it," he said.

Mularkey likes it, too. Murray said the Titans' coach is responsible for the sign with the acronym above the door at Nissan Stadium that leads from the Titans' locker room to the field.

Observers around the league see Murray as a great match and the centerpiece of the Titans' offense.

"Lesser work in 2015 probably helped him recover and bounce back physically from his historic workload of 2014 [when he had 392 carries]," one personnel man from another team said. "He's in an offense that is committed to, and knows how to, run the ball. He's a disciplined, hard runner who has burst, power and balance, skills that match their scheme.

"He's very competitive and has very good stamina. He likes the workhorse role. And he's a prideful performer who had something to prove after 2015 and went to a good mutual fit."

Both Murray and the team believe things have gone as well as they could have hoped, or even (outside of the 3-4 record) better.

He's third in the NFL with 633 rushing yards and 825 all-purpose yards, and second with 44 first downs, including a perfect 5-for-5 on third-and-1 carries.

"For what we are trying to do here, it's a good start," Mularkey said. "If we can get our passing game going a little more effective, I think it will help the run game, eliminate some guys around the box. I think we'll be more productive. I'm pretty pleased with where we are compared to last year. It's better."

When the Titans decided to deal for Murray and negotiated a revised contract through 2019, they looked a lot more at him with the Cowboys than with the Eagles.

Mularkey was offensive coordinator in Miami in 2006 and '07, when the Dolphins' offense was a lot like that of the 2014 Cowboys. And a lot like Tennessee's in 2016.

In the past two seasons, Murray's teams played in 11 prime-time games. The 2016 Titans have just Thursday's for Murray to get after it and display how things have boomeranged back in a good direction.

The Titans have changed a great deal in the seven months since the trade. In many ways, things are so different that Murray said he wouldn't have believed it when he arrived.

He's a big part of why.

He wants to be a bigger part of a bigger change.

"Things always get better with wins," Murray said. "We'll continue to try to get those."

DEMARCO MURRAY HAPPY TO BE IN NASHVILLE, WITH TITANS

BY JIM WYATT
TITANS ONLINE
SEPTEMBER 23, 2016

NASHVILLE, Tenn. – It's no wonder DeMarco Murray took flight on his first touchdown with the Titans.

He took a leap of faith in joining the Titans – and embracing Nashville sight unseen -- to begin with.

And he's glad he did.

"I would say it has exceeded my expectations,'' Murray said of the Titans, and the city. "We have an unbelievable team, an unbelievable coaching staff and the biggest thing to me is coach (Mike) Mularkey. He is a hell of a coach and an even better guy, and that is not just him but every coach in the organization, there's a little piece of him they carry with him.

"They are just great people, and those are the kinds of coaches you want to do anything for – you'll run through the wall for them. And the camaraderie with the guys on the team, everyone talks to each other, the offensive guys and the defensive guys. I have never been inside a locker room where it is so integrated. That was a huge plus for me, and it lets me come out of my shell a little more and be a little more vocal with the guys."

Back in March, the Titans traded with the Eagles to land Murray, the NFL's Offensive Player of the Year with the Cowboys in 2014.

Murray has already made an impact with the Titans. In two games, he has 131 yards on 25 carries (a 5.2-yard average), and he also leads the team with 12 catches for 91 yards and two touchdowns, including that acrobatic dive into the end zone against the Vikings in Week One to finish off a six-yard touchdown catch.

Titans general manager Jon Robinson negotiated the trade to land Murray, who spent one season with the Eagles. The trade might've never gotten off the ground without Murray making it known to his agent, Nashville's Bill Johnson, and the Titans, he wanted to play in Tennessee.

Murray admits that was kind of a leap of faith. Until the day he showed up at Saint Thomas Sports Park following the trade, he'd been to Nashville just once, and that was to play in a game at Nissan Stadium while with the Cowboys in 2014. He was in and out, and spent the day he landed in the hotel.

After just seven months in the city, and with the Titans, Murray said it's been a good fit -- for many reasons.

"I knew of Nashville, and heard a lot about it,'' Murray said. "Of course I knew all about the country music side, but I didn't know too much about it the city. I just figured it would be nice.

"But this is a place I saw myself being. I have been in the spotlight for a long time and I knew coming (to Nashville) was a different market and that is something that kind of excited me. It's a place where I can focus on football and focus on this team and focus on helping us win games.

"Nashville is big, but it's small at the same time,'' Murray continued. "People have been so nice. I love the city, and it has been a dream come true to be here."

A third-round draft pick out of Oklahoma in 2011, Murray was the league's Offensive Player of the Year in 2014 after leading the NFL and setting Cowboys franchise records in rushing yards (1,845), and scrimmage yards (2,261). Murray scored 13 touchdowns on 392 carries in 2014, an average of 115.3 yards per game. He posted 12 100-yard games in 2014.

In his lone season with the Eagles, Murray ran for 702 yards and six touchdowns on just 193 carries.

When the Titans traded for Murray back in March, ESPN's John Clayton called it the best move of the offseason in the NFL.

"The reason is he's an I-formation back, so now they'll put in an I-formation offense in with Marcus Mariota taking snaps from center and it will work out so much better for DeMarco, and for Mariota,'' Clayton said.

"Having a good running game makes things so much easier on Marcus, because now all of the pressure doesn't fall on him. It was a big move."

Former NFL coach Jon Gruden, also an analyst with ESPN, said earlier this month Murray's a good get for the Titans.

"I've always liked Murray a lot,'' Gruden said. "I think he can run it and catch it, and he is outstanding picking up blitzes and he gets better as the game unfolds. He can finish you."

Titans running backs coach Sylvester Croom knew of Murray before the team traded for him in March, but he didn't know him personally.

Croom has been blown away by Murray's ability, attitude, and leadership skills.

And Croom, an NFL assistant 24 seasons and a former head coach at Mississippi State, has been around a few running backs in his day.

"Let me tell you something,'' Croom said of Murray. "This guy is a good football player, but he is a better human being than he is a football player. His professionalism, and his work ethic. I feel really fortunate to be able to work with him. I'm telling you, he's a coach's dream.

"He's not a boisterous person. First of all, he leads by example. But when something needs to be said, he says it. He does things the right way. He is not about tearing people down, he is about building guys up. He is a great, great pro, and he is going to make this team better. Really, he already has."

Murray said he's been comfortable with his new surroundings. He bought a home in Franklin, and this summer decided to host his first football camp to benefit the DeMarco Murray Foundation. Roughly 120 kids took part in his camp, which will help raise money for chronically ill children. Murray's foundation has helped underprivileged kids in the past, but he said he also wants to partner with a local hospital to raise money for chronically ill children in town.

On the field and in the locker room, he's made a good impression on his teammates as well.

"Watching him before he got here, I knew he had that attitude that he's not going to be stopped,'' tight end Delanie Walker said. "And that's how he is. He is all business, and he doesn't mess around. He's kind of like me in that we have a similar structure on doing our job and understanding what we are here for. Since he has been here he's been making plays, and I'm glad we have him."

Looking back, Murray said he's glad things worked out.

Now in his sixth NFL season, Murray is ready to do his part to lead the Titans.

Cowboys coach Jason Garrett, who saw Murray run for 4,526 yards and 28 touchdowns in four seasons in Dallas, predicted success for Murray in Tennessee when speaking to Titans Online earlier in the offseason. So far, he's been right on.

"I have a great deal respect for DeMarco,'' Garrett said. "He was a really good player for us during his four years with the Cowboys. I have great respect for him as a player, great respect for him as a man.

"He is going to do a great job in Tennessee. Mike Mularkey is an outstanding coach, and I think he is going to fit in that system really well. It's a good fit for both the player and the team."

BRIAN ORAKPO: EVOLUTION OF THE 'WORKOUT WARRIOR'

THE TENNESSEAN
NOVEMBER 25, 2016

This was a time to celebrate.

Brian Orakpo and Wesley Woodyard were turning 30 at the end of July, and the Titans linebackers' wives had planned a joint birthday bash, chartering a boat off the coast of Cabo and inviting close friends and teammates on the excursion.

"I'm ready for it, man," Orakpo said days earlier. "I still feel young. But as I step over that 'THREE-OH,' I know it's huge. So you've got to go out with a bang. That's the age where they feel like you're on the decline. But I feel great. I feel great. So I'm excited about it."

The kids were with his wife's parents in Dallas.

The ship was stocked with food, drinks, snorkels and tunes.

Derrick Morgan and his wife were making a last-second stop at the store. Did anyone want Dramamine pills to avoid nausea?

"Listen, I've been on the ocean plenty of times and had a feeling of helplessness," Morgan said, "just looking at 10-foot swells and not able to see land and you just want to kill yourself, you know, from the seasickness."

But everybody passed. Soon enough, sure enough, the music and dancing had stopped, everyone but the Morgans hunched over or laid flat.

"That water was so choppy," Jurrell Casey said. "It was the worst feeling in the world."

The Titans were on the cusp of their best season in years, and Orakpo was about to start perhaps the finest season of his NFL career. He leads the Titans with nine sacks, one back of the league lead, and is on pace to surpass his career record of 11 from 2009, his rookie season with the Washington Redskins.

But now, the horizon swayed in the distance. The boat tossed for hours, his birthday party turned test of endurance. Orakpo's breakfast bubbled in his throat.

Decades earlier, his parents had crossed an ocean, settling in Houston alongside other Nigerian immigrants.

Gloria and Arthur put themselves through college working low-wage jobs. They started a family and an African grocery store, then a medical supply company, providing their children a daily lesson on the importance of hard work and education.

Brian, the oldest of three, was just recovering from a terrible illness when he arrived at the University of Texas in the fall of 2004.

During the summer after high school, Orakpo and his family traveled to Nigeria to visit those left behind, and for a dose of perspective. He ended up needing antibiotics.

Orakpo returned home with malaria, and over the course of three nightmarish weeks — "vomiting, diarrhea, you name it," he said — the 6-foot-3 football star, recruited by the Longhorns as a defensive end, withered to 185 pounds, 78 below his listed weight five years later at the 2009 NFL Scouting Combine.

"Obviously, I wasn't big enough to compete," he said. "I was a stick."

Orakpo dedicated himself in the weight room, attacking his reps with the same fervent work ethic he admired in his parents. He and defensive tackle Roy Miller, now with the Jacksonville Jaguars, competed daily for the title of team's strongest man. Orakpo earned the nickname "Workout Warrior."

"I always make fun that it's the Nigerian in me," he said. "The Nigerian blood. We can just lift the roof."

Orakpo met his wife, Bitura, after his redshirt freshman season. She was a senior, "so she didn't want to give me no time of day," he said. "But eventually…" A friend's girlfriend hooked him up with her number.

The following year, another phone call changed his life. This time, his mother's sobs trembled across the line.

Orakpo's parents had been sentenced to prison, 27 months for conspiring to commit health care fraud and money laundering, according to public records.

His father, known by federal investigators to use different names, was later deported.

Orakpo and his available family — an aunt and uncle, his siblings and 'Tura — gathered around a table in New York City, waiting to hear his name called at the 2009 NFL Draft.

As a senior, he won the Nagurski, Lombardi and Hendricks awards, given annually to the nation's best defensive player, lineman and defensive end, respectively. He was the Big 12 defensive player of the year. An All-American. The Workout Warrior.

He had also helped his younger sister Jennifer and brother Michael throughout his final years in college, to the extent he was able, filling out paperwork, sending home small amounts of cash and returning for high school football games and to talk to teachers. His sister worked and his aunt helped with expenses.

"I'm a pretty private guy," Orakpo said. "But the only reason why I express that is because it really shaped me to who I am today, taking up the responsibility and caring for my younger siblings. … It hardened me. It made me more responsible, more mature, dealing with hard times and my parents being out of commission."

No one at Texas was aware of the situation.

"I don't think he really trusts a lot of people, but you can always trust him," said former Titans safety Michael Griffin, Orakpo's teammate for three seasons in college.

Back then, Orakpo always had football as an outlet, the success of the Longhorns providing reasons to celebrate. And though his parents were locked up, his family's trip to Radio City Music Hall for the draft was another joyous occasion.

The Redskins selected him in the first round, with the 13th overall pick, and he beamed when NFL commissioner Roger Goodell announced his name. But his pro experience has been radically different than college.

Orakpo switched to outside linebacker and led Washington in sacks each of his first three seasons, but frequent losing weighed on him, the Redskins going 4-12, 6-10 and 5-11.

"I hate losing. I'm just a grouch," Orakpo said. "I'm in a bad mood. My wife, she'll tell you I've gotten a lot better. Before, I used to always just be in a rut and just didn't want to eat. That type of stuff. It's gotten better. It's still a work in progress."

The couple welcomed their first child, Brian Jr., in 2010.

Orakpo's mother re-entered his life after prison, but his relationship with his father, now overseas, remained strained.

Orakpo tore his left pectoral muscle in the final game of the 2011 season, then returned too quickly and reinjured it the following year, ending his 2012 season after only two games.

He returned in 2013, the year his daughter Brianna was born, racking up 10 sacks and making his third Pro Bowl with an eye toward free agency. But the Redskins, who went 3-13, used the franchise tag to retain him for an additional season at $11.45 million guaranteed.

He tore his right pec midway through the 2014 season, against the Titans.

After yet another season-ending surgery, and with free agency approaching, Orakpo and his wife were hanging out with Griffin and his fiancée at Super Bowl XLIX in Arizona.

"We've got room for you. C'mon. We've got room," Griffin said. "I know you're thinking about us."

"You think there's any interest?"

Orakpo had recently started practicing yoga, finding a calmness through breathing exercises, as well as a newfound flexibility and endurance through stretching and challenging poses.

His body had repeatedly failed him, and it was time to make some changes.

"That's why the whole 'Workout Warrior' is gone," Orakpo said. "I had to switch it up."

It wasn't the first time he found something off the beaten path to improve his game.

Orakpo, as intimidating and well-respected as any player in pro football, has been using women's deodorant since college.

"I like Secret!" Orakpo said. "You don't have to have manly stuff all the time. Secret just holds longer. It's good stuff, man. That's the secret to staying fresh. Men's deodorant, man, it's eight-hour, six-hour products. And it's too heavy. Secret, man, this thing lasts all day."

He laughs. He is not paid to endorse the product.

Right before the start of free agency, early last year, then-Titans general manager Ruston Webster approached Griffin with a question:

"How well do you know Brian Orakpo?"

Orakpo said he seriously considered three options — returning to the Redskins, or signing with the Titans or Cardinals.

"Other teams were interested, but the fit wasn't right," Orakpo said. "When it comes to free agency, everything has to be right. The contract, the city, the defense you're running."

The Titans were coming off a 2-14 season, worse than any he had experienced in Washington, but owned the second overall pick in the draft and had just hired Hall of Fame former Pittsburgh Steelers defensive coordinator Dick LeBeau.

Orakpo took one visit, then texted Griffin: TITAN UP

Orakpo taped a photo of his young son, standing in men's work boots that swallowed his little legs, onto the inside of his locker at the Titans' practice facility. It was given to him as a Father's Day present.

After years of anger, at his mom's urging, Orakpo is on better terms with his own dad.

"You've got to forgive. You never forget, but you've got to forgive," Orakpo said, "and I was able to forgive my father for whatever he put our family through. He's not a bad dude. He just made some bad mistakes, and that was something I really had to overcome, and I did, eventually."

Orakpo was eager to start a new chapter, and believed he'd found the right fit.

But Titans coach Ken Whisenhunt was fired seven games into the season. The team had one victory and was spiraling toward a 3-13 record, the worst in the league.

"It's a good thing I got kids, I ain't going to lie," Orakpo said. "Those kids that I got, they save me, because I get to go home and see their smile and that's really what's been helping me so far, because … when I see them, it kind of gets me to know there are bigger things in life than just losing football games.

"After a game, when I'm down and depressed, I get to see their faces and it gets to lift me a little bit back up and be optimistic about life. The crazy thing is, they know when we lose, too. So they're upset as well. They're like, 'Daddy, the bad guys won again.' They call anybody that we play the 'bad guys.'"

In Mike Mularkey's first game as interim coach, in the fourth quarter against the New Orleans Saints at the Superdome, Orakpo picked up two personal fouls on the same play, raging against a penalty called against teammate David Bass for grazing Drew Brees' helmet. The sequence wiped out a sack and set up an easy touchdown.

The Titans nevertheless won in overtime.

But the salve of a single victory was short-lived. At that point, Orakpo didn't know that he'd make it through the season healthy, that Mularkey would be retained as head coach, that LeBeau would return as defensive coordinator, as would 10 starters on defense, who'd continue growing together under the guidance of a living legend.

Griffin was the lone starter replaced.

But the longtime friends had one final win together, a 42-39 triumph against the Jaguars to snap an 11-game home losing streak. Rookie quarterback Marcus Mariota raced 87 yards midway through the fourth quarter for the go-ahead score.

Afterward, Orakpo brought his son into the locker room to join the celebration.

"It was pretty special," Orakpo said, "because I wanted him to see the future of this team, where we're going. I wanted him to see that daddy is not always going to be losing, not a loser. Our team is not a loser.

"I just wanted him to experience us; that we're working extremely hard at winning these games. It just doesn't always go in our favor. And I wanted him to see what a winning locker room looks like, instead of me coming home looking sad."

BRIAN NDUBISI ORAKPO

Titans outside linebacker

Born: July 31, 1986

Which makes him: 30 years old

Listed: 6-foot-4, 257 pounds

Hometown: Houston

Played: Football and basketball for Lamar High (Texas) Redskins

The school later changed its mascot to Texans: "In today's day and age, I get it. It's something I was disappointed with, but I definitely understand."

Starred at: University of Texas, where he played defensive end

Drafted: 13th overall by the Washington Redskins in 2009, which he called "kind of ironic."

Recorded: Career-high 11 sacks as a rookie

Named to: Three Pro Bowls

Never: Won more than six games in a season

Parents: Arthur and Gloria, who immigrated from Nigeria

Siblings: Sister Jennifer, brother Michael

Wife: Bitura; they met in college

Children: Son Brian Jr., 6; daughter Brianna, 3

Always had: A thunderous, deep voice. "Obviously, the Barry White comparisons and everything of that nature. Anytime I do radio or TV or any type of deal, I'm always getting hit at for what is your next move after you're done? Your voice is one of a kind. I didn't really take notice of it until I did the NFL Network gig one time and an actual agent wanted to get my information and stuff and make this a serious thing."

Which is: An advantage on the field. "When I need to get a point across, I get a point across."

Future career: Voiceovers? "That's something I might get into, some voiceover action. I might be on 'Madagascar,' 'Ice Age,' one of those deals for the kids. That'd be perfect."

Favorite movies: Mafia flicks — "Casino," "Goodfellas," "A Bronx Tale"

Favorite TV shows: "House of Cards," "Game of Thrones," "Breaking Bad," "Walking Dead"

But especially: 'Curb Your Enthusiasm.' "I love that show. Larry David is a genius to me.

People always look at me like, 'Larry David?' But he's a genius."

Rarely watches: Football games. "I just kind of want to get away from football when I'm at home and just enjoy other things that are out there."

Reading: The Maze Runner series

Pets: "I hate pets. I don't like pets. It's a chore, man."

WHAT THEY'RE SAYING

"He was a tremendous acquisition on and off the field. He's a great leader, he's a great teammate and he's a hell of a player." – Dick LeBeau, Titans defensive coordinator

"Really cool dude. Just kind of came and fit in really fast, really well. You've got to appreciate that, a guy of his status coming in, and he just fit right in off the bat." – Derrick Morgan, Titans linebacker

"The fact that he got hurt and he came back and he's playing like it never happened, that's amazing. I think everyone would want that, who does get hurt, wants that to happen to them. And it shows his fight to play this game still. He's still going out there and producing like it's his first year in the league. He's still going out there and being Brian Orakpo." – DaQuan Jones, Titans defensive lineman

"He's a stud. Just his presence. I mean, look at him. He looks the part. He looks and plays the part." –Mike Mularkey, Titans coach

"Of course we celebrated our birthdays, but it gave us a chance before camp, too, to really build that bond that we had already had the previous year. And that's a memory that me and him will have for the rest of our lives." – Wesley Woodyard, Titans linebacker, on joint 30th birthday party in Cabo

"He's got a skill set that's tough to deal with. He's got speed. He can beat you on the edge, and then he's got power. … He's as good a player as there is. I mean, the guy is just a dynamic, twitchy, quick, elusive, hard-charging guy. He's a thousand miles per hour every single snap. He's a problem." – Chuck Pagano, Colts coach

"He has two different sides to him. If you're close to him and stuff you have a great time with him, but he's always one of those guys, when it comes to football, always took it seriously. Always trains hard. He's one of those guys where you can just look at him and be like, OK, that's how the dude has gotten to where he is today." – Former Titans and University of Texas safety Michael Griffin

NEW TITANS LB NATE PALMER ADJUSTING TO NEW TEAM

BY JIM WYATT
TITANS ONLINE
MAY 20, 2016

NASHVILLE, Tenn. – Despite playing on an NFC team roughly 700 miles away from Nashville, linebacker Nate Palmer always kept his eye on the Titans, thanks to a good friend on the team.

In fact, when Palmer had an open Sunday after playing a Thursday night game last season while with the Green Bay Packers, he traveled to Nashville to see the Titans play.

It was December 6, the day the Titans beat the Jaguars, 42-39. Quarterback Marcus Mariota put on a show that day, throwing three touchdown passes while also running for another, from 87 yards out.

"It was a heck of a game, and a heck of a run,'' Palmer said. "I didn't realize (Mariota) was that fast. I remember it well. The fans were fired up that day."

At the start of this offseason, the Titans remained on Palmer's radar because of Justin Staples, a linebacker and special teams performer with the team over the past two seasons. Palmer and Staples played college ball together at Illinois, and have remained close. Palmer finished his collegiate career at Illinois State.

Last month, things changed dramatically for Palmer, and his NFL career. He was released by the Packers, and claimed by the Titans the next day. Palmer started 10 games last season for the Packers, and he appeared in all 16 contests, finishing with 68 tackles and a sack.

"Earlier this offseason, on the outside looking in, I would tell Justin, 'Man, I like what your GM is doing there with some of these moves.' I said, 'He's giving you guys some key pieces to compete,''' Palmer said. "I told Justin, 'You guys may have a shot to win the AFC South.' It was all, 'y'all, y'all, y'all.' And then out of nowhere it goes from y'all to 'we.' It's funny because we were talking the day I got claimed and he said, 'It ain't know y'all any more. It's we now.'

Palmer joined the Titans on April 11.

He's taking part in the team's offseason program, and competing at the inside linebacker spot. Palmer has played both inside and outside linebacker during his NFL career.

A sixth-round pick out of Illinois State in 2013, Palmer (6-2, 248) missed the entire 2014 season while rehabbing an MCL injury he suffered in the preseason. He played in eight games, with two starts, in 2013.

Earlier this offseason, the Titans also added former Steelers linebacker Sean Spence and former Chargers linebacker Curtis Grant. Staples is also in the competition inside, where Wesley Woodyard and Avery Williamson return.

Palmer said he's ready to compete.

He's well aware he's a Titan now.

"(Getting released by the Packers) was a true whirlwind of emotions,'' Palmer said. "I really enjoyed my time there, and the friendships I developed there. This is my first time (adapting to a new team), but it's the nature of the game. You have to be able to move on and use it to help fuel you.

"There's a reason why (the Titans) claimed me, and I don't want to disappoint. I really feel like the Titans are one of those up-and-coming teams, and the fans get involved. I feel like they are pretty excited about the upcoming season, especially with the offseason acquisitions. So I feel like it will be fun all around."

TITANS PICK CB KALAN REED, WHO PLAYED PEE-WEE BALL IN NASHVILLE

BY JIM WYATT
TITANS ONLINE
MAY 1, 2016

NASHVILLE, Tenn. — So, this is kind of crazy.

The Titans drafted Southern Mississippi cornerback Kalan Reed with the final pick of the 2016 NFL Draft, and in most years that's a pretty big deal.

Folks like to make a thing out of "Mr. Irrelevant."

But this year the local connection makes the story more intriguing, especially for Reed.

It turns out Reed spent part of his early childhood in Nashville, and played pee-wee football with the Flatrock Vols. He remembers playing with another local product, Jalen Ramsey.

Back in the day, Reed actually played in a game at Nissan Stadium at the halftime of a Titans game.

"That's where a whole bunch of my family is from,'' Reed said. "I first started playing football in Nashville. I moved away when I was six, but I started playing all sports -- soccer, football, in Nashville.

"That is one of my memories growing up there, playing on the field at halftime. I got a couple of pictures with the (Titans) cheerleaders when I was five years old. I was in shock I was there."

Reed went to high school in Birmingham. He made the Conference USA's honor roll team, and turned into a dependable performer at Southern Miss.

At his pro day, Reed ran a 4.38 in his 40. He said he plays tough, and "I like to fly around and make plays."

The 5-11, 195-pounder is looking forward to playing for the Titans. As for being this year's "Mr. Irrelevant", he didn't have a whole lot to say on that subject.

"That was my team growing up," Reed said of the Titans. "Now, I am a Titan."

O-LINEMAN BRIAN SCHWENKE WORKING ON HIS GAME IN OTAS

BY JIM WYATT
TITANS ONLINE
JUNE 3, 2016

NASHVILLE, Tenn. – Brian Schwenke doesn't have to look far to find competition on the field, and in the Titans locker room.

Only Schwenke, who's headed into his fourth NFL season, doesn't view things that way.

He's good friends with new Titans offensive lineman Ben Jones, who is expected to start at center this fall after playing previously with the Texans. Schwenke started the past two seasons as the team's starting center, but injuries cut those seasons short.

"Ben is awesome,'' Schwenke said Jones. "We have a good group. It is not about competing in my mind. It's about getting on the field and playing the best football you can play, no matter the position. It is just about going out there and being the best "you" you can be. That's something I can control, and I'm going to work as hard as I can to be the best player I can be."

Schwenke, who has started 25 games at center over the past three seasons, continues to recover from an injury. The popular offensive lineman dislocated his left ankle in the team's loss to the Dolphins last October. He was taken off the field on a cart, his lower leg in an air cast, after being tended to by medical personnel on the field at Nissan Stadium. Then came surgery.

Schwenke's been practicing in OTAs, although Jones has been with the first unit.

"First, I have to get back to 100 percent,'' Schwenke said. "I am pretty much there, but I don't know if I could play in a full game right now. If we had a game tomorrow, it would be a rough game for me, quantity-wise, the number of plays.

"But it feels pretty good, and I'm getting closer. It doesn't feel like it did before I hurt it. It gets sore after a couple of days, but that's a part of the process."

A fourth-round draft pick by the Titans in the 2013 draft, Schwenke's 2014 season was cut short because of a knee injury.

Schwenke said he's been working this offseason at both center and guard, a position he played in college at California. He said he likes the attitude of the team's offensive line, which includes another newcomer in rookie tackle Jack Conklin.

"I played three years of guard at college,'' Schwenke said. "I don't want to say you lose it after not doing it, but it takes time learning the nuances of the position. But it's a lot of fun. I enjoy the game.

"It is a good group we have (at offensive line). We are all meshing well. Sometimes you have a situation where guys don't mesh as well as they should and guys butt heads, but I don't think there is any of that going on. We are all working hard and trying to make each other better."

DA'NORRIS SEARCY WANTS TO BE A "GAME-CHANGER" IN 2016

BY JIM WYATT
TITANS ONLINE
JANUARY 13, 2016

NASHVILLE, Tenn. – Da'Norris Searcy made that highlight-reel play every defender loves to make, but he had to wait for it -- all the way until the season-finale, in fact.

That's when the Titans safety recorded his first interception with the team, picking off a pass against the Colts. It set up a touchdown.

"I was due, huh?,'' Searcy said with a smile afterward.

After playing his first four seasons with the Bills, the Titans signed Searcy to a four-year deal in March. He started at safety alongside veteran Michael Griffin, playing in 15 of 16 games. Searcy didn't have as many "splash" plays as he would've liked in 2015, but coaches were pleased with his performance.

Titans defensive coordinator Ray Horton praised Searcy for his unselfishness.

"He did exactly what we asked,'' Horton said of Searcy. "He patrolled, and really, he put his ego to the side and said "OK, I'll do what you guys ask me to do. He didn't freelance and go where he wanted to. Stats are important, but sometimes you have to do the dirty work and make sure you're where you're supposed to do to protect the defense. And the defense got better.

"I am not disappointed with what he did at all. He has range, he has fantastic hands, and he is smart. And I expect him to have a better year next year because he learned our defense."

Searcy finished the season with 54 tackles, a half-sack, four passes defensed, and the interception of Colts quarterback Josh Freeman.

Searcy had three interceptions in his final season with the Bills, in 2014, and now has six in his five-year NFL career.

"They knew when they brought me in I was an aggressive type safety, and they knew I was smart, and could read formations and different routes. But I had to sacrifice jumping routes to protect guys in the defense,'' Searcy said. "You could say I sacrificed a lot for the good of the defense, and we (finished) in the top 10 in pass defense (7th).

"Sure, I want to make more flash plays. I want to be a game-changer on the defensive side of the ball. You have a lot of game-changers on offense, and I want to be mentioned in the same company as the other elite safeties. What separates those guys from everybody else is the ability to make game-changing plays, so I would love the opportunities to do that. But anything coaches needed me to do I was willing to do for the sake of the defense."

With a year under his belt with the Titans, Searcy isn't sure exactly what's in store around him.

Griffin has a year left on his contract, but his status is uncertain because of a hefty salary for 2016. Griffin talked about that uncertainty on numerous occasions at the end of the year. Right now, the Titans are also in the middle of interviews for the head coaching job.

Searcy has already set his goals for 2016, however.

"The two Ps -- playoffs and Pro Bowl,'' Searcy said. "That's what you want every year, but there's a lot more emphasis on it this coming season. This past season it was about coming to a new environment, and I was the new guy coming in. I didn't want to step on any toes, I wanted to come in and help.

"I definitely want to be more of a game-changer next season for this defense."

VETERAN APPROACH HAS TITANS ROOKIE TAJAE SHARPE POISED FOR SUCCESS

BY PAUL KUHARSKY
ESPN.COM
SEPTEMBER 8, 2016

NASHVILLE, Tenn. -- As the overmatched UMass Minutemen prepared for a trip to Bill Snyder Stadium and what would be a 37-7 loss to Kansas State in 2013, receiver Tajae Sharpe and his position coach noticed something a previous opponent of the Wildcats had employed.

"We saw someone start disguising the receivers alignment by putting him in the backfield and motioning him out," said Allen Suber, who's now at Alabama State. "I think at that time, Tajae really started to learn and develop the thought process for matchups and getting himself in better positions and lined up against backers or strong safeties.

"Which then intrigued him as a young player, not only to learn his route but to learn the concepts and where he fit and how we could get him in better matchups. He would come in and sit down and really, from that week on, go through all the pass concepts we had against their personnel. And he just understood it. He could sit down and talk you through it."

Three years removed from that 1-11 UMass season and his nine-catch, 98-yard game against Kansas State, Sharpe will line up as a starting wide receiver for the Tennessee Titans Sunday at Nissan Stadium.

In roughly four months of work, he's shown the Titans the same thing he showed Suber: an ability to understand concepts and how he fits into them.

Quarterback Marcus Mariota is sure to lean on last year's leading target, tight end Delanie Walker. But the 2014 Heisman Trophy winner has quickly bonded with Sharpe, a player he trusts to be in the right place and hold onto the ball.

Sharpe was a fifth-round draft choice by new Titans general manager Jon Robinson. Robinson inherited a receiver-needy roster but made five picks before getting to the position, using the 140th choice on a weapon who played on a struggling team in college but led the nation in receptions as a senior with 111.

When the Titans spent time with Sharpe ahead of the draft, receivers coach Bob Bratkowski installed some concepts with him. On the field, Sharpe executed them pretty much flawlessly, Robinson recalled.

"It's his intelligence level, his ability to process information quickly and his physical skill set," Robinson said of the 6-foot-2, 194-pound rookie. "... He's wiry. He's just got really good body control. He can sink his weight, drop his weight in and out of his breaks very efficiently."

After the Titans landed Sharpe, Robinson figured he'd found a rookie role player. But Sharpe has earned a role far more important than that, helped by a stark contrast with some guys who were already on the team. Justin Hunter and Dorial Green-Beckham didn't have a work ethic similar to Sharpe's. While more impressive physically, they didn't feel nearly the same gravitational pull of the position's detail and nuance.

Green-Beckham was traded on Aug. 16. Hunter was cut Sept. 3.

The Titans' longstanding fascination with fantastically athletic but unrefined wideouts went with them. Before he's even played a meaningful down, Sharpe has come to symbolize the kind of guy these Titans want.

"Tajae doesn't look like a rookie, he looks like a guy that's been around in this league for a little while," said Titans receiver Andre Johnson, who has stats that rate among those of the all-time great receivers. "The way he runs routes, he's faster than he looks. He makes plays. I think this year will be pretty big for him."

Johnson said if he knew nothing of Sharpe and watched him work, he'd have guessed he as a second- or third-year player.

Johnson was drafted by the Texans third overall out of Miami in 2003. Thirteen years later and 137 picks further down in the draft, Sharpe came to Tennessee.

"I wasn't really known for running routes coming in," Johnson said. "I think that's something I developed over the course of my career. As far as running routes, he's better than I was coming in.

"He asks a lot of questions when he doesn't understand something or he's curious about something. That's a good thing, and a lot of times it's what you look for in a rookie."

Sharpe speaks reverently about Johnson, and said compliments from him are humbling. The rookie also rates Suber, who was on the Texans practice squad during Johnson's time there, as a big influence in shaping him.

"The biggest thing was that he was a ball of clay," Suber said. "He just wanted to be coached. ... He fell in love with the preparation process."

When Sharpe was coming out of Piscataway (N.J.) High School, Suber rated him as just an average route-runner. Mark Carrier and Tampa Bay Buccaneers receivers coach Richard Mann taught Suber lessons he passed on to Sharpe that helped him evolve. "Separation technique, the ability to speed cut, the ability to separate," Suber said. "He's not the fastest guy with vertical speed, but he's always going to have separation. He is a master of the separation technique.

"It's understanding leverage, it's being able, regardless of whether you are running deep, [to be] always simulating it. He'll tell you, first 5 yards, everything should look the same. Speed and upper-body violence when you are running routes. He can sink his hips at 10 [yards] and maintain the same pad level and be out at 6 yards very, very quickly. He understands cutting off interception angles of defenders."

Since the start of the seven-round draft in 1994, only four receivers selected in the fifth round or later posted seasons with at least 51 catches and 720 receiving yards. The most recent, Stefon Diggs, will be on the field for the Vikings on Sunday during Sharpe’s NFL debut.

Can Sharpe surpass them? He may be in just the right environment to give it a run.

"The game is very slow in his head right now," Suber said. "He's a football player. I think he's going to play a decade plus."

EAGER ROOKIE WR TAJAE SHARPE BROUGHT HIS OWN FOOTBALL

BY JIM WYATT
TITANS ONLINE
MAY 17, 2016

NASHVILLE, Tenn. – When Titans rookie receiver Tajae Sharpe showed up for his first day on the job last week, he brought his own football with him.

Sharpe carried the pigskin across the parking lot and into the front door at Saint Thomas Sports Park. From there, he went to the locker room.

Talk about coming prepared.

Turns out it was just another day for Sharpe, an enthusiastic fifth-round draft pick out of Massachusetts who plans to make a name for himself in the NFL.

“I am a man that plays football so I want to always have it in my hand,’’ Sharpe explained. “I just like to hold the football. I usually go to sleep with my football. This is my job and this is my dream. I love it, and I’m going to carry it around as much as I can, just because.”

Sharpe was impressive during the team’s open rookie mini-camp practice on Friday, catching roughly a half-dozen passes in competitive drills. Earlier in the week, a video produced by Titans Online the day the rookies reported for the start of the offseason program showed Sharpe clutching a football as he walked in. It left some fans fired up.

Sharpe didn’t think much of it. He said he’s been carrying a football just about everywhere he goes since he first started playing the game. He remembers doing so in high school.

The Titans, of course, have hundreds of footballs inside the walls at STSP. Sharpe might be the first Titan to ever to bring his own football to work.

“Nobody said anything to me about it (here), but that’s something I usually always do,’’ he said with a smile. “As a receiver you are going to have the ball in your hands most of the time so you have to get used to the football. I just like to carry it.’’

Occasionally, Sharpe took a football to classes. When he traveled to Nashville, he put the football in a bag when he strolled through the airport. Friends and teammates seem to like it based on the impromptu games of catch that always seem to break out.

“The strangest place I’ve taken it?,’’ Sharpe said, repeating a question. “I’ve taken it in the bathroom. … I've taken it a lot of places.

"No, I’ve never taken it on a date or anything like that.”

The Titans like Sharpe’s attitude, and his potential.

In 2015, he led the nation with 111 catches. Sharpe (6-2, 194) turned the catches into 1,319 receiving yards and five touchdowns last season. In four seasons at Massachusetts, he caught 277 passes for 3,386 yards and 16 touchdowns.

The Titans selected Sharpe with the 140th pick in the fifth round of the NFL Draft.

Now, he’s hoping to make a name for himself in the NFL by being consistent.

“We have to earn everyone’s respect,’’ he said of the rookie class. “Respect is earned and not given. If a veteran speaks to you, that’s great. But you don’t want to be all loud ... You want to show the guys you are about winning.

“I am just going to come in here and work hard and study hard and do my best to prove I can play at this level.”

This much is certain: Sharpe is thankful for the opportunity.

If the sight of him carrying the football across the parking wasn’t convincing enough, just look behind his left ear. There, you’ll find the word “Blessed.”

Sharpe got the tattoo just a few days ago.

“It describes me,’’ Sharpe said. “I truly am blessed, having my dreams come true when I got drafted by the Titans. It is something I can’t even put into words. So it is something I want to be able to express and can look at every single day and remind myself how truly blessed I am.

“A lot of people wish they were in my position so I don’t want to take anything for granted. I plan to give this organization 110 percent every single day.”

CB LESHAUN SIMS WANTS TO BRING PHYSICAL PLAY TO NFL

BY JIM WYATT
TITANS ONLINE
MAY 1, 2016

NASHVILLE, Tenn. — LeShaun Sims earned a reputation in college for being a tough, physical football player.

The Titans believe that will carry over in the National Football League.

On Saturday, the Titans selected the Southern Utah cornerback with the 157th pick in the fifth round.

The team moved up to get him, giving up pick 176 (sixth round) and a 6th-round pick in 2017 for the 157th pick (Sims) and a seventh round pick (253) this year.

“I’m just happy to get the opportunity to play for the Titans,’’ Sims said on Saturday. “I am happy with how today went.”

Sims (6-0, 203) racked up 220 tackles in four seasons at Southern Utah, where he was a four-year starter for the Thunderbirds. He was a no-star recruit out of high school while playing receiver and free safety. After redshirting as a freshman, he intercepted three passes in his first college season.

Sims worked out for Titans defensive backs coach DeShea Townsend in March, and met with team officials at the NFL Combine.

Sims started 12 games as a senior in 2015, when he also has 12 passes defensed and two interceptions while earning first team All-Big Sky honors.

NFL.com projects Sims as a press corner in the NFL, describing him as a "constant annoyance to receivers getting into their framework with jabs from press and then crowding them throughout their route."

“Of course it’s going to be a learning curve just like with anything else,’’ Sims said. “I’m just ready to come in and learn as much as I can and try to contribute to a team any way I can.”

UNDRAFTED GUARD FEELS HE'S NOT FINISHED STARTING

BY DAVID BOCLAIR
NASHVILLE POST
AUGUST 5, 2016

Quinton Spain didn't have the reputation he thought.

When the time came, he didn't have much of a plan either.

Some players who don't get drafted study NFL rosters and consult with their agents at length to try and determine where they might get the best opportunity. Ignored by pretty much every other franchise despite the fact that he was a two-time All-Big 12 player at West Virginia, Spain, a 6-foot-4, 330-pound guard, went were he felt wanted.

"It wasn't planned like that but I felt Tennessee was the place to be because coming out of college," he said. "I didn't go to the combine, I didn't have the Senior Bowl and Tennessee still gave me a private visit. So I felt like they were interested. After the draft, I didn't hear my name called [but] Tennessee called and I just went and signed."

He couldn't have picked a better spot if he tried.

Spain not only made the active roster out of training camp, he remained on it throughout the entire season and by late November he was the starter at left guard. When training camp opened last week, he was still in that spot.

"My mindset from the start (of the offseason) was, 'It's my job to lose,'" he said. "I just have to keep competing and better the team. Whatever happens, happens."

He is the exception on a starting line that otherwise consists of high-profile, highly coveted players. Left tackle Taylor Lewan, right guard Chance Warmack and right tackle Jack Conklin all were first-round picks. Center Ben Jones signed a high-priced free agent deal during the offseason.

And there are times when Spain looks out of place.

"He's been a little bit hot-and-cold," coach Mile Mularkey said Thursday. "More hot than cold, but when he's had his mistakes, they've been pretty significant. I mean, they stand out. … He was an undrafted free agent last year (and) he's held his own, but the more he gets, the better he's going to get as well. He's still in a competition at that left guard position."

It's certainly a step up from a year ago when he was in competition just to get a place on the roster. Not that Spain cares either way.

"It felt great to be able to come in here and compete for a spot," he said. "Now I'm up there but I still have to compete for the whole camp. So we'll see what happens."

TITANS ADD LINEBACKER WHO OVERCAME DEVASTATING KNEE INJURY

BY DAVID BOCLAIR
NASHVILLE POST
MARCH 17, 2016

Every step in Sean Spence's career at this point is a bonus.

The latest was to sign a free agent contract with the Tennessee Titans, which is a notable one for a player whose career once looked as if it was over before it started.

The Titans announced the deal with the 27-year-old inside linebacker Wednesday. According to ProFootballTalk.com, it is a one-year pact worth $2.5 million.

A third-round pick by Pittsburgh in the 2012 draft, he did not play a down his first two years in the league because of a devastating knee injury sustained during the Steelers' 2012 preseason finale. He required reconstructive surgery on all three ligaments in the knee, which also sustained nerve damage.

He spent that season on injured reserve and all of 2013 on the reserve – physically unable to perform list. Pittsburgh personnel at the time said it would be a miracle if he played again.

Spence told the Pittsburgh Post-Gazette prior to the 2013 season, "I know I'm going to beat the odds."

He appeared in all 16 games (nine starts) in 2014 and 15 games (four starts) last fall, when he had 34 tackles, one sack and two special teams tackles. The Steelers named him their 2014 Ed Block Courage Award recipient.

"I think my faith and courage was tested … with what I was going through and being away from football for two seasons," Spence said at that time. "It showed patience and continuing to work no matter what others thought the outlook was like."

Spence is the second free agent addition to the defense this offseason (the first was cornerback Brice McCain). Both played for defensive coordinator Dick LeBeau at Pittsburgh.

SAFETY DAIMION STAFFORD EMERGING FOR TITANS

BY JIM WYATT
TITANS ONLINE
SEPTEMBER 29, 2016

NASHVILLE, Tenn. – Titans safety Daimion Stafford is down 20 pounds from last season, and if you ask him about it, you might get a little bit too much information.

“I got out of the shower one day and looked in the mirror,’’ Stafford said with a smile. “I was like, ‘Boy, you’re little too big. You better lose some of that if you want to fly around and play in space.”

It was classic Stafford. He delivered the truth with humor, and it worked.

These days, a lighter, more confident Stafford is coming up big for the Titans.

A seventh-round pick by the Titans in the 2013 NFL Draft, Stafford plays a big role in the Tennessee secondary on Sundays. His role is expected to increase on Sunday in Houston with Da’Norris Searcy sidelined with an ankle injury.

Stafford’s coaches and teammates say he’s more ready than he’s ever been. Prior to the start of the season, Stafford was voted a team captain by his teammates.

“He has really had a good year, a really a good year,’’ coach Mike Mularkey said of Stafford, who has 10 tackles, a tackle for loss and a pass defensed in the first three weeks. “He is playing good football. And to be voted captain, it shows you teammates recognize he is doing things the right way.

“I just think he is all business now. I think early on he was happy being in the NFL, at least that was his body language. But when he comes out here now, it is all about working and getting better. He still has fun, there is no doubt he is having fun. But it is a different kind of fun the way he approaches things.”

Titans defensive coordinator Dick LeBeau also raved about Stafford recently, praising his work ethic, and his play. LeBeau said Stafford made a lot of big plays in the team's Week 2 win in Detroit.

"I can think of a lot of game-deciding plays that he made," LeBeau said of Stafford. "Coverage in the end zone, a big tackle. ... He just made a lot of key plays. He just played outstanding in that game."

Stafford cut his weight from roughly 235 pounds last year to around 215 this season. He feels faster on the field, and better off it.

Now in his fourth NFL season, Stafford said he feels more comfortable in the defense than at any time in his career. Stafford said he learned from veterans like Bernard Pollard, George Wilson and Michael Griffin earlier in his career, and now he’s taking advantage of the veterans around him like Rashad Johnson, Jason McCourtyand Searcy.

But he admits he also got more serious, and put in more time for himself.

“I had bad eyes, not looking in right places, not knowing the right checks to put the team in,’’ Stafford said of his early days in the league. “Now I pride myself in doing that right.

“And I feel like I am getting older and the game is slowing down for me. Things are slowing down and when I study the game I am able to put myself in a better position.”

Don’t let the serious talk fool you, though. Stafford admits he’s a jokester, and he considers it his role to keep things light around the team by cracking jokes. He’s proven he’s not afraid to make a wise crack when Mularkey walks in the room for a serious team meeting.

“I just try and relax things,’’ Stafford said.

He’s gone above and beyond there, McCourty said.

“He is a clown, there is no better way to explain it,’’ McCourty said of Stafford. “In Year 4, there is nothing he does that surprises me.

“But you need different personalities on a team. For our group, he’s a guy who can be a comedian, but he’s also a tough guy. He is not afraid, and he’s not going to back down from anybody, and will hit anybody in the mouth. But he’ll also make you laugh at any given point.

“In all seriousness, it speaks volumes this year that he was voted captain. And I think when you have new responsibilities, he’s the type of guy that steps up to the plate and accepts those roles. For him, he has not only been a captain on special teams, but he has contributed a lot more on defense this year. He has continued to improve himself as a player and a person.”

Stafford, who has played in 50 games since 2013, with two starts, said he’s ready to do even more moving forward.

After playing 37 of the team’s 65 snaps against the Raiders, he’s expected to be on the field even more against the Texans.

He’ll do it with a smile on his face, even though he’s dead serious. Sometimes.

“Coming in as a seventh-round draft pick, I knew I didn’t have much room to spare – you better do things right,’’ Stafford said. “And you never want to let your brothers down. Just like I lean on guys to get sacks – I’ll tell guys to go get me one. I want them to be able to lean on me and trust me the same way.

“But I’m going to have fun, always. I try to make everything fun.”

MONDAY MORNING QUARTERBACK
DECEMBER 19, 2016

Week 15 helped solve part of the postseason puzzle, but there are still several pieces hoping to fit. Here's a look at some stretch-run scenarios. Plus the Titans' ice-cold game-winner, Green Bay's good guy and more

Imagine you're Tennessee kicker Ryan Succop, and you're back in Kansas City, where you kicked for the first five seasons of your career before being fired, and your team's playoff fate rests on something that feels impossible. The wind-chill temperature is -9º, impossible conditions for kicking because the ball doesn't travel well and feels like a rock. It really does; it's so hard it doesn't compress a millimeter no matter how hard you grip. You just hit the ball perfectly, but came five yards short on a 53-yard field-goal try. Luckily, you got saved by the Chiefs' timeout at the last second. The mis-kick didn't count on the scoreboard, but it did count in your head.

Now you've got the sickest feeling in your gut. Athletes are not supposed to ever say what you're thinking right now.

"I don't think I can reach it," Succop thought.

He took a deep breath. A cloud of white vapor came out of Succop's mouth as snapper Beau Brinkley took his grip on the frozen ball.

"If I had 10 kicks from here," Succop thought, "I don't think I could make one. Not on a day like this."

No more time for negativity. Brinkley fired the ball back, punter Brett Kern put it down, and that noise you may have heard was a stadium full of people inhaling.

After Ryan Succop's game-winning kick, things are looking up for the Titans in the race for a playoff berth and the AFC South crown.

Tennessee-Kansas City had some other drama. The Chiefs, up 14-7 in the second quarter, had two shots from the Titans' one to make it 21-7. But Tennessee's defense rose up against two straight Spencer Ware runs over the right side—linebacker Wesley Woodyard led the charge on both plays, with old man river Dick LeBeau cheering from the sideline. Tennessee held. In the last 40 minutes of the game, the Chiefs managed just one field goal in eight possessions. That gave Tennessee a chance to come back, and with 3:14 left, Derrick Henry scored on a one-yard run. Pre-PAT, that made it Kansas City 17, Tennessee 16.

Tennessee had no timeouts left. If it remained a one-point game, one Chiefs first down on the ensuing drive would most likely end it. But Titans coach Mike Mularkey decided to try to win right then and there. He went for two. Marcus Mariota rolled right, got pressured, and didn't get off a good throw. K.C. kept the lead, and Football Pundit America screamed: You blew it Mularkey! Too big a risk there, to go for two with no timeouts left.

"I wasn't thinking that way at all," Mularkey said from Arrowhead afterward. "I was thinking we were going to win the game in one of two ways. We get the two-point conversion, then we hold them and we win. Or we don't make the two-point conversion, we hold them and our kicker makes the field goal to win before going to overtime. That's the kind of confidence I have in my team. I wanted them to know it. They knew the plan on the sideline before we got to that point. They knew we were going for the win."

"But it did leave you in position to be second-guessed from coast to coast," I said.

"Then you can second-guess me all you want," he said. "I don't care. I believe in these guys, and I think they believe in what we're doing too."

Of course the Titans made Kansas City go three-and-out. Of course the Hawaiian quarterback who played in the Pac-12 drove the Titans to the Chiefs' 35 with time ticking down, and spiked the ball to stop the clock with five seconds left. Here came Succop, Mr. Irrelevant, the 256th and final overall pick in 2009, in Scott Pioli's first draft as Kansas City's GM. And of course Kansas City coach Andy Reid called the timeout to freeze the freezing kicker, and his practice kick landed in the end zone, a good five yards short, leading to the aforementioned severe doubts by Succop.

"I heard the whistle before the snap," Succop told me after the game, "so I knew they called time. I figured they would. But you've just got to kick it, which I did. The second one, I knew after that first kick that I just had to throw technique out the window. I just had to kick that thing as hard as I could, regardless of the right technique. I was kicking a frozen football in the worst conditions you could imagine."

The snap was perfect. Kern's hold was good. Succop's technique didn't look like a cleanup hitter swinging for the fences at all. He hit is square, and it flew, and traveled farther than the kick a minute earlier. And it barely made it over the crossbar. Good.

"Kick of a lifetime," he said over the phone, choking up.

"I gotta be honest. The conditions, this team, these guys, the way we're fighting for the division … I was crying like a baby after this one. I could not do this. No question in my mind it was the Lord's will. That's the one explanation for it. Glory to God."

SPECIAL TEAMS PLAYER OF THE WEEK

Ryan Succop, kicker, Tennessee. His 39-yard field goal in the Arrowhead igloo brought the Titans to within one score early in the fourth quarter, and his 53-yarder at the final gun won a game that looked very lost. Tennessee 19, Kansas City 17, keeping the Titans alive in the AFC South title hunt. "I don't get very emotional after games," the ex-Chief told me. "But after this, how could I not? Kick of a lifetime."

DIRECTSNAPS: PHILLIP SUPERNAW'S UNDRAFTED ATTITUDE PAYING DIVIDENDS

BY PHILLIP SUPERNAW
TITANS ONLINE
OCTOBER 2, 2016

DirectSnaps is a story series contributed by Tennessee Titans players sharing their perspectives, both on and off the field, with fans. This week's entry comes from TE Phillip Supernaw.

Two grand.

That was my signing bonus when I entered the NFL in 2012. After taxes, it came out to $1,300. I still have that check. One day I may even get it framed.

Undrafted was more than a label for me coming out of the well-known football powerhouse of Ouachita Baptist. It's part of my identity, the core of what motivates me.

I grew up in Katy, Texas, about 25 miles from Houston. I played quarterback in high school, but I wasn't recruited by colleges. I didn't have a single Division I offer. When signing day came, Ouchita Baptist was the only place that said I could come play, so I did.

Fast forward four years, I didn't get a Combine invite. I also didn't get drafted, but the Texans gave me a chance as a college free agent. That's where the big signing bonus came in. I'll never forget that. In that moment I was like, "Holy cow, they're actually going to pay me to give me a chance. This is awesome." You know, all these guys are signing for millions of dollars, and I never even thought about it. I never asked about any other player's signing bonus. I just couldn't get over how awesome it was.

Another thing I'll never forget: getting to know Andre Johnson.

It was 2012, and we were both with the Texans. I was an undrafted rookie free agent and Andre was… well, Andre. I mean, he's like the godfather, right?

The Texans drafted him when I was in junior high, so I grew up watching him play. He had no idea what my name was. But I always had this really awesome jersey from when he played at Miami. The orange one… you know, real authentic. I had that thing in my locker for three weeks, and then one day I finally was like, "OK, I'm doing it."

I walked over to his locker with his No. 5 University of Miami jersey. I had it in a box, folded perfectly, pen ready to go. I was like, "Andre, do you think you can sign this for me, man?" When he signed it, he said, "Where did you get that jersey? It's sweet." That jersey is framed and has even more meaning now that we're teammates again in Tennessee.

I don't have a pride issue telling you that story. You'll hear guys in NFL locker rooms say things like, "I'm never going to get a jersey signed by another grown man." To that, I say big deal. When you've bounced around the league like I have, I think it's a cool opportunity. It's a reminder of where you've been and who you've played with along the way.

I was on four teams in my first three years. I was with Houston for two years, and I wasn't even really on a team my second year. I actually got cut before training camp on an injury settlement, and I was out of football until Week 15. I was just floating around, hunting and stuff. I wasn't even in the NFL. Then Week 15, the Texans picked me back up and I played the final two games. Then I went to Baltimore for a year. In that year—2014—I went to Kansas City for three weeks and then back to Baltimore. It was a lot of bouncing around, not really getting settled anywhere. And no, it never gets easier getting cut and starting over again.

From an early stage of being in the NFL, I just kind of took on that challenge of being undrafted. I never really thought about whether I was going to make the team or not because that will drive you crazy. I always had the same outlook. You just control what you can. I think all of it helped me—going to that really small school, being undrafted. It made me take nothing for granted, even the little stuff. It taught me to be a hard worker because nothing is guaranteed and nothing is given. This can all be taken away in an instant. I'll never take a play off because I can't ever forget how far I've come to get here.

I believe that's why I'm a Titan now. I found my niche here. With Mike Mularkey taking over and Jon Robinson coming in, it fit perfectly to the kind of player I am—tough, physical, nonstop, finishing, never quitting. This is a weird business and can get political, but here it's basically if you want to be a tough guy who will never quit and give it your all, you have a chance to play. That's why I consider this my home now. They really gave me a chance to contribute here, and I had prepared for it. It was the opportunity I was waiting on forever, and I don't ever want to squander that.

That undrafted attitude that got me here is kind of like the attitude this team has. That's the cool thing. We're pretty young, with the exception of some of those great vets we need, and we don't care at all what anybody thinks or is saying. We know how hard we work. We know how well we're capable of playing. I've been on teams that struggled before, but this team is different. We know we have so much in store for the future. The losses hurt, but at the end of the day, we have 13 left, and we're not even clicking on all cylinders yet. Everyone is just fired up for how good we can be.

It's sort of like that signing bonus check.

My $2,000 might not have been much to everybody else, but to me, it was an opportunity. I wouldn't change anything because it all ended up getting me here. Hopefully, there's a lot more to come.

ROOKIE LINEMAN SEBASTIAN TRETOLA ADJUSTING TO NFL'S GAME

BY JIM WYATT
TITANS ONLINE
JUNE 22, 2016

NASHVILLE, Tenn. – Comparing Titans guard Sebastian Tretola to a bull in a china shop would be an insult to all those who play around him.

The NFL doesn't have any dainty, porcelain-like objects on the field.

It is accurate, however, to say the Titans are trying to reign Tretola in during his first few months on the job.

"He has to watch his aggression,'' Titans coach Mike Mularkey said of Tretola. "He is too overly aggressive trying to get thick into guys and he can't do that. He has to use his hands a little better than he's been using them.

"It's a good problem. I'd rather pull him back than beg him to do it. I saw some (improvement) but he has some room to grow."

The 6-foot-4, 318-pound Tretola doesn't deny it.

"Don't move so fast,'' he said, critiquing himself. "Obviously when you get to this level, the d-linemen and the linebackers you play are so good with their hands, and they are good at reading plays. So if they see a play going one way they are going to ride it, if (there's) a cutback, they're going to make a play to get back on the ball carrier. So with that you have to gradually come up, you can't go all-in and try and smack them. So that is one of the things I have to work on.

"Through the whole draft process, (my aggressiveness) was my biggest plus. I am extremely, extremely physical. So obviously that is what you want. It is a good problem to have to try and be less physical, so I am going to work on it and get better every day."

The Titans still haven't decided on who will play left guard on the team's five-man offensive line, opposite right guard Chance Warmack.

Quinton Spain worked with the starters at the position during OTAs and minicamp, and right now Mularkey said he's the front-runner. But players like Tretola and second-year pro Jeremiah Poutasi are also in the mix. Brian Schwenke has also worked some at guard this offseason, and Josue Matias is also in the mix.

Tretola said he's learning, and hopes to be a contender.

"Obviously there is competition, and I want to be a starter for this team and be a great player for this team, but at the same time I have to learn. I have to sit back and take the baby steps and learn and let it come as it may,'' he said.

"I expected it to be fast (in the NFL), and I expected it to be powerful. Efficiency, I wasn't expecting that to be the key factor that stood out. I feel like that is the biggest difference between college and the NFL is how efficient everybody is. Everybody knows what they are doing every single time and they know where they are supposed to be. So with that, you have to be just as efficient, if not more to get your job done."

The Titans selected Tretola in the sixth round (193rd overall) of the NFL Draft. Tretola started all 13 games at left guard last season and 24 straight contests to close his career at Arkansas. He allowed one sack on the season to help Arkansas lead the SEC in fewest sacks allowed for the third straight season. He earned an 80 percent offensive grade in 10 of 13 games, according to Arkansas.

Tretola said he's seen improvement since walking in the door in early May, after the draft.

He's already looking forward to the end of July, when training camp begins – and the pads come on.

"It is starting to slow down, and things are starting to make sense,'' he said. "I am starting to see things in a different light, see it in a different way and reacting better. I definitely feel I am getting better in time.

"I am definitely looking forward to putting the pads on. You can't really play o-line without pads on. Without being able to judge, getting hit every play or hitting a guy every play. Hitting him is different, moving him is different, everything is different. Once we get these pads we're definitely going to get the ball rolling here."

‘SPIDEY SENSE?’ FOR DELANIE WALKER, HEARING FOOTSTEPS IS A HELP, NOT HINDRANCE

BY PAUL KUHARSKY
ESPN.COM
NOVEMBER 17, 2016

NASHVILLE, Tenn. -- When you see him anticipate a closing defender and manage to ward him off, credit Tennessee Titans tight end Delanie Walker for a sixth sense, if you'd like.

He doesn’t believe he deserves quite that much credit, he said. He’s actually using one of his five senses, not relying on an extra one.

“I hear footsteps,” he said. “I can hear breathing. You can almost hear the ground rumbling a little bit. When we catch the ball and you see a guy duck and you’re like, ‘His awareness was great.’ It’s not that his awareness was great. He heard something and it made him duck.”

An NFL stadium is quieter than many might imagine as a catch is made, which helps make such clues available to be heard.

“Once the ball goes in the air, the crowd kind of stops,” Walker said. “They don’t always yell. Once they see the ball go in the air, they kind of pause a little bit. Then when you catch it, you’ll hear a, ‘Noooo.’ Even when I stiff-armed one of the DBs in a game, I didn’t hear anything until I stiff-armed him and then I heard, ‘Ohhhh.’ I stiff-armed him pretty good.”

Titans return man Marc Mariani describes things in a similar fashion.

“I don’t claim to be a freak that feels and sees everything,” he said. “On a punt return you get your last look at the coverage team and then you’ve got your eyes on the ball. A lot can happen in those 10 yards. I think you definitely use every tool you can use.

“You can feel stuff, you can see stuff, you can anticipate stuff and, yeah, you can hear stuff. You use it all, for sure. You can hear footsteps, you can hear rattling pads. There are some guys out there that cover punts that are huffing and puffing the whole way -- I know exactly where they are.”

Beyond Walker and Mariani, not many skill-position guys on the Titans feel as though they hear things that help them do their jobs.

Neither of the Titans' quarterbacks, Marcus Mariota nor Matt Cassel, said they hear footsteps while trying to avoid a rush.

They each said with eyes downfield, it’s a combination of feel and a ticking clock that tells them they are running out of time.

“Some people say they hear it, some people talk about a Spidey sense or something where they kind of feel it,” Mariota said. “I don’t know. I can kind of feel it. I don’t really hear. I tend to zone in on things, and I tend to just kind of feel things, feel the game. I think it’s different for every player.”

Titans receivers Rishard Matthews, Tajae Sharpe and Harry Douglas all said they can’t hear defenders closing, and they said so in a tone that suggested a cause for embarrassment.

“No, man, I don’t hear any footsteps, not me,” Sharpe said. “I don’t worry about anything like that. I just want to catch the ball. I don’t hear footsteps, nothing, I just worry about the football.”

Offensive coordinator Terry Robiskie doesn’t believe that.

“The receivers who told you they don’t hear, tell them they lie,” he said. “They do hear. You ever hear, ‘That guy dropped it because he heard footsteps?’ We all hear. They know they’re coming.

“It’s just a matter of the great ones, they hear with their ears but they focus on that ball with their eyes and they find a way to grab that thing and lock on to it.”

Walker tends to agree with Robiskie.

While receivers may consider the concept and conclude hearing footsteps is a negative that would have a bad influence on their ability to concentrate through a catch, he sees it as a positive.

It doesn’t inhibit his making a catch, and then it enhances his ability to size things up once he has the ball.

He made it clear he’s not telling anyone else how to do their job. But he also took a joking jab when I conveyed what his wide receiver counterparts said.

“That’s why," Walker said with a big grin, "they don’t get yards after the catch the way I do.”

PRO BOWL TE DELANIE WALKER TALKS LIFE ON AND OFF FIELD

TITANS ONLINE
NOVEMBER 12, 2016

NASHVILLE, Tenn. — The Titans signed tight end Delanie Walker in 2013 after he'd spent his first seven seasons with the San Francisco 49ers.

Since, Walker has developed into one of the NFL's top tight ends.

Walker is coming off a Pro Bowl season, when he set new team records among tight ends with 94 receptions and 1,088 receiving yards. He broke his own receiving yardage record and Frank Wycheck's reception record for franchise tight ends.

He's having another solid season in 2016.

Titans Online sat down with Walker recently about a number of topics, on the field and off it.

Here's how the conversation went….

What was Delanie Walker like as a teenager?

Oh man. I wasn't the same Delanie Walker you see today. I was always an athletic, outgoing person, but I grew up in a different type of neighborhood. So when I went to school I was Delanie Walker the athlete, but when I got to the neighborhood I was just Delanie, and a lot of people really didn't know I played sports because I didn't want them to try and take advantage of me with that situation. So I carried myself a little differently.

I know I've talked to you about the strength of your mother. When you think about the impact she's had on your life, what comes to mind?

The impact my mom had on me and my brothers was her work ethic. She worked two jobs and was able to take care of two boys by herself, and she made sure we had the best clothes, the best shoes. So I learned that hard work pays off. The way she kept our head straight and made sure we were focused on our goals of going to school and being successful in life, I'll never forget that. At the time I thought my mom was struggling, but I realize she put herself in that situation so me and my brother could have a better life.

You didn't have an easy path to the NFL. I remember you telling me in the past you were suspended in high school, and had football taken away at one point. How much of a wake-up call was that for you?

I was suspended my junior year, and kicked off the team and missed the whole junior season. I had to fight and crawl and do everything I could to get back on the team, and once they let me back on the team I realized it was more than just me. It made me realize it wasn't just "me," it was a team. I let the team down by being a selfish person, and I only cared about myself at the time. I knew then I had to change.

After high school, you ended up at Central Missouri. That's a long way from Pomona, California. What was that experience like, and did you think you'd be able to make it to the NFL from there?

It was a culture shock when I first got there. Going to Missouri from California, it was different. I saw Confederate flags, and I'd never seen them before. And they were flying. I had to adapt to my surroundings. I think I was always in a box back home in California, and when I went to Central Missouri it was the first time I stepped out of that box. When I went to Central, I knew I'd have an opportunity to get looked at by the NFL, but I didn't know if I'd be able to get drafted. I wanted to get a degree and focus on that. But as the year went on, I was having a great year and scouts were coming to the stadium, and I think my senior year I realized I might get drafted from the school and it worked out [as I was drafted in the sixth round].

You arrived here after playing in a Super Bowl during the 2012 season with the 49ers. How much have things changed on the team compared to when you first arrived?

When I first got here, the first year was OK. We won seven games. But then in the years after that we started spiraling down and didn't do very well. But now this year it is a totally different look, a totally different team, a totally different attitude. I would say the leadership is better. Guys were brought in who have won games. They know what it means to be a professional in this league, and they're surrounded with other good guys, and that has made a difference.

You have been very involved in the Nashville community, twice named the Titans Community Man of the Year (in 2013 and 2015). Why is that important to you?

In Nashville, there's so much I can put my hands in, and they gave me an opportunity to make a difference with my foundation. With the way I grew up, I understand sometimes these kids need positive role models because they don't always have that, and that is what I want to do.

Your involvement with Mothers Against Drunk Driving (MADD) has been a big part of your work. You teamed with MADD to help raise awareness of the dangers of drinking and driving after losing your aunt and uncle in a car accident near New Orleans after Super Bowl XLVII. How much did that experience, losing them because of a drunk driver, impact your life?

It made a big impact on my life, and my whole family's life. It really opened our eyes, because we really didn't know a lot about that culture, the drunk driving culture and how big it was. It made us look at ourselves, people around us, and I wanted to change that. Because the feeling that me and my family felt, I didn't want that to happen to anyone else.

With the Titans, you have broken several of Frank Wycheck's records, and you're on the verge of moving into second place on the franchise's all-time tight ends receptions list, behind Frank. What kind of interaction have you had with Wycheck over the years, and what do you remember about his game?

I am not going to say I know Frank real well personally, but we do have conversations, and I always try and show him mad respect when I see him, because he is one of the best to do this and to play the tight end position, especially for the Tennessee Titans. Every time we see each other we talk, and he'll ask me how my body is feeling and how I'm doing. He'll compliment me on how I run routes, or how I have been blocking. He always goes out of his way to praise me, and I thank him for that, because that means a lot coming from him.

I want to ask you about quarterback Marcus Mariota. What stands out most to you about him?

Just the way he handles pressure. Our first year here we didn't have a great year, and he had to take a lot of criticism. But he never bowed his head and he came back this year and he is having a great year. He works so hard and is such a good teammate. He's the kind of guy you want as the leader of your team.

Who has made the biggest impact on your NFL career?

I would say (former 49ers teammates) Bryant Young and Larry Allen. Being able to play with those guys, Hall of Famers for sure, and seeing how they took care of their bodies and how they went about their business. I think I learned from just watching them becoming a sponge and seeing how they did it. I think that is why I have been able to play as long as I have.

How long do you think you'll continue to play?

I don't know. My contract, whenever it is up I think that will make 14 years. When I am on the field I feel like I am 25, but I know deep down inside I am getting old. But I still feel like I can run with the best of them, and until a team tells me I am not capable of doing that, then I am going to try and play as long as possible.

When your career is over, how do you want others to remember Delanie Walker?

I want them to say, "When Delanie went on that field he gave it 100 percent, every play." Outside of football, I want them to remember that he cared about the community.

When you do get out in the community and talk to kids, what is your message? What do you tell them?

My message is always education. I think education is the biggest key for the future of these kids, and to have them be successful. I always tell them about education. I rarely talk about sports, because if you are good at sports, you are going to be good in sports. I always tell them education is the key, and make sure that you love your parents, because at the end of the day, that's all you've got.

AARON WALLACE'S VERSATILITY GETS TITANS COACHES' ATTENTION

BY TERRY MCCORMICK
TITANINSIDER.COM
MAY 20, 2016

During last week's rookie mini-camp, Tennessee Titans coaches wanted to challenge their newcomers to be able to do as much as possible without being overloaded.

Some of the rookies apparently were quick to make an impression, including seventh-round linebacker Aaron Wallace of UCLA, who showed a knack for versatility.

Wallace, who figures to have to earn his roster spot this fall in part on special teams, also showed plenty of smarts at the linebacker position, playing in all four spots during the rookie work. That was something that, no doubt, impressed head coach Mike Mularkey.

"Aaron Wallace, he practiced all four linebacker positions. For the very first day, that kind of gives you an indication of where he's at and his ability to pick up things," Mularkey said.

For his part, Wallace said playing both the outside spots and on the inside is not a difficult adjustment, though he has to remind himself mentally on occasion of what to do at what position.

"It's been good. It's going back to back and switching positions. I kind of have to switch gears a lot in my head, but in the week that I've been here, I've been able to take in a lot of information," Wallace said. "Being able to move around is only going to make me more valuable as a player."

Indeed, Wallace's first taste of NFL life showed him what type of adjustment he would have to make from college to the pro game.

"It really doesn't feel all that different. But this is the highest level of football there is. This is grown men playing the game. This is it, it's a dream come true," Wallace said.

Wallace also said he recognizes that the Titans, just 5-27 the past two years, are attempting to change the overall atmosphere with a new coach, new general manager and new philosophy. He went through the same thing at UCLA, as Jim Mora, Jr. took over the Bruins in 2012.

"When I was at UCLA, this same transition was happening with the new coach, trying to establish a new culture for the team. Guys being tough and being physical, and if you can't be like that, you're not gonna be on the team. I think I can fit the mold of a high effort, smart player," Wallace said.

AVERY WILLIAMSON LEARNED HARD WORK FROM FAMILY FARM

BY JIM WYATT
TITANS ONLINE
OCTOBER 14, 2016

NASHVILLE, Tenn. — Avery Williamson looked all GQ in his recent photo shoot for Nashville Lifestyles, posing for pictures in a snazzy sport coat, and showing off his pearly whites.

The Titans inside linebacker had been named one of Nashville's 25 Most Beautiful People by the magazine, and he wanted to look the part.

"I fit right in, huh?'' Williamson said with a smile. "It was pretty cool."

Looks can be deceiving.

While Williamson cleans up pretty good, he's known for doing the dirty work.

Williamson, in his third NFL season, was raised in the backwoods of West Tennessee, roughly two hours from Nashville. He grew up working with his father on the family's cattle farm in Milan. Looking back, the rugged life taught him many things he carries with him today in the NFL, and in life.

"It was hard work,'' Williamson said. "And it definitely taught me responsibility comes first, and I think that kind of rolls over to my career now. Back then, I always had to make sure I got my studying done before I do other activities, and I do the same thing now.

"All the work, it was challenging as a teenager at times, but it was normal to me. And I learned a lot from that experience."

A fifth-round draft pick by the Titans in the 2014 NFL Draft out of Kentucky, Williamson has been a hard-working, consistent performer in his first three NFL seasons. In 2015, Williamson led the Titans with 137 tackles, one year after he finished third on the team with 107 tackles. He became the first player in the Titans era to start his career with back-to-back 100-tackle seasons.

Williamson is off to another fast start this season. Through five games he leads the Titans in tackles with 57, and he posted double-digit tackle totals in the team's first four games.

He's been a hit with his teammates, and coaches.

"His growth rate stands out to me,'' Titans defensive coordinator Dick LeBeau said of Williamson. "He has started all three of his years, and you can go back and watch his games and he just keeps growing and growing. I think the sky is the limit for him. He is a hard-working, hard-training guy, and that stands out about him to me, how hard he works and the way he is improving consistently.

"Avery has a lot of pride in knowing what his job is and knowing where he is supposed to be on every play. And he is pretty good at everything. He is fast at his position, he is getting very good at getting off blocks, he is getting comfortable with the various formations and the types of plays that could come out of them and all the things you can only gain from experience. He is a really well-rounded linebacker, and he's getting better."

Teammates believe he's underrated, despite the fact he's way ahead of the pack in tackles. Williamson has also made an impact with tackles for a loss (2), and quarterback pressures (2). He also has an interception.

"He is a stud, man," Titans linebacker Brian Orakposaid of Williamson. "He is a fun-loving type of guy, but when he gets out on the field he is fierce, he's a competitor. He is a linebacker – he has linebacker genes in him. The guy runs to the ball, hits, and he does everything you need from a linebacker, getting everyone involved from the front line to the secondary.

"And the guy is just fierce. Don't let Avery in the locker room, his personality, fool you. There's a switch he turns on when he gets out there…. And he knows how to turn that switch on and off."

Williamson learned about hard work at a young age.

He was roughly 6 years old when he first started helping out on his family's farm. As he got older, he did more.

Williamson would feed the cows, and make sure they weren't getting sick. He did it rain, sleet or shine. When his buddies gathered to play video games after practice or school, Williamson oftentimes came home to work on the farm instead.

Williamson's days on the farm aren't over by any stretch. He was back in Milan for a stretch over the summer.

"I don't do as much as I used to,'' he said. "But I can drive a tractor and cut hay. It is really relaxing for me. It was fun to go back and do that this summer with my dad."

The Titans have enjoyed seeing Williamson mature, and mow down ball carriers.

Williamson said he learned about being a pro from watching and listening to some of his older teammates, like fellow linebackers Wesley Woodyard and Derrick Morgan, and Orakpo.

Woodyard said Williamson has impressed him with his consistency, and approach.

"You have to challenge yourself to be a better player and to improve every year, and that is what he is doing,'' Woodyard said of Williamson. "He is watching more film, listening to guys when they tell him to look out for things. And he has that confidence, too, he believes he can make every play, and he shows that on the field."

He said Williamson is also a great example off the field, and not because of his place on the "Most Beautiful" list.

"Oh yeah, he's heard about that,'' Woodyard said with a smile. "But seriously, Avery is one of those guys that you could say if you had a daughter, he would be somebody that you wouldn't mind him dating your family member. He is a really good guy. He's a hometown Tennessee guy. When he is here, he puts his full effort it."

Williamson said he feels blessed to be able to play in Tennessee, not far from where he grew up.

This past summer he hosted a football camp for kids in Nashville, and there was a huge turnout of folks from Milan. His father, Henry, was there, observing with a smile.

Williamson is proud of where he came from, but he also wants those around him to be proud of him.

"I want people to know I am going to be that guy that comes to work every day," Williamson said. "I want people to know I am accountable, and that I am going to work as hard as I can to be the best I can possibly be."

AL WOODS LOVES DOING DIRTY WORK ON FIELD FOR TITANS

BY JIM WYATT
TITANS ONLINE
MARCH 15, 2016

NASHVILLE, Tenn. — Al Woods grew up on a Louisiana farm, working in the heat and getting dirty ever since he can first remember.

You name, and Woods did it.

“I’m a second-generation cattleman, because my dad has been doing it,’’ Woods said on Monday. “I remember when I was six years old, my dad would put the truck in first gear and let it take off slow and I would stand in the seat and drive it. And my dad and my uncle would be outside throwing hay in the back of the truck, on the trailer. And when it would get to the end, he would turn (the truck) around for me.

“He would say: “Hold it straight.” I’d drive it real slow and they’d stack the hay. That’s how I learned how to drive actually.”

Years later, Woods is still doing the dirty work -- on the farm, and on the football field.

On Monday, Woods officially signed a new contract with the Titans. In Tennessee, he’s getting paid for being disruptive in the middle of the trenches as the team’s nose tackle. He arguably had the best season of his six-year NFL career in 2015.

But during the offseason he still works on the farm – with about 300 head of cattle and horses -- he now owns back in Elton, La. These days he’s planting rice, working the cattle, and counting the days until he’s ready to bale some more hay.

He loves both jobs. His wife, Megan, vouched for him on the day he showed up at Saint Thomas Sports Park to sign his contract.

“The days can get long (on the farm),’’ Woods said. “She will call me and tell me “It’s time for you to come home. You need to turn that tractor off and come home.” It is 9-9:30 at night and I am still out there with the lights on trying to finish up.”

On the football field, Woods likes to finish off opponents.

His play on the field earned him a new contract with the Titans. Woods, who played at LSU, also received an offer from the Seahawks after a visit last week at the start of free agency.

Following a season when he tied his career high with 31 tackles, including three for a loss, Woods said he wanted to return to Tennessee because of his teammates and coaches.

“I love the new GM (Jon Robinson) and what direction he is taking us in, and I love the coaches,’’ Woods said. “I feel like it is going to be a totally different deal coming into this new season and I definitely want to be a part of it. I love the coaches, my teammates. When I was going through this process, there was nothing bad I could say about Tennessee. So it was like, “Why not come back?

“Really, I feel like it’s a match made in heaven.”

Playing in the trenches on Sundays, however, Woods sometimes has to go through hell.

“It can get bad,’’ Woods said. “It can get brutal… But that doesn’t bother me. I wouldn't trade it for anything.”

Woods (6-4, 307), who joined the Titans in 2014 after spending two-plus seasons with the Steelers, said he doesn’t mind working in the not-so-glamorous position.

Except for the times he fails to reach his own expectations.

“I’ll come home and if it is a game where I don’t feel like I completely dominated people, sometimes I just won’t talk, I won’t eat, I won’t do anything,’’ said Woods, who has played in 69 career games -- and tallied 103 tackles and 3.5 sacks -- since 2010. “I scream on the inside, “I should have done this better. I shouldn’t have done that.” …. Nobody plays a perfect game, but we all strive to perfection.

“I feel like if am playing, if I have my hand on the dirt, whether it’s in practice or an NFL game, you have people riding on this. It could be my family, the Titans family, coaches and their families. One play can dictate a touchdown or a loss of a game. I just feel like every down is important and I have to do my job.”

So what drives the man who learned to drive on the farm?

Woods, with his wife by his side on Monday, mentioned her and his children – daughter Raigen (7) and son Brayden (2) – on several occasions during the course of an interview with Titans Online.

Megan Woods, who has known Al since he was three years old, said her husband has always been a perfectionist. It’s partly why he didn’t take a vacation from high school until last summer, when he finally allowed himself to take a mental break on a trip to the Bahamas. Even then, it took him a few days to really relax.

“I know my little boy, my daughter and my wife are in the stands watching me play,’’ Woods said. “I definitely don’t want to leave a game and have my little girl say, “Daddy, you got beat up.” I don’t want to have that happen. I want to be the one who gives the beating. … She notices if I get pushed off the ball, or if I fell the wrong way.

“I do it for them, and for the team. And I want to be the best I can possibly be. I am always striving to be the best, and I'll never stop doing that."

WESLEY WOODYARD IS SPREADING GOOD CHEER IN THE COMMUNITY

BY VINCE AGNEW
NFL PLAYER ENGAGEMENT
DECEMBER 9, 2016

With the Christmas season approaching, Tennessee Titans linebacker Wesley Woodyard is continuing to display the outstanding values that have made him respected in the community and around the NFL.

Being nominated for the Walter Payton Man of the Year Award, the NFL's most prestigious off-the-field honor, speaks to a tremendous amount of character and commitment that a man in the league must display in every facet of life. Woodyard has been nominated three times throughout his nine-year career.

"That is more important than any of the football when you can have a chance to work and change the community," he explained. "I'm a selfless guy. I want to put my community first."

"To see my teammates recognize that hard work, it's really just a huge blessing to be honored in the same breath as Walter Payton," Woodyard said.

For the LaGrange, Georgia native, being active in communities is not something that happens at sporadic charity events during the course of a career. For him, it is truly who he is and who he was groomed to be from an early age.

He credits his selfless qualities to a combination of life experiences and family upbringing.

"My mom was very selfless," he said. "My brother was a big influence on me and I even did some charity work as a little kid too."

Woodyard recalled the first event that he ever attended at a homeless shelter in Atlanta, Georgia—something that he believes put things into perspective.

"Just to be able to see that as a young kid I think that saved my life at a young age," he said.

Now with the holiday season rapidly approaching, the veteran linebacker is hoping to have a life-changing impact on a new generation of children. While he did not don a big white beard and a red jump suit, he did deliver in a big way.

Many think of Christmas and envision trees dressed in decorative lights surrounded by a mound of presents. However thousands of children in unfavorable situations are never able to wake up on Christmas Day and experience that euphoria.

Woodyard kicked off this seventh annual holiday toy drive on Monday, November 28 in Aurora, Colorado to make sure that children in multiple communities would have gifts to open on December 25th. He was joined by some of his former Broncos teammates, linebacker Brandon Marshall, running back Juwan Thompson and cornerback Chris Harris, Jr.

The final count is not in yet but Woodyard estimates that they raised over 500 toys and $3,500 from the silent auction for children with Vickers Boys and Girls Club, Give Denver, Tennyson Center, Denver Children's Hospital and Hallett Academy.

He does all of this through his 16 Ways Foundation which works to put on events at various locations around the country, including three more toy drives in the planning stages.

Woodyard received his degree in social work from the University of Kentucky and believes the reason that he went that route was to be able to have initiatives like his foundation and do the work that he is involved with now.

"I just try to touch on every aspect that I can to help in that field," he said. "So that's working with self esteem with the kids because there is an emotional need for at-risk youth. I also have a literacy program in Lexington, Kentucky. I just try to change every aspect that I can get my hands on."

Woodyard embodies what it means to live a life of service and exudes a genuine passion for all that he is doing in the community. Taking time away from his team and family to spread good cheer during the holiday season, there is no wonder why he has been a repeat candidate for the Walter Payton Man of the Year Award.

DIRECTSNAPS:
WOODYARD LEADS ON, OFF FIELD FOR TITANS

BY WESLEY WOODYARD
TITANS ONLINE
OCTOBER 19, 2016

DirectSnaps is a story series contributed by Tennessee Titans players sharing their perspectives, both on and off the field, with fans. This week's entry comes from LB Wesley Woodyard.

Before you can lead, you have to learn how to follow. Before you can speak, you have to learn how to listen.

I'm a leader now and a captain of this team. But I had to learn how to become one first.

The Denver Broncos picked me up as an undrafted free agent in 2008, and I was able to grow up in the league with older guys like Champ Bailey and Brian Dawkins. They were great role models for me, just seeing the way they carried themselves on and off the field.

And then when Peyton Manning came in, he had this pure business mindset. No matter what it takes, do your job and get it done. He changed the whole culture of that team. For one guy to be able to do that to a locker room, it speaks a lot about the kind of leader he is.

Those guys were the perfect example that actions speak louder than words. In football, the most important thing as a leader is having strong play on the field, and it's a guarantee that guys will just learn to gravitate to you. Champ, Brian and PM – they proved that. But when you are a leader, especially as a captain, your teammates will be looking at you, whether you're winning or losing, to see how you're reacting in bad situations and good situations. They're looking to see if you're the same person through it all. I learned a lot about leadership from those guys in Denver, and now I try to emulate that as a leader on this team.

Outside of football, I learned from some different leaders. Their names will never end up in the Pro Football Hall of Fame, but undoubtedly, they have had the greatest impact on my life.

My mom, Edna Rutledge: She would work day and night to provide for my brother and me, always making a way out of nothing. I can remember her sacrificing her Christmases just so that I could have one. She has always sacrificed for me. She taught me about the importance of community, fully believing in the truth that "it takes a village to raise a child."

My older brother, Jazmon Griggs: He's the reason why I started playing the game of football. He showed me how to take a leap of faith when it comes to what I want to do in life. If I want to grow, if I want my dreams and goals to get big, then I've just got to believe and take the leap of faith. He taught me that.

My cousin, Derrick Kelley: He's one of the main reasons why I went to college. He took me on all of my college visits. He saw something in me that a lot of people may not have seen. He was a guy that made a lot of sacrifices and missed work just so I could have a chance to go to college. He never asked for a penny. All he wanted me to do was be a positive role model and a positive citizen in return.

I think we all need our community to make it. I'm proof of that, both in life and in football. What my mom, brother and cousin taught me—how to sacrifice, how to go after big dreams and how to be a role model—shaped me into the man I am today. That's why I started the 16 Ways Foundation several years ago to help at-risk youth across the country. Because I've always had the support of a community, it's always touched my heart to make sure I give back and do my part in keeping the community strong.

When it comes to football, this may be year nine for me, but I feel younger than I felt at 25. And the thing about it is, I still love this game and I have so much more love to give for the game and to the players coming in. I try to share with these guys on the team the experiences I've been through. I try to stay on top of them, making sure that they don't let up on the practice field or in the classroom. And most importantly, I'm not afraid of hard work. Actions do speak louder than words.

I don't want to put a cap on how many years I have left, but when my playing days are over, I want to be remembered first as a Christian, as a guy who put his teammates before himself and a guy who laid it all on the field. I want to be remembered as a true competitor, a man of God and somebody who loved the team. I want to be remembered as a leader.

RECEIVER KENDALL WRIGHT HEALTHY, SHOWING HIS VALUE TO TITANS

BY TERESA M. WALKER
ASSOCIATED PRESS
OCTOBER 20, 2016

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Kendall Wright's teammates kept welcoming him back as he caught pass after pass. The Tennessee Titans wide receiver insists he never left.

Maybe not, but his injured hamstring cost him all of the preseason and the first three games of the season.

Wright made it clear he's healthy now, catching eight of nine passes thrown to him for 133 yards in last week's 28-26 win over Cleveland, the second-best performance of his career.

"It feels good," Wright said. "Just going out there whenever my number is called and if Marcus (Mariota) throws me the ball, I've got to be ready to make a play."

That is what the Titans hoped for when drafting Wright with the 20th overall pick in 2012 out of Baylor. He looked exactly like the wide receiver this franchise has been searching for since moving to Tennessee in 1997 in 2013 with 94 catches for 1,079 yards. Then injuries kept him out of two games in 2014 and six in 2015 when he caught a career-low 36 passes for 408 yards.

Now the 5-foot-10 receiver is in the final year of his contract with the general manager who drafted him fired in January. Mike Mularkey is his third head coach, and Wright is working with yet another offensive coordinator in Terry Robiskie and a new wide receivers coach in Bob Bratkowski.

The Titans signed Rishard Matthews in free agency and drafted Tajae Sharpe in the fifth round in April. They also signed veteran Andre Johnson at the start of training camp. When Wright hurt his left hamstring Aug. 2, he already had been shuffled out of the starting rotation in favor of Matthews and Sharpe.

He aggravated his hamstring again Aug. 29 . By the time Wright finally returned, Robiskie had made it pretty clear he couldn't judge Wright because he simply hadn't seen enough of the wide receiver and what he had seen looked rusty.

Wright started his first game Oct. 2 in a loss at Houston. Then he posted the fifth 100-yard receiving game of his career last week against Cleveland, just shy of the 150 yards receiving Wright had Dec. 15, 2013, against Arizona. His big play came on a 48-yard pass from Mariota, something Mularkey and Robiskie spent time with Wright last week making clear what they wanted.

The coaches didn't want Wright slowing down or turning to look back for the ball, simply run under it after Wright and Mariota just missed connecting in practice last week. In the game, Wright wound up having to stretch out for the ball before getting into the end zone.

"I didn't want to come in meetings and Terry be all over me about not running," Wright said.

Not that it bothers Wright hearing from Robiskie.

"I don't really want him to lay off of me," Wright said. "I mean I have a lot of room to get better with what I am doing. The more he stays on me, the more I go out there and work at it, work to do everything better. He can stay on me all he wants. I am cool with it."

The Titans (3-3) now hope that Wright can help ease the double teams tight end Delanie Walker has received this season after he caught 94 passes for 1,088 yards last season. The Titans host Indianapolis (2-4) on Sunday.

"If you can start having some guys be productive in other areas, then it's hard to cover one guy and take one guy out of the game," Mularkey said.

KENDALL WRIGHT BRINGS DIFFERENT ELEMENT TO TITANS RECEIVERS

THE TENNESSEAN

Kendall Wright may not be able to run a 4.4 second 40-yard dash, but the former first-round pick's quickness, elusiveness and unpredictability are qualities that separate him from the Titans' other wide receivers.

That's why the Titans (1-2) are so eager to welcome back Wright, who, after a second consecutive quality practice on Thursday, remains on track to return to the lineup Sunday against Houston (2-1).

"He's a quicker guy, and he'll come in with some energy — he's more of an energetic guy," Titans offensive coordinator Terry Robiskie said. "Hopefully he's going to give us a boost — make a play, give us some help and help generate a fast start."

It hasn't been an especially productive start to the season for the Titans' four wide receivers, a group that's totaled 32 catches for 335 yards (10.5-yard average) and one touchdown in three games. Rookie Tajae Sharpe is the only member of the wide-receiving corps with more than 10 catches (he has 14) and more than 100 receiving yards (he has 157).

Robiskie was asked Thursday what the team can do to help its receivers gain more separation — despite the fact that none of the receivers is lightning fast.

"You've got a lot of things you can do as far as crossing the field," Robiskie said. "You don't necessarily have to go vertical all the time. You can take them cross the field left and right as opposed to north and south.

"There's a lot of things you can do along those lines. I don't know if there's a whole lot of teams that have those 4.27 guys or 4.33 guys. Those guys can really run and are really hard to come by. But you just have to make plays when the opportunity comes up. You have to hit them."

Wright most often plays slot, so he's adept at finding openings in the middle of the field — sometimes by moving through traffic — and then picking up yardage after the catch. He slumped to 36 catches last season but averaged 72 receptions during the previous three years.

"He's a big player for us," Robiskie said of Wright, who missed the entire preseason and the first three games of the regular season with a hamstring injury. "It's going to be interesting to have him back. He should be fresh. He hasn't done a whole lot. But just to have him back in the fold — a veteran guy, got a couple years under belt, been in big games — is going to be a plus."

FRANCHISE PRO FOOTBALL HALL OF FAMERS

GEORGE BLANDA

QUARTERBACK/KICKER • 6'2" • 215 lbs • COLLEGE: KENTUCKY
NFL SEASONS: 26 • YEARS WITH OILERS: 7 (1960-66)
HOMETOWN: YOUNGWOOD, PA. • BORN: SEPT. 27, 1927
GAMES PLAYED: 340 • HALL OF FAME INDUCTION: 1981

George Blanda, who came out of retirement with the emergence of the American Football League in 1960, was the offensive catalyst for the explosive Oiler squads of the early 1960s. He played quarterback and handled the placekicking chores in Columbia blue for seven of his NFL-record 26 seasons in the league. Blanda was the team's leading passer and scorer in each of those seven seasons and still owns franchise records for most extra points (299), most touchdown passes in a season (36) and most touchdown passes in a game (7). He is also third in points scored with 596. The 36 scoring tosses stood as an NFL record for an astounding 23 years. Blanda's NFL career records included most games (340), most points (2,002) and most extra points (943). He also passed for 236 touchdowns. Blanda captained the Oilers to two consecutive AFL titles in 1960 and 1961, earning AFL Player of the Year honors in 1961. Blanda's career was divided into three distinct parts, 10 years with the Chicago Bears, seven seasons with the Houston Oilers and nine years with the Oakland Raiders. In 1970, he became the oldest quarterback to play in a title game. He was just a month shy of his 49th birthday when he retired before the 1976 season. Blanda passed away at age 83 on Sept. 27, 2010.

KEN HOUSTON

SAFETY • 6'3" • 197 lbs • COLLEGE: PRAIRIE VIEW A&M
NFL SEASONS: 14 • YEARS WITH OILERS: 6 (1967-72)
HOMETOWN: LUFKIN, TEXAS • BORN: NOV. 12, 1944
GAMES PLAYED: 196 • HALL OF FAME INDUCTION: 1986

Considered one of the best safeties in football history, Ken Houston picked off 49 passes (898 yards), recovered 21 fumbles and scored 12 touchdowns over his 14-season NFL career, earning Pro Bowl honors 12 consecutive times (1968-69 AFL, 1970-79 NFL). Houston returned an NFL-record nine interceptions for a touchdown in his six seasons as an Oiler. Four of those scores came in 1971, tying an NFL record. He returned two in one game against San Diego in the 1971 season finale, which also ties an NFL mark. His other three touchdowns came on a punt return, a fumble return and a blocked field goal return. Houston also holds the Oilers record for most career interception return yards with 650. With a long, fluid stride, Houston had excellent speed and quickness. His 6-3, 197-pound frame made him an ideal pass defender. Yet his lean, muscular body helped him to become a punishing tackler. Originally a ninth-round draft choice out of Prairie View A&M, Houston earned a starter's role by the third game of his rookie season. Two weeks later in a game against the New York Jets, he scored two touchdowns, one on a 71-yard blocked field goal attempt, and the other on a 43-yard interception return. After excelling for six years with the Oilers, Ken was traded to the Redskins for five veteran players in 1973. The Redskins once referred to Houston as "pro football's most underrated superstar," but his capabilities were widely recognized. He won all-league acclaim with the Oilers in 1969 and 1971, and then was either All-Pro or All-NFC with the Redskins every year from 1973 to 1979. He was selected for either the AFL All-Star game or the AFC-NFC Pro Bowl 12 straight seasons from 1968 through 1979. He played in 183 consecutive games before suffering a broken arm against the New York Giants Nov. 25, 1979.

EARL CAMPBELL

RUNNING BACK • 5'11" • 232 lbs • COLLEGE: TEXAS
NFL SEASONS: 8 • YEARS WITH OILERS: 7 (1978-84)
HOMETOWN: TYLER, TEXAS • BORN: MARCH 29, 1955
GAMES PLAYED: 115 • HALL OF FAME INDUCTION: 1991

Earl Campbell, a 5-11, 232-pound ball-carrying dynamo from the University of Texas, joined the Houston Oilers as the first player taken in the 1978 National Football League Draft. The first player to earn All-Southwest Conference honors four years, Campbell was a consensus All-America and the Heisman Trophy winner in 1977. Campbell took the NFL by storm from the outset. In 1978, he was named the NFL's Most Valuable Player, All-Pro, and Rookie of the Year. He won the league rushing championship with a club-record 1,450 yards and was named to the AFC Pro Bowl squad. It was more of the same the next two years with NFL rushing titles, MVP honors, and consensus All-Pro acclaim each season. He followed his rookie campaign with 1,697 yards in 1979, but his finest year came in 1980 when he rushed for 1,934 yards, which at the time was second only to 0. J. Simpson's 2,003 yards gained in 1973. That year, Campbell gained over 200 yards in four games. In 1981, he won his fourth straight AFC rushing title with 1,376 yards. A sensational runner, Campbell was picked for the Pro Bowl five of his first six NFL seasons (1978-81, 1983). In his eight-year career, which finished in New Orleans, Campbell rushed 2,187 times for 9,407 yards, and 74 touchdowns, retiring as the NFL's seventh all-time leading rusher. He also gained 806 yards on 121 receptions to bring his career combined net yards total to 10,213. He set Oilers records for most career yards (8,574), most career attempts (1,979), most touchdown runs (73) and most consecutive games with a rushing touchdown (5). His most famous performance came in a Monday night game against Miami in his rookie season. That night, he rushed for 199 yards and four touchdowns to lead the Oilers to a spectacular 35-30 victory. In spite of the constant pounding he took from opposing defenders, Earl missed only six games out of 115 because of injuries. Midway into his seventh season, he was traded by the Oilers to the New Orleans Saints for a first-round draft pick. He played a season and a half with the Saints before retiring after the 1985 campaign. Campbell is one of just four people officially designated a Texas Legend by the Texas State Legislature. The others are Davy Crockett, Sam Houston and Stephen F. Austin. Campbell was the only designee of the 20th century.

CHARLIE JOINER

WIDE RECEIVER • 5'11" • 188 lbs • COLLEGE: GRAMBLING
NFL SEASONS: 18 • YEARS WITH OILERS: 4 (1969-72)
HOMETOWN: MANY, LA. • BORN: OCT. 14, 1947
GAMES PLAYED: 239 • HALL OF FAME INDUCTION: 1996

Charlie Joiner played 18 seasons in the NFL, including his first four with the Houston Oilers. One of the league's most prolific receivers, he amassed 750 career receptions for 12,146 yards and 65 touchdowns, ranking as the league's leading receiver of all-time when he retired at the age of 39 in 1986. His 18 seasons played were longer than any other wide receiver in history at the time of his retirement. The Oilers originally targeted Joiner for the defensive backfield when they picked the 5-11, 180-pounder from Grambling in the fourth round of the 1969 AFL-NFL Draft. Joiner played briefly on defense and the kickoff return team but soon became established as a premier pass catcher. Joiner caught 82 of his 750 career passes as an Oiler, totaling 1,480 yards and 12 touchdowns. He paced the squad with 681 yards and seven touchdown grabs in 1971. In his fourth season in 1972, Houston sent him to the Cincinnati Bengals in a four-player swap. Four years later in 1976, he was traded to San Diego. With the Chargers, Joiner blossomed into super-stardom. He and quarterback Dan Fouts formed a lethal pass-catch team that accounted for the preponderance of his 586 receptions as a Charger. During his 11 years in San Diego, Joiner caught 50 or more passes seven times and had 70 or more receptions three seasons. Injuries cut into his playing time at the beginning, but in a 193-game span over his final 13 seasons, Joiner missed only one game. He was an All-NFL pick in 1980 and a Pro Bowl choice three times. In the 1980 AFC title game, he led the Chargers with six receptions for 130 yards and two touchdowns. Blessed with excellent speed and tantalizing moves, Joiner averaged 16.2 yards per catch and accounted for 12,146 yards and 65 touchdowns. When he was inducted into the Pro Football Hall of Fame in 1996, Joiner ranked fifth in receptions and sixth in receiving yardage on the NFL's all-time list. Joiner was once described by San Francisco 49ers coaching great Bill Walsh as "the most intelligent, the smartest, the most calculating receiver the game has ever known."

MIKE MUNCHAK
GUARD • 6'3" • 281 lbs • COLLEGE: PENN STATE
NFL SEASONS: 12 • YEARS WITH OILERS: 12 (1982-93)
HOMETOWN: SCRANTON, PA. • BORN: MARCH 5, 1960
GAMES PLAYED: 159 • HALL OF FAME INDUCTION: 2001

Mike Munchak was the eighth player overall and the first offensive lineman chosen in the 1982 National Football League draft. Selected by the Oilers, the former Penn State standout was an immediate success with the Houston club, earning the starting left guard spot in his first training camp. The 6-3, 281-pound lineman wasted little time establishing himself as one of the premier guards in the NFL. In 1984, in just his third year in the league, he was named to the first of seven All-AFC teams. That same year he received the first of nine Pro Bowl invitations. Not coincidentally, the Oilers' on-the-field successes increased as Munchak's development and experience increased. From their dismal 1-8 record in the strike-shortened 1982 season, the Oilers improved nearly every year that Munchak played. Along the way, the team advanced to the playoffs seven consecutive years (1987-1993) and captured the 1991 and 1993 AFC Central Divisional crowns. Munchak was a devastating blocker and considered the key to an offensive line that kept the Oilers at or near the top of the NFL's offensive statistical categories. In 1988 he led the Oilers' offensive line that gave up just 24 quarterback sacks which was third in the NFL. It was also the fewest sacks allowed by the team in 10 seasons. The following season the offensive line held opponents to no sacks in six games. In 1991, the Oilers offensive line finished second in the AFC and fourth in the NFL in the fewest quarterback sacks allowed. Behind the Munchak-led line, Houston led the NFL in total offense in 1990 and passing offense in 1990 and 1991. The Oilers finished second in points scored in 1990 and second in total offense in 1991. Equally effective as a run blocker, Munchak led the Oilers offensive charge in 1993 as the team finished fourth in the NFL in both average gain per rushing play (4.4) and average gain per offensive play (5.3). Although he suffered from chronic knee problems, Munchak played in 159 regular season games. His 12 seasons with the Oilers tied him for second longest in the franchise's history at the time of his retirement. He became the first player inducted into the Hall of Fame who played his entire career with the Oilers. Long-time teammate Bruce Matthews presented Munchak for induction.

ELVIN BETHEA
DEFENSIVE END • 6'2" • 260 lbs • COLLEGE: NORTH CAROLINA A&T
NFL SEASONS: 16 • YEARS WITH OILERS: 16 (1968-83)
HOMETOWN: TRENTON, N.J. • BORN: MARCH 1, 1946
GAMES PLAYED: 210 • HALL OF FAME INDUCTION: 2003

Defensive end Elvin Bethea, an eight-time Pro Bowl selection during his outstanding career with the Houston Oilers, was named to the five-man class of the 2003 Pro Football Hall of Fame that included running back Marcus Allen, guard Joe DeLamielleure, wide receiver James Lofton, and coach Hank Stram. A third-round draft pick in 1968 (77th player overall) Bethea played in 210 games over 16 seasons, never missing a game until breaking his arm on Nov. 13, 1977. He was considered a "steal" in a draft class that produced three future Hall of Fame players in Larry Csonka, Art Shell, and Ron Yary. When he retired, he held three team records relating to career service: most seasons (16), most career regular season games played (210), and most consecutive regular season games played (135). Having led the team in sacks in six seasons, Bethea's unofficial 105-career sack total still ranks first in franchise history, including his team-best 17 sacks in 1973. He recorded four sacks and a fumble recovery in his best single game performance against San Diego in 1976. He played in eight playoff games and posted 691 career tackles. Bethea also played in eight Pro Bowls (1970, 1972-1976, 1979, 1980) and earned All-Pro second-team honors in 1973, 1975, 1978, and 1979. More than just a pass rusher, Bethea was also effective against the run. Eventhough 1974 was the first year such statistics were compiled by the Oilers, his 691 career tackles, are still among the best in franchise history, even excluding the first six years of his career. "When people ask me who the best guy I ever played against was I always tell them Elvin Bethea and Lyle Alzado because both of them were complete ballplayers," said Art Shell, Hall of Fame member of the Oakland Raiders. "Elvin was one of the quickest guys I've ever been around. We always had to double-team him. There were times when I was supposed to block him when he would get by me so quick. And then Gene Upshaw was supposed to pick him up and he also got by him so quick that we would get back to the huddle and Upshaw would say, 'Did you see that?' and I'd say, 'Yeah, I saw that. He just beat the heck out of me too!' Elvin was just a great player."

WARREN MOON
QUARTERBACK • 6'3" • 212 lbs • COLLEGE: WASHINGTON
NFL SEASONS: 17 • YEARS WITH OILERS: 10 (1984-93)
HOMETOWN: LOS ANGELES, CALIF. • BORN: NOVEMBER 18, 1956
GAMES PLAYED: 208 • HALL OF FAME INDUCTION: 2006

Warren Moon, the fourth leading passer in NFL history, was inducted into the 2006 class of the Pro Football Hall of Fame. Moon played 10 years (1984-93) with the Oilers/Titans organization and holds the franchise records for passing yards (33,685) and touchdowns (196), while leading the Oilers to seven consecutive playoff appearances from 1987-93. During a 17-year NFL career, Moon played for the Houston Oilers, Minnesota Vikings, Seattle Seahawks and Kansas City Chiefs and amassed 49,325 passing yards, 291 touchdowns and 102 wins. He earned nine Pro Bowl invitations (tied for the most by a quarterback with John Elway and Dan Marino), posted nine 3,000 yard seasons, 49 300-yard games and led his team to nine playoff appearances. His eight consecutive playoff berths matched a feat accomplished by Terry Bradshaw and Joe Montana. At the time of his retirement, he held the single-season passing yardage record for three different franchises: Oilers (4,367 in 1991), Vikings (4,364 in 1994) and Seahawks (3,678 in 1997). Moon tallied many accomplishments during his Oiler career. His finest season came in 1990, throwing for 4,689 yards (363 for 584) and 33 touchdowns in only 15 games. He earned AP NFL Offensive Player of the Year for his efforts and his third of nine Pro Bowl invitations. Against Kansas City in 1990, Moon threw for 527 yards, which ranks as the second highest single-game total in NFL history (Norm Van Brocklin, 554 yards in 1951). In 1991, he surpassed the previous season's yardage total with 4,690 yards and became just the third player (Marino, Fouts) in NFL history to produce consecutive 4,000 yard passing seasons. Moon joined the Oilers and the NFL in 1984, after six seasons in the Canadian Football League, where he led his team to five Grey Cups (League Champions). In the CFL, Moon threw for 21,228 yards and 144 touchdowns. Moon was driven to play in the CFL after drawing little interest from the NFL as a starting quarterback following his senior season at the University of Washington. Moon became the first African-American quarterback to be inducted into the Pro Football Hall of Fame and his legacy as a minority quarterback cannot be underestimated. At the time of his arrival in the NFL only two black quarterbacks had been significant starters for their NFL teams (Shack Harris, Rams; Doug Williams, Tampa Bay).

BRUCE MATTHEWS
GUARD/TACKLE/CENTER • 6'5" • 305 lbs • COLLEGE: USC
NFL SEASONS: 19 • YEARS WITH OILERS: 19 (1983-2001)
HOMETOWN: ARCADIA, CALIF. • BORN: AUGUST 8, 1961
GAMES PLAYED: 296 • HALL OF FAME INDUCTION: 2007

Arguably one of the best offensive linemen to ever play the game, Bruce Matthews became the first Tennessee Titan to be inducted into the Pro Football Hall of Fame. At the time of his retirement, Matthews played in more NFL games (296) than any non-kicker in the league's history. Longevity and durability were his hallmarks, but that coupled with his unparalleled play, earning a league record 14 consecutive Pro Bowl (9 at guard and 6 at center) selections (tied with Merlin Olsen) and seven times named AP All-Pro, made him one of the all-time greats. He rose to the challenges presented to him in starting at every position on the offensive line during his NFL career (87 C, 99 LG, 67 RG, 22 RT, 17 LT). He becomes the first Hall of Fame offensive lineman to play significant time at all five offensive line positions. A constant for the Oilers/Titans franchise, Matthews started in a team record 229 consecutive games (streak started at Indianapolis, Nov. 29, 1987) and never missed a game because of injury. His 19 seasons also are a team record and he ranks second in NFL history for years with one team behind Jackie Slater, who spent 20 seasons with the Rams. Matthews and G Randall McDaniel (Vikings) were the only two NFL players to play in every game during the decade of the 90's. Matthews was a part of nearly one-half of the franchise's first 42-years of history and helped the team win 146 games, make the playoffs nine times, earn the only three AFC Central titles in team history, earn an AFC Championship and the franchise's only Super Bowl appearance. He blocked for 15 quarterbacks and 27 running backs, including five different 1,000-yard rushers (Earl Campbell, Mike Rozier, Lorenzo White, Gary Brown and Eddie George). During his career, he played in offenses that produced nine 1,000-yard rushing seasons and eight 3,000-yard passers. Additionally, he played in 42 different stadiums during his NFL career. During his career, Matthews blocked on a line that helped produce 65 100-yard rushing performances and 48 300-yard passing performances. Originally drafted by the Houston Oilers in the first round (ninth overall) of the 1983 NFL Draft, Matthews earned All-America honors at the University of Southern California. Matthews and his brother, Clay, each played 19 NFL seasons and the duo set an NFL record for games played by a pair of brothers with 574 games. Clay Matthews played in 278 games during his NFL career. Matthews had his number 74 jersey retired by the team and was inducted into the organization's Hall of Fame during a December, 2002 ceremony. Matthews joined a 2007 Hall of Fame class that included Dallas Cowboys WR Michael Irvin, Buffalo Bills RB Thurman Thomas, Detroit Lions TE Charlie Sanders, Cleveland Browns G Gene Hickerson, and St. Louis CB Roger Wehrli.

CURLEY CULP
DEFENSIVE TACKLE • 6'2" • 265 lbs • COLLEGE: ARIZONA STATE
NFL SEASONS: 14 • YEARS WITH OILERS: 7 (1974-1980)
HOMETOWN: YUMA, ARIZ. • BORN: MARCH 10, 1946
GAMES PLAYED: 179 • HALL OF FAME INDUCTION: 2013

Curley Culp was voted into the Pro Football Hall of Fame in 2013. A six-time Pro Bowl selection, Culp played in 179 games during his NFL career with the Kansas City Chiefs (1968-1974), Houston Oilers (1974-1980) and Detroit Lions (1980-81). He was considered the prototypical nose tackle and helped pioneer the 3-4 defense. Hailing from Arizona State, where he was an All-American in both football and wrestling, Culp was selected in the second round of the 1968 NFL Draft by the Denver Broncos, who intended to use him as an offensive guard. However, his brief stint in Denver ended when he was traded to the Chiefs, who inserted him permanently on the defensive side. In 1969, the Chiefs won Super Bowl IV, and Culp was an instrumental member of one of the league's top defenses. He helped the Chiefs defeat the Oakland Raiders in the AFL Championship Game and the Minnesota Vikings in the Super Bowl. In 1974, during his seventh campaign in Kansas City, Culp was traded to the Oilers along with a first-round draft pick (used to select Robert Brazile) in exchange for John Matuszak. The move paid almost immediate dividends for the Oilers, who previously suffered through 1-13 records in both 1972 and 1973. In 1975, Culp's first full season in Houston, he helped the Oilers to a record of 10-4, the first winning mark for the club in eight years. With Culp anchoring the defense, the Oilers finished with the AFC's top-ranked run defense (third in the NFL). Individually, Culp produced arguably the finest season of his career, recording 11.5 sacks and earning NFL Defensive Player honors by the Newspaper Enterprise Association. Culp continued as a leader of the Oilers defense that culminated in back-to-back appearances in the AFC championship games in 1978 and 1979. He was named to one AFL All-Star Game and five Pro Bowls during his career. Culp also was picked as a first-team All-Pro in 1975 and a second-team selection in 1971, 1977, 1978, and 1979. He was selected first- or second-team All-AFC five times. "Curley Culp was perhaps the strongest man I ever lined up against," said Raiders Hall of Fame center Jim Otto. Culp used his strong wrestling background to create havoc for opposing guards and centers. He was the 1968 NCAA heavyweight wrestling champion and was named to the U.S. Olympic wrestling team that year. Culp joined a 2013 Hall of Fame class that included offensive linemen Larry Allen and Jonathan Ogden, wide receiver Cris Carter, coach Bill Parcells, linebacker Dave Robinson and defensive lineman Warren Sapp.

TITANS/OILERS HALL OF FAME

In recognition of the 40th season of the Houston Oilers/Tennessee Titans organization in 1999, the team's late owner K.S. "Bud" Adams, Jr. created an official team Hall of Fame, featuring players and staff from the past, while creating a special place for Titans stars of the future to be recognized. To date, 13 individuals have been named to the franchise's Hall of Fame:

NAME	POSITION	YEARS WITH FRANCHISE	INDUCTED
K.S. "Bud" Adams, Jr.	Team Owner/Founder	1959-2013	Sept. 7, 2008

Frank Wycheck	Tight End	1995-2003	Oct. 27, 2008

RETIRED JERSEY NUMBERS

In the history of the Oilers/Titans franchise, only six players have had the distinction of having their jersey number retired — Jim Norton (No. 43), Elvin Bethea (No. 65), Earl Campbell (No. 34), Mike Munchak (No. 63), Bruce Matthews (No. 74), and Warren Moon (No. 1).

Jim Norton played nine seasons for the Oilers (1960-68) as a safety and as a punter, establishing team records at both positions. As a rookie from the University of Idaho, Norton was a member of the Oilers' 1960 AFL Championship team. A four-time league all-star, he holds the club record for most interceptions in a career with 45. Also an accomplished punter, Norton was tops in club history with 519 career punts for a 42.3-yard career average and a long kick of 79 yards (11/22/64 vs. Kansas City).

Elvin Bethea joined the Oilers in 1968 after an outstanding career at North Carolina A&T. He started at defensive end in the 1968 season opener and didn't miss a game until breaking his arm in November 1977. That streak of 135 consecutive games played stands third in team history. An eight-time Pro Bowler (1970, 1972-76, 1978-80), Bethea ranks second for most seasons played (16, 1968-83), while his 210 games played (1968-83) also stands second behind Bruce Matthews. Bethea led the team in sacks six times, including a career-best mark of 17 in 1973. The Oilers honored him with an "Elvin Bethea Appreciation Night" on Aug. 4, 1983. He became the sixth player in franchise history to be inducted into the Pro Football Hall of Fame on Aug. 3, 2003.

Earl Campbell, the franchise's second leading rusher and a member of the Pro Football Hall of Fame, was honored by having his number retired at ceremonies on Aug. 13, 1987. He set a single-season club record with a league-leading 1,450 yards his rookie season. Campbell followed that performance with 1,697 yards in 1979 and an astounding 1,934 yards in 1980. Both those totals led the NFL and the latter was second only to O.J. Simpson's 2,003 yards in 1973. Campbell was selected to five Pro Bowls (1978-81, 1983) and retired as the NFL's seventh all-time leading rusher (9,407). He ranks second in franchise history in career rushing yards (8,574) and attempts (1,979), first in touchdown runs (73) and first in most consecutive games with a rushing touchdown (5).

Mike Munchak joined the Oilers as a first-round draft pick in 1982 out of Penn State. He was the first offensive lineman selected in the draft and the eighth overall selection. Munchak won the starting left guard position as a rookie and went on to play in 12 campaigns (1982-93) and 159 games (156 starts) for the Oilers. He is tied for third on the team's all-time list for seasons played and ranks fifth in games played. Munchak became a fixture on an offensive line that helped the Oilers to seven consecutive playoff appearances (1987-93). One of the premier guards in the National Football League, Munchak was selected to NFL's "Team of the Decade" for the 1980s and was chosen in 1989 to Oilers' 30th Anniversary "Dream Team." He ranks second in club annals with nine Pro Bowl selections, seven as a starter. Munchak announced his retirement on July 21, 1994, and on the same day, K.S. "Bud" Adams, Jr,. announced that jersey No. 63 would be retired on "Mike Munchak Appreciation Day" on Nov. 6, 1994.

Bruce Matthews played in more games (296) than any non-kicker in NFL history. Longevity and durability were his hallmark. And that, coupled with his unparalleled play, in which he tied a league record with 14 Pro Bowl selections (tied with Merlin Olsen) and earned All-Pro honors six times, made him one of the all-time greats. He rose to the challenges presented to him in playing every position on the offensive line during his NFL career (87 at center, 99 at left guard, 67 at right guard, 22 at right tackle, and 17 at left tackle). His number was retired during a halftime ceremony in Nashville on Dec. 8, 2002.

Warren Moon, the fourth leading passer in NFL history, played 10 years (1984-93) with the organization and holds the franchise records for passing yards (33,685) and touchdowns (196), while leading the Oilers to seven consecutive playoff appearances from 1987-93. Moon's finest season came in 1990, throwing for 4,689 yards (363-for-584) and 33 touchdowns in only 15 games and becoming the third player in NFL history to produce consecutive 4,000-yard passing seasons. He earned AP NFL Offensive Player of the Year for his efforts and his third Pro Bowl berth. His jersey was retired in a halftime ceremony in Nashville on Oct. 1, 2006.
